MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION PRELIMINARY DECISION TO GRANT CATEGORICAL EXCLUSION (CE #163)

Project Name/Number: Grantsville/Northern Garrett Industrial Park Water Distribution Project DW-RF-143-12L
Project Applicant: Town of Grantsville
Project Location: Town of Grantsville
Project Cost/Loan: $2,623,000/$200,000

Project Description: This project involves a proposed refinancing through the Maryland State Revolving Loan Fund of prior incurred costs allocable to the Town of Grantsville for previously-constructed water distribution facilities. The facilities include a new well field, 400,000 gallon storage tank, and a chlorination unit, which serve the Northern Garrett Industrial Park, the Town of Grantsville, and Garrett County. A twelve-inch water main was constructed along Route 40 from the water storage tank located at the high point of Negro Mountain in the Savage River State Forest. The twelve-inch water distribution main serves the Grantsville area and the Northern Garrett Industrial Park.

The Town of Grantsville has applied for financial assistance from the Maryland Department of the Environment's State Revolving Loan Fund Program for the proposed project as described above. In accordance with requirements for complying with the State Environmental Review Procedures (SERP) under COMAR 26.03.11 for such assistance, a review has been performed by the Department on the applicant's request for a Categorical Exclusion from a comprehensive environmental review under SERP. The Department has determined that the proposed project qualifies for a Categorical Exclusion pursuant to COMAR 26.03.11.04 B. (6) because the project constitutes refinancing of a project previously constructed. This determination is based upon a careful review of the supporting documentation provided by the applicant and other documents available to the Department. In concert with this preliminary determination, the Department has also found the project to be consistent with the Maryland Economic Growth, Resource Protection, and Planning Policy in accordance with Executive Order 01.01.1992.27, and Maryland's Smart Growth and Neighborhood Conservation Policy, in accordance with Executive Order 01.01.1998.04.

As a result of the above determination, the applicant will not need to prepare and/or finalize an Environmental Information Document, and the Department is prepared to approve the applicant's request for financial assistance without further environmental review.

Comments supporting or disagreeing with the above preliminary decision may be submitted for consideration by writing to:

Mr. George Keller, Acting Program Administrator
Water Quality Infrastructure Program
Water Management Administration
Maryland Department of Environment
2500 Broening Highway
Baltimore, Maryland 21224

After evaluating any comments received, the Department will make a final decision no sooner than 20 calendar days from the date of this notice. No administrative action will be taken with respect to this proposal during this time frame.

Robert Summers, Acting Director
Water Management Administration
Maryland Department of the Environment

"SWIMMERS, TAKE YOUR MARK..." These words were repeated scores of times on Saturday at the Riverside YMCA pool in Cumberland, where the members of the Garrett County Manta Rays swim team participated in the annual YMCA championships. The Rays, under head coach Nan Gangler, captured eight first-place divisional trophies and five runner-up trophies in various age categories and in all four strokes. The championships and subsequent team picnic held Sunday at Alpine Lake wrapped up the 2001 season for the Rays, who have been at or among the top performing teams in the Cumberland YMCA league for many years. LIONS SMOOCH SWINE FOR CHARITY — The Lions and Lioness clubs of District 22-W paid more than lip service to their mission as "Knights to the Blind" by raising over $16,000 during the second annual "Kiss a Pig" contest recently. Seven candidates, including Grantsville Lions Club secretary and newsletter editor (and town mayor) Gerry Beachy, and Lion Barbara McKenney of the Kitzmiller club, vied for the honor of the porcine pucker, administered during the Lions' district officers installation ceremonies at the New Midway fire hall. Lioness Helen Frazier of the Hagerstown Lioness Club raised over $6,500 in pledges, the largest amount raised by an individual, which entitled her to kiss a pig's snout. West Hagerstown Lions Club member Donna Jackman, chairperson of the District 22W Diabetes Awareness Campaign, kissed the pig's "other end" after the district exceeded her $10,000 pledge goal challenge. The benefit's proceeds were presented to the American Diabetes Association for summer camp scholarships for children with diabetes. Camp participants learn how to test their own blood, monitor blood sugar levels, administer self-injections of insulin, and adjust their lifestyles to better control the disease. Diabetes, the "silent killer," can have a drastic effect on the eyesight and overall health of the 16 million Americans who live with diabetes, including Beachy's own 3-year-old grandson Matthew. Shown at the kissing ceremony, from the left, are Beachy, Jackman, and Frazier, and one obviously contented pig.

Pa. Residents Arrested For CDS Possession

Two 19-year-old Pennsylvania women were arrested early Wednesday morning on CDS (controlled dangerous substance) charges after a traffic stop near Deep Creek Lake, according to the Maryland State Police.

Danielle E. Hanna, Murraysville, and Nicole Linbacher, Delmont, were stopped along Glendale Road at Toothpick Road at 12:16 a.m. by Cpl. J. LeMay. The trooper had observed that Hanna was not wearing a seatbelt as she was driving her 1995 Chevrolet Corsica. As he was speaking to the women LeMay detected the odor of suspected burnt marijuana emanating from the vehicle, and undertook a search that located several bags of suspected marijuana, several smoking pipes, and a packet of rolling papers.

Hanna and Linbacher were charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. The two were subsequently released from the Garrett County Detention Center after each woman posted a $500 bond as set by a district court

Potential Homeowners Reminded Of GCCAC's First-Time Buyer Program

Garrett County Community Action Committee (GCCAC) offers a First-Time Homeowner Program that is available to many local individuals and families who wish to achieve homeownership. Participation in the program has decreased somewhat, and organizers said this week that they hope to remind residents of the program and its value.

The program is designed for local residents who wish to take on the responsibility of owning their own homes, but who may lack the resources and/or knowledge to do so. The first step for qualified low- to moderate-income individuals and families is to attend GCCAC's First-Time Homeowner Workshops, a spokesperson said.

The workshops are held every month, and for each person consist of 6 1/2 hours of training divided into two sessions. The workshops take place on Monday evenings. For the first session, participants stay from 6 to 9 p.m.. For the second, they stay from 6 to 9:30 p.m.

Participants learn about the process of becoming a homeowner, the importance of budgeting, the loan application process, home inspections and home maintenance, and the settlement process. A key part of the workshops, the spokesperson said, is an evaluation of the participant's credit report.

Several local professionals involved in all aspects of home-buying and ownership volunteer their time and expertise at the workshops. Loan officers from M&T Mortgage are on hand to explain the loan application process, and to individually meet with each family and review that family's credit report. In the event the credit report reveals obstacles in that family's ability to secure a loan, suggestions and a plan are proposed to the participants to enable them to eventually work through the problems.

Housing counselors from GCCAC and Irmgard Koscielniak from the Garrett County Extension Office are available to help participants set up budgets and to resolve credit issues. Local attorney Craig Ingram and attorneys from Eiswert, Janes, and Sweitzer attend the workshops as well to

Corridor Concept Hits Roadblock As Funds Denied

The planning process for a proposed new north-south interstate highway connecting Toronto and Miami, with a section that would traverse western Maryland, will likely be delayed for the unforeseeable future as a result of budget priorities of the U.S. Congress. No funds were set aside for the Continental One proposal in the $140 million recently allocated by Congress for the National Corridor Planning and Development Program.

A number of elected and appointed officials, and business interests from several states, had sought funding to continue explorations in-

Wisp Begins Construction On Bear Claw Snow Tubing Park

Construction got under way last week on a new winter recreation center at the Wisp in McHenry, with the first phase of the project being the Bear Claw Tubing Park. Snow tubing is a form of snow play that involves riding an inflated tube down multiple, snow-covered tubing lanes. The lanes at the Wisp will be serviced by two surface tows.

According to a spokesperson for the Wisp, the first snow tubing park in Maryland is "just the beginning" of several major additions planned for the resort, which was recently purchased by a group of local investors.

Bill Quigley, the new CEO of Recreational Industries, said that snow tubing has been a popular amenity at many ski resorts around the country since the mid-1990s. He said that the Bear Claw park will have six lanes that are 15 feet wide and 800 feet long located on a parcel of land which lies just below Boulder Run. "The two surface tows will pull the snow tubes and riders up the hill," he said.

Quigley added that a necessity for a successful tubing park is high-quality snowmaking and grooming. "We have one of the most advanced snowmaking systems in the country, with over 100 machines backed by a state-of-the-art automated controls system," he said. "Two new grooming machines are being purchased, and our snowmaking crews will concentrate on having snow tubing open, along with the slopes and trails on the rest of the mountain, by late November."

Jerry Geisler, also on the Wisp management staff, said, "Over the past couple of years, one of the top requests we've had from people is for a tubing park as an alternative to skiing and snowboarding. Tubing

Man Dies From Injuries After Unattended Vehicle Overturns

An unattended vehicle drifted down a slight incline and overturned Sunday evening at the intersection of Ridge Road and Piney Point Drive in Sky Valley fatally injuring the passenger.

James Luther Fitzwater, 70, Swanton, was transported by Trooper 5 to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he later died from his injuries.

Jan Wagner, York, S.C., told police that she had parked the van and put on the parking brake before she and the other passengers exited the vehicle. She said Fitzwater had problems walking and he decided to remain in the vehicle.

Wagner also told police that while she was in the house the neighbor contacted her and told her the vehicle had drifted down the road and rolled over.

Fitzwater was assisted in exiting the vehicle, and apparently stated that he tried to get into the driver's seat to stop the vehicle.

Basement Fire Causes $40,000 Damage To House

A fire that originated in the basement of a one-story, wood-frame house near Friendsville Tuesday evening caused an estimated $40,000 in damages to the structure, according to investigators from the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office.

Approximately 35 volunteer firefighters from Friendsville, Accident, Addison, Pa., and Markleysburg, Pa., were summoned at 7:10 p.m. to respond to 87 Glade Road, where they found smoke coming from the ranch-style house. They brought the blaze under control in about 30 minutes, but not before there was significant fire damage in the basement, and heat and smoke damage in the remainder of the dwelling.

The house is owned by Mike J. Volk, who told fire investigators Steven M. Wendling and Jamie Rodeheaver that he was in the process of moving and had left the house shortly before the fire was discovered. The cause is still under investigation.

Also responding to the scene was a unit and crew of the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Child Injured When Hit By All-Terrain Vehicle

A 2-year-old was injured Sunday afternoon when she was pinned against a shrubbery barrier wall by a 2000 Polaris ATV driven by her 6-year-old brother on private property along Paugh Lane, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Shae Rae Tonkovich was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by private vehicle. The child was later transferred to Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, where she reportedly received treatment for a broken pelvis and then was released later in the week.

An accident involving a tractor trailer and a 1978 Ford shut down Garrett Highway on Friday around noon.

The 1997 Peterbilt tanker, loaded with gasoline and driven by Daniel Swank, 63, Markleysburg, Pa., was unable to avoid hitting the Ford, driven by Harriet Davis, 62, Crellin, which pulled out onto Garrett Highway from Sand Flat Road, police said.

The tanker hit the vehicle, crushed it, and dragged it into a nearby parking lot, according to the report. Davis was transported by rescue squad personnel to GCMH, where she was treated and released.

The Deep Creek fire company, sheriff's deputies, and Maryland State Police shut down Garrett Highway for approximately two hours as a fire precaution.

CHARITY GOLF TOURNEY RAISES $11K — First United Bank donated over $11,000 to the United Way of Garrett County, funds the bank raised through its sponsorship of the recent Charity Golf Tournament and Banquet at the Oakland Golf Club. "We are extremely appreciative of the hard work and support that First United provided as a result of this year's tournament," remarked UWGC board president David W. Thomas. Shown above at the ceremonial donation presentation are, from the left, UWGC board member Tom Myers, UWGC campaign chairperson Ken Perrin, Thomas, First United president and chief financial officer Bob Kurtz, and First United senior vice president and senior lending officer Steve Lantz. This marked the third year that First United has sponsored the annual event, which has raised over $156,000 for various Garrett County charities over its 13-year history.

Oakland Man Arrested On Assault Warrant

An Oakland man was arrested recently by Garrett County sheriff deputy Brent Sanders on an arrest warrant charging second degree assault, disturbing the peace, harassment, and littering.

The charges against Rodney Lee Hamilton, 60, stem from an incident at a neighbor's house along McComas Beach Terrace, the part-time residence of Stephen and Sharon Willingham, Mt. Airy.

Hamilton accused the Willinghams of putting trash in his trash can, confronted them, and allegedly grabbed and threatened Stephen Willingham using profanity. During the incident, Hamilton allegedly claimed responsibility for dumping trash in the Willingham's trash can.

After Hamilton left, Maryland State Police were summoned by the Willinghams and warned Hamilton to stay off their property. No charges were filed at that time.

According to the report, the Willinghams filed charges against Hamilton in Garrett County District Court the following day, and Deputy Sanders made the arrest.

Hamilton was released on his own recognizance.

DWI

In addition to the above arrest, several other individuals were charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) by sheriff's deputies this week. They were Carrie Lynn Cosner, 23, Terra Alta, W.Va.; Charles Lee Pritt Jr., 31, Petersburg, W.Va.; Craig Joseph Morris, 29, Westernport; and Steven Ray Boggs, 31, Cumberland.

THE "PEAK BAGGERS" ARE HERE — The annual convention of the National Highpointers Club is being held in Garrett County this year, and about 300 people have arrived in the area to make their way to Maryland's highest geological point, located on Backbone Mountain. Despite a downpour this morning, a number of the mountain-climbing visitors signed in at the Oakland Gazebo for their three-day weekend of ascending and socializing. A record number of club members are attending this year's event, according to Lillian and Gene Elliott, organizers of the convention and new residents of Garrett County. The crew of climbers will share a picnic this evening at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. They will have tomorrow to explore the area, perhaps traveling to Spruce Knob in West Virginia to "bag another peak," and then on Saturday morning will hike, en masse, up to the top of Maryland.

Frostburg Family Injured In I-68 Collision Sunday

A Sunday afternoon two-vehicle collision along Interstate 68 slightly injured a Frostburg woman and her two young daughters, according to Maryland State Police troopers stationed at the McHenry barrack. No charges were filed in the 1:22 p.m. mishap.

A 1997 Chevrolet Blazer operated by Eric Warren Sowers, 37, Frostburg, was entering the westbound lanes of the interstate from the Chestnut Ridge Road ramp when the SUV was struck from behind by a 1997 Chevrolet Cavalier operated by Linda Kay Upole, 58, Grantsville. Sowers's three passengers, Dina Sowers, 37, and two Sowers children, ages 3 and 1, were transported by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where each was treated and released. The Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

Tpr. Bond was the investigating trooper.

explain the settlement process.

Tim Taylor from USDA Rural Development describes the Leveraged Loan Program, a partnership with GCCAC, USDA and M&T Mortgage that can help a prospective homeowner obtain ownership with as little as a 1% down-payment. USDA offers payment subsidy assistance with the interest rate, and M&T offers a fixed 6.40% interest rate.

GCCAC has grant funds available to eligible participants to help with down-payment and closing costs. Also in attendance at the workshops is Dennis Murray from Building Specs Inc., who explains the home inspection process and gives the workshop participants information on home maintenance, as well as energy savings tips.

Homes to be purchased through this program must be located in Garrett County. They can be existing homes, or a new house can be built.

To be successful in the program, a participant must have a dependable and adequate income, be within the income guidelines, have good credit history, and a strong employment history. The participant must also attend the first-time homeowner workshops.

"Participants need to be committed to setting realistic goals, be willing to work on credit issues if needed, and be willing to save money and not give up their goal if problems arise," the spokesperson said. "Circumstances which may keep a prospective borrower from purchasing a home today can be rectified if he or she remains focused on the goal of homeownership. We like to think of this program as a 'hand up,' not a 'hand out.'"

The goal of the program staff is to take the confusion and uncertainty out of the home-buying process, the spokesperson continued. "We want to help them feel more confident as they undertake what will probably be the largest purchase of their lifetime."

The program offers relief to the numerous families in Garrett County who do not have high incomes. It advises these families how to budget their incomes in order to save enough for down-payments and closing costs, and then continues to help by offering low interest rates.

Since the program's inception, over 140 families have become homeowners. The spokesperson stated that the partnership between USDA Rural Development, M&T Mortgage, and GCCAC continues to grow and all partners are firmly committed to helping families achieve homeownership. Other local lending institutions have since become part of the program as well.

The income guidelines are as follows: one person in a household may make up to $29,500 to qualify for the program; two-person household, $33,750; three-person, $37,950; four-person, $42,150; five-person, $45,550; six-person, $48,900; seven-person, $52,300; and eight-person, $55,650.

To sign up for the workshop program, or for more information, persons may call Deb Swiger at GCCAC, 301-334-9431, ext. 150.

A Flower Has Fallen

A flower has fallen, it stands strong no more...
a soul has crossed over entering heaven's door.
The hand of our Savior reached down from above caressing the flower that we dearly loved.

"Dear Jesus, we pray thee, let everyone know,
this flower was special...it was hard to let go.
But by Your grace extended, deep down in our hearts
sweet memories linger though we are apart.

You bring comfort and peace and a smile to our faces for our flower's now thriving in a much better place.

It will not grow older, it's beauty won't fade, it lives on forever, this flower You made!"

Honduran Man Undergoes Surgery Today Through Local Generosity

by David Foster

The voluntary and charitable efforts of a local surgeon, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and several regional businesses, and the hard work of an immigrant family living in Rockville, resulted in a much-needed hip replacement for a 62-year-old citizen of Honduras this morning.

Marco Rodriguez, who injured his left hip in a motorcycle accident, has been living with progressively debilitating arthritis in his hip over the past several years that forced him into an early retirement. He met Oakland orthopedic surgeon Dr. Dona Alvarez in his home country two years ago at a free medical clinic operated by Central American Medical Outreach (CAMO). Alvarez and a number of medical specialists and other volunteers provide free healthcare services to thousands of impoverished Hondurans at the CAMO clinic, services and equipment they would otherwise likely never benefit from.

Garrett Memorial donated the operating room, personnel, and materials for the surgery and the hospital stay and rehabilitation services, all approved by hospital CEO Don Battista. Brad Harris of R&B Orthopedics of Morgantown, W.Va., donated the hip prosthesis (a titanium and polyethelene implant). The American Red Cross donated blood and cell saver for the intra-operative blood collection, and Dr. Tom Johnson donated the pre-operative physical exam and evaluation of the patient. The Oak-Mar Motel donated room space for Rodriguez's family and close friends to be here with him this week.

Alvarez, who assembled and coordinated these efforts, estimated that the total value of the donated operation and rehab was in excess of $30,000, an unheard-of sum in Rodriguez's Honduran homeland. Medical care is at a premium in the third-world Central American nation, where a simple ear infection that is easily treated in the U.S. can easily develop into a fatal case of meningitis because antibiotics are not available.

"There's no such thing as hip replacement surgery in Honduras," Alvarez said. "Even their best operating rooms aren't equipped to handle the operation, one that we consider a fairly routine procedure here in America.

"Marco first came to our Santa Rosa de Capon clinic almost unable to walk, and in severe, constant pain," Alvarez said of her patient, whom she and other observers said bore his suffering with quiet, uncomplaining dignity. "He waited patiently and politely along with everyone else for his turn to be seen by our staff, and he and his extended family have scraped together everything they could for over two years to get him to Oakland for today's surgery."

That family effort was key to setting Rodriguez apart for the surgery, Alvarez said, noting that he and his relatives were willing to work hard to improve his situation rather than waiting to be helped. His niece, Lizet Rodriguez, has lived in Rockville for the past five years, and she was crucial to the family's success. She and Marco's close friend, William Ramos, helped provide accommodations and transportation, and were here in Oakland with him today.

"Marco also took it upon himself to learn as much about hip replacement surgery as he could," remarked Alvarez. "He knew his own condition, and knew that the operation would likely be a success if he stuck to his rehabilitation regimen and took care of himself afterward. He has no illusions about the rigors of his recovery.

"Just to get here to Oakland after securing a passport and traveling to America, all while in severe pain, is a testament to Marco's determination," Alvarez observed. "He's also extremely grateful for the many people who have pulled together and sacrificed to help him make a new life," one that he said will include going back to work and kicking a soccer ball with his seven grandchildren. He will return home to Honduras next month.

"This type of event attests to the kindness and human spirit that exists everywhere in the world," Alvarez commented.

Child Injured

Davis was charged by deputies for failing to yield to oncoming traffic.

Three vehicles were involved in an accident on North Glade Road in the area of Glendale Road on Saturday around 11 p.m.

Craig Joseph Morris, 29, Westernport, operating a 2001 Harley Davidson, attempted to pass a 1994 Oldsmobile driven by Jason Michael Mowbray, 23, Barton, while both were traveling eastbound on North Glade Road, according to police.

The third vehicle, a 1996 Chevrolet driven by Jason Alvin Bernard, 20, Swanton, was traveling westbound and was struck by Morris' vehicle. Morris was ejected from the motorcycle, and was flown by Trooper 5 to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, and was later discharged.

Morris was charged by deputies for driving while intoxicated (DWI), driving left of center, and passing when unsafe.

Charges were filed in a two-vehicle accident Saturday around 4:30 p.m. on Third Street in Oakland.

James E. Johnson was charged with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision when his 1996 GMC truck hit a 2000 Ford, operated by Bonnie K. Riley.

In a separate incident, deputies observed a man discharging fireworks from the Deep Creek Bridge on Tuesday around 3:30 a.m.

According to police, Mark Garfold, 18, Pittsburgh, and a juvenile fled the area in a vehicle, but were stopped a short time later. Garfold was arrested and charged with possession and discharge of fireworks without a permit, and the juvenile was charged with speed greater than reasonable.

In another incident, Benjamin Farmer, 18, Oakland, refused medical treatment after he was involved in a motor vehicle accident when he swerved to miss a deer.

Farmer was southbound on Brethren Church Road in a 1986 Volkswagen Jetta when he swerved to miss a deer, struck an embankment, and overturned.

No charges were filed in the 11:15 p.m. incident Monday.

ATV Regs Needed...

Over the years we have used this column to express objections to certain invasions of privacy and what we believe to be ridiculous, sometimes outrageous, regulations that are meted out by the state and/or federal government, many of which are supposed to protect us from ourselves. We have, for example, on occasion slammed such agencies as the Occupational Safety and Health Administration for its sometimes arrogant tactics, and often ignorant requirements in the workplace.

On the other hand, we have also sometimes supported government intervention in matters of safety, such as the passage of child safety seat and seat belt laws. We wish to address one other area in which more restriction is sorely needed.

In just the past several months, an unusually high number of persons in West Virginia have been killed in accidents involving ATVs, or all-terrain vehicles, also known as three- or four-wheelers. In several cases the victims of these mishaps have been young children, either riding on ATVs with an adult or operating them themselves. Just two weeks ago a 5-year-old Garrett County boy was killed in an ATV accident in Tucker County, and this past week a 2-year-old local child was injured.

While there are warnings posted on the gas tanks of most ATVs that persons under the age of 18 should not operate them, there are no laws on the books to enforce them. It's high time that such laws were enacted.

ATVs are not toys. They are machines; machines that can take a life or paralyze in a split second. When operated properly, they are generally safe, but the slightest loss of concentration, or getting just a wee bit too comfortable with the machine, can result in tragedy. Wearing protective equipment is, of course, also extremely important. But unfortunately, a good helmet and all the body padding in the world usually cannot prevent a rider or operator from sustaining a broken neck in a crash or a violent spill.

ATVs are as dangerous, or at least almost as dangerous, as motorcycles are when not operated properly. We have numerous laws governing the operation of motorcycles, including age and licensing requirements. It's time to do the same thing with ATVs.

Finally, the point of this column today is certainly not to cast blame on anyone who has been involved in an ATV accident, especially the grandmother of the young boy from the county who was riding with her when the fatal accident occurred. Indeed, our deepest sympathy goes out to her and the rest of the child's family. Accidents happen, regardless of the level of care that is taken and regardless of how many laws are on the books. But it just seems painfully logical to us that it is past time to employ some regulation of the use of ATVs.

VACATION BIBLE EXPERIENCE

Over 40 children registered for Vacation Bible Experience (VBE) at our church last week, and 35 of them were there each night. We had an adult class, too, as we have every year since we restarted this program six years ago. It was one of our best efforts at this summer ministry. There was that right mixture of the kids who attended, the material we used, the adults who made the program go.

Every other year we had vacation Bible school. The subtle shift from "school" to "experience" helped to shift our emphasis. A school is for teaching and learning. We surely had a lot of teaching and learning going on during our week of VBE. It is possible to learn about God, however, without knowing God. Our goal this year was not only to teach and to learn, but also to share in the experience of knowing God personally through Jesus Christ.

A fellow Presbyterian pastor was going through a dry time in his ministry, which was all the more painful because the next Presbyterian church along the road was booming. The dry pastor went to his neighbor and asked why nothing was happening at his church when so much was happening at the neighbor's church. The neighbor looked him in the eye, and in the heart too, and said, "It has to happen to you before it can happen through you."

The dry pastor underwent a second conversion as the power of God happened first to him and then through him. That is what we looked to do at VBE, and that is what happened.

We have run VBE primarily as a mission, perhaps even to the detriment of our own children. We have asked repeatedly, "How can we reach those who have never been reached?" This year in some small way we reached those kids. We could see the experience in their faces. We could hear it in the way they sang the songs they had learned that week during the closing program with their proud parents in attendance.

I have a lot of confidence in VBS to change lives, because it changed mine. When I was 8 years old, I remember sitting on the back steps of my home church when the teacher told us the story of Dr. David Livingston, the 19th century missionary doctor and explorer.

When I heard that story, I also heard the voice of God saying, "I want you to do that too. " Though for a decade I thought that meant to be a missionary doctor, in retrospect I see it clearly as my call to ministry, a call that has never left me.

During the week of this year's VBE, I had just as moving a discovery of how VBE can change the life of a small child. My niece Grace went with me two nights. We stopped on the way home each night for an ice cream cone.

A small boy went in ahead of us. He was very polite and helpful, holding the door. Grace and I went to the ice cream counter. A minute later the boy came over, and said, "I think I know you from somewhere." I told him my name and that I am a pastor. "That's who you are!" he exclaimed.

He told me that four years before he had come to our church. He lived in a very troubled family, who caused problems not only for themselves but for their neighbors as well. The grandparents had finally gotten this boy away from his mother before she disappeared from the local scene.

The boy thanked me for what I had done. He is only 9 now, and was only 5 when he attended VBS and Lord's Day school. We did not give up on him when his family was at the center of community disdain.

You can be sure that when I went back to church the next night I looked a little harder into the eyes of those young children. I wondered what hidden needs they had, what hidden potential was waiting to be unlocked by the love of Christ expressed in word and deed.

My hearing improved after that experience. I heard a young teenager respond to my telling the story of David Livingston by saying that next year he would like to help with the crafts. I found occasion to praise him, and noticed how he beamed at my accurate, but also discerning, words.

How many opportunities are missed to introduce people to Jesus Christ, to help preserve a child through the temptations of youth, to help rescue a young person from the despair of a hopeless situation because we are absorbed in our petty troubles?

I am trying harder to unlock my ears and my eyes, and to reach out carefully to those little ones who are so dear to our Lord.

Hits Roadblock

to a possible route for the interstate through Maryland southward into West Virginia. The Transportation Committee of the Western Maryland Economic Development Task Force, chaired by Oakland business owner David Moe, had gained the support of Maryland State Highway Administrator Parker Williams, state house speaker Cas Taylor, and Del. George Edwards for Maryland's section of the proposed corridor. They and others had recommended a route that would follow Route 219 from the Pennsylvania line to I-68, utilize the existing lanes of that interstate to travel east, then basically follow the border between Garrett and Allegany counties south from Interstate 68 to the Keyser, W.Va, area.

"It's disappointing," Edwards commented of the funding decision. "Every project in the state is important, but this has the most economic importance for an area with high unemployment." Officials said they will continue to seek funding for the proposal from a variety of sources.

Driver Charged With DWI After Crashing Sedan

A Petersburg, W.Va., man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies and charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) and negligent driving after a single-vehicle accident just west of Oakland Sunday evening.

Charles Lee Pritt Jr., 31, lost control of his 1992 Pontiac along Rt. 39 at the Little Youghiogheny River Bridge at approximately 5:15 p.m. Deputies noted the odor of an alcoholic beverage on Pritt's breath, and upon questioning he reportedly admitted to drinking beer prior to the accident. He was released under unspecified circumstances without being taken to jail.

In Memory of
1918-2000

Mom, this is for you. It's been a year since you were called away from your family and friends. But your presence is so much with me. The little things we did together, and your teaching I'll remember from my childhood that make me the woman I am today. You taught me about God and His son Jesus that helps me now through my lonely years. So sleep, mother, sleep. Your trials are o'er. Sweet be the rest you have needed before. Long have we loved you. But God loved you more. For He called you away to the bright happy shore. Sleep, mother, sleep. I love you so very much.

Your daughter Marie

Geisler added that group nights with special rates and fund-raising opportunities for non-profit organizations are being planned. Details on rates and operating schedules are also in the planning stages, along with all of the other winter programs at Wisp.

"We're very excited to have this new attraction (tubing) so the non-skier can also enjoy winters at Wisp," Geisler concluded.

Carousel Next West Virginia Theatre Offering

West Virginia Public Theatre will present the Rodgers and Hammerstein classic Carousel at the Creative Arts Center in Morgantown, July 31 - August 5. Chosen in 1999 by Time magazine as the "Best Musical of the 20th Century," Carousel was Rodgers and Hammerstein's personal favorite out of the many hit shows they created.

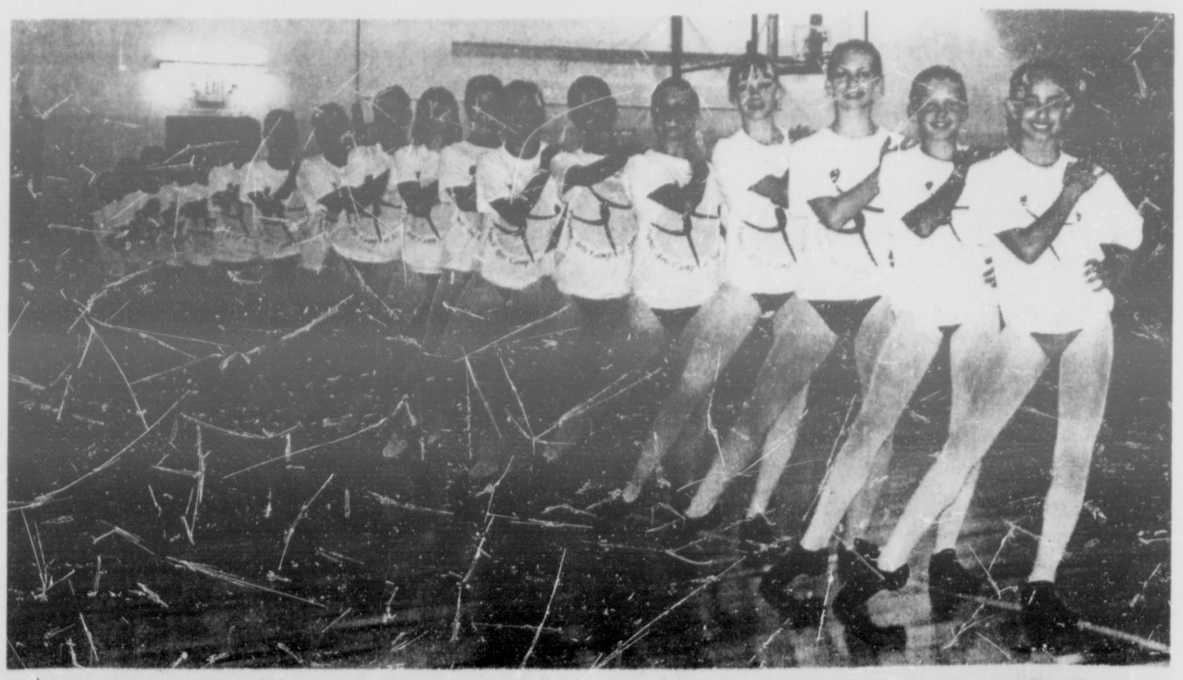
The story takes place in a coastal village in Maine at the end of the 19th century. Billy Bigelow (Tony Capone) is the capricious carnival worker who captivates and marries a naive millworker, Julie Jordan (Kristin Carbone). Billy loses his job just as he learns that Julie is pregnant. Desperate to provide a decent life for his family, Billy is coerced into being an accomplice to a robbery. Rather than face time in prison, Billy takes his own life and is sent "up there." Years later, Billy is allowed by the Starkeeper (Bill Hayes) to return to earth and attend his daughter's high school graduation to teach her one very important lesson.

Capone has been seen on Broadway as Chris in Miss Saigon and as Billy Bigelow in Carousel; this is his first time appearing on the WVPT stage. Carbone played Amalia in WVPT's production of She Loves Me last season.

Hayes is known internationally for his work in theatre, television, film, and recording. His theatre credits include over 80 Broadway musicals. He was an original cast member on television's "Your Show of Shows" in the 1950s. He has also appeared in 1,800 episodes of the Emmy award winning soap opera Days of Our Lives as Doug Williams.

West Virginia Public Theatre will present Grease Oct. 15-20 at the State Theatre in Uniontown, Pa. The holiday favorite, A Christmas Carol, is slated for December 16-23 also at the Creative Arts Center.

Persons may reserve tickets to WVPT performances by calling the WVPT box office at 304-599-6785. The box office is open Monday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Tuesday-Friday, 9 a.m. to intermission; and Saturday and Sunday, noon to intermission. The WVPT web site address is www.wvpublictheatre.org.



DANCE ARTS CAMP UNDER WAY — The Dance Arts Camp of Maryland, sponsored by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, is currently under way at Garrett Community College. Dancers from Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Canada have been working this week with camp directors Sarah Strain of Southern Maryland and Mary Underwood, Pittsburgh, along with Cynthia Petrone Phillips, a dancer with the Radio City Music Hall Rockettes, and other instructors. They will present a short program to display their new skills on Friday, July 27, at the college, beginning at 2 p.m. The "Deep Creek Lakettes" are pictured as they practice their Rockette-style number. The public is invited to the program at no charge.

Performances To End For Annie Get Your Gun

The Apple Alley Players will perform the popular Irving Berlin musical Annie Get Your Gun two more times this season. Performances are set for today, Friday, July 27, and Saturday, July 28, at the Larenium Park Amphitheater near Burlington.

The musical features a cast of more than 35 actors and singers from Mineral, Hampshire, Grant and Allegany counties. Hampshire resident Laura Becker-Groves portrays Annie Oakley, the sharpshooting showwoman who captured the hearts of the Old West and, of course, Frank Butler.

Tim Elliott, a theater student at Frostburg State University, is starring as Annie's partner and sometimes rival, Frank Butler, and Apple Alley president Larry Myers plays Buffalo Bill.

Hampshire County's Lee Logue portrays Buffalo Bill's quick-talking manager, Charlie Davenport, and Cumberland resident Kery C. Hummel entertains audiences as the legendary Chief Sitting Bull.

Annie Get Your Gun was the number one choice of audiences attending Apple Alley's Summer 2000 productions of McNeill's Rangers and Oklahoma! Audiences attending this year's productions will also have a chance to vote for which show they would like to see next summer.

Advance tickets remain on sale at Linda's Hallmark in Keyser, W.Va., the F&M Bank at Keyser Wal-Mart, the F&M Bank in Fort Ashby, The Outlet in Petersburg, the South Branch Inn in Moorefield, the Bank of Romney in Romney, the Book Center in Cumberland, and Main Street Books in Frostburg.

Persons wanting more information may call the Mineral County Chamber of Commerce at 301-788-2513.

FSU Offers Free Concert, Open Rehearsals

Frostburg State University's Frostburg Summer Dance Retreat will present a "Bare Bones Concert" and open rehearsal on Tuesday, July 31, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre. The performance is free and open to the public.

The concert gives community members the opportunity to see "behind the scenes" as dancers prepare for performances and work with their rehearsal directors.

Retreat artistic director and FSU associate professor Dr. Barry Fischer will present students in an open rehearsal of Martha Graham's 1936 ballet, Steps-in-the-Street. Fischer earned his doctoral dissertation with a reconstruction of this dramatic piece, which was inspired by the tragedy of the Spanish Civil War.

FSDR faculty member Mary Anthony, widely regarded as a leader of the modern dance movement, will present students in selections from her ballet, Songs. Jennifer Dunning of The New York Times described Anthony's Songs as "hauntingly lyrical (with) the emphasis...on simplicity and an ageless craft."

Guest faculty appearing at the presentation will also include legendary dancer, teacher, and choreographer Ethel Winter, one of the Martha Graham Dance Company's most distinguished principal dancers in the 1950s and 1960s. Winter continues to teach with major dance companies and schools throughout the United States and Europe.

LITTLE YOUGH MUSIC FEST TO HOST SALLY TAYLOR — Singer/songwriter Sally Taylor returns to Oakland tomorrow, July 27, for a 6:30 p.m. concert marking the second straight year the Colorado-based musician has performed on the Mountain Fresh Pavilion stage. Fronting a band that includes a drummer, bassist, and guitarist, Taylor will present a variety of musical styles in songs penned by herself and other writers. Shown above in a pose uncharacteristic for the high-energy performer, Taylor said her independent musical philosophy leads her to write songs about things on her mind, and that she hopes this fosters independent reactions in her listeners. "Five different people have five different interpretations of the same song. That means a lot to me as a writer that this can happen," she said. Cumberland's Harbor opens for Taylor with a 7 p.m. show. There is no admission charge for tomorrow night's event, which is being sponsored by the Mountain Arts Cooperative.

Sally Taylor Returns To Yough Music Fest Stage Tomorrow

"All the great stories are out hunting their tellers," sings Sally Taylor on her just released CD Shotgun, "and some come to me and ask me to be brave enough to dance . . . ." The multi-talented singer/songwriter will perform in concert on the stage of Oakland's Mountain Fresh Pavilion beginning at 7 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, July 27, in the latest installment of the Little Yough Summer Music Festival. The appearance marks the second straight summer Taylor has taken part in the annual music fest, and will follow a 5:30 p.m. opening act concert by Harbor, a Cumberland-based band.

With a multi-faceted voice described by one reviewer as "light and feathery," and as "huge, like the sun coming down through a break in the clouds," by another critic, Taylor presents a wide variety of musical styles during her stage appearances, from folk rock and folk ballads to bossa nova, mountain music, and pop melodies. While she and her three-piece backup band of a drummer, bassist, and guitarist perform a few "off the beaten path" cover songs, the majority of the material is culled from her own catalog of observations of life, love, and the world at large.

Tomorrow's performance will include highlights from Shotgun, released earlier this month on the 27-year-old's own Blue Elbow Music label. "Shotgun is just a demo, really," she commented, allowing that she's more proud of it than any work of hers to date. Taylor noted that she intends to

Few Memberships For Concert Series Still Available

The Tri-State Concert Association offers season subscriptions to a "Big Band" Concert Series, which is presented at the auditorium of Allegany High School in Cumberland. About 1,250 people attended the concert last week by the Kingston Trio.

A few season memberships are still available for the following seven concerts: September 27, the Ink Spots; October 25, Artie Shaw; November 29, Manovani; March 18, 2002, Russ Morgan; April 5, Four Freshmen; May 6, Glenn Miller; and June 3, Saint Paul's Brass. An optional dinner will be offered with the Glenn Miller concert for an additional amount.

Of the 1,050 memberships offered, only 30 are still available, according to Burt Hiester, association president.

Season memberships for the seven concerts are available for $75 per person from the Tri-State Concert Association at Best Western Braddock Motor Inn in La-Vale, or by calling 301-729-3300. The optional dinner will be $18 per person with advance reservation. All major credit cards are accepted; (those charges will appear as the Best Western Braddock on your bill). Anyone who paid for the Kingston Trio concert will be credited $12 toward the membership, so the additional seven concerts would cost a total of $63. Series tickets may be picked up at the Best Western Braddock.

Play Reading Slated At OTT

The Sunday evening play reading series will continue at Our Town Theatre in Oakland this Sunday, July 29, at 7 p.m. The public is invited to read a part in a play or listen to the play reading. The reading is informal. Following the reading, participants and audience discuss the play and its potential for full production at OTT.

Our Town Theatre is a nonprofit community theatre located along Center Street near the public library.

"Bauer Unframed" Exhibit Opens At The Gallery

An exhibit titled "Ken Bauer Unframed," featuring limited edition fine prints of birds and landscapes, opened this week at the Gallery on Alder Street in Oakland. The public is invited to a reception honoring the artist on Thursday, Aug. 2, 7-9 p.m.

Ken Bauer worked for 10 years from his Garrett County home and studio near Cranesville Swamp producing finely detailed pencil drawings inspired by meditation and his natural surroundings. His work has been selected for exhibitions in New York City, Washington, D.C., Baltimore, San Bernardino, Calif., Alexandria, Va., Pittsburgh, Pa., and, most recently, in Oakland. His drawings and prints are included in many public and private collections.

Bauer studied art at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill and has been drawing and creating original works since 1974. Best known for his depictions of birds in natural settings, he uses graphite pencils and pastels to reflect the spirit and language of nature.

"If one knows where he is going with a picture," Bauer said in 1973, "then he has already been there and will not discover the unknown. If one follows a suggestion, he might find what he is looking for . . . . Each picture is like a poem about meditation."

Since closing his Cranesville studio three years ago,

Piano Four-Hands Duo To Be Next Performers At Penn Alps

An acclaimed piano duo known for playing works written for four-hand piano will appear this Saturday, July 28, as part of the Music at Penn Alps series in the Great Hall. Dana Muller and Gary Steigerwalt will perform compositions by Schubert, Ravel, Stravinsky, and both Mendelssohns, Felix and his wife Fanny.

Area music lovers may recall this duo's 1998 appearance at the Great Hall, when they performed works by Schubert, Corigliano, and Ravel. For the past 16 years, Muller and Steigerwalt have presented programs encompassing the entire repertoire for four-hand piano to audiences throughout the South, the Northeast, South America, and Scotland. They have appeared at summer festivals, including Musikfest in Bethlehem, Pa., and the Sevenars Festival and Musicorda Festival in Massachusetts. Orchestral performances include the Pennsylvania Sinfonia and Orchestra New England.

A winner of the Liszt-Bartok International Piano Competition, Steigerwalt has performed as a soloist with the National Symphony Orchestra, the Seattle Symphony, and the 92nd St. Y Orchestra. He has also played recitals at the Weill/Carnegie and Merkin halls in New York City. Muller has performed with the Baton Rouge Symphony, participated in recitals and interviews on the BBC, and published the music of Scottish-American composer Helen Hopekirk for Dover Press.

In a concert review, the Springfield Union-News commented, "Their exquisite phrasing and perfectly coordinated tone production appeared to be driven by the impulse of a single mind."

To date they have released three recordings of works for four-hand piano featuring the works of Schubert, early 20th century composers, and 19th century romantic composers. The recording of 20th century composers was hailed "an outstanding disc" by Fanfare magazine. Excerpts of their Schubert recording were featured in the recent film "Good Will Hunting."

They also present lecture/recitals on piano music for four hands. The husband and wife team resides in South Hadley, Mass. Dr. Steigerwalt teaches at Amherst College; Dr. Muller teaches at Deerfield Academy and maintains a private studio.

This performance is sponsored by M & T Bank. The audience is invited to a post-concert reception, with refreshments provided by Penn Alps Restaurant.

Music at Penn Alps is sponsored by Sincell Publishing Inc., Penn Alps Restaurant and Crafts Shop, and the support of individuals. Penn Alps is located along Old Route 40 between exits 19 and 22 of Interstate 68.

For information on Music at Penn Alps, reservations, ticket prices, and locations for advance ticket sales, persons may contact Penn Alps Restaurant and Crafts Shop at 301-895-5985. Tickets will be available at the door. There are no reserved seats. Ticket holders should arrive no later than 7:20 p.m. to guarantee seating.

Sylvia Encore Performance Is Slated By OTT

Our Town Theatre has announced that an encore presentation of last season's play Sylvia has been slated. The play will be given at the Oakland theatre on Aug. 3 and 4 at 8 p.m. and at 2 p.m. on Aug. 5.

The lighthearted comedy is family fare, theatre organizers said, and tells the story of a man, his wife and his dog Sylvia.

Jane Avery is the director and the cast members are Chelsea Stuck as Sylvia, Tom Peterson as Greg, Matt Eary as Tom et al., and Carol Peracchio as Kate.

For ticket reservations, persons may call the theatre at 301-334-5640.

Prior to the performance nights, OTT will hold its annual fund-raising yard sale and auction. These events will begin on Wednesday, Aug. 1, at 6:30 p.m., continue through Thursday, and conclude on Friday, Aug. 3, at 3 p.m.

The sale will be conducted inside the theatre. The proceeds from this effort will be used to defray the many costs of operating the non-profit theatre.

She added that many of the issues concern not only the seniors but their families too.

get her fans involved in the production side of her music by having them vote for their favorite selections from Shotgun, and the top three to six vote-getters will be re-recorded by a new producer and placed on her fourth CD along with a number of new tunes.

Whether writing, performing, or managing her own musical career, Taylor displays an independent streak that she credits in large measure to the nurturing she received from her parents, Carly Simon and James Taylor. "I guess I was around 8 when I asked my mom to teach me to write a song, and she said, 'You know, if you're meant to be a singer, if you're meant to be a songwriter, it will just come to you. I'm so grateful that she said that. I feel like she gave me my independence," the younger Taylor observed. "My father taught me that enjoying the wait is just as important as enjoying the ride. It's about taking steps instead of leaps, [and] following your heart.

"I certainly did not plan to launch a career or follow in anyone's footsteps," remarked Taylor, who earned a bachelor of arts degree in medical anthropology at Brown University before she began pursuing her musical career full time, "and I still don't. I just had to unload and let it represent who I am as a soul."

Paying her musical dues in her own way, the independent artist plays approximately 200 shows a year traveling with her bandmates, who play drums, bass, and guitar, as well as her sound engineer, in a "van full of guys, instruments, and greasy bags of fast food."

Taylor can often be found taking her turn behind the wheel, chatting with concert-goers as she peddles her own her CDs from a cardboard crate next to the stage during intermissions, or answering e-mail from fans and writing daily accounts of life on the road that she posts on her own web site, www.sallytaylor.com.

Harbor features Chip Burkey and Greg Larry on guitars and vocals, Brian Wilson on bass and vocals, and Garrett County native Alex Hicks on drums and vocals. The band performs acoustic based music, concentrating on the vocal harmonies of songs made famous by bands such as Crosby, Stills, Nash, and Young, Little Feat, and America, along with other covers of works by the likes of Eric Clapton and Jimmy Buffett.

Tomorrow evening's free concert is being sponsored by the Mountain Arts Cooperative.

"Bauer Unframed"

Bauer has been "on the move."

"It's often hard for me to tell people what I'll be doing or where I'll be going because oftentimes I don't know," the artist said.

During recent years, the artist has pursued an interest first developed at Cranesville — writing poetry. He is currently working on a book which will integrate his original poems with his pictures, drawings, and journal excerpts. He will present several of these poems at a brief reading during the Aug. 2 reception.

The Gallery on Alder Street operates as a project of the Garrett County Arts Council and currently features the work of nearly 90 regional artists. The Bauer exhibit is the Gallery's second exhibit to showcase the work of a local artist in the facility's newly renovated special exhibit room.

The Gallery is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Additional information is available by calling the Garrett County Arts Council at 301-334-6580.

Places Second In Conference Track Meet

Oakland resident Jody N. Bowser, a Southern High School graduate and former state track champion, earned second place in the 100 meter high hurdles in the Centennial Conference Championship track meet recently. Bowser competes for the Green Terror of Western Maryland College, Westminster.

Bowser was ranked fourth going into the competition, but improved her standing in the finals to clinch a silver medal and help lead the Green Terror to third place overall behind Dickinson and Haverford colleges.

Bowser began running for Western Maryland College mid-season after her transfer from Towson University, where she left an athletic scholarship. She earned dean's list recognition at Western Maryland College by maintaining a minimum of a 3.4 grade point average.

Poholsky Leads Doerr Into Hot Stove Championship

Doerr Construction will take a perfect 20-0 record into the Hot Stove Baseball League Championship Series Monday against Westvaco/Duckworth after this week's semi-final sweep of Frankfort VFW by scores of 4-3 and 11-2. Torrey Poholsky served as the Doerr crew foreman both at the plate and on the mound, driving in the winning run while notching the pitching save in the first contest, then hurling a five-hit, complete game win in Game 2 as he swatted an inside-the-park home run and accounted for a total of four RBI.

Doerr got off to an early 1-0 lead Monday at Cresaptown's Holler Field, as Dan Ellis stroked a first-inning RBI single. Manager Jamie Workman's squad took a chance in the third inning as Chad Carr timed a perfect break from third base to record a rare steal of home plate. Jason Rice's RBI single scored Ellis later in the same stanza to put Doerr up by three.

Poholsky singled in what proved to be the winning run in the fourth inning, just before Frankfort put together a three-run rally in the fifth to pull within one. Starting pitcher Jason Rice left the mound in the sixth after an excellent winning performance that included eight strikeouts and just four hits and two walks. Poholsky was credited with the save.

Doerr had seven hits on the day, including Preston Sisler's triple and single.

Yesterday afternoon Poholsky's pitching held Frankfort to just two doubles and three singles. Doerr staked out an early lead by scoring once in the top of the first, but Frankfort tied the score at 1-all in the bottom of the stanza.

Doerr took a 2-1 lead in the second, then exploded for four runs in the third. Ellis started the flurry by reaching base on an error and advancing into scoring position on Rice's single. Mike Wolf's perfectly placed bunt single loaded the bases, then Ellis and Rice scored on a second Frankfort error as Wolf scampered to third. Sisler stroked a sacrifice fly to score Wolf, then Darrick Lowdermilk, who had reached base on a walk, scored on a fielder's choice.

Behind by a 6-1 margin, Frankfort managed to score its second and final run in the fourth inning. Doerr responded with Poholsky's two-run inside-the-park home run in the fifth, and the victors added another two runs for good measure in the sixth and one run in the seventh to win by nine.

Workman ripped a triple and a single, Rice belted a double and a single, and Wolf and Sisler each singled while tallying two RBI apiece. Poholsky totaled four RBI through his output, and also struck out six batters while surrendering just five hits on the mound. Frankfort's season closed at a 14-8 mark.

Named All-Star At Hoops Camp

Amanda Frantz, a junior at Northern High School, was named an All-Star at the prestigious Keystone Invitational Basketball Camp held recently at Albright College in Reading, Pa. She took part in the All-Star game at the conclusion of the camp. Frantz's camp team, the Mystics, was the Keystone State camp champion in the Senior High Division. The NCAA-certified Keystone State Invitational Camps take place annually at Albright College and Slippery Rock University, Pa., and bring together some of the best basketball players in the East.

Frantz has been invited to attend September's Keystone State Girls' Basketball Shoot-Out at Franklin & Marshall College in Lancaster, Pa. The shoot-out provides a comprehensive package of exposure to college coaches and scouting services, and an opportunity to play against top high school basketball players in a series of collegiate-level competitions.

Frantz has also attended the Garrett Community College Basketball Camp, directed by men's head basketball coach Dennis Gibson, where she was named an All-Star and was the one-on-one champion in the Senior Division.

Frantz is the daughter of Mark and Cindy Frantz of Friendsville.

The best-of-three Hot Stove Championship Series begins Monday with a 5:30 p.m. Holler Field showdown between unbeaten Doerr and the 18-3 Westvaco/Duckworth squad.

Oakland All-Stars' Quest For State Title Ends At Maugensville

The quest for a state championship ended for the Oakland Junior League All-Stars (ages 13-14), who dropped two consecutive games this past weekend in the state tourney, which was hosted by Maugensville. The local team lost a 7-2 decision to Delmar and were ousted from the tournament by Cambridge in the second game, 6-5.

"Our hitting just never materialized," stated team manager Ed Wildesen. "At times we played good defense, and we got good pitching, but we never really hit the ball well."

The Oaklanders were held to just three hits in the loss to Delmar, but left nine runners stranded on base, seven of whom were in scoring position. Andrew Vanbogelen accounted for two-thirds of the team's hits, as he recorded two singles and plated one run. Josh Rodeheaver had the only other hit, also a single. A sacrifice by Brad Reese gave Oakland its other run.

Oakland did get strong pitching from Scott Wildesen and Aaron Louden, who combined for a six-hitter. Wildesen struck out six batters in three and a third innings, while Louden recorded three strike-outs.

Oakland had a 2-0 lead going into the bottom of the second inning, but fell behind for good when Delmar put one run on the board in each of the second, third, and fourth innings.

Oakland's hitting was better in the contest against Cambridge, with Wildesen going 3-for-3 and drawing a walk. Ryan Heselbach hit a run-producing double, and Corey Bosley and Andrew Vanbogelen each provided RBI singles. Also getting one RBI each were Jason Weeks, Rodeheaver, and Chris Care. Tyler Livengood and Rodeheaver were the only two Oakland players to put the ball in play at every at-bat.

Once again Oakland had a 2-1 advantage going into the top of the fourth, but Cambridge took the lead with three runs in that frame. After Cambridge went up 5-2, Oakland rallied with three runs in the bottom of the sixth to knot the score at 5-5. But Cambridge recorded the winning run in the top of the seventh.

Oakland left 11 batters stranded on base, six of whom were in scoring position.

"As has been the norm, these players represented the Oakland area with class, dignity, and pride," Wildesen said. "From tournament officials and umpires to fans, we received endless compliments on the conduct of our players.

"Our kids have a strong work ethic and business-like approach to the game," he said. "We practiced long and hard, and the players were always serious. They indeed were team players, and excelled anywhere we put them on the field.

"The professionalism didn't stop with the players, though. Their parents supported the coaches' decisions without one hint of skepticism. As a result, I'm sure this All-Star experience was quite rewarding for each of these young men. I know it was for me," he concluded.

Sailboat Racing
On Deep Creek Lake

SUMMER FINALLY COMES TO DEEP CREEK
by Dan Muss

Well, I guess it's been summer for some time, but Saturday was one of those halcyon days for sailors; sun, puffy white clouds, temperatures in the low 80s, and a nice breeze from the east. From the east...sort of. That means it was sometimes from the northeast, sometimes from the southeast, and for a while it was from the south, but it was mostly east.

When I first sailed on Deep Creek Lake I was surprised to note that the boats here did not use tacking compasses. (A tacking compass is used to tell the skipper if the close-hauled course he's on is favorable to the windward mark.) After sailing here for a while I found out why they didn't bother with one; the windshifts were generally so dramatic, the skipper could not fail to miss one. And, since the marks are generally visible, the skipper can tell if he's favorable by imagining a line 45 degrees to his keel. If the mark is in front of that line, he's favorable. If the mark is behind that line, he should tack, unless there's another reason to hold that tack.

The Race Commander this past weekend was Stephanie Mahan and she set a nice seven-legged course with a jibe mark. At the start of Saturday's race the favored end of the line kept switching back and forth so I decided to start where the other boats weren't to get clean air. We were first around the first windward mark and held that position until the second windward leg when my arch-nemesis Ted Rissell passed us. We were catching up when, on the port tack, we had to duck a Flying Scot B Fleet boat on starboard. That put us behind again. We took a long, unfavorable tack over to the Turkey Neck shore because I thought the wind was better there. As we tacked out, it seemed like the tactic worked and we appeared to be close to both Rissell and Elster, who had gone up the Thousand Island shore. Then I saw that Rissell was doing a 720-degree penalty turn and realized that they had gotten into some kind of altercation, so we rounded in first place again.

Then I almost lost it. As we were approaching the jibe mark for the second time I waited too long to call for the spinnaker drop. As my fearless crew Marilyn Filemyr was gathering in the spinnaker and I was dropping the centerboard the spinnaker got caught in the centerboard rollers. The spinnaker was down as we hardened up on what was essentially a close reach, which was lucky because we could not get the centerboard all the way down. So I bore off the course to the mark and told Marilyn to pick up the centerboard and free the spinnaker. She did this, and we were able to get the centerboard down, harden up for the mark, and eventually win.

Sunday there seemed to be no real breeze, only the occasional thermal, so the C Fleet sailors decided not to race. They got a race off, but I was glad to watch it from the shore.

ROARING KNOB
by Donna Butler

Jeff Ferguson of Brownfield, Pa., took the $3,000 win in the Ken Nicholson and Sons Late Model portion of the Tri-State Shootout Series finale last weekend at Roaring Knob Raceway Park. Before the night was over, Bob Bolin, Scott Herring, Dave Summers, and Danny Leonard would also visit victory lane.

Andy Fries sat on the pole for the 40-lap late model feature. At the drop of the green, Nick Jones shot into the first turn from the number two position. Jones would hold the point until lap 15, when he spun between turns 1 and 2, collecting Mike Benedum in the process. Fries inherited the lead, with Ferguson getting by Benedum on the restart to take second. At the halfway point, Fries and Ferguson were 1-2. Benedum, with his right side sheet metal seriously damaged, rode in third, with Denny Chamberlain and Frankie Plessinger running fourth and fifth, respectively.

Lap 21 saw Ferguson power by Fries, holding him off until Chamberlain laid claim to second on the 26th circuit. Chamberlain and Ferguson then treated the crowd to a classic dirt track duel, racing hard and clean over the final trips around the mountain top oval. Scattered cautions kept things tight, and when the checkered flew it was Ferguson with his fourth win. Chamberlain claimed the runner-up spot, with Fries, Benedum, and Plessinger in third through fifth. Chuck Clise, Bob Neratka, Nick Jones, Gary Tonkery, and Bob Gordon completed the top 10. There were eight cautions in the event.

Polesitter Mike Hay led the first circuit of the Vita-Link-QCOL Classic Lites event, but Bob Bolin took the point on the second and never looked back. It was win number four for the Pennsboro, W.Va., driver. Mike Hay took second, followed by John Cogar, Eric Hay, and Lynn Knepper. There were three cautions.

Scott "The Ace" Spade led the first half of the Country Charm Hot Stock feature, but Scott Herring led the half that counted, giving the Markleysburg, Pa., driver his first of the year. John Redshaw came in second, with Steve Huggins, Jim Byers, and Spade rounding out the top five. Eight cautions marred the event.

Dave Summers of Grafton, W.Va., the 2000 points champ, took another win in the Fort Necessity Garage Modified 4-cylinder division. Summers led from wire to wire, beating out Josh Angle, Dave Gabbert, Mark Gower, and Chad Livingston. There were three cautions.

"Dangerous" Danny Leonard appears to be unstoppable in the Fort Necessity Garage 4-cylinder Stock division. Leonard started sixth on the grid, and immediately began his march to the front. He slipped by Bob Miller on lap 10 and made it stick, taking trophy number six home to Dunbar, Pa. Miller hung on for second, followed by Jim Crossland, Floyd Carey, and Allen McNett. There were two cautions.

Roaring Knob Raceway Park will be back in action this Saturday, July 28, as Mountain Thunder 2001 returns to the raceway. It will be Pepsi Family Day, with giveaways and prizes. Appalachian Timber Products will hold a "Kids' Crazy Course Contest" for the youngsters.

Lottery Set To Distribute Duck Blind Licenses

In order to cut some of the stress and time associated with getting the best spot in line for duck blind site applications, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has set a lottery to determine where a potential duck blind license holder will stand in line as applications are accepted at municipal and state buildings across the state. Each of Maryland's 14 counties that license duck blinds will hold a drawing at 8 a.m. Tuesday, July 31. Licenses will be issued July 31 and Wednesday, Aug. 1. Anyone arriving before 7:30 a.m. on July 31 will not be allowed to participate in the lottery. Anyone arriving after 8 a.m. (after the numbers have been drawn) will take their place at the end of the line.

The lottery idea was a result of a DNR random telephone survey of people who obtained duck blind licenses on the first day last year. The overwhelming consensus was that a lottery would be a welcome change from having to stand in line for hours or even days prior to the licensing. More information on the 2001-2002 duck blind site applications can be found at www.dnr.state.md.us/wildlife/nonriparian and www.dnr.state.md.us/wildlife.bssummary.

INTERSTATE SPEEDWAY

by Cheryl Baker-Stasiak

The AMRA Road Warriors took to the track for their first special event of the year at Interstate 79 Speedway last weekend. Thirty-five cars took times, with John Burdette in the RVI setting the quick time with a 17.234. Benny Hickel, Dave Defibaugh, Deck Defibaugh, and Dave Groves led the 24-car field to the green, and Hickel jumped to the lead and led the first 21 circuits. Kenny Johnson and Hickel then battled the remaining 9 laps, and Johnson prevailed. Hickel was a close second, and Mike Wilson was third. Dave Groves, Dave Defibaugh, John Burdette, Shawn Davis, Brent Trimbie, Dana McIntyre and Deck Defibaugh rounded out the top 10. The consey was picked up by Junior Nolan.

Paul Wilmoth Jr. picked up his third feature of the year by leading the late model feature wire to wire after starting on the pole. He was joined on the front row by Robbie Scott and Gary Tonkery. Scott challenged for a while, but was unable to catch Wilmoth, so he settled for second. Bobby Hill came from his eighth starting spot to finish third. Butch McGill was fourth and Chuck Harper, the Timberwolf Hard Charger, was fifth. Tonkery, Gary Dalton, Scott Miles, Doug Horton, and Shane Quattro were sixth through tenth.

Stanley Spooner, the Cassville Express, picked up his first ever feature in the Semi Late division after 26 years of racing. Donnie Dotson and Spooner started side by side in the front row, and Spooner got the advantage at the drop of the green and never looked back. M.T. Hall sprinted after the lap 18 caution to finish second, and Billy Holbert came from behind to finish third. L.C. Powers, Travis Brookover, Roy Gibson, Duane Moreland, Steve Wilmoth, Richard Frazier, and Rick Burrows rounded out the top 10.

In the Pure Stocks, Jim Byers picked up his seventh feature win by coming from the eighth starting hole to take the lead from Mark Bell on lap 5. Jim Bendishaw was second and Mark Bell was third; however, Bell was light at the scales and relegated to last, which moved Pam Coffman to third. Chuck Bloom and Joe Loudin were fourth and fifth. Dusty Hamrick, John Dobbins, Donnie Lewis, Sam Alvaro, and Rick Ball were in positions 6 through 10.

Dave Summers made it seven in a row in the four cylinders. Mike Simpson, Tom Simpson, Skip Raupach, Dave Gabbert, Joe Frye, and Michelle Shaw completed the field.

Guest Speaker To Be At Salem Fundraiser Event

MIKE ADKINS

The Maryland Salem Children's Trust will hold its annual OutSpokin' for Maryland's Kids fundraising banquet and silent auction on Saturday, September 8, at the Cumberland Country Club.

The guest speaker for this year is Mike Adkins, internationally-recognized evangelist, author, singer, and songwriter. Adkins has been a featured guest on James Dobson's Focus on the Family and has recorded five inspirational albums during his ministry.

He also produced two Christian films available on video, "A Man Called Norman" and "Seeds for the Harvest." Adkins has appeared on more than 300 national television programs and has spoken and sung at many Full Gospel Business Men's conventions and chapters, as well as Aglow chapters, denominational churches, and non-denominational churches throughout the country.

Internationally, he has spoken in Indonesia, Holland, China, Brazil, Russia, Poland, Scotland, Australia, England, and South Africa.

Before entering the ministry, Adkins was employed as a Federal coal mine inspector. He resides in West Frankfort, Ill. with his wife, Carmel, and their son, Joshua. Their two daughters, Tracy and Tricia, are now both married. Adkins and his wife also have three grandsons and one granddaughter.

The silent auction begins at 6 p.m., followed by a gourmet meal at 7 p.m. Tickets are available by calling Salem at 301-689-8176, ext. 206. The tickets are available on a first come, first serve basis for $25; the price includes participation in the silent auction, meal, and entertainment by Mike Adkins.

Other events scheduled in Salem's fundraising campaign are a community bike ride on Saturday, August 18, from Salem to Savage River Dam, and a 5K Run/Walk at Savage River Lodge on Labor Day Monday, September 3.

Additionally, Salem employee, Tom Ruckert, will be cycling for the ninth year from Salem to Ocean City, from September 10 to the 14 to help raise money for the agency. Local residents, churches, civic clubs, and businesses are invited to participate in any or all of these events and may receive more details by calling Salem.

The Maryland Salem Children's Trust has been in operation for over 20 years and has served over 200 children ranging in age from 6 to 18. It provides a loving home, therapy, educational and shelter services to children from throughout Maryland, but gives special priority to individuals from Allegany and Garrett counties. As a non-profit organization, Salem must raise over $100,000 each year to supplement its childcare payments received from the state.

Salem would like to invite the public to join them in helping to raise money for children in need. This year's OutSpokin' fundraising goal is $25,000.

NHS Grad Earns Two Scholarships From Point Park

Jeremy Carr, Accident, has received two scholarships to attend Point Park College in Pittsburgh, where he will study filmmaking through the Pittsburgh Filmmakers' School of Film, Video, and Photography. Carr is a 2001 graduate of Northern High School and is the son of Verlyn "Butch" and Linda Carr.

Carr is the recipient of an academic scholarship from Point Park College for $8,000, to be distributed in equal parts per year for four years of study. He was selected for this award based on his academic achievements while at Northern.

He also received a Community Service and Leadership Award from the college, based on his various extra-curricular and civic activities over the past several years. This scholarship will provide Carr with $4,000.

In addition to these honors, Jeremy was also named to this year's Who's Who Among American High School Students for the third consecutive year.

As a participant in the Garrett County Board of Education's "school to work" program, Carr spent his senior year working half days at The Republican newspaper satellite office in Grantsville. He has stayed on for summer work and will remain as a staff member at the Grantsville locale until he leaves for college. His duties with the newspaper include news reporting, photography, and feature writing.

In other state police news, an Accident man was arrested on an assault charge that stemmed from a Monday night domestic altercation.

Donald Clark Finnegan, 25, was apprehended without incident at the scene of the incident, which took place at a South Main Street residence at approximately 8:50 p.m. The investigation had revealed that Finnegan, who troopers said appeared to be intoxicated, allegedly grabbed his girlfriend by the neck and threw her to the floor, causing her to strike her head. The victim refused medical treatment, and Finnegan was charged with second degree assault by Tfc. J.B. Schlossnagle. Finnegan was subsequently released under unspecified circumstances without being taken to jail.

An Atom 4 U(s)

"An Atom 4 U(s)..." is the distinctive name of Jared D. Zitwer's new research- and reference-oriented business that provides all types of information to all types of people. Located at 301 S. Second Street, Unit A, Oakland, An Atom 4 U(s)... provides "research, reference, and referral outside of the Ruth Enlow Library's hours on topics selected by the client and sometimes by the researcher," according to its founder.

An Atom 4 U(s)... utilizes sources above and beyond the Internet, Zitwer said. "We collect knowledge for our clients from a wide variety of sources," Zitwer said, "including books, doctoral theses, libraries, universities, and experts in the field. We also are not above seeking out the input of children, because sometimes kids have all kinds of imaginative ideas that aren't taken seriously by adults. Children have a way of looking at things that lets them see things adults may miss."

The new business also offers training to those interested in conducting their own research, reference, and referral, and can work to locate clients for independent researchers, as well as researchers for clients. Zitwer plans to expand An Atom 4 U(s)... into Meyersdale, Pa., and Washington County, offering a "storefront" for "walk-up" business, plus office space and support for persons conducting research of their own.

Zitwer is no stranger to the entrepenuerial world, as he was the founder of Maps For You, a retail topographic map and nautical chart store which he operated in downtown Oakland from Dec. 1984 through June 1987. He said he has accumulated over 120 separate work experiences since 1979.

Persons interested in further information on An Atom 4 U(s)... may visit the business at its Oakland location or contact Zitwer via e-mail at jaredov@mad.scientist.com

JURASSIC PARK III

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:31 - Released 7/18/01

There's nothing like a nice, juicy, well-established film franchise to suck in the bucks and allow struggling writers to hone their craft. Once you have a name like Jurassic Park, which is inextricably attached to the name Steven Spielberg, you can just keep making profitable sequels every few summers until the cows (or if you prefer, the velociraptors) come home. Joe Johnston's Jurassic Park III is a case in point. Spielberg didn't even have to bother with this one, other than cutting a check.

Joining director Johnston, the Star Wars/Indiana Jones effects guy who has gone on to direct a few notable films like Jumanji and October Sky, is freshman writer Peter Buchman, aided by Alexander Payne and Jim Taylor (Election). This relatively inexperienced creative team was able to produce a serviceable addition to the one-trick JP series, thanks mainly to some reasonably prominent names in the cast and some major cyber-crafted effects; their primary task (contriving a reason to return to dino land) was handled poorly, but after we get past it, the script goes on autopilot. Like the Godzilla and Jaws sequels, once you've got people running from bigass beasties who want to eat them for lunch, things like interesting plot lines and convincing dialogue are superfluous and unnecessary. One definite coup on director Johnston's part, however, was convincing Jurassic Park star Sam Neill, who did not appear in the 1997 sequel Lost World (and the film suffered for his absence), to recreate his character of paleontologist Dr. Alan Grant.

The story involves a pair of divorcees whose child has disappeared in a parasailing accident. The trouble is, the accident happened on the restricted island of Isla Sorna, which happens to be owned by the infamous I-Gen corporation and is therefore inhabited by the Animals Formerly Known As Prehistoric (AFKAP). Believing their son to be alive but in great danger of being consumed by members of the AFKAP organization, hardware salesman Paul Kirby (William H. Macy) and his ex-wife Amanda (Téa Leoni) decide the only way to rescue him is with the guidance of the foremost scientist on the subject. Convincing Dr. "I swear to God I'll never look a dinosaur in the face again" Grant, as he has become known, is achieved surprisingly easily (see "poorly contrived" section above) and soon we're back to the old scenario of people running like hell with hungry rexes, raptors, and pteranodons in hot pursuit. Joining the good doctor and the estranged parents are Grant's assistant, Billy (Alessandro Nivola), pilot Udesky (Michael Jeter), and several others who are brought along to serve as Purina Dino-Chow. Playing the Kirbys' resourceful young son Eric is 14-year-old Trevor Morgan.

Even without Spielberg's input, and even without a terribly intelligent script, this film survives on its effects. Neill, Macy, and Leoni all do adequately in their roles, but all three of them are underused. The bit about the Kirbys masquerading as tycoons is insipid; the part about their reconciliation is patently predictable, and the part about Grant's Dr. Dolittle act is howlingly ridiculous. But people who go to see Jurassic Park III are not there for character development, they want cool-looking dinosaurs, and that they will get in spades. So what am I getting my neck frills all up in a bundle about? ★★★★

AMERICA'S SWEETHEARTS

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:40 - Released 7/20/01

From the minds and pens of Billy Crystal and Peter Tolan comes America's Sweethearts, a satirically biting romantic comedy directed by Joe Roth about the multiple personalities of the Hollywood movie biz. Starring Julia Roberts, John Cusack, and Catherine Zeta- Jones, and featuring some amusing supporting performances by Crystal, Christopher Walken, Stanley Tucci, and others, this film shows us the offscreen antics that may or may not occur during the production and presentation of your typical major feature release. While this pretext would have been enough, Crystal and Tolan couldn't resist including the standard romance formula (after all, they had Julia Roberts on hand), and this brings an unfortunate sameness to what could have been a truly unique production. Still, the actors involved are so skilled at said formula that they bring it off beautifully.

With this story, we are given insight into all the personae that make up the movie industry — spoiled actors, pretentious directors, opportunistic publicists, mercenary producers, and - ahem - jaded critics. We first learn about the on- and offscreen couple to whom the title refers, sweethearts Eddie Thomas (Cusack) and Gwen Harrison (Zeta-Jones). Unfortunately, after making numerous successful films together, the famous couple has separated and Gwen has taken a new Spanish boyfriend (Hank Azaria). The split has not only disappointed the viewing public and the entire contingent of Hollywood producers, it has driven Eddie into hiding, and to the brink of insanity. We soon learn, however, that quirky and reclusive director Hal Wideman (Walken) has finished work on the couple's last film together, Time Over Time. Sensing a golden opportunity to capitalize on the public's Eddie & Gwen craving, producer Kingman (Tucci) hires publicist Lee (Crystal) to arrange a press junket, even though Wideman has not yet delivered the film.

After some cajoling, Lee convinces Eddie and Gwen to appear at the junket together, telling the lovelorn Eddie that maybe Gwen will reconsider, while assuring Gwen that this will provide an opportunity to serve her divorce papers. Among her entourage is Gwen's down-to-earth, formerly overweight sister Kiki (Roberts), who serves as assistant (i.e. personal slave) to the self-centered actress. After a long and childish argument over whose limo should arrive first, they meet and begin a series of long and childish arguments over various other things, with Lee making the most of the controversy and Kiki acting as romantic go-between, until the director finally arrives with the mysterious film.

The actors are obviously enjoying what they do here, as it appears they are intimately familiar with the kinds of personalities that inhabit what I like to call Hollowwood. Cusack is effective as ever in his standard "psychotic nice guy" role, and Zeta-Jones hams it up as the temperamental Gwen. Crystal and Roberts are playing their stock characters (the ascerbically funny Jewish guy and the radiant but underappreciated nice girl, respectively), but they do it so well, it doesn't matter that we've seen it a million times. Tucci is exceptionally funny in his few minutes of screen time, and Walken, well, Walken is Walken, perhaps the most perfectly cast actor in the film as the spookily creative genius. One new thing this film offers is the chance to see Julia Roberts in fat makeup (well, not fat but overweight). Roberts has spent so many years looking perfect that it's funny to see what she would look like as a frumpy 200-pounder. Overall, Crystal's comment on his business is akin to Frank Oz's Bowfinger, giving the film set a chance to laugh at themselves, but not digging so deeply as to draw blood. ★★★★½

THE SCORE

Rated R - Running Time: 2:00 - Released 7/13/01

I have not actually been on the edge of my seat many times (at least not in a movie theater), but Frank Oz's crime drama The Score had me fidgeting all over the place, thanks largely to the film's talented cast. This is director and veteran muppet-meister Oz's first "serious movie," after such frothy fare as What About Bob?, In & Out, and Bowfinger, and he has chosen wisely in assembling his players. Although its script (by Daniel E. Taylor, Kario Salem, Lem Dobbs, and Scott Marshall Smith) is certainly nothing special, sporting the finest in trite plot elements and highly unlikely circumstances, The Score proves what a difference it makes when the formula is placed in the right hands. The combination of highly capable young actor Edward Norton (American History X, Keeping the Faith) with elder thespians Robert De Niro and Marlon Brando provides an intriguing mix, and no doubt Oz realized this trio had a chance of making a run-of-the-mill crime story into something special.

The first character we meet in this story is an aging thief who wants to retire but must make one final score to set himself up for life. Wow — what a clever premise; I wonder why no one has ever thought of that before. Although he has serious misgivings about the job, professional con man and jazz club owner Nick (De Niro) grudgingly teams up with young upstart Jack (Norton) to steal a jewel-encrusted 17th-century French royal scepter from the Montreal customs house. Openly mistrusting his intelligent but pushy partner, Nick is convinced by his boss (Brando), whose role isn't exactly made clear, to go ahead even when the plan gets complicated.

Accoutered with a seemingly endless supply of high-tech thief gadgetry (available from the Sharper Image thief supply catalogue or on the back page of American Larcenist magazine) and using information Jack has gathered while working as a janitor at the customs house (feigning mental retardation in order to avoid suspicion from the guards), the two men enact an ever-increasingly complex scheme to infiltrate the high-security building and yoink the priceless relic, all the while suspecting each other (and rightly so) of mutual double-crossery.

If this film were not populated by such able actors, it would be less than memorable, but Norton and De Niro are both truly compelling in their characterizations; with the subtlest of eye movements and behavioral body English, Norton conveys volumes of subtext. It's highly satisfying to see two great actors like De Niro and Brando interacting together in their first joint venture (no, The Godfather trilogy doesn't count, since they weren't in the same movie together). Also present is Angela Bassett in a convincing turn as Nick's stewardess girlfriend. As with Brando, there is no pressing need for her to be there, but Bassett justifies what little screen time she inhabits.

Even if Oz isn't the greatest at picking scripts, he at least proves that he can pick actors, and guide them to create a satisfying product (although De Niro apparently did some of the directing himself, thanks to Brando's alleged refusal to work with Oz). Despite the inadequacies of its text and the tumultuous quality of its offscreen atmosphere, The Score is at its best truly gripping, and even at its worst, not really all that bad. ★★★★

Garrett County Chamber of Commerce UPDATE

Home of Deep Creek Lake

by Ken Wishnick
President, Garrett Co. Chamber of Commerce

The monthly meeting of the County Chamber of Commerce board of directors was held recently, with chairman Jonathan "Smiley" Kessler presiding.

In the absence of treasurer Jim Murray, chamber president Ken Wishnick reported "a strong financial position" for the organization at the close of the fiscal year on June 30. "We ended financially ahead even though a $56,000 operating deficit was budgeted," he noted. Wishnick explained the financial turnaround is mostly a result of aggressive cost management of the Vacation Guide's preparation, printing, and distribution.

In presenting the monthly president's report, Wishnick introduced two new chamber publications — a full-color county map and the Specialty Shopping in Garrett County & Deep Creek Lake brochure. Both of these are currently available at the Visitors Center in McHenry. "Because the publications are fully self-supporting through advertising, we are able to offer them to the public free of charge," Wishnick said. He pointed out that the previous two-color county map cost the chamber $4,000 to produce, but that the current full-color version was at no cost to the organization.

Wishnick reported that requests for proposals have been sent to a number of publishing companies, which have expressed interest in producing next year's Vacation Guide. A public notice has also been placed in The Republican. Vendor proposals will be accepted through August 10.

The 15 people who answered Garrett County's Vacation Guide hotline at the state's call center are being hosted locally on June 24-25 for a familiarization tour. Wisp Hotel has worked out accommodations for the group and board member Bob Browning is donating an orientation boat tour. On September 13-14, Hannah Byron, director of the Maryland Office of Tourism Development, will bring 19 people from her staff to the county for a two-day visit.

Kessler directed the appointment of board members to various task forces, and the board agreed to eliminate certain pre-existing task forces that are no longer needed.

Second vice chair Len Eiswert reported on the real estate task force he chairs. After hosting a meeting with several area realtors on July 18, he offered a series of recommendations to the board regarding how real estate companies and agents should be listed on the chamber's web site and in the Vacation Guide. The board approved the recommendations regarding web site listings, but referred the changes pertaining to the Vacation Guide to the Vacation Guide task force for review and comment, since some of the changes impact members other than realtors.

First vice chair Jerry Geisler asked that a new site for 4th of July fireworks be chosen for next year. Fireworks setback regulations will eliminate future use of the current site. This matter will be considered by the board at a future meeting.

The board was advised of VIP agricultural-tourism events scheduled for Friday, July 27, and was invited to attend.

Wishnick reported on the upcoming Big Bear Bi-Athlon, scheduled for October 7 at Deep Creek Lake. The event, consisting of a 1/2-mile swim and a 10k walk/run, will benefit the Dove Center, Garrett County's domestic violence and sexual assault resource center. Deep Creek Brewing Co., organizer of the event, has asked the chamber to be a co-sponsor. The board agreed by formal vote.

The following new chamber members were approved and welcomed by the board: Cove Run Farms, Accident, owned by Bob and Alice Bender; Gregory Mortimer Builders, McHenry, owned by Sheri and Gregory Mortimer; and Just Windows, Mtn. Lake Park, owned by Edward Putnam.

The next chamber board of directors meeting will be on September 20 at 8 a.m. at the Visitors Center.

Six more local students have received and accepted Daniel E. Offutt Achievement Award scholarships to continue their education at Garrett Community College. The scholarships were awarded by the Garrett Community College Foundation and announced by GCCF executive director Bretta Reinhard. A total of 12 students will benefit from the scholarship fund established by Offutt, a native of Garrett County who now resides in Connecticut.

Melanie Harvey, daughter of Charles and Rebecca Harvey of Grantsville and a 2000 graduate of Northern High School, is majoring in general studies at GCC with no specific career goal at this time. In high school she was a member of the volleyball, basketball, and softball teams, the National Honor Society, and the Girls' Varsity Club. She was also recognized by Who's Who Among American High School Students, and was named Student of the Month and Outstanding Female Student in her senior year. At GCC she is a member of the Lakers volleyball team and serves as a math mentor. Her interests are playing sports, camping, and traveling.

John Gregory, son of Mike and Sandi Gregory of Grantsville, is majoring in Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology at GCC with plans to complete a bachelor of science degree in forest management at West Virginia University, Morgantown, and then serve in foreign Christian mission work. A graduate of the Oak Dale Christian School in Salisbury, Pa., Gregory played AYSO Soccer, participated in drama, and was an Ultimate Frisbee instructor for the Tree of Life home school organization. He also participated in the Maryland Summer Center for Integration of Math and Science and the Maryland State Awareness Week for forestry and natural resources careers.

Gregory is a math tutor at GCC. A 4-H member, he won the 4-H state championship in public speaking, and also served on the State Wildlife Judging Team, as an AYSO soccer referee for Region 861, and was a state park volunteer. He is a member of the YFC Bible quizzing team, and serves as church webmaster and on the youth education and service committee. His interests include cross country skiing, Ultimate Frisbee, soccer, computer science, and Celtic music.

Her career goal is to use her skills and education to help people lead more productive lives, especially troubled youth and college students. In high school she participated in AYSO soccer, drama, team building, and Ultimate Frisbee for Tree of Life home school organization, and the Maryland Summer Center for Environmental Studies.

At GCC, Gregory is employed in the Adventure Education Guide Service as a low ropes and mountain biking guide. She is a 10-year state park volunteer, AYSO soccer referee, five-year 4-H officer, and 4-H public speaking and wildlife judging state champion. Her church activities include teaching Sunday school, helping with the newsletter, and participating in evangelism and on the camp committee. The Solid Food of Faith

"This is yummy", Cara muses, "but I'm still hungry. How about some of that stuff like my big brother eats. I'm getting to be a big girl, you know! You must think I'm still a baby!"

This young lady thinks she is ready for some solid food to satisfy her hunger. Perhaps we can compare this situation with our need for spiritual food. As youngsters, most of us are protected from distress and decisions. We are not tested and tried. Yet, as we become teenagers and adults, we must cope with more serious events and complex situations, often with less available guidance. Therefore we need solid spiritual food to satisfy our needs...the food of faith. Often we must search it out.

Where can we find that strength to satisfy our hunger? We can find it in God's House where there are those who will help us find Him and the strength that will sustain us. Attend this week. Hunger no more.

In addition, the soft spread must have been prepared with 100 percent Natural Fruit Jell Pectin. Koscielniak also emphasized that the UPC seal (striped bar code seal) from the Fruit Jell package must accompany the product.

National Geographic Photographer To Discuss Career Aug. 4 In Aurora

The newly restored Aurora Community Building is currently hosting its first art exhibit, "Through His Eyes: The Photographs of Volkmar Wentzel," through August 31. The major exhibit of 93 photographs by Wentzel, a renowned National Geographic photographer, will be on exhibit from noon to 7 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays until the exhibit closes Friday, Aug. 31. Wentzel will present a gallery talk at 3 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 4, concerning his work as a National Geographic photographer for 50 years.

VOLKMAR WENTZEL

The images span 40 years, from the 1930s to the 1970s. The photos are all of West Virginia, primarily the Aurora-Eglon area. Wentzel is a long-time resident of the Youghiogheny Woods near Aurora. He and his wife Viola were present for the three-hour opening event, at which refreshments of homemade cookies and punch were served by the Aurora CEOS.

Aurora Area Historical Society curator Michele Moure is the exhibit director, and she personaliy mounted and framed each photograph. Moure prepared a 16-page program in newspaper format, from reflections of local residents to individual photographs, with background articles on Wentzel and the Youghiogheny Colony of intellectuals. The paper, and five of the photographs which were made into postcards, were printed by Sincell Publishing of Oakland.

The exhibit is enhanced by an array of Wentzel's early cameras in an antique display case lent by Doris Adams. A photographic darkroom exhibit of Wentzel's early equipment is also on display. Maxine Martin has lent her grandmother's quilt that appeared in a National Geographic in 1937. The photographs are displayed on 14 large block columns built by John and Janette Adams and JoAnn Helton, which are painted gray to coordinate with the new color interior of the building. Vases of wild flowers were prepared by Laura Frye.

Alice Penzo, president of the historical society, coordinated the entire community effort at the exhibit's opening event. The Aurora Volunteer Fire Department directed traffic for the 160 who attended. A new ramp built by Frank Blamble, Keith Douglas, and James Slawter, made access to the building easier for all. The exhibit was made possible by funds and support of the West Virginia Division of Culture and History, the West Virginia Humanities Council, the Division of Tourism, and many local residents and businesses.

Those interested in purchasing one of the photographs may call Penzo at 304-735-5471.

TV PIPELINE

Louis-Dreyfus readying an NBC sitcom

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Julia Louis-Dreyfus

Q: What is Julia Louis-Dreyfus of Seinfeld up to these days? –L. Clark Jr., Pacifica, Calif.

A: The Emmy-winning actress and her husband, Brad Hall, are developing a new NBC sitcom in which Louis-Dreyfus plays a singer and voice-over artist living in Los Angeles. The ensemble cast includes Steve Carrell (The Daily Show) and Peter Stormare (Fargo). The show is a midseason candidate.

Q: My friend thinks Kurtwood Smith played the title role in the movie Robocop. I say he was a villain. –Adam Comstock, SPC Clerk, Camp Eagle, Bosnia.

A: Your buddy is wrong. Peter Weller played the title role, while Smith played surly drug czar Clarence Boddicker.

Q: I am 72, and my friends and I fondly remember singer John Gary. We never hear his name mentioned anymore. What happened to him? –Nicholas Fotinos, Alexandria, Va.

A: Sadly, Gary died of cancer at age 65 back in 1998. The clean-cut singer gradually faded from the national spotlight as his audience grew older and variety shows vanished from TV, but Gary continued to appear at music festivals, telethons and cruises to entertain his fans well into the 1990s. One of his children maintains a memorial Website, johngary.com, that contains a wealth of information.

Q: Sandra Hess (Pensacola: Wings of Gold) and Suzie Plakson (Mad About You) are very talented, but what have they done? –Gary W. in Colorado.

A: Born and reared in Switzerland, model-turned-actress Hess made her series debut in Pensacola but also has made guest appearances on Highlander: The Series, SeaQuest DSV, Sliders, Titans, and Lois & Clark: The New Adventures of Superman. Her film credits include Encino Man, Mortal Kombat: Annihilation and Face Value.

Before joining Mad About You, the statuesque Plakson made her TV series debut as wisecracking Mary Margaret Tynan on the sitcom Love & War but previously had provided various voices in the series Dinosaurs. Her guest appearances include Judging Amy, Bette, Everybody Loves Raymond, Star Trek: Voyager and Murphy Brown, among many, many others. Her film credits include My Stepmother Is an Alien, Disclosure and Wag the Dog.

Q: Is that Heather Rattray from 1978's The Further Adventures of the Wilderness Family playing Victoria on The Young and the Restless? –M. Martin, Lebanon, Pa.

A: Rattray is a veteran of two daytime dramas – As the World Turns and Guiding Light – but she never has been on Y&R. Heather Tom has played Victoria Newman for a decade now.

TRIVIA

Kirk Douglas (Detective Story) earned $50,000 for saying "coffee," the only English word at the end of a 1980s Japanese commercial.

Jack Lemmon (Mister Roberts) was born in an elevator. A self-taught pianist, he wrote the theme song for the movie Tribute.

Jenna Elfman (Dharma & Greg) is a classically trained ballerina. She also appeared in the 1991 music video "Halo" for Depeche Mode.

Daryl Hannah (The Last Don, First Target) was once diagnosed as borderline autistic because she was so shy as a child.

Robert De Niro holds the record for most weight gained for a movie. He put on 60 pounds to play Jake LaMotta in Raging Bull (1980).

TROOP 22'S GORLEYS RIDE CANAL — Matt Gorley, a member of Boy Scout Troop 22 of Oakland, completed a five-day bicycle ride of the entire C&O Canal recently with his father Tom, committee chairman of Troop 22. The Gorleys rode the entire 184.5-mile trail from Georgetown in Washington, D.C., to Cumberland, and also took time to complete a bicycle tour of the Antietam National Battlefield in Sharpsburg. Both Gorleys earned all five of the Boy Scout Council embroidered C&O Canal segment insignias, in addition to the C&O Canal emblem they had earned earlier. Matt Gorley also earned the Cycling Merit Badge. The Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club sponsors Troop 22, which meets at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland.

Weight Loss Puzzles Doctors

ATLANTA, GA -- Doctors were surprised when two separate studies found that a natural dietary supplement could help cause significant weight loss.

Although not conclusive, both studies found that patients receiving the formula called Bio-Rex 3000®, lost more than twice as much weight as those in a control group on the same fat reduced diet. Neither group was instructed to decrease the amount of food they ate or to increase their exercise levels. An article published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition says that you don't have to decrease the amount of food you eat to lose weight, provided that you limit the fat.

According to a spokesperson for Phillips Gulf Corporation, the exclusive North American distributor of Bio-Rex 3000, the company is considering additional studies in order to get federal approval to make pharmaceutical claims. Currently, weight loss claims for the Bio-Rex 3000 supplement are limited. However, with the requisite approval, the company could say that Bio-Rex 3000 decreases sugar cravings, increases metabolism and interferes with the body's ability to produce excess fat.

Bio-Rex 3000 is currently available as a dietary supplement and plan in pharmacies and nutrition stores or by calling 1-800-729-8446. A four week supply is just $19.99. © 2000 PGC

Youth Program Offered At Loch Lynn Comm. Bldg.

Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc., Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families, and the Garrett County Health Department AmeriCorps program are working together to operate a summer youth initiative program at the Loch Lynn Community Building.

The 30 students enrolled in the program have been participating in a number of recreational and educational activities. The health department is providing summer safety and health programs. Students have toured Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the county's office of emergency management, and the Bear Creek fish hatchery.

The youths also spent a day at the Broken Bar Stables, where they took a hay ride and had a picnic. They will continue to travel to the Cumberland YMCA for swimming lessons each week.

Staff members for the program include Mendy Paugh (program coordinator), Kathy Kerr, and Patricia Faulkner. AmeriCorps members Connie Herman and Connie Glotfelty assist in the program, which began on June 26 and will end on Aug. 1 with a picnic at the Veterans Park in Mountain Lake Park.

The program offers service learning opportunities for students who need to earn hours. For additional information, persons may call Community Action at 301-334-0723.

Children Darrell Roth of Morgantown, Lowell and Marlene Taylor and Sam Roth of California, Doyle Roth of Ohio, Glenn and Norma Bantz of South Carolina, Robert and Wanda Roth of Morgantown, and daughter-in-law Avenell Parsons of Eglon and their families met Saturday at the Maple Spring Church and on Sunday in Eglon.

Tom, Linda, and Sara Lewis of Eglon went to Virginia Beach, Va., this weekend, where they visited daughter Julie and Gary Baker, Grayson and Madison. Sara will remain there for an extended visit with her sister.

Recent activities of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club include the attendance of Tracy Teets, Josh Mullenax, and Tyler Harsh at Older Camp in Preston County, and Lindsey Teets and Josh Mullenax attending Older Members Conference at Jackson's Mill in June.

This past week, June 19, two Mountaineer judging teams competed at the state level in Morgantown at WVU. The horticulture judging team composed of Kari Harsh, Sara Lewis, and Ashley Bachtel placed second in a field of six. The livestock judging team placed 6th and was made up of Dana Feather, Maria Harsh, and Tracy Teets.

Everett and Peggy Gnegy, Liberty, Mo., and Bob and Mary Belknap, Beliot, Kan., met Leon and Pat Whitcomb, from Andover, Kan., at the home of Everett's father and wife, Paul and Erma Gnegy, Aurora, on June 30. The group attended the Slaubaugh reunion on July 1 and on July 2 the group, plus Tabitha Snyder, journeyed to Keyser, where they stayed and celebrated the 4th of July with Gay and Ruby Rembold, Everett's aunt and uncle. They were joined on July 3 by Everett's aunt and uncle, Jesse and Helen Gnegy, Gormania. The group celebrated Paul's 85th birthday early, as his birthday is December. Grace White, another aunt, joined the group on July 5. The E. Gnegys, B. Belknaps, and L. Whitcombs then went to the home of Jesse and Helen Gnegy, where they remained until July 9, when the Gnegys and Belknaps departed for Liberty.

Q. Could you please explain the differences in the terms bamboo, cane, rattan, rush and wicker?

A. Bamboo is shaped like a long stick with interspersed joints. It looks like an old fishing pole and can be bent to form a chair frame. Rattan is the scraped stem of a tropical palm tree. Larger pieces look like bamboo.

Early wicker is made of long pieces of willow or rattan palms. By the late 19th century, a less expensive type of wicker was created by wrapping brown paper tightly around a wire core. Either type of wicker was wrapped around a maple or birch frame to make a piece of furniture. There are also two types of rush — it's either twisted, wet cattail leaves or twisted paper with no wire core. It is used mostly as seating material.

Finally, cane is made from the outer skin of the cane plant. It is often woven in thin, flat strips to make a strong seat. Fake cane is now made from woven flat strips of paper surrounding a nylon cord. Of course, much more can be added to each definition, but we hope this gives you a little help.

A Stinky Situation

Q. We had a problem with a feral tomcat sneaking through the cat door at night and urinating around the house. We've resolved that problem; however, we can't rid the house completely of the urine smell because we can't find all the areas he marked. Any ideas?

A. Spraying can definitely be a problem — and the lingering odor left behind is one of them.

Most domesticated cats that spray in the house will usually choose the same areas to mark, making cleanup a bit easier (although such behavior is another problem entirely). However, a feral cat that visits repeatedly might change the areas he or she marks, since this behavior establishes the cat's territory.

In addition, your own cat might have felt threatened by the feral cat's intrusion and may have started marking areas itself. Your cat may still be spraying around the house, even though the intruder is gone.

Assure your cat that he or she is still the "ruler of the house." Provide lots of attention, affection and treats.

At the same time, watch your cat closely for signs that he or she is more anxious than usual. If you can catch it in the act of spraying, you can work to correct the problem.

Finding sprayed areas that are several days old can be difficult. Check and clean areas along the inside perimeter of your home — especially the walls and the window molding. Also, since cats often spray upwards, clean items like piano legs, hanging coats and similar surfaces. In areas you know were marked, spray surfaces with citrus-scented product or a pheromone-based aversion spray (available at most pet stores). This will help calm your cat.

I've heard that there is a spray-on product that, when viewed with an ultraviolet light, will reveal cat-urine spots. However, I haven't found any concrete information that this exists. Readers, have any of you used a product like this?

Rotary District Governor Visits Grantsville Club

Carol Walsh, the newly installed District Governor for Rotary District 7350, visited the Rotary Club of Grantsville as part of her duties as District Governor on Tuesday, July 17.

Walsh was installed as District Governor for District 7350 at a June 30 ceremony held at Toftrees Resort in State College. District 7350 includes 44 Rotary clubs in central Pennsylvania, north eastern West Virginia and western Maryland.

Rotary International is a global network of 1.2 million businesses, professional, and community leaders dedicated to "Service Above Self." There are more than 29,500 clubs in 160 nations worldwide.

"I am delighted to serve as District Governor," Walsh said, "Our clubs must work hard to develop programs and projects that support Rotary International's 2001-2002 theme of 'Mankind is Our Business.' We also must continue the work of increasing membership."

Rotary International is involved in numerous philanthropic and service activities, including an effort to eradicate polio worldwide and improve the sight of children and adults in less-fortunate regions. The Rotary Youth Exchange Program is ranked among the top student-related programs in the world.

Walsh, a member of the Rotary Club of State College, has been a member since 1992. She is a senior sales director for Mary Kay Cosmetics.

"I would like more people to know about what Rotary does," she said. "The organization helps people all over the world. I am particularly proud of our exchange programs for business professionals and youth."

Locally, Rotary benefits the area through community service and fund raising. For example, annually the Oakland and Grantsville Clubs join forces to provide food baskets and gifts to several hundred families at Christmas.

New Brochure Promotes Businesses

To highlight local businesses offering unique souvenir, gift, and personal items, the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce has produced Specialty Shopping, Garrett County & Deep Creek Lake, a free full-color brochure. This publication features information about 27 shops throughout the county, and includes a map locating each business.

"The chamber developed this brochure as part of our strategy to encourage visitors to enjoy all of Garrett County," said chamber president Ken Wishnick. He pointed out that this is the fifth brochure specifically created to spread tourism's economic benefits throughout the area. The four others promote antique shopping, birding, fly-fishing, and adventure sports. He also added that specialty shopping, like antiquing, is "a great rainy day activity and helps to diversify the appeal of our beautiful county."

The new shopping guide is available at the Visitors Center in McHenry as well as at many local businesses. It will also be displayed at strategic out-of-county locations. Businesses included in the brochure are: Herbs Etc. Antique & Gift Shops; Yoder's Country Market, Pine Accents, Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Four Seasons Stitchery, Farmside Village, Schoolhouse Earth, Happyat Hill Horsery, the Loft Shop, Cobblestone Alley, Country Garden Expressions, Rudy's at Wisp, Deep Creek Pharmacy, Four All Seasons Gift Shoppe, Apehangers, Traders, the Tourist Trap, the Loar Auxiliary Gift Shop, Rudy's Clothing, Willow, Oakland Art, Hobby, & Framing, Marvin's Men's Wear, the Gallery/Garrett County Arts Council, Grand Central Station, Stained Glass Gallery, Sugar & Spice Bakery, and Red House School Country Mall.

For more information on this publication or any other publication by the chamber, persons may call 301-387-4386 or visit the chamber web site www.garrettchamber.com.

Allegany County Trio Arrested For Possession

Three Allegany County men were charged with drug possession following a traffic stop by Garrett County sheriff's deputies last Thursday afternoon, July 19, west of Oakland.

Jordan Craig Gray, 19, Midland, and Adam Wayne Thomas, 18, Barton, both face charges of possession of CDS and drug paraphernalia, while Matthew Edward Thomas, 20, also of Barton, faces charges of possession of marijuana. The three were stopped for speeding at approximately 4 p.m. along Hutton Road just east of the West Virginia state line.

While speaking with the three men, a deputy observed one of them with drug paraphernalia in their car. A subsequent search by a sheriff's deputy K-9 located marijuana and additional drug paraphernalia.

The suspects were subsequently released on their own recognizance.

Burglary Suspect Handed 30 Days After Conviction

A West Virginia man received a one-month jail term after he pleaded guilty to a burglary charge in a recent Garrett County District Court proceeding.

Shawn Aaron Stemple, 21, Aurora, was handed an 18-month sentence, 17 months of which was suspended, and was placed on two years of supervised probation by visiting judge Thomas Lohm. Stemple was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after an April burglary of a Potomac Camp Road residence.

According to the report, the homeowner had returned in the middle of the day to find Stemple's car in the driveway of her residence, and she confronted Stemple in her backyard. He claimed he was looking for directions, and was sent on his way without incident. Immediately afterward the resident found that a back window was open and the screen had been knocked out. Although nothing was taken, deputies determined that Stemple had entered the front door of the residence while the homeowner was away, and had exited through the rear window upon her return.

In other district court news, an Oakland man was handed a 60-day sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct. Michael Dewayne Thompson, 20, was arrested in March by sheriff's deputies after he was observed kicking the glass front door of a Third Street business. The report noted that Thompson was highly intoxicated at the time of his 5 p.m. arrest. Garrett County District Court judge Ralph Burnett presided.

Denny Leonard Stallard, 19, Oakland, pleaded guilty to possession of the drug Ecstasy and was handed a six-month sentence, all but two weeks of which were suspended, and was placed on two years of supervised probation.

During the course of a March traffic stop Stallard admitted to state troopers that several Ecstasy pills that had been discovered in the car belonged to him. The vehicle's driver, Jimmy Lee Barkley, 20, Oakland, and a second passenger, Jack Alfred Kight Jr., 23, MLP, were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office on charges of possession of ecstasy and drug paraphernalia.

In a separate case, Stallard was not prosecuted on a marijuana possession charge that stemmed from an April arrest by Maryland State Police troopers. Stallard and Jonathan David Jones, 22, also of Oakland, were apprehended as they were allegedly smoking marijuana in a small cave located off Maryland Highway west of Bloomington. Jones was not prosecuted for marijuana possession either.

Ernest Wayne Wiles, 48, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and driving with a suspended license, and was handed a 90-day sentence, all but eight days of which were suspended, fined $500, and was placed on one year of supervised probation. Maryland State Police troopers arrested Wiles in April after a traffic stop along Interstate 68. A state trooper questioned Wiles about a smoking de-

Summer Youth Prog. Under Way In Grantsville

Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc.'s Community and Emergency Services department has been successful for the fourth year in obtaining funding for a summer youth initiative program in Grantsville. The program, titled "Kids 'n' Corporated," is held in cooperation with the Department of Juvenile Justice. The Garrett County Health Department is also part of the coordinated effort this year by being involved in various aspects of the program.

The program began on June 25 and will run through August 16, offering educational and recreational activities to local youths. Forty-five students are enrolled this year. Some of the activities are swimming at the Cumberland YMCA and participation in the Junior Ranger Program at New Germany State Park, instructed by Eric Savage, naturalist.

A new aspect of the program is an inter-generational luncheon between the students and the seniors at the Grantsville Senior Center. A picnic hayride will be held at Western Trails for the students and their families on August 11.

Program activities selected were a combined effort of the staff and students who attended the after-school program. Staffing the program this year is Karen Wood, program coordinator, and aides Denise Fazenbaker, Jeannette Bland, Tom Menges, and Melissa Green, AmeriCorps member.

Kids 'n' Corporated offers service learning opportunities for students who need to earn hours. For additional information, persons may call Community Action at 301-334-9431 or 888-877-8403.

Nat'l Collegiate Scholars Society Inducts Panther

Nathaniel Panther, Oakland, has accepted membership in the National Society of Collegiate Scholars and will be honored during a campus ceremony this fall at the University of Maryland. The son of Dawn and Ed Panther, Nathaniel is a civil/environmental engineering student at the university.

The National Society of Collegiate Scholars (NSCS) is a highly selective, national, non-profit honors organization. Founded in 1994, NSCS recognizes first- and second-year undergraduate students who excel academically. NSCS was established on the principle that with scholarship comes a responsibility to develop leadership and a duty to perform service.

"NSCS provides the opportunity for students, like Nathaniel, to be recognized for their outstanding academic accomplishments early in their college experience," said Steve Loflin, NSCS executive director. "Nathaniel will also have the opportunity to join other high achieving college students in developing leadership skills and a sense of civic responsibility."

Panther is a 2000 graduate of Southern High School. He currently maintains a grade point average of 3.74, and is the recipient of the Whiting-Turner Scholarship. The academic scholarship will provide Panther with $3,194 for the 2001-2002 academic year.

Farmers Urged To Participate In Referendum

Members of the Maryland Grain Producers Association (MGPA) and the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board (MGPUB) urge farmers to get out and vote on Aug. 2 for the Maryland Grain Checkoff Program referendum.

Under the authorizing state law, the checkoft program is required to conduct referendums every five years to reaffirm support. If passed by a majority of those voting who are eligible to vote, the 10-year-old Maryland Grain Checkoff Program (MGCP) will continue for a further five years from October 1, 2001.

Since the passage of the grain checkoff in 1991 the MGPUB has been focusing on efforts to expand the new uses of grain to improve the profitability of grain production. New product development will continue to stabilize the grain market and increase demand.

Currently, 20 corn and 21 small grain checkoff programs across America are working together to improve grower profitability. Should a producer choose not to participate in the program, there is a provision for a full or partial refund.

Joe Mullhausen, president of the MGPUB, stated, "I think all farmers should vote 'Yes' for this referendum. The checkoff program helps to generate a demand for our product and prices are determined by supply and demand."

Eligible voters must be financially engaged in the growing of grain as an owner, tenant, or sharecropper.

"What is important is that farmers get out there and vote. This is an important time for the Maryland grain industry. It is imperative that farmers get out there and show their support for the checkoff program," Mullhausen said.

The referendum will be held from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the county Cooperative Extension offices. Absentee ballots are available at the county Extension office and must be completed and returned to the Extension office or mailed to MGPA, 53 Slama Road, Edgewater, MD 21037, to be received by Aug. 2. For more information, persons may contact Lynne Hoot at 410-956-5771.

House Agriculture Leaders Unveil Draft Farm Bill Plan

Starting its planned three-week sprint to write a new farm bill by Congress's August recess, the House Agriculture Committee recently unveiled a "draft farm bill concept paper." If the plan were enacted, it would continue much of current law but provide producers with additional income support.

Agriculture Committee chairman Larry Combest (R-Texas) and ranking member Charles Stenholm (D-Texas) authored the plan. They hope to complete a bill by Aug. 3, when Congress goes home. The committee held hearings on the plan last week. The American Farm Bureau Federation was scheduled to testify.

The draft proposal would maintain the production flexibility of the 1996 farm law and continue the basic payment structure. But it would also provide new countercyclical assistance through an old mechanism: the target price and deficiency payment system that was in effect until 1997.

Among the major changes contained in the draft plan is an option for producers to update their base acres. Producers wouldn't have to; they could either receive payments on their current program acres or the average acres planted to eligible crops during 1998-2001. Payments would be made on 85 percent of base acres.

Another major change involves payments for oilseeds, which the 1996 farm law didn't provide. There would be a 34 cents per bushel payment rate for soybeans. Under the proposal's countercyclical payment provision, there would be a new soybean target price of $5.76 per bushel. The soybean loan rate would drop from the current $5.26 to $4.92.

Countercyclicalpayments would be based on target prices of $4 per bushel for wheat, $2.75 for corn, $2.61 for sorghum, 72.9 cents per pound for upland cotton, and $10.71 per hundredweight for rice — the target prices in effect in 1995. Transition (AMTA) payment rates would be the same as for 2002.

The draft proposal would extend the milk price support of $9.90 per hundredweight. A new unspecified peanut support program would be developed, providing producers with about $340 million a year. A nonrecourse loan program would be developed for wool and mohair producers.

The draft plan would increase spending on conservation programs by 75 percent, providing $15 billion over 10 years for various programs. The Environmental Quality Incentives Program would see a big hike, with $1.2 billion in annual funding, half of which would be earmarked for livestock producers. The proposal also calls for an expanded conservation reserve program, with a 40 million acre enrollment.

Regarding trade, the proposal calls for an increase in export promotion programs. Spending for the Market Access Program would double, from $90 million to $150 million a year.

MDIA Forming Dairy Quality Mgmt. Alliance

Efforts are under way in Annapolis and Washington to bring Maryland producers into the Regional Dairy Quality Management Alliance. The goal of the alliance is to bring the resources of Extension, veterinarians, academia, research, and financial managers together in a team approach to assist dairy producers.

The Maryland Dairy Industry Association (MDIA) is coordinating a meeting later this month with top Maryland Department of Agriculture and University of Maryland officials to finalize a plan for FY2002 funding from the Maryland General Assembly. Five producers throughout the state are establishing teams to evaluate their operations in accordance with the pilot program. Several producers with MDIA would then serve as statewide coordinators of the program.

Congress Ponders Extension Of $9.90/Cwt Price

House and Senate lawmakers are considering extension of the $9.90/cwt price base for Class III and IV milk as the 107th Congress nears its summer recess. Supported by the Maryland Dairy Industry Association (MDIA) and other dairy producer groups in 1999 and 2000, Congress extended this floor price to its current deadline of December 31, 2001. As debate gears up for a new five-year farm bill, there is general agreement that another $9.90 extension is needed to maintain production and market stability, aside from the Basic Formula Price.

"Right now, producers are getting a better return for their Class III milk than they were six to eight months ago," said MDIA's Myron Wilhide. "However, we cannot rest on these laurels. As we know all too well, market prices can change at a moment's notice. Like dairy compacts, the $9.90/cwt figure is a safety net that stabilizes our production costs. MDIA is committed to keeping this figure in place until new adjustment formulas are worked out."

Formal action by Congress to extend the deadline is pending. MDIA sources on Capitol Hill indicate another $9.90/cwt extension initiative could occur as an amendment to several USDA Fiscal Year 2002 agricultural spending bills. For more information on the status of this extension, persons may contact MDIA's executive office in Washington, D.C., at 202-293-0476.

Small Grain Harvest Nearly Complete

Maryland experienced another dry week as farmers worked an average of 5.9 days in the field on activities such as progressing the small grain harvest closer to completion. The winter wheat crop, for example, is 94% harvested, which is 10% more than the previous week. Rye is also close to completion, with 92% harvested, progressing 15% over the previous week.

The hot, dry conditions helped the row crops to progress ahead of schedule; however, moisture is needed to alleviate heat stress to corn and soybeans in many areas. Corn is 60% silked and 24% doughed, which is 7% and 12% of the five-year average, respectively. Soybeans are currently 28% bloomed, progressing 4% ahead of schedule.

The arid conditions continue to diminish soil moisture levels from the previous week. As a result, the amount of topsoil moisture rated adequate this week decreased 23% from the previous week. Topsoil moisture is rated 6% very short, 41% short, 49% adequate, and 4% surplus. Subsoil moisture is 4% very short, 27% short, 67% adequate, and 2% surplus.

MDIA Promotes Dairy Industry At Open House

An estimated 4,000 persons experienced the Maryland Dairy Industry Association's (MDIA) banner and dairy promotional materials at the recent University of Maryland's Dairy Research Farm Open House. MDIA provided dairy stickers, pencils, erasers, and posters with assorted ice cream products.

According to MDIA executive director Paul Weller, the organization sold more than $700 worth of ice cream and earned a great deal more in favorable publicity. Patrons at MDIA's booth expressed interest in the size and number of dairy farms in the state, ongoing efforts to preserve open space, and Maryland's rank nationwide in total milk production.

"As was the case at last year's Maryland Wine Festival, we were blessed by great weather which really brought out the crowds," added Weller. "Our thanks to all those who helped us participate. On behalf of our producers, we hope to have a presence at similar events in the near future."

Grain Producers Are Optimistic About Ethanol

Members of the Maryland Grain Producers Association are doing everything in their power to keep the momentum moving for the expanded use of ethanol.

Ethanol is a renewable fuel made from corn, wheat, or any starch-based product. It has become the front-runner in the quest for seniority in the fuel industry. E-85 is a mixture of 85% ethanol and 15% gasoline. Ethanol is also used with gasoline as a 10% blend as an oxygenate, which has proven to help restore air quality, in addition to reducing greenhouses gasses and other pollutants. Ethanol is a favored choice of environmentalists because, as well as improving air quality, it comes from renewable resources and improves the rural economy, while lessening dependence on foreign oil sources.

The Bioenergy Act of 2001, introduced by Rep. Roscoe G. Bartlett, R-Md., seeking to double federal funds for research on alternative fuels, could benefit Maryland grain and poultry farmers eager to find new outlets for their crops.

"The Bioenergy Act of 2001 being sponsored by Rep. Bartlett is very timely for Maryland farmers. We are grateful for the support and interest being put forth in this bill," stated Melvin Baile, a member of the Maryland Grain Producers Association and a former grain farmer in Carroll County.

This bill would provide competitive grants totaling $49 million a year for the next five years to help nurture many different projects, such as finding more efficient ways to convert ethanol in to fuel.

Soon Marylanders will be able to show their support for alternative fuels, as the first E85 station is expected to open in September. The Chevron station in Fort Meade will soon be installing new equipment so it can sell E85. The opening of this alternative fuel station became possible through grants from the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) and the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board (MGPUB). This is just the first station in the planned infrastructure to expand alternative fuel use in Maryland. Many other E85 stations are in the planning stages. Locations include: Annapolis, Gaithersburg, and the University of Maryland, College Park. An E85 station is already up and running in Arlington, Va.

Under the terms of the Energy Policy of 1992, the federal and state government fleets are required to purchase 75% of their new cars and light trucks to operate on alternative fuels. The Fort Meade Chevron site was selected because of the large volume of federal vehicles in the area, though it will be readily accessible for the general public's use.

Baile added, "The infrastructure of stations providing ethanol for sale is vital to making the public aware of it existence. The Bioenergy Act of 2001 is needed to show the public alternative fuels are a positive step for our nation. We have been depending on foreign sources far too long."

In trying to better prepare for the expanded need for ethanol on the East Coast, the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board has recently commissioned an Ethanol Feasibility Study. This twopart study has been awarded to Voudrie Business Development Inc. of Elk River, Minn., and Katzen International.

This study will quantify the benefits and risks associated with building a value-added ethanol processing facility in Maryland. The emphasis will be placed on the feasibility of using small grains, such as barley, to produce ethanol. The two-phase study will also investigate ways to enhance local production by removing portions of the crop for other uses prior to fermentation and also using less traditional biomass crops.

"We are very anxious to hear the results of this study," stated Baile. "Our board feels that the timing is right to look at the possibility of an ethanol plant in Maryland. With energy shortages impacting businesses and homes across the country, the ability of Maryland to become at least partially self-sufficient with 'homegrown' fuel is very timely," commented Baile. "Not only could ethanol provide an energy source for the state — it could provide Maryland farmers with improved grain prices at a time when the farm economy is in trouble."

Results from the first phase of this feasibility study will be released at the third annual Commodity Classic, a meeting to be held by the MGPA today, July 26. The final phase will be completed by September of this year.

"All indicators show that ethanol could have a promising future in Maryland. The Maryland Grain Producers Association has supported the use of ethanol for many years. It is very fulfilling to see Rep. Bartlett and the Bush Administration supporting these efforts, as well," finished Baile.

Maryland Wood Stumpage Report Available

Stumpage refers to the price that a landowner receives for standing trees. The prices contained in this publication are collected from consulting and state agency foresters in four price-reporting areas throughout Maryland and Delaware. The information is consolidated and distributed every four months by the University of Maryland. If you would like to receive the recent report and sign up for future reports call my office at 301-334-6960.

Field Crop Notes

Each spring I receive several calls from farmers wanting to know if they should apply a soil insecticide to control the Western Corn Rootworm. My response is, "Did you check for the presence of the adult beetle in late July and August?" Taking time to monitor for the presence of the adult rootworm beetle (black with yellow strips) can save you several dollars per acre and also reduce the risk of economic damage to the corn. If the beetles are present you will find them feeding on the silk.

I suggest that you check your alfalfa for the Potato Leafhopper. The weather conditions are very favorable for high populations and our close neighbors in Pennsylvania are reporting severe damage.

Spider mites can cause severe damage to soybeans. I would recommend that you start checking now through August, especially during hot weather. Concentrate on field borders and look for early signs of white stripping at the base of the leaves. If feeding injury is evident, press the underside of a few damaged leaves on white paper to reveal any crushed mites. Lorsban 4E would be the most available insecticide for you to apply. Contact me for details and procedures for determining when to spray.

Home Vegetable Tips

Show off your gardening abilities by exhibiting fresh vegetables, flowers, and fruits at the Garrett County Agricultural Fair. You might even win a blue ribbon!

Continue to use Bacillus thuringiensis for caterpillar pests, such as imported cabbageworm. Follow directions for application on the label.

Make successive plantings of beets, beans, and carrots to be able to harvest into fall. Direct seed cool-season crops, such as broccoli, cabbage, and Brussels sprouts, into the garden.

Continue to monitor your squash vines for squash vine borers. The moths lay their eggs on the stems, then the emerging larvae bore into the vines, causing the squash vine to wilt and die. Contact my office for control recommendations.

Uncaged tomatoes can be damaged by sunscald. To prevent this, lean an old window screen over the plants to protect them from the sun.

Before you spray an insecticide on your vegetables, check the label. Each insecticide has a time you must wait before you can harvest.

To prevent okra from becoming slimy while cooking, leave the stem on the pod. The stem is edible, or you can remove it before serving.

Cucumbers develop a bitter taste if the soil is not kept consistently moist. Harvest for pickling whole when 2 to 4 inches; for table use, when longer than 5 inches. Remove any overripe cucumbers to encourage continuous production.

For bigger and better Brussels sprouts, pinch out the top of the plant when sprouts at the bottom are fully-grown. The smaller, upper sprouts will grow larger than they would otherwise.

Most of your spring crops are out of the garden, and weeds are beginning to encroach on what once was a productive space. Plant another crop in those empty spaces to be harvested at the end of the growing season. Try beans, kale, turnips, mustard, broccoli, cabbage, or spinach. Remember to restore fertility to the soil before planting your fall crops by working in a light layer of compost or aged manure or a small application of a complete chemical fertilizer.

Shredded Chinese cabbage is a good, hot-weather substitute for lettuce in salads and sandwiches. A second crop may be started now for fall harvesting.

Although tomatoes are self-pollinating, they need movement to transfer pollen. If it is hot and calm for several days, gently shake plants for assured pollen transfer and fruit set. Hot temperatures can also interfere with blossom set.

Cucumbers have a very short "vine-storage time." Under warm, humid conditions, the fruits on the vine may remain in prime condition less than one day. So pick early and often.

For the best flavor, pick ripe tomatoes as needed; flavor peaks within three minutes of picking. If you must wait to use garden-fresh tomatoes, don't refrigerate them. Fruit texture and some aroma compounds deteriorate quickly in the cold.

Harvest some green leaves with broccoli heads and stalks; the leaves have more vitamin A than the head and are richer in vitamin C, too.

Try a slippery plastic fence for keeping raccoons out of vegetables, especially sweet corn. Construct one by stapling plastic sheeting (6 mil thickness) to stakes spaced every 10 feet so that the stakes are on the inside of the plastic, toward the corn. The plastic should be 30 to 36 inches wide, and the lowermost 3 to 6 inches should rest on the ground. If you already have a fence round your garden, try using spring-type clothespins to clip the plastic to it. Put the fence up shortly before the corn is ripe to give the animals less time to figure it out. Raccoons trying to climb the slippery plastic soon give up.

One of the most important advantages of the home garden is the opportunity to have high-quality vegetables. Harvest your vegetables at the peak of maturity. Don't allow them to become too old before you pick them. Harvest summer squash when it's about 6 inches long. Use sweet corn as soon as it is picked. If it is held under warm conditions, the sugars change to starch, and the corn is much poorer in quality.

Stop vine crops from taking over your garden or lawn by pinching off the fuzzy growing tips. This also directs the plant's energy into ripening fruit rather than producing more vine.

Swiss chard can out produce the gardener. If it becomes overmature, cut it back to about 4 inches. After cutting, it will send out tender, new leaves.

If your potatoes are visible along the soil surface, the portion exposed to light will turn green. Green-skinned potatoes will taste bitter and can cause sickness, so protect tubers from light by covering them with soil or mulch.

Pumpkin and squash blossoms are both beautiful and edible. To prepare squash or pumpkin blossoms, pick them after they open. Remove insects and dirt by washing and draining. Dip the blossoms in batter and fry until golden.

Ornamental kales and cabbage are among the showiest of all winter plants, and as the weather cools, the color intensifies. Transplants of these beautiful winter ornamentals are available at garden centers and nurseries.

Summer squash with a bitter taste should not be eaten as it may contain a natural toxin, curcurbitacin E, which can cause food poisoning symptoms, such as stomach cramps. Often these fruits are a result of self-seeded plants. Avoid this problem by not saving self-seeded squash plants.

Turning cabbage a quarter to a half turn if they start to crack will reduce the water uptake that causes splitting. Or use a shovel to cut through the roots on one side of the plant. If that doesn't work, better harvest them.

Begin to sow cover crops between rows and in vacated beds now. Sow clover, rye, and vetch. These will return humus and nitrates to the soil when dug under later.

Dairy Compact Legislation Is Reintroduced

The dairy industry is trying again in Congress to expand the Northeast Dairy Compact, which would include Maryland. Senator Arlen Specter (R-Pa.) officially introduced dairy compact legislation in the U.S. Senate on June 29. The measure, S-1157, carries no official title, although its language would reauthorize existing compact operations in New England, and would expand the program to other Northeastern and Southeastern states.

In 1998, the Maryland Dairy Industry Association (MDIA) worked with legislators in Annapolis to approve Maryland's participation as part of the Northeast Dairy Compact region. Congress must pass formal legislation before Maryland can officially join the other states. The bill has been referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee, now chaired by dairy compact supporter Sen. Pat Leahy (D-Vt). Committee hearings were scheduled for July 19. The bill currently has 38 co-sponsors, including Maryland Senators Sarbanes and Mikulski.

HR-1827, "The Dairy Consumers & Producers Protection Act of 2001," is the companion bill in the U.S. House of Representatives, and was introduced on May 14. Although this measure has over 170 co-sponsors, including all eight of Maryland's representatives, the measure faces two major hurdles: HR-1827's main sponsor, Rep. Asa Hutchinson (R-Ark.), has been selected by President Bush to become the next administrator of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration and may leave Congress. In addition, the House Judiciary Committee, unlike its Senate counterpart, is chaired by a staunch opponent of dairy compacts, Rep. James Sensenbrenner (R-Wis.).

"No doubt our work is cut out for us on this important issue for Maryland dairymen," said MDIA president Myron Wilhide. "Although we have done a great job in covering our bases with the Maryland delegation, we must now work with other supporters to make sure that the political winds in Washington blow our way. Recent leadership changes in the Senate and well-placed compact opponents in the House demonstrate that broad compact support does not always translate into immediate approval."

MDIA has indicated plans to continue working for passage of comprehensive dairy compact legislation in Congress.

FARMERS REMINDED OF DEADLINE TO COMPLETE FACILITY IMPROVEMENTS

Sheep producers participating in the Lamb Meat Adjustment Assistance Program (LMAAP) are reminded that facility improvements to sheep and lamb facilities must be completed by July 31 to be eligible for payment.

The Preston County FSA Committee has the authority, at the written request of the producer, to waive the facility improvement deadline up to 30 calendar days from the date of the producer's request. Waivers of the July 31 deadline may be granted for construction delays caused by inclement weather or other meritorious circumstances.

Producers wanting an extension of the July 31 deadline must file a written request with the Preston County Farm Service Agency no later than the close of business on July 31. The FSA office is located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza.

USDA ANNOUNCES QUALITY LOSS AID PACKAGE FOR FARMERS

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced recently that farmers can sign up for the Crop Year 2000 Quality Loss Program beginning August 13 at the county Farm Service Agency office. Sign-up also begins for a separate quality loss program for apple and potato growers. Both programs compensate farmers who suffered at least a 20% loss in the quality of their crop.

The new programs will help farmers who lost income because of weather-related disasters that caused loss of crop quality. Some specialty crops are not eligible, such as ornamental nursery, Christmas trees, aquaculture, honey, turf grass sod, maple sap, and ginseng.

To qualify for program benefits, farmers must provide the FSA office with proof of quality for their harvested crop. Examples of acceptable documentation include grading receipts, sales receipts, or university lab tests showing quality losses.

For more information on the 2000 Quality Loss Program, contact the Preston County Farm Service Agency at 304-329-1923 or visit the office located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza.

Farm Service Agency news releases and media advisories are available on the Web at FSA's home page: http://www.fsa.usda.gov.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

I was quite worried about my goldfinch babies since we ran out of their thistle seeds for their feeder. Regular bird seed does not appeal to them. It is a bit hard to find thistle seeds, but finally we ran some down at the feed store. I asked Aunt Helen, who probably knows more about birds than both her son, Courtney, and the other experts, about what the parents feed their babies, and she is pretty sure that the parents catch insects for them because baby birds need protein.

Anyway, my fleet of goldfinches now has plenty of energy to chase down some insects for their babies since at last their feeders are full. They show their annoyance by squabbles and flapping their wings when the feeders are low. Most of the time the bright yellow males hog the bottom perches where seeds can be reached. The greenish females do not let their mates get away scott free and they have plenty of fight in them. Both the green and yellow are still fat and sassy, so their little diet did not cause much harm, as we do have plenty of insects with this warm weather. The other birds who feed at the other feeders stocked with black sunflower seeds did a nice job of planting a nice bed of sunflowers that are now just starting to bloom. So if we do a good job of saving the heads we can use them for feed next winter so my birds will enjoy the circle of planting, reaping, and eating.

I was utterly charmed by a story told to me by one of my students at GCC. She had cut the hair of one of her daughters and scattered it in her yard. She later found a tiny humming bird's nest spun from her girl's hair. What a treasured keepsake.

Speaking of Crystal, we still are in close contact, and last evening I joined some of her friends for a picnic and campfire celebrating her completed master's degree from a school in Baltimore. It was a perfect summer party, as it was a divine day, warm and sunny in a beautiful setting in the woods on a back road behind New Germany State Park. It seemed a little strange how many friends we share. I saw some of my old gang before our kids came along, which pretty much shut down any adult social scene. But at least Larry Burke has a son the same age as Claire, and for several years they played on the same soccer team. Of course, no New Germany area party would be complete without Joe and Andrea Howe and their daughters. The Howe girls and Crystal's daughter gathered a great collection of many kinds of pine cones for my dolls, including one kind of a large cone with prickles that came from a rare kind of pine tree. According to the men, there are only two or three species like that in Garrett County, but it is quite common in Preston County, and it is called mountain pine.

I couldn't agree with anyone who called that part of Garrett County as "the sticks" or "back woods." The crowds at the picnic certainly were not "hillbillies." In fact, you couldn't want more well-educated, sophisticated people who were a bit more like "Woodstock" than the "Hatfields and McCoys."

After I toasted a few marshmallows I headed for home. I stayed later than I had planned and wanted to leave before dark, but I was having such a pleasant time there that it was well past sunset before pulling out. Then I found out about the "stuck in the backwoods" aspect. One wrong turn and I started a couple hours of adventure of being lost in Savage River State Forest. I probably covered most of the little roads that criss-cross it. I saw nothing familiar, just thousands of trees.

We do have plenty of trees in Garrett County and enough to do our part to combat global warming. There were no road signs and no houses, no lights, and few road signs. The only other vehicle was one car that was pulled off the road and occupied by a couple teenage boys who I think were drinking a few beers. I pulled up beside them and they said that they were happy that I was not a policeman, but they had no clue how to get on New Germany Road. They said they would follow me, but due to my slow driving they passed me. I did not bother to follow them, as I prefer to drive really slow on roads in deer country.

I had already avoided one buck that ran across the road, but which road I don't know. I remember I saw a road sign for Piney Swamp Road and chose not to go on it. The name was familiar, but I never was on it and didn't know where it would come out. After a few hours of slow cruising, I was pleased with myself because my gas tank was full and I had not even tasted any kind of drink except for two cups of coffee before I left. I certainly would not enjoy being lost in that wilderness if I was even slightly intoxicated. I finally emerged in an unfamiliar part of Westernport, but soon I found Rt. 135 and it was a piece of cake then. I was never so happy to see Swanton. I finally arrived home around midnight, which is an unheard of hour for me to be out. It was a little too exciting for my taste but no real problem. I felt more safe in my car on those dark lonely wilderness roads than on Rt. 219 on a summer weekend.

I thought I might encounter a bear when I was in the backwoods. I think I would rather encounter a bear outside my car than the average tourist car still in the urban driving habit. They are much more dangerous and aggressive than a bear. I once saw a bear getting into a trash can along the lake part of Rock Lodge Road, and then the one the DNR trapped back behind the peat bog. She needed emergency dental work and my younger brother Scott, a vet, was along and pulled the broken tooth. No problem. But she was very drugged up before surgery. That bear was named "Bertha," and ranged around Meadow Mountain between our farm and the 4-H camp. She was wearing a radio collar when she was later murdered. That murder is still unsolved. I know she usually spent her winter fasting along the creek and then dining on the many lush skunk cabbages. Since her murder I have noticed fewer bear signs than when the DNR was searching for her when her radio stopped broadcasting.

The Diehlman family spent Sunday afternoon and evening at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. They attended a full afternoon of activities for Steve's Knights of Columbus. First was an afternoon mass, followed by a meeting of the Knights of Columbus and the installation of the new officers. They, like many local organizations, use new blood, so Steve is now the warden of the brotherhood of the men of the church. They celebrated with dinner at the Board Room.

Bittinger Lodge #68 of the Woodmen of the World plan a trip to see a Pittsburgh Pirates game on August 21. They purchased 30 tickets for the 7:05 p.m. game and chartered a bus with 50 seats available. To get involved, contact Linda or Pete Buckel at 301-245-4287. The tickets and transportation will be available first for lodge members and then available on a first come, first served. The cost for lodge members for the complete package is only $6, and still a great deal for non-members at only $30. The bus will depart at 2:30 p.m. from the fire hall and will probably not get back from the game until close to midnight.

Lottie Brenneman is enjoying a visit from her grandson, Brian Smith (Lois Smith's son) of Avon Park, Fla. Along with Brian is his 12-year-old daughter Carissa. It is hard to believe that Lottie or Ferne can be great-grandmothers. They seem too young even to be grandmothers. When I was young, my picture of a grandmother was white-haired, bent over and with granny glasses, and whose only activity was knitting. Not whirlwinds like Ferne and Lottie. Lottie and an assortment of family members enjoyed a picnic in the backyard of Lana and Larry Roby's home on Sunday afternoon. Lottie also recently attended her family (Moon) reunion at Loch Lynn pavilion.

Rodney Glotfelty's family, Barry Glotfelty, the younger generation of the Sussman family, and, of course, grandmother Ruth DiPaolo attended the Charles Buckle family for a reunion over the weekend. It was held at the homes of Jack and Janet Buckle and Peter and Daryl Buckle. Also hosting the reunion were Bruce and Betty Buckle from Williamsport, Pa. Ruth's oldest brother Donald from Roanoke, Va., also attended, but unfortunately her oldest brother Wayne was unable to attend because of ill health. They enjoyed swimming and boating on the Susquehanna River. Jack sent me some beautiful flowers from his fabulous garden for my dolls.

The whole gang from Bittinger took a detour to Salisbury, Pa., to see a game between the Central Garrett Little League All-Stars and the Oakland All-Stars. Saturday they scored their first victory and Sunday night were also victorious with a 9-8 win. Tuesday evening they will see more action.

Members of the Bass family have not yet had a chance to recover from their trip to Anderson, S.C., where they visited with Kevin's parents, and then spent a week at Myrtle Beach with the family.

Following her extended visit with her brother, Dale Glotfelty, while he had a break from his hospitalization, Helen Englar returned to her home on Monday after Dale's return to Morgantown for more chemo treatments. While visiting they enjoyed a visit from some friends from Westminster who now live in North Carolina. Sandy Spiniela was the secretary at the school where Helen was the teacher. Courtney used to babysit for her son. While she was on her northern trip she picked up some friends in Westminster, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bengerdand and sons, who are all natives of Cumberland, to make a visit to far Western Maryland, which included a river run in Friendsville and a train ride on the scenic railroad. If you missed the chance to visit with Dale while he was home, he is now back in Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown, and is in room 912.

Ruth DiPaolo attended the Senior Citizen Expo in Oakland on Friday afternoon.

Our former next door neighbor, Ginny Hesson, is back living in Grantsville and spent a few days with Loretta Opel. Of course, as always, Ruth DiPaolo, their card playing buddy, visited on Monday for an evening of cards.

Descendants of the late Elwood and Beatrice Glotfelty gathered at the Glotfelty farm on Rock Lodge Road Friday evening for a covered dish dinner. A hayride, farm animals, and a hot dog and marshmallow roast were also enjoyed by those attending. Their cousins, Dale Glotfelty and Helen Englar, were present for the evening as well.

YOUTH GROUP HELPS AT SALEM — The youth group from Grace Memorial Community Church participated in a special workday on June 28 at The Maryland Salem Children's Trust. During the morning and afternoon hours, the group focused on staining the wooden fence that surrounds Salem's horse pastures. Then they took a break to enjoy a lunch with some of the Salem residents. Grace Memorial Community Church is located on the corner of Seton Drive and Bishop Walsh Road in Cumberland. Pictured above, on the far left, is Amy Llewellyn, group leader. Those pictured in the youth group include Benjamin Stahl, Sarah Stahl, Sarah Stewart, Mike and Chris Klepitch, Taylor and Lyle Butta, Patrick McGreevy, Meghan Powers, Joshua Stephens, Megan Garlitz, and Diana Mason. Salem is located off of Lower New Germany Road near Grantsville and provides residential, education, and shelter care services to children in need.

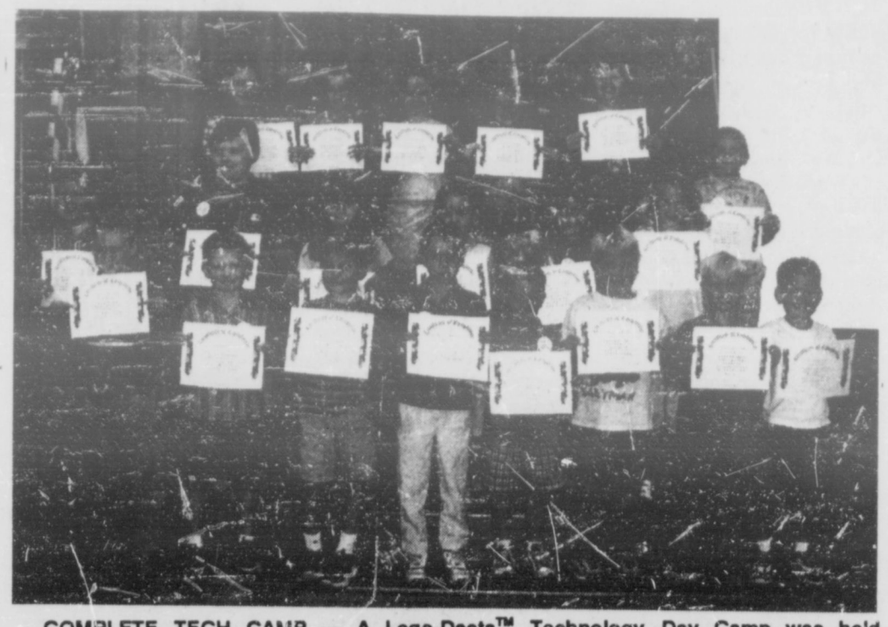
State Park Programs



COMPLETE TECH CAMP — A Lego-Dacta™ Technology Day Camp was held recently at Dennett Road Elementary School under the direction of teachers Arlene Lantz and Cindy Stem. The 20 enrolled students, representing a number of area elementary schools, worked for four days on building machines with the Lego-Dacta™ pieces, and also learned how to create multi-media video tapes. On the fourth day of the camp, an evening event was held to display the machines and tapes to the families and friends of the participants. The tech students are pictured above. In the front row, left to right, are Patrick Jones, Levi Lantz, Robert Seagle, Conner Rock, Andrew Cvetnick, Alex McEwen, Byran Wilkinson, and Josh Tichnell. In the second row, same order, are Alex Mellinger, Josh Vicar, Paige Fitzwater, Sara Jones, Megan Sines, Claire Wilkinson, and Nathan Tichnell. Third row: Aaron Lantz, Cameron Crawford, Kristen Yant, Vicki Stevens, and Marshall Miller. In the photo below, Lantz is pictured at right as she assists participants Vicki Stevens (back to camera) and Kristin Yant, and guest Gillian Yant (at left).

Judge Lohm handed down a five-day suspended sentence, levied a $360 fine, and imposed a six-month probation order. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted. Johnson's June arrest by sheriff's deputies stemmed from a traffic stop along Hutton Road. A search uncovered marijuana on his person and a smoking pipe was located in his vehicle.

After a search warrant was obtained, marijuana and drug paraphernalia were located. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was merged with the drug possession charge.

James Lee Wilson, 36, Martinsburg, W.Va., pleaded guilty to drug paraphernalia possession and was handed a PBJ and fined $300 and placed on one day of unsupervised probation. Jamie Matthew Hauser, 25, Oakland, was handed a stet ruling in connection with three counts of felony theft, four counts of misdemeanor theft, and one count of felony theft scheme. He had been arrested by Garrett Bureau of Investigation detectives after a series of thefts from the Loch Lynn Auto Body shop where he was employed. He was accused of defrauding business accounts with suppliers and falsifying amounts of materials used in repairs, and absconding with the difference. He paid full restitution to the shop owner prior to the court hearing.

Christopher Adam Riel, 19, Morgantown, W.Va., was not prosecuted on three counts of felony theft and one count each of unlawful taking of a motor vehicle, theft conspiracy, and misdemeanor theft. His November arrest by state troopers came after he allegedly entered three vehicles parked along Lakeshore Drive, and reportedly took a Jeep and drove it to Morgantown.

Resting

I can't believe it's been a year since you were laid to rest,
Safe at home with Jesus, enfolded on His breast.
Your pain is gone forever,
Your heartaches and tears are past,
Resting safely with the Master of our lives.

Memories still linger of the days gone by,
We loved to ride and travel, and enjoy God's blessings besides.
He created our lives, and placed us together,
For a short time in our lives,
Through sickness and pain, we leaned on Him, and praised His dear name besides.

God has been faithful through the ups and downs of life,
His mercy is everlasting, and He giveth songs in the night.
His peace has been unspeakable, as we've worked day after day,
But your memory has lingered, and I'm so thankful you are not in pain.

In memory of my husband, Thomas E. White, who passed away on our 9th Anniversary, July 28, 2000.

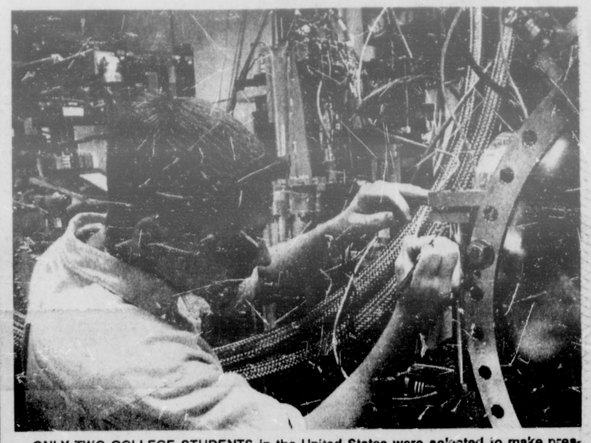
BUSY SCHEDULES INTERRUPTED — One never knows what a day may hold, and the best laid plans can be altered in short order on a day like last Thursday. With more than 3 inches of rain coming down in a rapid torrent, waterways in the southern part of Garrett County swelled suddenly, creating dangerous situations at every crossing. The Crellin-Underwood Bridge pictured above was impassable for several hours as the floods raged along the riverbanks. The strong current was evidenced by the large pieces of asphalt ripped away from the bridge and surrounding roadway. See story and additional pictures in today's issue. Photo by Douglas L. Sehorne



ONLY TWO COLLEGE STUDENTS in the United States were selected to make presentations at the International Conference of Physics Students in Dublin, Ireland, next week, and one of the two is Jeremy Robinson, son of Rita and Bill Robinson of Friendsville. Robinson, 1998 graduate of Northern High School, will be a senior at Towson University this fall, where he is a physics major and math/chemistry minor with a perfect overall grade point average of 4.0. Robinson's trip to the week-long conference is fully sponsored by the USA Society of Physics Students. See story for details.

Weeklong Schedule Slated For GLAF's Deep Creek Symphony

The Deep Creek Symphony will be hosted this year by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival from Aug. 19 through 25. The Spreager-Lang Foundation is sponsoring the weeklong festival, titled "Music on the Mountain," under the direction of Maestro David Wroc.

"The schedule includes opportunities for people of all ages to enjoy classical and jazz music with a wide variety of programs at affordable prices for the entire family," said Elizabeth Johnson, executive director of GLAF. Tickets and information are available by calling the GLAF office, Monday through Friday, between 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., at 301-387-3082.

Music on the Mountain will kick off on Sunday, Aug. 19, at Will O' the Wisp with a chamber music brunch. Two sittings, one at 11 a.m. and the next at 12:30 p.m., will be held for guests to listen to music as they dine at the buffet brunch. Musicians of the Deep Creek Symphony will give the chamber performance. Tickets are $14 for all ages.

The Deep Creek Symphony Family Concert will be held on Wednesday, Aug. 22, in the auditorium of Garrett Community College, beginning at 7 p.m. The evening is designed for the introduction of children to classical music, with all tickets priced at $3 each.

The concert will be for young audience members, ages 6 to 10, and will feature Rossini's Overture for The Barber of Seville, Vivaldi's Spring Concerto from The Four Seasons: and Saint-Saens' "Carnival of the Animals," with special guest narrator Jane Avery.

The Wednesday concert will feature Ryu Goto on violin. At the age of 12, he has become one of the most sought-after young violinists in the world, according to Johnson. The younger brother of the internationally renowned violinist Midori Goto, Ryu was born in New

Grant Funding For Grantsville Library Nearer

Word was received last week by Cathy Ashby, director of the Ruth Enlow Library, that another major step toward congressional approval of $300,000 in federal funds for construction of the new Grantsville branch has been taken. Ashby received a letter from U.S. Senator Barbara A. Mikulski stating that the money has been earmarked for the library in the proposed $84 billion Veterans' Affairs, Housing, and Independent Agencies bill, which was approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee on July 19.

Mikulski (D-Md.), who is the chairperson of the VA-HUD Appropriations Committee, said in her letter, "Today is the first step in the legislative process. The money is not in the bank yet and won't be until it is signed into law by the president. I want you to know that I have made this project a priority and am standing sentry to make it a reality."

Also voicing support for the project are U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes and Sixth District Congressman Roscoe Bartlett. Bartlett was originally scheduled to be at Grantsville Town Hall next Monday to voice his support, but that visit has been postponed until August 20.

"On behalf of the library board of directors, I extend my appreciation to Senator Mikulski and Representative Bartlett for their support of this very important project," stated Ashby.

Puzzley Run Folk Days Set For Aug. 10-12

The fourth Puzzley Run Folk Days celebration is set for Friday, Aug. 10, through Sunday, Aug. 12, at the Bietschehof farm, located in northern Garrett County between Keysers Ridge and Grantsville. The annual event, which focuses on the lives and skills of the pioneers who settled in the northern Appalachians, features a variety of family-oriented activities.

Historical re-enactors portraying long hunters and a native American will be at the site in authentic clothing and lodging. The re-enactors will make presentations on the respective cultures and lifestyles, and will be available to answer questions.

Craftsmen will be demonstrating the skills needed to sustain life in the late 18th and early 19th centuries in this area. A blacksmith will introduce children to the craft, while gunsmithing, longbow making, soap making, sauerkraut making, grain grind-

DNR Secretary Promises Funds For Adventure Sports, Hears About Bears

Department of Natural Resources secretary Sarah Taylor-Rogers visited Garrett County this week and met with Delegate George Edwards, the commissioners, and other county officials on Monday morning to discuss a variety of issues. At the top of the list was a state funding plan for the proposed adventure sports (AS) complex on Marsh Mountain in McHenry. Also on the agenda were the topics of bear and coyote control.

Edwards opened the meeting, which took place at the Penn Alps Restaurant in Grantsville, first asking the secretary if the state is still willing to allot a promised $2,050,000 of Open Space funding toward the development of the AS complex. The secretary said that the money, which is to be allotted in about $500,000 increments over four years, is indeed budgeted for Garrett County.

"We've been holding it for you," she said, explaining that other local funding sources and land acquisition projects had to be solidified before the state money could be released. Apparently the AS organization has secured enough public and private funding to satisfy the DNR, and the money will be given to the county. The land for much of the first part of the project, a total of 550 acres, has been donated to the DNR, which will now lease it back to the county.

Edwards said the earmarked money will be put toward the establishment of "phase one" of the project, which is to include a man-made, circulating white water course at the top of the mountain; an amphitheater in the center of the course; and, opposite the theatre, the proposed AS center, or hall of fame building.

James Hinebaugh, director of the county's economic development office, was present at the meeting and stressed that the partnership between the county and DNR is already strong, and that the AS complex will enhance the partnership.

Downpour Inundates Southern GC; Volunteers Perform Water Rescues

County roads crews make repairs in record time

Severe and continuous downpours of rain last Thursday morning and afternoon resulted in flash flooding in parts of Garrett County, chiefly in the southern end, where the Youghiogheny and other waterways overflowed. In the span of a few hours, 3 to 5 inches of rain came down, with reports of more in the most southern parts of the county.

The roads apparently sustained most of the major damage caused by the high waters, although a number of residents requested assistance to pump out their flooded basements as well. No injuries were reported, but four individuals were rescued from the high water by the county's emergency personnel.

According to reports from Garrett County Emergency Management, the Gorman and Bayard volunteer fire departments were called at approximately 1:30 p.m. for a water rescue at the Old Mill Restaurant in Gorman. The volunteers tied ropes to themselves and used a ladder to reach a victim trapped inside the establishment. The rescue was effected with no problems, according to the report.

Later in the afternoon at approximately 3:15, the Oakland and Aurora VFDs, along with the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, were called to Mansfield Road south of Oakland, where two individuals were trapped in a pickup in high water. Apparently, the driver had attempted to cross the deep water, but the pickup was swept into a field by the rushing waters.

According to Randy Shaffer, Oakland VFD chief, the volunteers decided to put Oakland's ladder

Garrett Awarded State Grant For Teacher Training

Garrett Community College was one of 11 Maryland colleges and universities that were awarded grants this week to fund additional training for teachers in science and math instruction. GCC received $64,783 from the Maryland Higher Education Commission, which will be used for a professional development plan to integrate technology in mathematics and science instruction.

The commission considered 21 proposals for over $700,000 in grants, which came from the federally funded Eisenhower Professional Development Program. That program grants institutions of higher educa-

Grant Awarded To Flowery Vale Senior Center

The Maryland Department of Aging has awarded a grant for the development and operation of a new health and fitness center located at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident, which will operate for extended hours. The $43,625 grant was announced this week by Maryland Secretary of Aging Sue Fryer Ward, who noted that the senior center is "centrally located and can address a gap in wellness services for a larger number of [Garrett County] seniors."

The grant, which will be administered by the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, was part of a total disbursement of $495,300 to 22 senior centers across the state, ranging in amounts from $10,000 to $50,000 toward independent or jointly sponsored programs. Allegany County was awarded $45,746 for use by senior centers in Cumberland, Frostburg, George's Creek, and Westernport.

The grants were awarded on a competitive basis through the Senior Center

Jeremy Robinson To Represent USA At International Event

A Garrett County student has received national recognition in being named as one of only two representatives of the United States to make a presentation at the International Conference of Physics Students (ICPS) in Dublin, Ireland. He is Jeremy Robinson, a 1998 graduate of Northern High School and currently a senior at Towson University, where he is majoring in physics and minoring in math and chemistry. The other student selected to participate in the conference is from Portland, Ore.

The ICPS, which is the largest gathering of physics students in the world, will be held in the modern facilities of Dublin City University just outside Dublin from August 10 to 16. Dublin is renowned worldwide as a capital of social and cultural heritage.

Robinson's trip will be fully sponsored by the USA Society of Physics Students. Aside from the opportunity to present his own scientific work to an international audience, Robinson and the other participants will get a "future look" at physics. Guest speakers will include physics notables such as Sir Joseph Rotblat, Sir Roger Penrose, and Professor John Gribbon.

United States collegiate students competed for full sponsorship to attend the ICPS, with the selection criteria including abstracts of their personal research, letters of recommendation, and overall academic performance. Robinson will enter his senior year at Towson this fall with a perfect overall grade point average of 4.0.

Robinson is the son of Rita and Bill Robinson, Friendsville, and a grandson of Alfreda Friend, Bear Creek, and Bill and Romaine Robinson, LaVale.

PENN ALPS CARVER EARNS WORLD TITLE — Grantsville native Gary Yoder won Best of Show honors in the Masters Class at the 31st annual Ward World Championship Wildfowl Carving Competition, held in Ocean City recently. The 42-year-old carver is pictured above with his award-winning carving of two green herons, which are shown in greater detail to the right. It took Yoder six years of detailed research and intermittent carving, in addition to his regular duties as the carver-in-residence at Penn Alps Artisan Village, to produce the winning piece. "If I squashed all the time together, it would have taken about 14 months, including the stump and lily pads." The carving was commissioned by a private collector in Canada, and since winning the world championship it has gone on display in an Ontario carving museum. "I've been a total bird freak from day one," said Yoder, who has been carving for public viewing at Spruce Forest Artisan Village since he was a 13-year-old student at Northern Middle School. As soon as I was able to pick up a carving knife, I started carving. The world-class carver can be seen honing his skills on a daily basis in his Spruce Forest artisan's cabin. Yoder is the "guru" for a group of area carvers who gather weekly at his cabin, and who have won a number of awards of their own. Asked why Garrett County produces expert carvers in such numbers, Yoder joked that "it's because of the winters — there's not much else to do!" Photos by Mike Chonko.

DON'T DRIVE ON ROADS LIKE THIS! A common mistake among drivers during a flood is the misconception of how deep or how strong the waters may be. Two young men found themselves in a real predicament after assuming they could drive through high water on Mansfield Road (see pictures and story). This picture was taken at the entrance of Blue Ribbon Road at the height of last Thursday's flood. Photo by Henry Bender

A TENSE SITUATION — As rushing waters threatened to engulf a pickup truck, two young men clung to the cab as rescue workers devised a rescue plan. This photo was taken at the height of last Thursday's flood, a result of a steady, fast downpour of rain that morning and early afternoon. High waters affected much of southern Garrett County, with the Youghlogheny River, Cherry Creek, and other local waterways overflowing their banks. This rescue took place after the two unidentified men in the pickup attempted to drive through water on Mansfield Road, but were swept into a field and into the middle of a swift current. Oakland VFD lieutenant Jimmy Feather was able to get to the two men using his paddle boat, which was tethered to two rescue trucks on either side of the flooded area. Volunteers are pictured below as they secure Feather. See story. Photos by Chick Ford

Frostburg Man Held On Several Assault Charges

A 19-year-old Frostburg man remains incarcerated on several assault charges stemming from an altercation at a Finzel-area cabin early Sunday morning, according to the Garrett Bureau of Investigation. The alleged victim, who required surgery in the emergency room of Cumberland Memorial Hospital, has since been released and continues to recover at his Cumberland home.

Christopher O'Neal Hendrickson, who faces one count of first degree assault, two counts of second degree assault, and one count of reckless endangerment, is being held in the Garrett County Detention Center on a $5,000 bond. He is accused of assaulting 20-year-old Steven Bennett after claiming that Bennett had been staring at him during the course of an underage drinking party at the cabin, located in a wooded area off Finzel Road.

According to a GBI spokesperson, Hendrickson and Bennett got into a fistfight around 2-3 a.m. at the cabin. Two females broke up the altercation, and Bennett fled on foot through the woods with Hendrickson reportedly in pursuit, also on foot. Shortly before the pair reached Finzel Road, Hendrickson caught up with Bennett in a field. One of the females arrived to attempt to intervene again, and while she was doing so Hendrickson allegedly picked up a 3-pound rock and threw it at Bennett from a distance of approximately 10-15 feet. The rock reportedly struck Bennett in the left eye.

Bennett was transported by a private vehicle to Cumberland Memorial, where he underwent surgery to reconstruct his left eye socket and relieve pressure from swelling in the brain, the GBI release stated. Hendrickson was apprehended later that morning by an allied team composed of members of several Allegany County police departments and transported back to the Garrett County jail.

In other GBI news, an Oakland area resident was arrested Sunday after he allegedly fired a gun in the direction of two individuals.

Howard Walter Janoske, 56, reportedly fired over the heads of the alleged victims, who were training their hunting dogs on state property adjacent to Janoske's property. He was released after he posted a $2,500 bond in connection with charges of first degree assault, two counts of second degree assault, and one count of reckless endangerment.

Two adults and one juvenile were arrested by GBI detectives and charged with a July 18 burglary of the Stop-N-Save store, located along Maryland Highway near Deer Park. Thomas Miller, 20, Loch Lynn, Jacob Lynch, 19, Oakland, and a 17-year-old Loch Lynn resident each face charges of second degree burglary and theft. Both adults were released after posting $1,500 bonds, and the juvenile was released into the custody of his parents.

McHenry Woman Arrested After Gun Incident

A McHenry woman was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies last Thursday evening, July 26, after she allegedly pointed a handgun in the direction of her neighbors during a dispute.

Tracy Lee Wood, 33, was allegedly arguing with her neighbors over a dog on her Deer Crossing Road property when she reportedly pointed a semi-automatic handgun at one of the neighbors and made verbal threats. The 5:40 p.m. incident resulted in charges of first- and second degree assault and reckless endangerment for Wood, who was initially held in the Garrett County Detention Center on a $50,000 bond. That amount was subsequently reduced to $10,000 after a circuit court review hearing the following day, and Wood was released when she posted bond.

In other sheriff's news, an Oakland man was arrested early this morning after a disturbance at the Pleasant View Apartments in Loch Lynn.

Gary Dale Hardesty Sr., 45, was apprehended by deputies shortly before 2 a.m. after he had reportedly pounded on residents' doors and yelled at the complex, and was also allegedly seen entering a parked vehicle and going through its contents. Alcohol was cited as a factor.

Hardesty faces charges of tampering with a vehicle, disturbing the peace, and disorderly conduct. He was released from jail this morning after he posted a $500 bond.

DWI ARRESTS

Several individuals were charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) and/or driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs by sheriffs deputies this week: DeCorsey Emroy Bolden, 76, Oakland, faces charges of DWI, failure to drive right of center, and consuming an alcoholic beverage while driving; Michael E. Crabtree, 20, Lesage, W.Va., was charged with DWI, speeding, driving an unregistered and uninsured vehicle, and displaying license plates from another vehicle; Wanda Jean Dewitt, 26, Oakland, was charged with DWI, failure to drive right of center, and driving on a suspended license; and Dwight Howard Clary, 23, Oakland, faces a DWI charge.

Dark-Colored Bronco Sought In Hit & Run

Garrett County sheriff's deputies are seeking leads in a hit-and-run accident that occurred early Tuesday morning south of Oakland. The incident occurred at approximately 1 a.m. when a full-size, dark-colored Ford Bronco bearing West Virginia plates allegedly tried to pass a car along Garrett Highway south of Paul Friend Road. The two vehicles made contact and the car was forced into a ditch, although the driver was not injured. The Bronco continued north along Garrett Highway without stopping.

Persons with information on the accident are encouraged to contact Deputy Dan Duggan at the sheriff's office at 301-334-1911.

Praise the Lord!

I want to praise the Lord for the wonderful and devoted care that my husband, Stephen Ray Willingham, received from 911 Emergency Medical personnel when they responded to our home at Deep Creek Lake on Friday, July 27. Although I don't know all of your names, may God bless you and your families for the wonderful gift you gave to us by reviving my husband. Special thanks to Jeff Hinebaugh who was like a guardian angel who appeared from nowhere and stayed by my husband's side and even flew to Sacred Heart with Stephen.

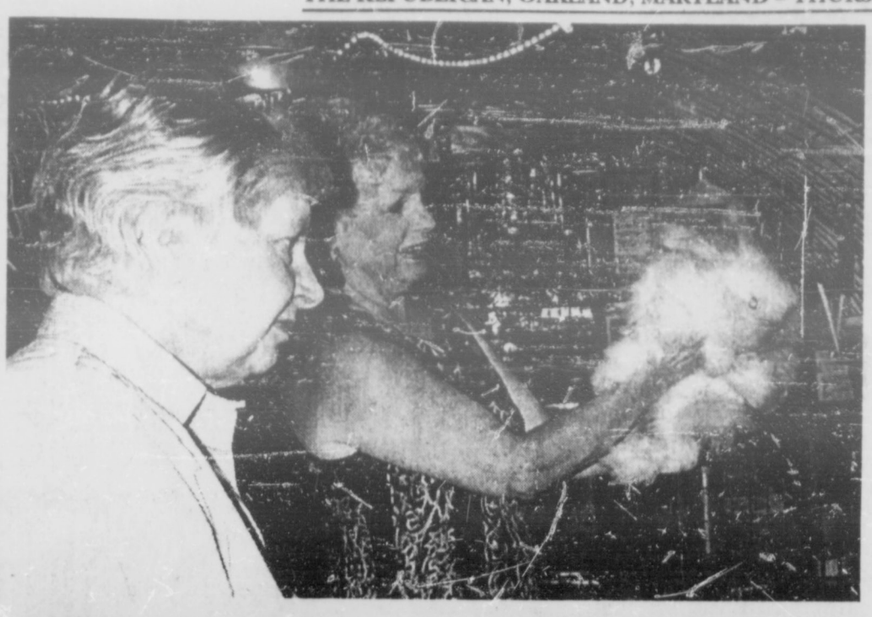
GO SAFELY... MIDAS



"AGRI-TOURISM" is a new word being coined by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and Mountain Pride Cooperative, a network of small local farms, who have joined forces to create a brand new tourist attraction here on the mountaintop — a tour of nine farms that produce a wide variety of products, from rabbits to mushrooms to wine to ginseng to milk to llamas. A "trial run" tour of all nine locations with invited guests was conducted by the chamber last Friday. High-tech dairy farming was demonstrated at the McClintock Dairy along U.S. Rt. 68 near Keysers Ridge. Above left, Jodi McClintock explains the computerized milking system at the dairy, where 40,000 pounds of milk are gleaned from about 350 dairy cows every two days as the animals listen to classical and country music. "The music really seems to help them relax, which increases milk production," McClintock told the visitors. Another stop was Briar Patch Bunnies near Deep Creek Lake, which raises rabbits for pets and meat products. Above right, owner Darlene Skidmore shows off a prime example of an angora rabbit. Below left are members of the Bender family, who will open a 260,000-square-foot corn maze on August 10. The maze, the entrance of which can be seen in the photo, features over one mile of paths, many of which are dead-ended. From an aerial view, one can also see the "Got Milk" logo carved out of the corn field, as well as the silhouette of a dairy cow. In the photo with Bob and Alice Bender are two of their five children, 3-year-old Logan and 9-year-old Alecia. A detailed article about the maze will appear in a future issue of The Republican. Below right is a photo of some of the "residents" of the Crimson Shamrock Alpaca Farm, located near Eglon, W.Va. Other stops on the tour are Walnut Meadows, which produces ginseng and shiitake mushrooms; the Learning Farm of Garrett Community College; Deep Creek Cellars winery near Friendsville; Yoder's Tomato Place in Pleasant Valley; and Bietschehof Farm near Keysers Ridge, where the tour group participants met for a luncheon. A brochure that gives all details of the nine-stop tour is available at the Visitors Center of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce in McHenry. See more information about the brochure on Page C-1 of this newspaper.

Commissioner Districts To Remain Intact

Garrett County's three existing County Commissioner districts have a variance of just 1.1 percent between them, according to 2000 U.S. Census data, GC Board of Elections supervisor Fred Sanders said this week. This finding has led the board to determine that each of the three commissioner districts will remain unchanged until the next evaluation is made based on the results of the 2010 Census.

The most recent census revealed that District 1, which contains the voting districts of Swanton, Bloomington, Ryan's Glade (Gorman), Deer Park, Kitzmiller, and Mtn. Lake Park, has 9,821 residents, for 32.9 percent of the county's population. District 2, composed of the voting districts of Friendsville, Grantsville, Jennings, Accident, Elbow, Bittinger, Finzel, and Avilton, has 10,162 residents for 34 percent. District 3, made up of the voting districts of Sang Run (McHenry), East Oakland, West Oakland, Red House, and Crellin, has 9,863 for 33 percent. The county's total population stands at 29,846.

GCC's 10-Year Growth Projected At 20 Percent

Garrett Community College's student enrollment could grow by as much as 20 percent over the next 10 years, according to a report released this week by the Maryland Higher Education Commission. The projection is in line with other estimates in the report, which indicates that higher education at public institutions of all types — community colleges, on-line enrollments, and four-year colleges and universities — could rise by 27 percent over the next decade.

In GCC's case, the report stated that the 685 enrollment figure of last fall, which included 355 full-time students and 330 part-time students, could reach 469 full-time students and 350 part-time students by 2010, for a total of 819 students. This 20 percent increase is more than the 16 percent rise projected for all the state's community colleges as a whole.

"An enrollment increase of 20 percent would be a welcome development, because that would mean we were serving more Garrett County residents," college president Dr. Stephen Herman commented. "It should also help our funding situation because we should have more tuition revenue, and more state funding as a consequence of having more students.

"It could probably tax our parking facilities," Herman admitted, "although some of our increased enrollment will come in the form of distance learning students. We'll have to make improvements in that area, and we have already been planning for a new learning resources center, featuring a brand-new library with special student learning support services. Our current library is so small in physical size so that our hardbound holdings cannot exceed 26,000 volumes, and students are finding it hard to find space to sit and study in the library. We could break ground for a new library in FY 2004, and would expect construction to be completed a year or two later."

Significant increases in full-time enrollment at community colleges and on-line enrollments are expected to fuel the surge in student numbers across the state. The commission does not conduct projections of enrollments at independent colleges and universities.

"In the new economy, the most important factors industry leaders consider when making location decisions are access to an educated workforce and proximity to world learning and research institutions," commented Governor Parris N. Glendening. "The record investments we have made in our universities and colleges are paying off. Maryland's institutions are recognized as among the best in the nation, and continue to make Maryland a leader in the new global economy."

Agri-Tourism...

Anyone who knows anything about Garrett County realizes that tourism is our number-one "industry" in terms of generating the most significant inflow of dollars from out of the area. It's also common knowledge that the numerous recreational opportunities that are available here, coupled with the scenic beauty, cool air, and lack of urban congestion, are what motivate most visitors to select our county for their vacation, and often as a second-home location.

However, thanks to a new venture by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and the Mountain Pride Cooperative, a brand new attraction can be added to the lengthy list of reasons why people will want to visit here. It's called the "Farm, Barns, and Rural Heritage" initiative, and it involves not skiing or fishing or camping or boating, but visiting a number of rather unique local farms to see "up close and personal" what goes on there. So many of our visitors are urban residents, some of whom have never set foot on a farm before. As chamber president Ken Wishnick put it, "I grew up in New York City and didn't have a clue about farm life. I suspect that many people who vacation here have similar backgrounds and would really enjoy a first-hand experience."

There is a fantastic variety of farms on the tour, featuring livestock and products that include dairy, ginseng, rabbits, hydroponic tomatoes, llamas, mushrooms, alpacas, and even wine. There is also a corn maze on the Bender farm, which is slated to open next week.

Those of us who are county natives may tend to take for granted a visit to a local farm. We've all seen cows and fields of corn all our lives. However, a "pre-tour" held for a number of local residents last Friday was truly an eye-opening experience. Big-time dairy farming, for example, is an extremely technical operation that, like so many "white-collar" business places, involves complicated computer systems and the use of multiple scientific data. We wonder, too, how many of our readers know that the McClintock Dairy is the fourth largest dairy in the state of Maryland. And how many know that dairy cattle enjoy listening to music, classical as well as country? There is a lot to see, learn, and enjoy at these various farms, for us full-time country folk as well as our city guests.

We urge visitors and local residents to take advantage of this new opportunity, and we wish the organizers and farm owners the best with this new effort. We also extend our thanks and congratulations to the chamber staff and Paige Dopson of Mountain Pride Cooperative for dreaming the dream of "agri-tourism" and then working so hard to bring it to fruition. This will be just one more good reason for people to come visit us.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to pay tribute to a group of hikers who convened in Garrett County last week (24-29 July) as participants in the National Convention of High Pointers, who are hikers whose hobby is hiking to the high point of each state. Since Garrett County contains Maryland's high point, Hoye's Crest, 3,360' elevation, the convention was held here.

Troop 1 BSA assisted the sponsors, Gene and Lillian Elliott, with traffic control and handing out water bottles and energy bars on Saturday at the trailhead on Rt. 219 near Silver Lake. What we discovered was that these high pointers are well-mannered, gracious, courteous, and leave no litter along the trail. Their ages ranged from 8-80 years, about 180 hiking that day to the crest, and during the entire period of hiking they all conducted themselves in a friendly, no-litter manner. Quality hikers are they; may their tribe increase!

To the Editor:

Recently we have had reports of animal abuse, and when we accosted these people about the problem they informed us they did not know there were animal laws. They did not know they had to have licenses or rabies shots, etc.

Article 27 of the annotated law of Maryland states we must provide sufficient food, water, shelter, veterinarian care, air, and space. It also states that Humane Society members and law enforcement officers can "enter into and not be held liable for that entry" if an animal is being abused.

Also, Garrett County has an ordinance stating dogs must be licensed, people breeding animals must have a license, and any unspayed female in heat must be kept in a contained building.

I'm not sure where these people have been, as there have been animal cruelty laws for many, many years. In fact, our Humane Society has been active for nearly 18 years, and I have taken many people to court for animal abuse. The main purpose of the Garrett County Humane Society is to prevent cruelty to animals. People aware of animal abuse need to report it. It is a crime not to report a crime, and we never reveal names of the reporters.

Many animals are tied by the neck to a dog box (not sufficient) for the rest of their lives. Can you imagine the torture and torment these poor animals suffer? We have had some dogs go insane and they had to be shot, as we could not get close enough to untie them. We try to educate the owners to be kind and loving to the animals. They are God's creatures. All outside dogs should have pens or runs.

Our next purpose is to help pet owners with spaying/neutering. Thousands of innocent puppies and kittens are destroyed every year because of irresponsible owners. I have had owners tell me they had their dogs tied to a dog house and they didn't know how she had gotten pregnant. Sometimes I hear these wild tales and I wonder what century these people are in.

Another important project is finding loving homes for the unwanted animals. This is mostly done by the great people at the animal shelter where most of the animals are brought. The Humane Society has no facility, but we do have several foster homes. The Humane Society Rescue also works hard to find loving homes.

We are very fortunate to have Gayle and Dick Miller, who coordinate our "Christmas in July" fund-raiser. We have done very well with it. We are also grateful to our commissioners, Fred Holiday, Wendell Beitzel, and Ernie Gregg, and Monty Pagenhardt for all their cooperation with our mission. We also have a lot of support from the citizens of Garrett County. The majority of the people care for their animals. It is very hard to understand why people think they should torture, torment, beat, feed and water when they feel like it, tie them to trees, etc. with no shelter, have litters of puppies and kittens they do not need; have no shots, no worming, no human touch, or a kind word.

Love and kindness is something many of these animals never have and many die wondering what they have done to deserve such treatment.

Please do not let an animal suffer. Report abuse/neglect as soon as you can. Not only do the members of the Humane Society and Animal Control check this out but our Sheriffs Dept. and state troopers have been great in helping us.

Help us make Garrett County a leader in stopping animal abuse.

Bernadine Friend
Executive Director
Garrett County Humane Society Inc.

To the Editor:

As the parents of Jaron Michael Fulmer, the 5-year-old who died in an ATV accident on July 12th, we are appalled at your sense of timing for your article ATV Regs Needed. For you to use our family's grief (and others) to get your point across is offensive.

There are a couple of regs that we know about: one is that no one under 16 should operate an ATV. The other is there should be no passengers. In our case, Jaron and his brother were passengers, but what parent or grandparent would deny a child of something healthy he absolutely loved to do? As a family we have spent many wonderful days riding on 4-wheelers, either around our home area or in W.Va. at our cabin.

As most of you know, regulations are not laws, and laws get broken every day.

Psalms 139:16 says, "You saw me before I was born and scheduled each day of my life before I began to breathe. Every day was recorded in your Book!" In our family's situation, Jaron could have been on a swing or a horse, sitting in a chair, or playing with his brother and sister. Do you want to put regulations on these too?

Don't get us wrong, we think guidelines are a wonderful thing, but sometimes guidelines won't help. Like in our case, when a transmission is stuck in reverse when you are trying to go forward.

Sincerely,
Mike and Kelli Fulmer

To the Editor:

I just finished reading the commentary in The Republican (July 26) about ATV regulations. You see, I am the grandmother you spoke of who was driving the ATV which took that precious little boy from our family. Although what you printed may be the truth, I need to clear up a few things.

Yes, I did have my twin grandsons on the 4-wheeler with me. Their sister, cousin, "Pap-Paw," and I had spent the last several hours at a cabin we have in W.Va., roasting hot dogs and marshmallows, and eating the kids' favorite foods.

The kids begged to go on a 4-wheeler ride (which we had done so many times before). I took my camcorder with us (in case we saw a deer or a bear), and we were traveling very slowly, most of the time side by side. As we started up a small hill, we decided to turn and go back because we wanted to pop some popcorn and watch for deer out the back door. I am still trying to get the memory of what happened out of mind (It isn't working.), so I won't go there.

What I want people to know is, I was not driving fast and I was not being reckless. I had come to a complete stop and, for some unforeseen reason, when I put the 4-wheeler in neutral the transmission stuck in reverse.

There are a lot of people out there who are judging me and my decision to take those kids on that ride, and I want to tell them, I have questioned myself over and over, and the only reason I can come up with is love. I love my grandchildren with all my heart, and like any "Me-Maw" with that much love, it's hard to say no to them about anything. (Why would I have said no this time?)

I don't know why God chose to take Jaron at this time, but I thank Him so very much that my precious little sunshine did not suffer.

You see, Jaron was a very special little boy! He loved to sing his favorite song to me. No, it was not "Barney" or "Big Bird"; it was "Awesome God." He would sing the first two lines of the course and then say, "Me-Maw, I can't remember the rest." Well, I can see him now singing straight to God, and I'll bet he knows all the words!

Satan has been working on our family for over three years (The people who know our family will understand what I mean.), and we know he isn't giving up! We also know we have a God who has power over Satan and as long as we obey His commands and live for Him, He will shield us. God sees our hearts and He knows that even through this tragedy my family has faith in Him. We are closer to Him (and each other) than we were before. Some people are probably wondering how we can love God with Him taking our precious little man, and to them I say, faith and the knowledge God is going to use this little boy's death to draw more souls to Christ.

Our prayer is that it will, and we will continue to trust in the Lord so someday we'll see Jaron again. Believe me, my heart breaks every time I think of him and how I'll never be able to hold him close, kiss his cheek, or tell him how much "Me-Maw" loves him, but I know he is helping Jesus and singing to God, his great-grandma Bowers, and whoever else loves to hear an angel sing.

Oh yes, what I saw after the accident will be with me until the day I die, and I have asked God more than once, Why? Why Jaron, God? Why not me? There is no answer. I'm still filled with so much guilt and "what ifs," but I am finally starting to listen when people say, "Sue, God had this planned from the day He lent you this grandson, and it was an accident."

While we're talking about regulations for ATVs, let's talk about accidents caused by swimming pools, boats, personal watercrafts, tractors, go-carts, lawn mowers, horses, trampolines, and God knows what else. Will there ever be a piace we can go or a thing we can do where an accident won't occur? So don't judge me for what I did, just be careful wherever you go or whatever you do so an "accident" won't happen in your family.

Thank you,
Sue Fulmer

P.S. One more thing. To the person who wrote the commentary, did you stop to think how inappropriate your timing was? Oh, I thank you for not blaming me (I have blamed myself since it happened), but did you stop to consider how much our family is hurting? Did you think just because you wrote what the government should do that it would be done two weeks after our tragedy occurred? Couldn't you have given us a little grieving time before you wrote that comment? My daughters were so concerned about me seeing it they wanted to go out and buy up all of the newspapers they could find. No one can imagine how torn up our family is about this, but we are not going to be writing a reply to everything that may be printed. I just hope before someone does reply they give it much thought and put themselves in our shoes.

View From My Window

AU REVOIR

Perhaps you have noticed that I have not said much about the garden this year. There is a reason for that. I have known since last December that I would be away for the heart of the summer, six weeks and six days.

Last summer I applied for a pastoral sabbatical grant to work on a project called "The Contemplative Congregation: Moving Monasticism Out of Doors." On December 1 the Louisville Institute — a child of the Lilly Fund — informed me that they had awarded me the grant in support of 12 weeks of sabbatical, six weeks in 2001 and six weeks in 2002.

For the seven intervening months I have been making travel plans. First stop is Paris. I plan to spend 27 days in France and then 21 days in Great Britain visiting monasteries and monastic sites.

St. Benedict (480-550 A.D.) wrote his Rule for Christian communities of either men or women. His work depended heavily on the rules of other Christian leaders, but there is a special genius in St. Benedict's work. The Rule of St. Benedict is the constitution for monasteries throughout the western tradition of Christianity, which now includes all parts of the globe except certain areas of eastern Europe and east Asia.

Apart from my religious interest, which is considerable, I have a strong political interest in The Rule. It is so adaptable that it has been successfully applied in every century, on every continent, and under every kind of government and economy from the 16th century through the 21st. That is not a bad run for a form of community which presupposes celibacy.

Three monasteries — two in France and one in Scotland — have each agreed to have me as a guest for a week. I have visited several monasteries before, but never for a period of a week, and never three in series. I hope to have a better idea about monasticism when I finish, from the inside out.

Monastic sites are building or ruins which were once monasteries, but which are no longer. For example, in Paris there is St. Denis, now a church. In Normandy there is Mont St. Michel, now a museum. In the countryside of Yorkshire there is Rievaulx, now a ruins. Buildings and even — and sometimes especially — ruins of buildings have their own story to tell. I shall probably visit about a dozen such monastic sites.

The grant is a lovely thing, but the best part of it is that the Louisville Institute does not care how I spend the money. That is between the IRS and me. The institute does hold me accountable for the work I said I would do, but in the case of my project, that is like making sure I eat my ice cream cone.

For the first 12 days of the sabbatical, my son Nick is accompanying me. He is nearly 16, and is just taller than I. He is a companionable young man who has grown up a great deal in many different ways these past six months. We are looking forward to the time together.

The first 12 days, then, will be mostly vacation, though Nick will get to visit four of my 12 monastic sites. We shall also have time at the D-Day beaches in Normandy and a leisurely journey up the Loire River valley from the Atlantic Ocean to the home of one of the world's most beautiful cathedrals, Chartres.

Though I am excited about this new adventure, which a committee somewhere thought worthy enough to pay for, leaving home is never easy for me. I love my home and the domestic routine.

The last hours here before my departure are filled with emotion. The privet is in its final days of bloom. The house is filled with the fragrance of sweet decay. Privet has come to smell like "good-bye." Any journey has the potential of arriving at an unexpected destination. The journey which is also a pilgrimage enlarges the possibility of going where one did not expect to go or of arriving when or how very other than one had thought possible.

Looking at the world around us and at those dearest to us as if it were the last time is a good exercise. One gains a new perspective thereby. It is also good practice, because one day each of us shall have one last glimpse before disappearing behind a curtain from which there are confident reports, but no certain knowledge. Like a fire drill, practicing for that moment helps us to know what to do when that moment really comes.

And so for now: au revoir!

tion and non-profit organizations money for teacher training in critical shortage areas. This year the commission placed a priority on proposals that focused on new and provisionally certified teacher candidates in mathematics and science.

"This is wonderful news," GCC president Dr. Stephen Herman commented. "It recognizes the ongoing team effort of the Garrett County Board of Education and GCC as we continue to work together toward providing a seamless K-14 educational unit here in the county. Special recognition must go to Dr. Nancy Priselac, our math department chairperson, who has been a leader in securing grant funding in the areas of math, science, and technology, and in implementing those funds in innovative ways."

A REAL MESS — A hard downpour on one afternoon can cause great damage, as the owner of this barn must now know. Brad Frantz, director of Garrett County Emergency Management, said this week that although the damage was extensive to some homes and to local roadways in last week's flood, it was not extensive enough for a disaster declaration by the state. Therefore, federal assistance to property owners will most likely not be available for this relatively small calamity. That does little to alleviate the tiring mess faced by several farmers and landowners in the southern part of the county, which was hit hardest by the high water. Photo by Douglas Sehorne

HE MUST KNOW THE ROAD, otherwise this driver might have quickly lost his bearings while traversing the flooded intersection of Blue Ribbon Road and Rt. 219. The fully loaded truck, dangerously close to having its motor completely covered by the fast water, was captured on film by Henry Bender.

Folk Days Set

ing, chair caning, weaving and spinning, and herb culture will be demonstrated by others. Many modern crafters will be on hand as well to demonstrate their skills and offer handmade items for sale.

A square dance is set for 7 p.m. Saturday evening, and beginners will be welcomed. The fiddle music will be provided by Grover Broadwater, while Gene Pope will call the dances and teach the steps. The weekend will feature a variety of additional musical entertainment, including folk, bluegrass, and gospel music. Among the featured performers are Harping for Harmony's John Lozier, who will play and teach the instrument Saturday afternoon, and the gospel group Joe Lewis and Mountain Melodies, which will perform Sunday afternoon.

A favorite children's activity at past Puzzley Run Folk Days has been the opportunity to meet the Bietschehof resident animals, including Lamar Llama, his "wives" Nicole and Dorothy, and daughter Norma Jean, as well as Ephriam the pet baby goat, Beaucephous the donkey, Dexter cattle (an ancient breed), and multi-horned Jacob sheep.

Historic exhibits, a quilt show, an art exhibit, storytelling, and children's games will round out the weekend.

Bietschehof can be reached by taking National Highway (Route 40) to the top of Negro Mountain between Keysers Ridge and Grantsville. Near the mountain's summit, turn north on Zehner Road, then take the first left onto Hetrick Road. Turn left again on Limestone Road, which leads to the farmyard. Signs will be in place along Rt. 40 to direct travelers to the event.

For further information on Puzzley Run Folk Days, persons may call Jean or Bill Durst at 301-746-7049. The event is funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council.

York City in 1988 and began studying the violin at the age of 3. He made his concert debut as a 7-year-old, performing Paganini's Violin Concerto with the Pacific Music Festival Orchestra in Sapporo, Japan.

Nights at the Symphony will be held on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 24 and 25, featuring the Deep Creek Symphony under Wroe's direction. Both programs, each entirely different, will begin at 8 p.m. in the GCC auditorium. Tickets for each night are $17 for adults and $5 for youth ages 18 and younger.

The Aug. 24 schedule includes Introduction and Allegro by Elgar; Concerto for Violin No. 1 in g minor, Op. 26, by Bruch (with Ryu Goto, violin); and Beethoven's Symphony No. 4, Op. 60.

On August 25 the Deep Creek Symphony will perform Rossini's Overture, The Barber of Seville; Mozart's Symphony No. 41, "Jupiter;" and a violin concerto composed and performed by featured artist Didier Lockwood, violin.

Born in Calais, France, in 1956, Lockwood is a renowned jazz violinist. He began his musical studies at the Conservatory there, where his father taught violin. At age 16, he won the Premier Prix du Conservatorie Nationale de Calais and enrolled in L'Ecole Normale de Musique in Paris. Lockwood won a prize for a 12-tone composition, but then released himself from structural constraints to pursue jazz.

Wroe, conductor, is a native of Great Britain. He is currently the music director of the Westfield Symphony Orchestra, the resident orchestra of Union County, N.J. Johnson said Wroe played an integral part in the planning of Music on the Mountain, serving as music director of the festival.

Increasingly in demand as a guest conductor, he took the baton for the newly formed Fresno International Grand Opera for its production of La Boheme. His various guest conducting engagements include the Boston Symphony Orchestra, the Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra, New York City Ballet, Ensemble Orchestral de Paris, L'Orchestre Lamoureux, the Jerusalem Symphony Orchestra, the Florida West Coast Symphony, the Eugene Symphony Orchestra, the Des Moines Symphony, and the Orchester Vorarlberg at the Bregenz Festival in Austria.

Music on the Mountain, a presentation of GLAF, is sponsored by the Sprenger-Lang Foundation. Another sponsor of this GLAF season is Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty and Deep Creek Mountain Resort. Garrett Lakes Arts Festival is funded in part by grants by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council, which is supported by the state of Maryland and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Water Rescues

truck on one side of the flooded area and the rescue squad's truck on the other. A paddle boat, brought to the scene by volunteer Jimmy Feather (lieutenant of OVFD), was then tied to both units and a pulley system was used to send Feather out into the water in the paddle boat. He reached the two victims, who were perched on the top of the nearly submerged truck's cab, and helped them into the boat, which was then pulled to safety.

Shaffer said the volunteers were hurrying to rescue the two men. Because of the time factor and the weather, other units that might have been able to assist were not at the scene, such as the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company's water rescue team or the Trooper 5 helicopter, which was cancelled because of dangerous flying conditions. Some of the volunteers who aided in the rescue in addition to those named were Greg Skiles, Joe Helbig, Larry Rodeheaver, Jim Walkling, and Alex Mellott.

The Gorman fire crew was summoned to the rescue scene, but the fire hall in that town became flooded as well, and the volunteers were unable to get the fire trucks out. Extensive asphalt damage was reported around the building.

A fourth individual was aided by volunteers when he fell ill and was trying to make his way to Garrett Memorial Hospital. A bridge on Rt. 219 was closed to traffic and he was stuck on the other side. A rescue vehicle then crossed the flooded bridge and transported the victim to the hospital.

Fred Polce, the county roads superintendent, reported Tuesday at the county staff meeting with the commissioners that most of the damage occurred to two roads and two bridges. The White Church-Steyer Road and the Steyer-Gorman were both affected, and the Underwood-Cherry Creek bridge was slightly damaged. Asphalt was lifted up and washed away in many areas.

The Gorman Street Bridge was severely damaged and will need extensive repairs, Polce said. He reported that a temporary bridge is in place.

Road crews worked steadily to reopen the closed roads, and were aided by a donation of 1,000 tons of stone, given to the county by the Buffalo Coal Company.

"That was a huge help to us," Polce said. "It helped keep the cost low for our repairs."

All roads affected by the flood were open by Friday afternoon. The commissioners commended Polce and the roads department for their quick work.

The emergency officials said the situation was serious for a few hours on Thursday, but that the rescue teams and other volunteers, along with the roads department, worked well together to avoid any serious injuries or loss of life.

Officials Visit State-Of-The-Art Technology Center At SHS

Garrett County officials were visitors at Southern High School last week during Tech Camp 2001, held at the school's new Southern Garrett Community Technology Center, or SGCTC. Doug Oxford, SGCTC project chairman and leader, was host to Delegate George Edwards and Commissioner Ernest Gregg along with several board of education representatives, and showed them the state-of-the-art facility where high school students are learning cutting-edge technology techniques.

Oxford, who has been studying and working in the computer technology field since 1981, spearheaded SGCTC, which was launched at Southern last fall. The camp held last week was open, free of charge, to students in grades 6 through 12. The "campers" collected materials at the center to prepare multimedia presentations about the Oakland B&O Train Station and the bogs of the Cranesville Swamp.

At the center, students can hone their technology skills with digital still cameras and digital video cameras, and learn about photo editing, project development, search engine use on the Internet, video and sound editing, digitizing, and other techniques.

The facility, which is located in the media center of the school, is currently undergoing more improvements, and students already have or will soon have at their disposal a complete video production station, graphics and animation stations, the latest software, and an audio production station that includes a digitizing and capturing CD, turntables, cassettes, dubbing, voice-over capability, equalizers, and a music sound effects library.

Also at the new center is a lecture hall, complete with a 12x18-foot white board for projection, a presenter/teacher interaction station, eight interactive computer stations with Internet capability, and 50 theatre seats with tabletops. There are 30 laptop computers for use in the lecture center and four wireless hubs.

A television/radio production studio is included, which will allow public access television programming of special community events, closed circuit school broadcasting, and audio recordings of school music programs.

Oxford told the visitors that the SGCTC is the result of a partnership between a number of entities, including those of the school, community, and state, as well as local and private resources. The objectives of the center are to provide after-school programs for students to complete technology projects, provide technology resources for the general public to use after school hours, and to provide interaction and mentoring experiences for young people. It can also be a community meeting place for the exchange of technological ideas, Oxford noted.

The center is open during the school year from 3:30 p.m. until 6:30 p.m. Bus transportation to various locations in the county is also provided. A calendar of events is to be released that will publicize the scheduled times when community volunteers will provide instructional seminars.

The Southern High School technology committee is jointly chaired by Oxford and Steve Cosner. Members of the committee are Diana Marks, Wade Groves, Heather Miller, Sonia Pratt, Robin Spiker, and Vicki Carlson.

The SGCTC has been funded through a partnership of several groups: the board of education, the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc., Garrett's Promise: An Alliance for Youth, the Garrett County Historical Society, the Maryland Technology Academy, Maryland After-School Opportunity Funds, Michael and Susan Dell Foundation, Power Up: Bridging the Digital Divide, Co-Nect, and the Governor's Office for Children, Youth, and Families.

In addition to these partners and their support, the high school was also recently awarded a $45,000 grant from the Appalachain Regional Commission's Power Up program to continue the improvements to the media center.

IT'S A HIGH TECH WORLD, and students in Garrett County are learning the latest techniques in computer technology at the Southern Garrett Community Technology Center, the brainchild of teacher Doug Oxford. A tech camp was held at the year-old facility last week, and local government and school board officials were invited to tour the center. Students are being taught cutting-edge technology techniques, with the help of state-of-the-art equipment and well-informed instructors. In fact, Oxford has been asked to travel to Toronto, Canada, in October to give a presentation on SGCTC. He is pictured above as he helps out one of the young "campers." The funding of the center is the result of complex partnerships among a number of organizations and state entities. See story. Standing in the photo below from left are Oxford, Commissioner Ernie Gregg, teacher Steve Cosner, and at right, Delegate George Edwards, as they take a look at what the young people can do.

PLANET OF THE APES

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:50 · Released 7/27/01

I must admit, at the risk of ruining my credibility as a movie critic, that I never cared much for Planet Of The Apes, even the 1968 version. Although I admit it was, at the time, a marvel in the field of make-up (for which John Chambers won an Oscar, and rightly so), I thought the whole concept was rather dumb and Charlton Heston's acting way over the top. But at least the '68 version tried to be intelligent. Tim Burton's remake is just dumb.

I think what amazes me most is that so many talented, high-caliber actors chose not only to be involved but to appear in make-up that renders them unrecognizable. Tim Roth, who did such amazing work in Reservior Dogs and Rob Roy, Michael Clarke Duncan, nominated for Best Supporting Actor in The Green Mile, and perhaps the most amazing choice, period film veteran Helena Bonham Carter, who has proven her thespian eloquence so many times — why, they're all just a bunch of apes. No doubt this is seen as an opportunity to test their true skill -- to force them to act "through" their make-up — but the effect is that they must all overact in order to compensate, a fact compounded by the film's third-grade-level script and Burton's stock action-film directing style.

Former rap star Mark Wahlberg (whose acting ability would probably be helped by ape make-up) plays U.S. Air Force astronaut Captain Leo Davidson, who crashes his space pod on an alien planet after getting caught in a time-bending electromagnetic storm in space some time in the distant future. No sooner than his pod cools, he discovers he is on a planet where humans are captured and sold as slaves and the ruling class is made up of highly intelligent (well...) gorillas. Most of these apes regard humans as little more than beasts of burden, but there are a few broad-minded members of society, namely Ari (Carter), the senator's daughter, who feel that humans should be treated as equals, or at least petted once in a while. When Davidson, desiring to escape from quasi-comic orangutan slave trader Limbo (Paul Giamatti), discovers Ari's humanistic sensibilities, he convinces her to set him free, a crime punishable by the revocation of the government's monthly delousing rights.

Led by the arrogant and cartoonishly evil General Thade (Roth, with a snarl built right into his rubber mask), and his right-paw man Attar (Duncan), the military snaps into action to find the uppity human and his rule-breaking gorilla-friend and beat them into a pulp (in this version, the army doesn't own a gun). Also present is fabulous blonde Estella Warren (Driven), reprising her role as The Fabulous Blonde, original Planet-man Heston, mercifully covered in make-up as a dying simian elder, and various other damn, dirty apes.

This movie makes a lame attempt at addressing the issue of slavery, but I've seen better scripts, and better characters, on my kids' Saturday morning TV. The screenplay, by William Broyles Jr., Lawrence Konner, and Mark Rosenthal (based on Pierre Boulle's original novel), is as heavy-handed as they come, blending a childishly simplistic take on complex moral issues with various lapses in logic regarding ape behavior. I mean, are you telling me that an entire army of sophisticated warriors can be defeated just because they're afraid to step into a chest-deep puddle of water? Come on.

Of course, the film is at least visually interesting; Burton's talent for dark spectacle remains his strong point, and Carter at least tries some subtlety in her latex-beleaguered acting. But overall, this is an overpaid, over-hyped, and oversimplified retelling of an already questionable story. ★★½

THE ANNIVERSARY PARTY

Rated R - Running Time: 1:55 - Released 6/8/01

The Anniversary Party is one of those movies that will get great notices but will flop at the box office. It is an actor's movie, a director's movie, and a critic's movie, because it contains some of the most intense acting currently available on the big screen (much of it ad-libbed), but not the type of film properly appreciated by the majority of moviegoers, because it doesn't have much of a plot. It is a character-driven ensemble film with about a dozen people sharing practically equal roles, except for its two leads, Alan Cumming and Jennifer Jason Leigh, who serve not only as the film's onscreen focal couple, but as its co-writers, co-directors, and co-producers.

As I mentioned, there is precious little to summarize in the story department. British-born novelist turned director Joe Therrian (Cumming) and his actress wife, Sally Nash (Leigh), are celebrating their 6th wedding anniversary at their Southern California home a few months after resolving a bitter breakup. A very private couple, they have invited only their closest friends, including Oscar-winning actor Cal Gold (Kevin Kline) and his wife Sophia (Kline's real wife Phoebe Cates), famous actress Skye Davidson (Gwyneth Paltrow), who has just agreed to star in Joe's upcoming directorial debut (a film adaptation of one of his novels), and director Mac Forsyth (John C. Reilly), who is currently directing Sally and Cal in a film together. In addition to these and other friends, the couple has invited their next-door neighbors, Ryan and Monica Rose (Denis O'Hare, Mina Badie), with whom they have engaged in a vicious verbal battle regarding the incessant barking of Sally's dog, Otis. The Roses' invitation was meant as a gesture of goodwill, but their appearance at the party causes raised eyebrows among the other guests, most of whom have heard about the nastiness between the two couples.

The film proceeds along a linear path for the duration of the nearly 24-hour-long party, during which time we learn much about everyone there and his or her association with Joe and Sally. During several well-shot and richly atmospheric ensemble segments, including a spirited charades game, a present-giving session in the couples' honor, and a group Ecstasy trip partaken in by some (but not all) of the partygoers, we witness the uncovering of layer after layer of each guest's personality, learning their deepest secrets, their various personality flaws, and their relationships with Joe and Sally during the recent split. Of course, the ones we get to know best of all are Joe and Sally themselves, who have a number of inner- and outer conflicts putting various stresses on their marriage, even though they assure everyone they're on the mend.

Some will see this film as a colossal waste of time and a lesson in the psychoses of the chronically pretentious. And in a way, they will have a point. But Cumming and Leigh have achieved something many filmmakers strive for and fail to reach: simple reality. This film is a showcase of acting talent, a mixed bag of distinct and interesting characters interacting with the kind of deeply personal behavior we see in real life, but seldom on film. There are many funny moments, but the primary tone is the anxious undercurrent of a vaguely uncomfortable situation, and that is skillfully brought out by this talented creative team. ★★★★½

THE FAST AND THE FURIOUS ★★★ (PG-13/1:45/6-28) Diesel-powered racing film impeded by slow Walker.

Yough Music Fest Concludes Tomorrow With Jen Chapin

The final installment of the Little Yough Summer Music Festival is set for tomorrow, Aug. 3, when singer/songwriter Jen Chapin performs in a free 7 p.m. concert sponsored by the town of Oakland and its downtown merchants at the Mountain Fresh Pavilion adjacent to the town parking lot. The concert will serve to benefit the hungry, as the singer has requested that each person in attendance bring a can of food for donation to Oakland's House of Hope. Chapin serves on the board of directors of World Hunger Year, which was founded by her father, Harry Chapin.

The featured concert will be immediately preceded by a 5:30 p.m. performance by singer, guitarist, and comedian Jim Truman of Morgantown, W.Va, who has toured the nation opening for such musicians as Steven Stills, Leon Russell, Leon Redbone, and Doc Watson, plus comedians such as Jay Leno, Tim Allen, Jerry Seinfeld, and Roseanne.

Chapin, who is returning to the Little Yough Fest stage for the third consecutive summer, has performed her blend of jazz and urban folk music throughout the United States and Europe. Although she is often backed by a five-piece band, tomorrow night she will be accompanied solely by her husband, acoustic bass player Stephan Crump.

The 30-year-old New Yorker brings a wide scope of musical and life experiences to bear in her songwriting and live performances. Born and raised on Long Island, N.Y., Chapin is the daughter of poet, teacher, businesswoman, and social activist Sandy Chapin and her late husband Harry, the legendary singer/songwriter who devoted much of his music to raising awareness of and money for a variety of social justice causes.

"My parents, and an extended family that includes many musicians, writers, painters, and academics, have left me with a fertile legacy," Chapin reflected, "the most valuable aspect of which was the message that the creation of something that wasn't there before is a worthwhile task."

Chapin obtained an undergraduate degree in International Relations from Brown University, Providence, R.I., and she has also studied in Zimbabwe and Mexico. While in Providence she had her first real exposure to jazz, and started to consider music's place in her own life. By the time of her graduation from Brown, she had decided to decline a slot in the master's program in the university's School of Education to enter the Berklee College of Music in Boston for undergraduate study.

"I have been a singer since childhood, and have dabbled at playing the flute and other instruments, but in a sense my enrollment at Berklee marked my first identification of myself as a musician," Chapin said. "I came to school with basic theoretical knowledge and several of the first songs I had forced myself to write with these rudimentary tools. My objective was to get more tools to write with, through the study of ear training, jazz harmony, improvisation, and arranging."

In 1995 Chapin settled in New York City and developed curricula for a middle school general music program and a high school course, "History of Black Music," which she taught at a Brooklyn school. She said that teaching music helped her develop her ideas, and she began to assemble a loose community of local musicians that continues to provide her with inspiration and encouragement to this day.

Those attending tomorrow evening's concert are encouraged to bring their own folding chairs or blankets, in addition to a donation of a can of food per person. Vendors will be on hand selling food and beverages.

Vocalist Aimé Sposato To Be Next Performer At Penn Alps

Soprano Aimé Sposato, accompanied by Karen Keating on piano, will appear as part of the Music at Penn Alps concert series this Saturday, Aug. 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall at Grantsville. Her program will consist of art songs and arias from a variety of composers.

A versatile performer, Sposato has sung in operas, symphonic concerts, recitals, and, most frequently, chamber music ensembles. Her specialties are oratorios and opera. For diversion, she has sung the national anthem at Pittsburgh Pirates' and Steelers' games, and at NASCAR races.

She has appeared as a featured soloist at the Kennedy Center, throughout the east with numerous orchestras, and abroad in Europe and Canada. About one of her Kennedy Center appearances, critic Judy Gruber of the Washington Post said, "Her lovely tones filled the hall. It was a thrilling performance and Sposato's beautifully lyrical voice was especially effective in this piece (Nicholas White's 'Magnificat')." As an opera singer, Carl Apone of the Pittsburgh Press says, "Sposato was well cast as Zerlina and made a spirited, charming, graceful, and very musical vocal contribution."

She has received many prestigious awards by organizations, including the Pittsburgh Concert Society and the National Association of Teachers of Singing Artists. Since 1996 she has been a featured recitalist for L'Orgues Letrouneau Inc. of Quebec, an internationally renowned organ-building company. She also records with Cottrell-Mangum Music Inc., specializing in music for the Discovery Channel and the Learning Channel.

A member of the voice faculty at the Shenandoah Conservatory of Music, Sposato earned a doctorate

POP, COUNTRY, AND BALLAD are among the styles of music created by 17-year-old Amanda Perko of York, Pa., who will be among the guest entertainers at the annual Garrett County Agriculture Fair the week of August 12-18. She has performed as a featured artist on "Morning Magazine," a local television show, and has shared the stage with such national recording artists as Jerry Kilgore, Chris Cagle, Allison Page, Steve Holly, Anita Cochran, Daryl Worley, Craig Morton, Rascal Flatts, and Danni Leigh. "Her songs are a refreshing change from the current crop of 'teen tunes' and offer a positive message in their lyrics," stated one critic. Perko will present concerts at 8 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 16, on the 4-H building stage.

GCC Pipes And Drums Schedule W.Va. Concert

The Garrett Community College Pipes and Drums band will present a free concert at 4 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 11, at Welton Park in Petersburg, W.Va. Persons attending the concert are asked to bring their own lawn chairs or blankets; in the event of rain, the event will take place in the Petersburg High School gym. The performance is being sponsored by the Grant County Arts Council.

The GCC Pipes and Drums band is available for public performances, parades, or other functions as a group or in solo, duet, or other configurations. Information may be obtained by calling Pipe Major Fred Thayer at 301-387-9439.

Formal instruction in piping and drumming is offered through GCC in a curriculum designed by Thayer, retired chief judge of Maryland's Fourth Judicial Circuit. Persons interested in further information may contact the college at 301-387-3000.

Summer Dance Retreat Concert Slated At FSU

Three weeks of intensive modern dance instruction will culminate at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 7, as the faculty and students of the Frostburg Summer Dance Retreat (FSDR) perform on the stage of FSU's Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre.

The gala performance will include retreat faculty member Mary Anthony's "Songs." Anthony is widely regarded as a leader of the modern dance movement, and this particular work has been described by The New York Times' Jennifer Dunning as "hauntingly lyrical (with) the emphasis . . . on simplicity and an ageless craft."

Also slated for performance is Martha Graham's "Steps in the Street," which was inspired by the tragedy of the Spanish Civil War. FSDR artistic director Dr. Barry Fischer earned his doctoral dissertation with a reconstruction of "Steps in the Streets."

Additional pieces will be presented by retreat faculty members Ethel Winter, a legendary dancer, teacher and choreographer who was one of the Martha Graham Dance Company's most distinguished principal dancers in the 1950s and '60s, and Kenneth Topping, the artistic director of the Martha Graham Dance Ensemble. Studies in Afro-jazz, under the direction of Jolyn Arisman, and student works under the direction of Mary Anthony will also be performed.

Tickets for the FSDR performance are $10, and reservations may be made by calling 301-687-4158 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Doerr Construction claimed the Hot Stove Baseball League crown yesterday with a 9-7 win over the Westvaco/Duckworth Beat at Jim Holler Field in Cresaptown. The title-clinching victory came on the heels of Doerr's 4-2 win in the championship series opener Tuesday, and caps a perfect 22-0 season for the Accident squad. Westvaco, which made it to the finals by taking the Hot Stove's National League West Division, finished up at 18-5.

"At the beginning of the season I thought we would have a shot at winning the championship, but going unbeaten didn't seem that realistic," commented Doerr manager Jamie Workman. "Our kids were on a mission and knew what they wanted to do. Our pitching was good all season, we usually played good defense, and we had timely hitting."

In addition to those factors, Doerr's speed on the basepaths proved key to the finals win as two runs scored in the series opener after runners had put themselves into scoring position after stealing second. The squad pilfered a total of nine runs yesterday that led to eight of its nine-run tally, and through the course of the entire season not a single Doerr baserunner was thrown out while attempting to steal. "We have been aggressive on the bases all year," Workman stated, "and that certainly was a big key in yesterday's game."

Doerr's baserunning came in especially handy Tuesday as well, for its usually potent batting lineup was held to just two hits in the two-run win. Doerr's first two scores came in the second inning, after Dan Ellis singled and stole second. Mike Wolf reached on an error while Ellis advanced to third, then Ellis scampered home on a balk and Wolf scored later that same stanza on a wild pitch.

Another Doerr run crossed the plate in the third, virtue of another steal. After drawing a walk with two outs, Wolf stole second and scored on a Preston Sisler RBI single to put Doerr up 3-0.

Westvaco responded with two runs in the sixth when James Ziler doubled home Trent Morris and Jason Lee, both of whom had rapped out two-out singles. Doerr's fourth and final run came in the bottom of the stanza when Wolf walked and subsequently scored on an error. Jason Rice shut down Westvaco's batters in the top of the seventh to seal the victory.

Rice hurled the entire game for Doerr, scattering just five hits while recording an even dozen strikeouts. Losing pitcher Russell Miller struck out eight batters while holding Doerr to two hits and giving up an earned run. Each team committed two fielding errors.

Although Wolf didn't get one of Doerr's two hits, he walked twice and scored three of his squad's four runs.

Doerr held nothing back on the basepaths as it went for the crown yesterday, stealing nine bases in all. The outright thievery was complemented when Doerr's speed and aggressive baserunning allowed the team to take advantage of five Westvaco errors as well.

Doerr bolted to a 3-0 lead in the third inning on three unearned runs. Robert Stack chopped a bouncer that was bobbled in the infield, and he beat the throw to first. Stack advanced into scoring position on Mark Logsdon's infield single, then Torrey Poholsky drew a walk to load the bases. Stark scampered home on a wild pitch, Logsdon scored on an infield error as Chad Carr chopped out another grounder that Westvaco booted, and Poholsky scored on a wild pitch.

Westvaco pulled to within one in the next inning by scoring twice. Trent Morris singled, and Miller reached on an infield error to put runners on first and second; Ziler then cracked a two-RBI double to right field.

Undaunted, Doerr put together another three-run inning in the fifth. Poholsky sped to first on another Westvaco error, then Carr drew a walk. Both runners advanced on a Derek Workman groundout, so with first base open Westvaco elected to intentionally walk Rice in hopes of turning a double play, loading the bases in the process. The ploy was foiled by Wolf, who ripped a two-run single to make the score 5-2, then Sisler singled Rice home to put Doerr up by three.

Doerr's chances got dicey in the fifth as Westvaco scored four runs to tie the game at 6-all. Just missing the corners, Poholsky issued walks to Alex Metz and Sean Ryan before Kevin Meyers drew blood with a one-run single. Meyers stole second before Jason Lee cracked a two-run single, then Lee scored on an infield error to put things back right where they started.

Workman led off the top of the seventh with a single to left, then immediately stole second to get in scoring position with no outs. Rice then struck out, but swung at a wild pitch on the third strike and sped off to first. He scampered all the way to second when the catcher's throw sailed over the first baseman's head, and more importantly, Workman flew from second to home while the Westvaco fielders chased the escaping ball down the right-field line. Wolf ripped an RBI single, scoring Rice, and after Sisler reached first on an infield error Wolf scored on Stack's grounder.

Up 9-6 in the bottom of the seventh, Doerr got another scare when Westvaco loaded the bases on an error and two walks. Workman showed his faith in Poholsky by leaving him on the mound with only one out, and the pitcher rewarded the strategy by pitching his way out of the jam. Morris scored on Ziler's RBI groundout, but Workman corralled a groundball at short, and fired the ball to first for the final out.

"They really made us earn it," coach Workman remarked in the midst of the celebration. "We got ahead and they would keep coming back." Poholsky seconded his skipper's sentiments, adding that "We got some clutch hitting and some good fielding." The left-handed ace gave up just five hits on the day while striking out six and walking five. The championship win gave Poholsky a perfect 9-0 mark on the year, tops on a unit of undefeated pitchers.

"It probably looked like I was only throwing change-ups in that last inning, but I didn't want to come out," the Bittinger resident said. "I wanted to be the last pitcher to leave the field."

Former Laker Barkey To Play At Mansfield U.

Former Garrett Community College baseball standout Craig Barkey has signed a scholarship to continue his academic and athletic career at Mansfield (Pa.) University. The 5-9, 175-pound graduate of Ringgold High School posted impressive numbers during his two years of play for the Lakers and their coach, Ed Wildesen.

As a freshman at GCC, Barkey hit .340 with two home runs and 50 RBI, and excelled at the catcher position, as he threw out 20 of 39 runners attempting to steal.

During his recently completed sophomore season, he batted .380, second best on the team, with five homers and 62 RBI, third best on the Laker squad. He threw out 25 of 38 runners attempting to steal, and played in 50 of the Lakers' 57 games.

Other larger universities who were also interested in Barkey included Pitt, West Virginia, and Point Park, but he said Mansfield offered him a deal he couldn't refuse.

"They are giving me a free ride academically, and I couldn't pass that up," he said. "Their coach really wanted me. He came to see just about every game we (the Lakers) played."

During his two seasons at Garrett, the Lakers lost in the NJCAA regional finals in 2000 and reached the regional semifinals this past season.

"I could have done better, but I played pretty well," Barkey said. "I played with and against the toughest Division I NJCAA players in the country. Some of the players on my team were the best I've ever been associated with."

"Craig was without a doubt one of our top catchers ever, as far as handling pitchers and calling a game," stated Coach Wildesen. "Also, his intense athletic pride carried him a long way in his development as a college catcher."

Mansfield University is a Division II school located near Williamsport, Pa.

Senior League All-Stars Finish Fifth In Maryland

Oakland's Senior League All-Star baseball team concluded its season recently by placing fifth in the Maryland State Tournament in Cambridge. The 15- and 16-year-olds of the Oakland squad went 1-2 in the double elimination tourney, opening with a 15-2 romp over Westminster on Tuesday, July 21, falling 6-3 to Arbutus the following day, and getting nipped by Hughesville by a slim 3-1 margin Thursday, July 23.

Oakland pounded out 14 hits in the opening round win over Westminster en route to its 13-run win. The All-Stars were down by 2-0 early after Westminster scored once in each of the first two innings, but roared back with a five-run bottom of the second. Oakland added three runs in the third, five in the fourth, and two in the fifth.

Tobi Stoner and Bud Fazenbaker stroked three hits apiece, and Dennis Tressler tallied two hits. Stoner tossed a sterling five-inning, complete game masterpiece from the mound, striking out seven batters while allowing just one hit along the way.

Arbutus knocked Oakland into the loser's bracket the next day, even though the Garrett squad had jumped out to a quick 3-0 lead after three innings. Arbutus scored twice in the bottom of the third, and knotted the game at 3-all with a run in the fourth. The teams were still tied going into the bottom of the sixth inning, when Arbutus erupted for three runs to go up by three. Oakland had a last chance in the top of the seventh inning, but failed to score.

Defense proved to be the All-Stars' Achilles' heel in the contest, as the squad committed an unheard-of five fielding errors, negating Tressler's excellent six-hit, six-strikeout pitching. Stoner's three hits led Oakland's eight-hit output, while Tressler added a pair of hits for the second straight game.

Oakland was eliminated from the tournament by just two runs in falling to Hughesville, 3-1. Oakland had the upper hand for a short period after scoring the game's first run in the top of the fourth, but Hughesville tied the contest in the bottom half of the stanza. The eventual victors went up by two with a two-run sixth, and Oakland's 2001 post-season run came to a halt.

Hughesville's pitching limited the powerful All-Stars offense to just six hits, an uncharacteristically low output. Stoner had two hits, and Nathan Fitzwater singled and scored Oakland's only run on Bryan Van-Bogelen's RBI single. Billy Reams provided Oakland's third straight stellar pitching performance, striking out six batters and allowing just six hits.

"We just had a tournament where nothing seemed to go our way," Oakland manager Doug Copeland commented afterward. "Our strong defense let us down when we really needed it, and we could never get the big hit with runners on. Our pitching was as good as anyone's in the tournament. Tobi Stoner did a great job getting us started in Game 1, and Dennis Tressler and Billy Reams were fantastic. They definitely pitched well enough for us to win.

"This was a great group of kids and parents to work with," the All-Stars' skipper continued. "The 16-year-olds who are leaving us are a group the other coaches and I will not forget. I hope these players had as much fun playing as I did coaching them."

Oakland Girls End Season With Picnic, Awards

The Oakland Girls' Softball League concluded its 19th season recently with an afternoon of fellowship, picnicking, recognition of team sponsors, and an awards ceremony, held in the Loch Lynn town pavilion. The players began the 2001 season on the new fields located in Loch Lynn, even though there is still more construction to be completed.

Recognized as all-stars for the 2001 season were: Jennifer Lyall, Julie Swerbinsky, Jessica Petrella, and Heather Cosner of the Frank Arnold Contractors team; Amber Plank, Sarah Brenneman, Amanda Ashby, and Randi Bennett of the Mountaineer Log & Siding team; Andrea Dale, Autumn Thomas, Emma Ringer, and Jennifer Cosner of Gregg's Pharmacy; Amber Bittinger, Brooke Baier, Lauren Shue, and Destinee Fulk of G&H Masonry; Nichole Harvey, Jennifer Steyer, Chanda Remley, and Julia Bittinger of Buffalo Coal; Elizabeth Rush, Brittany Green, Hanna Watkins, and Shayna Sweitzer of Beachy Lumber; and Rachel Hanlin, Stephanie Hershman, Brittany Boyce, and Brittany Scheffel of Rob Michael State Farm Insurance.

Lauren Shue received the Pam Ashby Memorial Award for her dedication, attitude, and hard work. The late Pam Ashby and her husband Joe were active in the league a number of years ago, with Joe Ashby serving as a coach for several seasons.

The various teams received trophies for top finishes in the league this season. State Farm Insurance became only the second team in the 19-year history of the league to finish the year undefeated, the first being Mountaineer Log & Siding in 1995.

Sponsors who were recognized for 19 straight years of sponsorship were Buffalo Coal and Frank Arnold Contractors. JoAnn Glotfelty, who was the primary force behind the founding of the league, was recognized for her dedication and support of the league.

Serving as coaches and managers this past season were: Jim Hetrick, Bob Reese, Larry and Janet Tichnell, Tina Reese, Tracie Plum, Richard and Angela Stevens, Randy Tichnell, and Mike Holler.

It was in the spring of 1982 that work on founding the league was begun by Glotfelty, her daughter Sue, and now-district court judge Ralph Burnett. The league began competition in 1983 with four teams, and has expanded to seven over the years.

In recent years, Charlie Grubb and Larry Tichnell, now the league president, worked on plans to find a good location for the league fields. All play had taken place previously on fields at Broad Ford Elementary School. In May 1999, the dream began to fall into place with the awarding of Program Open Space monies, support from the Garrett County commissioners and Loch Lynn mayor and town council, and actual field work by Arthur Beckman Logging and members of the local National Guard unit.

The Mountaintop Soccer Association was then asked to join the effort. The new facility, when completed, will consist of two softball fields and three soccer fields.

"These new fields will benefit close to 500 area children ranging in age from 6 to 16, and will benefit the county in general by giving this many children something wholesome and healthy to do with their spare time," stated Tichnell, who added that the fields will also be available for use by other groups when not occupied by the current leagues.

The soccer organization will begin to use the new fields next year. "Before our 2002 season, we hope to have backstops, dugouts, dirt infields, a concession stand, and restrooms," Tichnell said. "We will accomplish this with volunteer help from parents, coaches, managers, and other volunteers. We also hope to add senior slow-pitch softball teams in the future."

The league also held several fund-raising projects this year, including the awarding of a 1960 Gibson electric guitar donated by Charlie Grubb. Heather Brenneman was the winner of the guitar.

Among the guests at the league picnic were Garrett County commissioners Ernie Gregg and Fred Holliday, as well as Holliday's wife Joan.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer with the Oakland Girls' Softball League or wishing to make a donation to the league is asked to contact Larry Tichnell at 301-334-9763.

Area Speedway Review

ROARING KNOB
By Donna Butler

The "Brownfield Bullet," Jeff Ferguson, took win number five at Roaring Knob Raceway Park Saturday evening.

A lap 1 incident in turn four sent the cars of polesitter Ron Reese and Gary Tonkery pitside, but the rest of the Ken Nicholson and Sons Late Model feature event went off without a hitch. M.T. Hall inherited the pole for the restart, and held the point for the first 11. Ferguson, from seventh on the grid, had moved into third by lap 3, and thundered past Dave Yowler for the second spot on the 7th. Ferguson set his sights on Hall, and the two raced hard and clean, with Ferguson taking the lead on the 12th circuit. Ferguson would lead the rest of the distance, withstanding Hall's challenges, and a late race charge by Andy Fries. When the checkered flew, it was Ferguson with the win. Fries, from the eighth starting spot, took runner-up, followed by Hall, Yowler and Gary Dalton. Bob Neratka, Reese and Tonkery round out the finish. Heat wins went to Fries and Ferguson.

Mark Baylor took his second in the Caney Valley Sport and Marine AMRA Modified division. Following Baylor to the stripe were Wayne Jordan, Doug Thompson, and Bud Cutlip. Jordan took the heat.

Polesitter Jim "The Candyman" Byers led the first 8 laps of the Country Charm Hot Stock event, but gave up the lead on lap 9 to sixth starter Scott "The Ace" Spade. Spade ended up with the win, but at times the entire top five were attempting to gain the point at once. After a flurry of early cautions, things settled down to some fine racing on the wide mountain top oval. At the finish, it was Spade over Jim Bendishaw, Sr., Byers, Steve Huggins, and John Redshaw. There were six cautions. Spade, Redshaw, and Marty Anker scored heat wins.

Young Mike Hay continues to be a force to be reckoned with in the Vita-Link-QCOL Classic Lite Division. Hay ended up in victory lane for the fifth time in 2001. The Classic Lites put on their usual clean, exciting show, with plenty of passing and four-wide racing. Following Hay to the stripe were Terry Hall, Bob Bolin, Tim Jackson, and Tyler Hall. There were only three yellows thrown, and heats were taken by Jackson, Bolin, and John Cogar.

Roaring Knob Raceway Park will be back in action this Saturday, Aug. 4, with a regular Mountain Thunder 2001 show. It will also be Historic Stone House Restaurant and Country Inn Autograph Night. Fans young and old will have the opportunity to see their favorite cars and stars up close. Appalachian Timber Products will present the checkered flag sack race for the youngsters.

Roaring Knob Raceway Park is located two miles west of the Youghiogheny Lake, just off Route 40 on Fearer Road. For more information, please call the raceway office at 724-329-0306 or 724-329-8196, or visit www.roaringknob.com on the Web.

You have been the rose in my life. It was only 4 short years ago that we said "I Do" and I want the world to know that I have never regretted saying those words. You are the best thing to ever walk into my life.
We have gone through a lot in only a couple of years. Ups & downs, but through it all, you have ALWAYS been there. You have always been the caring, loving soul you said you would be. I watched you learn to be a "Mommy" and I see how our son loves you as he looks at you.
I hope we will reach every dream you have, because if anyone ever deserved it... it is you. I hope this next year is as great as the last four.

Oakland's Pen-Mar Regular Season Closes With One Win In Triplebill

The curtain came down on a disappointing Pen-Mar Baseball League regular season for Oakland yesterday, as the short-staffed Oaks dropped two of three to Tri-State in a Saturday tripleheader at Garrett Community College. After being nipped 5-4 in the final inning of the opener, Oakland lost 7-3 in Game 2. Oakland then rebounded to close out the day and the season with a 7-5 win. After recording an 8-16 mark on the regular campaign, the Oaks are slated to play at Rosemont Saturday in a play-in for the playoff tourney.

Oakland appeared to have an early upper hand in Saturday's first game, and held a 3-1 lead after three innings. Tri-State cut the margin in half with a single run in the fourth, but the Oaks scored once in the top of the fifth to take another two-run lead. Tri-State scored once again in the bottom of the stanza to make the score 4-3 with the Oaks in the lead.

With the score unchanged, Tri-State came up to bat in the top of the seventh for its last chance. Jeff Carr, who pitched the complete game for the Oaks, got a double play that also allowed a Titan runner to advance to third. Then, with two outs, Brian Powell cracked a run-scoring double to tie the score, and then scored on a Mike Carter RBI single that gave Tri-State the come-from-behind win.

Carr gave up eight hits over his seven innings of work, while Oakland's lineup accumulated nine hits of its own. Joey DiSimone led the Oaks' offense with a triple and a single, and Dan Kochenderfer had two singles and two RBI.

Oakland struck first again in Game 2, taking a 1-0 lead after one inning on a Josh Bosley home run. However, with a nine-man roster already stretched to its limit, Oakland was reduced even further when a player was ejected in the second inning. The Titans scored three runs in each of the third and fourth innings to take a commanding 6-1 lead. Oakland cut the margin to four in the fifth inning, and each team scored once in the seventh to make the final score 7-3.

The Oaks averted a sweep by taking the third and final game with a come-from-behind effort of their own. The Titans took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first, but Oakland scored two runs in bottom of the first and second stanzas to take a 3-run lead. Tri-State bit into the advantage with a single run in the top of the fourth, but Oakland responded with a run in kind in the bottom half of the inning. The visitors then knotted the score at 5-all in the top of the sixth by scoring three runs.

Oakland put together a two-run sixth to claim the victory. The Oaks loaded the bases on singles by Bosley, Kochenderfer, and Joel Uphold. Jarrett Townsend cracked a run-scoring single to bring Bosley home, then Kochenderfer scored on a fielder's choice with Jay Bruckey at the plate. Joey DiSimone, summoned to the mound in the previous inning to relieve Justin DiSimone, shut the Titans down in the seventh for the win.

Kochenderfer and Bosley each scored three runs in the contest, as Bosley doubled and singled twice and Kochenderfer hit a pair of singles. Bruckey drove home three runs on two singles.

The winner of Saturday's play-in at Rosemont advances to take on top-seeded Fairmont in a best-of-three series.

Sailboat Racing On Deep Creek Lake

by Ted Rissell (The nemesis)

This past weekend was the Sandy Douglass Memorial Regatta, held every summer at Deep Creek Lake to honor the late Sandy Douglass, designer and first builder of the Flying Scot sailboat. There were 39 entries. In addition to many of the regular Deep Creek Lake sailors, there were 13 from other sailing clubs — three from the Washington/Chesapeake Bay area, eight from the Ohio district, Al Hersey from Sarasota, Fla., and one couple from Dallas, Texas! Several of the Deep Creek sailors have sailed with Al at his home club, Sarasota Sailing Squadron, in the winter.

Saturday was cool and cloudy, with a nice breeze from a little south of east. Race commander Kevin Rissell set a long, challenging windward course through the slot, starting near Holy Cross. Returning downwind toward Holy Cross there was a jibe mark on the first leg near Turkey Point. The fleet sailed through the slot and back three times.

After a great lunch at the Turkey Neck Club, the sailors returned for the second race. The wind shifted more to the southeast and freshened considerably to 15 to 20, with many gusts to 25 mph.

The course was shifted so that the start was in the cove just north of Holy Cross. Just before the start, the windward mark was removed by mistake, but another racing association patrol boat was able to replace the mark, just in time!

Frank Vandal capsized in a strong gust near the leeward mark. Patrol person Jeanette Dodd jumped into the lake to keep the boat from turning turtle (upside down). Patrol Jan Janssen rescued Sheila Vandal, and Frank was able to sail back to the club house unassisted.

Sunday the temperature was in the upper 50s, and it was raining. The C Fleet, which is composed of senior sailors (all over 65), held a phone meeting. During the Firecracker Regatta, the C Fleet had only sailed one race of three due to bad weather. They were becoming known as the "chicken fleet." They decided to brave the elements this time.

About a half-hour before the 11 a.m. start, thick fog blew in from the east. Race commander Kevin Rissell postponed the race for one-half hour. He was concerned that the patrol would be unable to see a boat in trouble, as visibility was only about 1/4 mile. However, by 11 a.m. the fog had lifted and the race was on for an 11:30 start. The wind was about the same as the first race on Saturday, so the same course was used with only three windward legs, rather than four. Many sailors who were not in contention for a trophy chose not to sail in the cold rain.

After the race, the sailors who returned to the Turkey Neck Club were treated to a warm fire in the fireplace room and a hot lunch prepared by club managers Don and Willie Clayton. Trophies were presented by Dave Mahan, president of the Deep Creek Yacht Racing Association; Dave Bertsch, commodore of the Turkey Neck Club; Mo Willey, commodore of the Deer Haven Club; and Jack Rudy, president of the Flying Scot Ohio District.

The winners in the Scot A Fleet (Champion Division) were Scott and Natalie Manney from Dallas. They flew up, and Harry Carpenter of Flying Scot Inc. lent them Flying Scot number one, "The First One." And it was.

In second place was John Meredith with his niece Ashley Dodd. Harry Carpenter and his daughter Carrie were third. They were followed by Dave and Jane Mahan, fourth; Don and Barbara Griffin, fifth; Peter Salmon-Cox and June Schneider, sixth; and Charles and Sarah Buffington, seventh.

The Sandy Douglass Memorial Regatta has a tradition. The first boat out of the money gets the Monkey Award. It is a stuffed toy monkey. Each year the winner adds some paraphernalia or item of clothing to the monkey. This year's winner was Joni Palmer and husband, Ray Gautheer, from Annapolis. Joni had been to Deep Creek Lake three years ago to conduct a training program to certify instructors for the Deep Creek Sailing School. She came back last weekend, and she and Ray liked the lake so much that they returned for the regatta. The Schubert children, Rachel and Ryan, were kind enough to lend Joni and Ray their almost-new Flying Scot for the races. Welcome to Deep Creek, Joni and Ray.

The B Fleet (Challenger Division) was won by Meredith Dodd with Alex Kandabarow. In second place were Steve and Carol Spackey. Third place was won by Debby and Paul Stipkovitch. In fourth place was Turkey Neck commodore Dave Bertsch and crew Ronn Downey. Nate Coraor with his mother Joan as crew was fifth. Stan Miley with Jini Bartlett was sixth. The Wickners were seventh.

The C Fleet (Masters Division) was won by Ted Rissell with Howard Linns as crew. Ed Peters and Jim Sherrard were second. Phil Hanna with Bob Verkouteren as crew was third, and Barbara Elster and Marilyn Filemyr were fourth.

With Sincere Gratitude

We write to extend our heartfelt appreciation for the instant and ongoing support of our neigbors, friends, and family. All the thoughtfulness through prayers, calls, food, cards and flowers has touched each one of us deeply.

The immediate response and kindness of the residents on Ridge Road and Piney Run Road was a true blessing at the time of the accident. We were also impressed and thankful for the quick and caring response from the Deer Park Fire Department, Rescue Squad, Trooper 5 Helicopter team, Trauma Center and ICU of Memorial Hospital. They all did a wonderful job.

A special thank you goes to the grandchildren who pulled together to help each other through this difficult situation and for those who stepped in and helped with the younger children. Another special thank you to our church family who sacrificially went the extra mile showing love and support in many ways. To Pastor Schorne—thank you, thank you.

We gratefully acknowledge all who extended their friendship and sympathy at the Durst Funeral Home and the Deer Park Fire Hall where a meal was graciously served.

God Bless You,
The James Fitzwater Family

THE GRANDSTAND IS READY for the 85th annual Western Maryland Tennis Championships, which got under way this morning at the historic Mountain Lake Park Tennis Club clay courts and at various other area courts. The present grandstand was erected at the courts in Mtn. Lake Park in 1966, but was in great need of repair/renovation. A donation of over $2,500 from Jerrold Stonham made that improvement project possible, and the job was completed this past month in time for the annual tournament. Doing the actual work on the project were Tim Storey, Roland Hagge, Davey Upole, and Neil DeLaney. Trying out the grandstand seats in the above photo are, front, from left: William Tritt, president of the MLP Tennis Club; club board members Dave and Mimi DeGrafft; and Stonham. In the back are young netters Jonathan White and Sara Coffiln. Spectators are welcome at the tournament, which features top amateur players from many states, and there is no admission charge.

AREA ATHLETES EXCEL AT ELKS TOURNEY — The annual Elks Area II Tournament of Champions took place at Seven Springs Resort in Pennsylvania recently, drawing some of the best young golfers, bowlers, and tennis players from across a five-state region. Junior and Senior division qualifiers were on hand from Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Kentucky. Oakland Elks Lodge #2481 sponsored the Garrett County quartet, shown above from the left — Nathan Swartzentruber, Dustin Slider, Justin Stephens, and Greg Speicher — who took several honors during the two-day event. Stephens earned second place overall in Senior Tennis, and first place in the Maryland Division; Slider took second place in Maryland Division Senior Tennis; and Speicher finished third in Area II Senior Golf and first in the Maryland Division. The three were awarded trophies for their accomplishments, and Swartzentruber earned the right to compete in the golf tournament. A number of local youth have competed in the Tournament of Champions over many years through the sponsorship of the Oakland Elks Lodge.

Grant Awarded

Operating Fund Program for the purpose of enhancing senior center services such as education, health and exercise promotion, socialization, recreation, and nutrition. Matching funds, which can include in-kind services, must be provided by the local governments as specified in the laws governing the Operating Fund Program.

"The grants are issued to applicants whose proposals demonstrate the potential for a significant and measurable increase in the quality of life for Maryland seniors," Ward stated. "Through this grants program we can provide the financial resources to help strengthen the service and resource network for senior adults."

The Senior Center Operating Fund Program was established through legislation passed by the Maryland General Assembly in 2000. In addition to requiring enhancements to senior center services, at least 50 percent of the funds must be distributed to "qualified distressed counties," as determined by the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development, which include Garrett and Allegany counties. The remaining funding may be awarded to senior centers in any jurisdiction, including the distressed counties.

The Maryland Department of Aging oversees a network of 112 senior centers throughout the state that provide services, programs, information, and assistance to seniors, their families, and caregivers. Approximately 800,000 Maryland residents 60 and older are eligible to participate in senior center programs.

Western Maryland Tennis Tourney Reaches 80 Years Of Tradition

by Kathie Smith

The Western Maryland Tennis Championships will serve up play for the 80th year on August 2, 2001. Sponsored by the Mountain Lake Park Tennis Club and located in historic Mountain Lake Park, the tournament remains one of the last traditions on the mountaintop from the early part of the century.

Mountain Lake Park itself developed in 1881 as a summer place for religious and cultural experiences and flourished as a "mountain Chautauqua" until the end of World War I. Tennis courts were built shortly after the turn of the century with monies collected by the Women's Civic Club of Mountain Lake Park. In the 1920s, a sanction was obtained from the United States Lawn Tennis Association, and the Western Maryland Championships became official, making them the oldest sanctioned tournament in the area.

Arriving by train, many entrants stayed at hotels or guest cottages located in the park. Both men's and women's events offered play for a full week in the cool mountain setting. Throughout the '20s and '30s, the ladies of the Civic Club kept things going, and the tournament's social activities became almost as famous as the tennis.

Today the tournament has adjusted to the lifestyle of a new century. Sanctioned by the United States Tennis Association, the tournament runs four days, with 15 events for both men and women of all ages in singles and doubles. Players from all over the United States, as well as an occasional foreign tennis enthusiast, provide great entertainment for the observers in the grandstand or stretched out on the lawn. Social events continue the tradition of hospitality, with a president's reception and corn roast on the lawn of one of the homes in the park.

Set amidst the historic Victorian homes of Mountain Lake Park, the four clay tennis courts sit close to the railroad tracks where an occasional train rumbles by reminding all of the past. With automobiles the primary mode of transportation today, visitors flock to the mountaintop, just as they did in the past, for relief from summer's heat. A wealth of recreational facilities in Garrett County provides players and their families with numerous options when not scheduled on the courts.

Many changes have occurred over the last 80 years, but the essence of Western Maryland Championships remains the same — a competitive tennis event and amiable social affair in a relaxed atmosphere on the mountaintop, fostering new friends and old traditions. Spectators are welcome at no charge. Bring a blanket or chair, and settle in for good play.

DNR Secretary

"I see this as a 'hub and spokes' thing," Hinebaugh said, "with the adventure sports complex at the center, and spokes going out to sites such as the Discovery Center, Herrington Manor, Swallow Falls, and other public lands. We will be helping each other." Taylor-Rogers appeared to concur with the idea.

Edwards also asked the secretary about funds allotted many years ago for the amphitheater, which was originally to be built at Deep Creek Lake State Park. The money, in the amount of $750,000, was promised for several years, but costly events such as Hurricane Floyd, which caused extensive damage to the Eastern Shore, have delayed the funding. The secretary said it is still earmarked for the local project.

With the nod from the state, Hinebaugh said construction on the first phase could begin as early as next summer, with designing work initiated this year. He told the secretary that it is difficult for local planners to imagine the potential of the area.

"If we do anything wrong, we tend to not think big enough," he said.

"We want you to think big," Taylor-Rogers said. She noted that she had gone up to the site of the proposed project and was impressed with the beauty. "The view is fabulous up there," she said.

Another issue discussed at length was the black bear situation in Garrett County. The officials told the secretary that complaints about bears are increasing, and that the public is under the general assumption that the DNR is not listening.

"We've always had people coming upon bears out in the less populated areas, but now the bears are coming into established residential places and people are very concerned," Edwards said. "The DNR people come out and tell the folks to take down their bird feeders and that's about all that happens. And these incidents are at homes where they've always had bird feeders and never had problems before. People get the impression that the DNR is insensitive to their concerns."

Commissioner Ernest Gregg told Taylor-Rogers that the local view of the DNR's recent bear count, which was about 275, "is a joke." He contended that there are many more of the animals than the DNR is claiming, and that some assume the state agency is understating the number so that the management requirements do not have to be met. The secretary said the count was done with the best science that is available for determining numbers. "A lot of thought went into the count," she said. "It's the best method we have."

Commissioner Wendell Beitzel said people are already killing bears, either by shooting them or by putting out bait laced with antifreeze. He and other officials said no animal should have to suffer the painful death caused by the poison, and that other animals have fallen victim to the illegal practice. He said a limited lottery hunt would be the best answer to the problem, and several other officials agreed.

Gregg noted that some people do not want to kill bears, but many support the animals' relocation. Edwards echoed that plan and stated that he has long requested the relocation of the animals to other compatible habitats within the state. He said he has heard from reliable sources that DNR will not relocate bears into areas where people don't want them.

"DNR doesn't seem to mind if Garrett Countians don't want them," he said.

Taylor-Rogers said the problem is not being ignored by the DNR, and that she would talk with local DNR officials to discuss improvements in response methods.

"What you are saying is not falling on deaf ears," she said. The secretary said the issue is a political one, with animal rights groups having strong leverage in Annapolis.

"Many people do not have the understanding you do, having to live day to day with the bears. I can certainly look at how we're dealing with the complaints," she said.

The secretary said a bear advisory committee is going to be established soon, with members being sought this month. It is to be a 12- to 15-member group that is to look at the bear situation throughout the state. She assured the local contingent that the committee would include several Garrett County representatives, and that they should begin their work in September.

"If you don't want to shoot some bears in a lottery hunt, then move them," Edwards said. "And we ask that you give more weight to the people in Garrett County on this issue."

Edwards asked the secretary if it is still lawful to shoot a coyote. She said it is legal to do so. The number of coyote sightings is on the increase, according to the delegate. The animals apparently kill weaker animals, such as cats, dogs, fawns, and turkeys. The secretary said the DNR is currently looking at management plans for the coyote population.

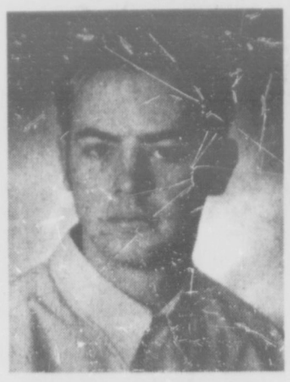
GCCF Awards Vitez Scholarships

HEATHER BUTLER

LAUREN MCINTOSH



DENNIS THORPE JR.

MARCIA WAMPLER

JULIE GREEN

Five recent Northern High School graduates have been awarded Michael Vaughn Vitez Memorial Scholarships by the Garrett Community College Foundation, according to GCCF executive director Bretta Reinhard. These scholarships are designated for county residents who have graduated from NHS with at least a "C" average and enroll as full-time students at GCC, where they must maintain a "B" semester average.

Heather Butler, daughter of Wayne Michael and Sharon Butler of Grantsville, will enter the Pre-Nursing Program at GCC. She plans to transfer into the nursing program at Allegany College of Maryland as she works toward her goal of becoming a registered nurse. Butler hopes to eventually work in a facility serving the elderly. She enjoys spending quality time with her family and friends, and helping elderly residents of the community.

Lauren McIntosh, daughter of Mike and Debbie McIntosh of Grantsville, will enter Garrett's Early Childhood Education Program. After she obtains her associate of arts degree, she will transfer to a four-year college to continue preparing for a career as an elementary school teacher. At Northern she served as her class secretary and was a member of the cheerleading squad.

Dennis Thorpe Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Thorpe of Accident, will enter GCC's General Studies Program. He was a member of the Huskies golf team for four years, the junior varsity and varsity basketball teams, the junior varsity baseball team, and the varsity tennis team. He also participated in the Northern Youth League for basketball and the Northern Dribblers. Thorpe served as the parliamentarian of the NHS Student Council, and he is a member of the Community Planning Group.

Marcia Wampler, daughter of Sue Glotfelty and Jim Wampler of Friendsville, will study Fine and Performing Arts at GCC. Her goal is to become a magazine photographer and possibly work for National Geographic magazine. In addition to photography, her interests include music, horror fiction, and fashion design. She attends her family's Falkenstein reunion each year, and said she is proud of her ancestors who built the Falkenstein Castle in Germany.

Julie Green, daughter of James and Beth Green of Grantsville, has received both the Vitez Memorial and the Friendsville Rotary Club scholarships. She intends to major in Fine and Performing Arts, and her career goal is to be involved in the making of a major motion picture. She was a member of the NHS concert and marching band, performed with the Pandora's Box theater troupe, and served as her class president in her freshman and sophomore years. Her interests are music, dancing, and learning about different cultures.

Thank You

The Gorman VFD would like to take this time to thank the Bayard VFD for their assistance last Thursday during our high water conditions at Gorman. Due to high water at/around our station, we were not able to get additional manpower or equipment from our station when we were alerted on a water rescue at the Old Mill Restaurant. Bayard VFD was alerted to help us with mutual aid in this situation. Not only did they assist us on the call, after the water subsided enough for us to get to our station, they helped us with clean-up. Again, thanks to all the members from Bayard who helped us; we won't forget your generosity.

As the day grew long, we were then faced with feeding a hungry, wet, and tired crew. The department ordered pizza from Tomanetti's and Fox's, which Tomanetti's went out of their delivery area to deliver to us, and Fox's gave us a discount on our order. Thanks to both of these businesses for their generosity. Also we would like to thank Pat and Daley Uphold for coming to our rescue with a huge pot of homemade chili and sandwiches. As night fell upon us, still wet and weary, we were sure glad to se Pat come through the door carrying a steaming hot pot of chili. Once again, thank you, Pat and Daley Uphold, for your contribution.

GCC Math And Science Center Students "Reach For The Stars"

by Joan Crawford

Eighty middle school students from throughout Maryland participated in the weeklong Center for the Integration of Mathematics and Science at Garrett Community College in June. Under the leadership of director Dr. Nancy Priselac, the center provided the students with a simulated space mission to Mars at the Challenger Learning Center in Wheeling, W.Va., and the experience of being astronauts and mission control personnel during an "Angela Island" mock catastrophic event on the GCC campus.

"The students were literally soaring in space," said Priselac. "This was one of the best groups we have trained at the center in the past eight years. We had one week to prepare the students to fly two successful missions per team, and our student teams were outstanding in their performance. Each team landed the shuttle without incident after encountering major problems in space."

Lead teachers for the center included Diana Marks and Wade Grove from Southern High School, and Jolene Scofield from Southern Middle School. GCC math instructors were Mike Nedrow and Mary Downton. Barry Stephens and Linda May-Gerard of the GCC math staff served as support instructional and technical staff. Local college students Ruby King, Missy Paugh, Connard Edlin, Amy Tressler, Angela Sessa, and Michelle McCartney served as teacher assistants.

GCC faculty member Tim Foster served as director of the residence hall, and he was assisted by Dawn Moon, Jessica Saturday, Jamie Beckman, Jared Roth, Jeremy Whitacre, and Jennifer Reckart. Peggy Logsdon and Abigail Nichols of the Garrett County Board of Education served as nurses, and Garland Kearney and Denise Friend of GCC's Information Services staff supported student learning in advanced technology areas. The instructional team and assistants trained Saturdays throughout the year with Stu Schulz of Lansing, Mich., serving as science consultant trainer for the project.

Drex Andrex, a parent volunteer from Silver Spring, coordinated Saturday's culminating program, which the students prepared for their parents. Student assistant John Cueto of Washington County prepared the multimedia program, and Calvin Turzillo of southern Maryland served as student master of ceremonies for the event, with assistance from Megan Orr, last year's class valedictorian. Student assistants Rachel Andrex and Kevin Cheng helped prepare the gymnasium for the multimedia demonstration.

All students received certificates and T-shirts denoting their participation in the 2001 GCC Center for the Integration of Mathematics. Awards recognizing outstanding achievement were presented to Uruwishi Holzhausen, class valedictorian; John Cueto, Top Programming award; Cordell Jackson and Aaron Kravitz, "questions of the day"; and Aaron Kravitz, Highest Post-Test award. Parents may view the week's activities by on the center web site at www.gcc.cc.md.us/math.

Priselac and the lead teachers are currently designing new activities for next year's Center for the Integration of Mathematics and Science, which will be offered the last week of June. The center is limited to 80 participants, according to Priselac, and interested persons are encouraged to enroll early in March. Further information is available by contacting Priselac at 301-387-3045 or by e-mail at npriselac@gcc.cc.md.us.

Echinacea May Ward Off Infection

Echinacea is an extract of the common coneflower. The herb was used by American Indians for a variety of health purposes and was used in mainstream medicine in the U.S. from the 1880s until the 1930s when sulfonamide anti-microbial agents became available. There is evidence that some flower species may stimulate the body's immune system, helping it to ward off infections or speed recovery from infections.

Fly with Faith

There are many of us who fear flying. Perhaps we know someone who has had a frightening flight. Perhaps we have a fear of an untried experience. Could it be a lifetime fear of heights or of falling?

Each of us has something we are afraid of for any number of reasons. The only cure for fear is faith. We need to have faith in God, who is the Pilot of our lives. In the great hymn, we sing..."Jesus Savior, pilot me over life's tempestuous sea..." You see, if we have trust that God has control of our lives, we can sit back and enjoy each day. The bumps along the way might jar us, but they will not destroy us, for we know the Pilot has charted the way ahead.

Worship God each week at your chosen house of worship. Let the Great Pilot chart a course for your life and you will fly through each day with faith as your companion.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHO'S CALLING

August 5, 2001

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 6
Devotional Read:
Acts 26:12-20.

How come Isaiah got a Technicolor, large-screen, wrap-around sound vision, and all many of us ever get is a still, small voice or a nagging conscience?

That's a good question, isn't it? An Isaiah-type vision is hard to ignore (although not if you really try), but it's easy to ignore the still, small voice and rationalize the nagging conscience.

I don't have—nor anyone else I know—a full, complete answer. But I suspect that one factor is that God matches the nature of his call to the person whom he is calling and the specific task as well. In the Bible we read many of the more dramatic calls which God makes—the burning bush experience of Moses (Ex. 3:2-4), Isaiah in the temple and Jacob by the River Jabbok (Gen. 32:22-30). But the Bible also tells us of the still, small voice that spoke to Elijah (1 Kings 19:12) and the tender night voice that disturbed Samuel's sleep (1 Sam. 3:9,10). There are "burning bush" people and "still, small voice" people, but it is God who matches the form to the message and the person to whom the message is addressed.

Beg Your Pardon?

I have had a few calls from God that, although they weren't on the level of burning bush, certainly were several degrees more than the still, small voice. But most of the calling that God does to me comes in the "Aha!" thought that springs to my mind, a nagging conscience and sometimes a subtle, muted voice that I eventually identify as that of my Creator. Sometimes, when someone says something to me I have to reply, "I beg your pardon." But, even before they reply, the words spoken suddenly form in my mind, like a picture coming into focus. I presume all of us have this experience. So, often I think that God's voice is like that, too: at first we do not understand what has been said, but then, suddenly we see the message in its clarity.

There is another factor, too, and that is our receptivity. If we do not spend much time in prayer and meditation, if we rarely think about God, if our minds are cluttered with all kinds of cares and concerns, if our ears are tuned only to our own voices, then we may not hear and understand what God is trying to tell us. In "The Lark," a play about Joan of Arc, the Dauphin, heir to the throne of France, wants to know why God's voice does not come to him, the heir apparent, instead of Joan, a lowly maid. Joan replies that God does come to the Dauphin, but the heir to the throne is not listening. Might that not be our problem, too. We may not be receptive because, deep down in our hearts, we know that hearing God's call usually means repentance. That's what happened to Isaiah. His first reaction to his vision was: "Woe is me! For I am lost; for I am a man of unclean lips, and

Volunteers Take Page From Genesis In Creating Wetland At Northern

Once it was just another section of lawn that had to be mowed each week, wasting manpower, using energy, and polluting the environment. The decision to convert a grassy area on the property of Northern High into a wetland changed that, for now the "created" wetland provides many of the same benefits that any naturally occurring wetland does. As a sign recently erected at the site through a grant from the Chesapeake Bay Trust reads, Wetlands are valuable natural resources that provide many benefits: enhanced wildlife habitat; improved water quality; recharged groundwater; and increased biodiversity.

"Creating a wetland takes people, time, money, and water, but it is an 'eco-friendly' alternative that should be given serious consideration by public land managers and private landowners," NHS science teacher Liz McDowell commented. "The initial idea for the wetland resulted from discussions between Northern High administrators and the Operations and Maintenance staff of the Garrett County Board of Education. Their goal was to create a wetland habitat that would reduce maintenance and provide opportunities for environmental education."

Northern High staff contacted county, state, and federal agencies for assistance in securing funds and designing the wetland. Funding was provided through the Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program (WHIP) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Natural Resources and Conservation Service, and a Ducks Unlimited cost-sharing agreement. Technical support was provided by the Garrett Soil Conservation District and the Water Management Administration of the Maryland Department of the Environment.

Initial preparation of the wetland site took place in the fall of 1999. The site, located on the south side of Pride Parkway, across from the stadium parking lot, presented the best chance of becoming a functioning wetland because of its soils and hydrology. With the soil and water in place, it was time to add the last element that would transform the site into a true wetland — the plants.

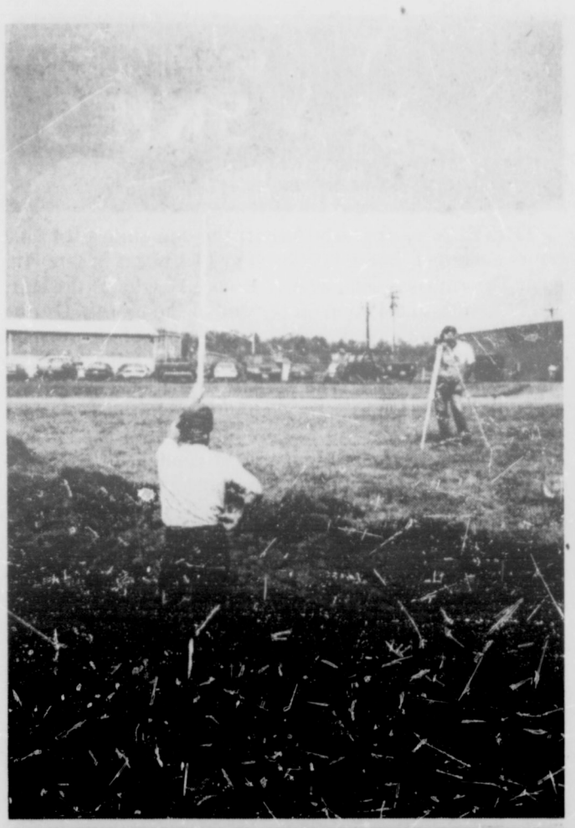
On a Saturday morning in the spring of 2000, a team of NHS student, staff, and parent volunteers, plus several state and local wetland experts, planted the .7 acre site. Twenty-five different species of native herbs and shrubs were used, including cardinal-flower, boneset, skunk-cabbage, fringed sedge, cinnamon fern, and buttonbush. A 25-foot "no-mowing" buffer was established around the perimeter of the wetland.

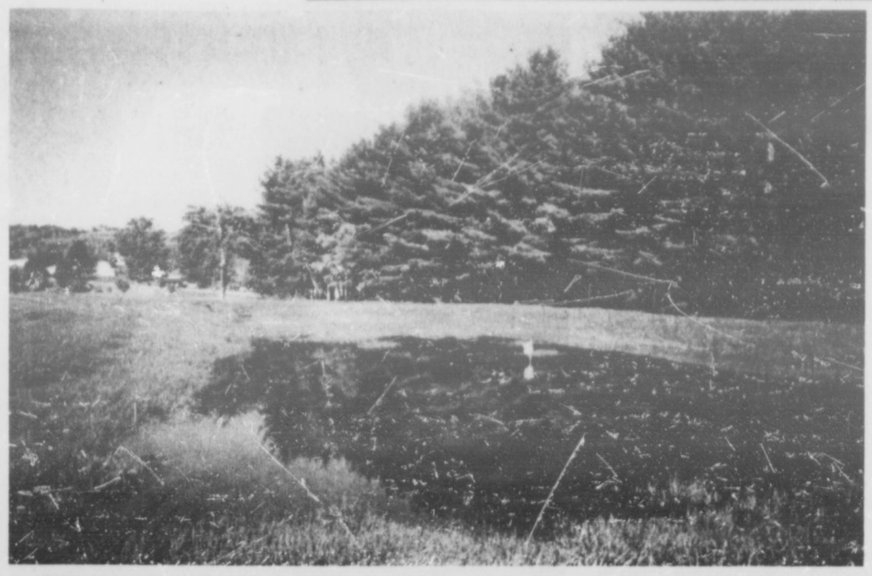
"The sole source of hydrology for the wetland is stormwater run-off from the adjacent parking lots and buildings," said McDowell. "By intercepting and detaining stormwater run-off, water quality within the Bear Creek watershed is improved."

A side benefit of the new wetland is that NHS maintenance crew has been freed from mowing the site to focus on other important projects. Northern's students are also reaping ongoing rewards from the project, according to the science teacher.

"The students are learning first-hand that wetlands are valuable natural resources. Students have removed litter and debris from the wetland and adjacent woods to maintain the natural beauty of the area. They observe American toad larvae, aquatic invertebrates and mallard ducks that inhabit the wetland; mulch the newly emerging herbs and bare shrubs, learning the identities of these native plants; and remove invasive plants to protect the wetland's biodiversity. A better appreciation for the Northern Garrett wetland will hopefully translate into less debris and litter in floodplains, fewer ATVs in streams, and decreased filling of wetlands throughout Garrett County," McDowell stated.

Future hands-on learning opportunities planned for students include designing and installing interpretive displays and an access trail; constructing benches for an outdoor classroom; assessing water quality, including impacts from winter road salts; and measuring biodiversity at the site. "In time, more and more students will get to experience this wetland, affectionately called the "Toad Pond," and learn to appreciate it," said McDowell.





THE MAKING OF A WETLAND has unfolded over the past year and a half at Northern High School, where students, staff, and parents have pitched in to turn a .7 acre unused grass lot into a viable wetland across from a student parking lot. With funding from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Ducks Unlimited, and the expertise of local specialists of the Garrett Soil Conservation District (GSCD) and the Maryland Department of the Environment, a "grass desert" now teems with life in all its diversity in its tranquil setting shown above. Pictured directly to the left are GSCD employees Gary Morfoot, foreground, and Butch Miller, as they check elevations during the initial site preparation in fall 1999. As water collected in the depression, wetland specialists, including Matt Radcliffe, below, of the Maryland Department of the Environment advised the Northern volunteers on the best placements of various wetland plants.

A WETLAND ISN'T JUST WATER, and the big day that turned the Northern site from a wet hole in the ground into a wetland came in the spring of 2000, as a team of volunteers of all ages planted 25 species of native herbs and shrubs. NHS biology students Valery Miller, Jamie Miller, and Christina Donnelly are shown in the above left photo transplanting a jewelweed plant donated by a local gardener. Since the planting day, Northern High students have helped maintain the wetland by removing litter, as biology student Ben Winter is shown doing at the right. Earth science student Dustin Wiland is pictured below wading into the wetland to remove weeds and place an identification tag on a skunk cabbage plant. "Toad Pond," as it is affectionately known by Northern students and staff, provides an outdoor classroom setting for hands-on science studies and experiments, and a welcome respite from crowded hallways and ringing class bells just a few weeks away.

Western Maryland ATV Tours

JIM RAYNER OF WESTERN MARYLAND ATV TOURS

Still in just its first season of operation, Western Maryland ATV Tours has already introduced over 100 adventurous all terrain vehicle riders, from the absolute beginner to the slightly more advanced rider, to the backwoods trails of scenic western Maryland. Business founder and owner Jim Rayner offers the region's first ATV tour service through a partnership with the Nature Tourism Program of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. Rayner has rides scheduled on an almost daily basis from Memorial Day weekend through the end of October.

"We offer guided, controlled speed tours on our own ATVs, utilizing existing trails on public lands in Garrett and Allegany counties," Rayner commented recently. "The pace is slow, but the experience is exciting and unique. Our clients make a reservation by calling our toll-free number and are given directions to meet me at the trailheads for each tour."

Western Maryland ATV Tours offers guided one- to three-hour outings on easy-to-operate automatic transmission ATVs. Experienced guides provide all the training needed, with a special emphasis on safety on all kinds of terrain, and no prior ATV riding experience is necessary. Riders must be 16 or older (as required by the company's insurance policy), and participants must sign a waiver. Helmets, goggles, and pre-trip instructions are included.

"Since our season got under way, we've been working to change people's expectations of ATVs and their use," Rayner said. "We stress safety and trail rules, so folks learn the right way to ride these machines from the outset. They come to a healthy understanding of an ATV's power and capabilities, and realize that when people get hurt it's usually because they were doing something they shouldn't have been doing."

In addition to instilling safe riding techniques, Rayner endeavors to create a healthy respect for the woodland terrain his tours traverse. "We take people to beautiful mountains, valleys, and streams in a way they've never experienced before. This activity offers some fantastic photo opportunities. So far, all participants have taken a camera along, and most have used up a lot of film and disk space," said Rayner.

"I'm very optimistic about the future. I've gotten a lot of support from the Department of Natural Resources and the Nature Tourism Program. The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce has also been a tremendous help. The ATV industry has seen an incredible amount of growth in recent years. And with all the resources we have here in western Maryland, this a great way to showcase them," Rayner remarked.

Persons interested in further information on Western Maryland ATV Tours, or in making a trail ride reservation, may contact Rayner's office by phone at 1-800-967-7738 or via e-mail at info@wmdatvtours.com. The business's web address is www.wmdatvtours.com.

Garrett County SKIES

Frostburg State Planetarium

THE SUN — In early August the sun shines for 14.2 hours each day, which falls back to 13.1 hours in late August. The sunrises will advance from 6:17 a.m. at the start of the month to 6:45 a.m. at the end of the month. During August, the sun's peak height drops from 68 degrees on Aug. 1 to 59 degrees on Aug. 31. Sunsets fall back from 8:30 p.m. to 7:50 p.m. The earliest time to see the planet Mars and the brighter stars is about 40 minutes after sunset. August is often the hottest month even though our part of the world receives the most sunlight in late June — for the Earth is a huge storehouse of heat energy, which lags about 6-8 weeks behind in its response to solar energy. This lag is also why February tends to be our coldest month even though our least solar energy is in late December.

THE MOON — The moon grows to full the evening of Aug. 3 and hangs in the sky all night long. A week into August, the moon has fled the early evening sky and has started to noticeably shrink in lighted width. On Aug. 12 the moon appears half full in the southern dawn sky. Starting on Aug. 14 the moon begins a series of encounters with the morning planets; on the 14th, the moon will be near Saturn, near Jupiter on the 15th, and near Venus on the 16th. The moon then drops out of sight for a few days, lost in the sun's glare. The moon returns to the western dusk Aug. 21 as a slender crescent. The moon reaches half full phase Aug. 25, and the next night, appears above the planet Mars in the southwestern evening sky.

THE BRIGHT PLANETS — Our five most nearest planetary neighbors appear as points of light that shine more steadily than the twinkling night stars. But if a planet appears very close to the horizon or if it's windy, even the planet's light may flicker. In August, the planet Mars is the sole evening planet, shining low in the southwest above the stinger of the Scorpion. The brilliant planet Venus dominates August dawns. On Aug. 5 and 6 the bright planet Jupiter will appear only about a degree (two moon widths) from Venus. Then the two planets will slowly separate, with Venus dropping a little each week while Jupiter appears higher. Above and to the right of Venus and Jupiter is the duller planet Saturn. The planet Mercury will be difficult to see in August, having passed in back of the sun early in the month.

AUGUST'S BEST SIGHTS — The most charming sight in August has to be the Big Dipper, appearing to scoop up dew in the northwest. Follow the Dipper's handle leftward to see the bright golden star Arcturus. Nearly overhead on August evenings is the bright white-blue star Vega. In mid-August the Milky Way can be seen stretching across the sky, running from the northeastern horizon to the left of Vega and down into the southwest toward the planet Mars. Late evening sky watchers may catch some of the Perseid meteor shower Aug. 11 and 12. The Perseids occur at the same time each year as the Earth plows across comet's orbit.

AUGUST ASTRONOMY ACTIVITIES — The Cumberland Astronomy Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 17, at the LaVale Public Library. All interested sky gazers from the tri-state area are welcome.

Dr. Bob Doyle directs the planetarium at Frostburg State University. Since the mid '70s, Doyle has been writing sky columns for beginners who would like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards. To ask a sky question, call the FSU Planetarium at 301-687-4270 and press 4. Doyle hosts "Skywatch," a brief program on days of the week and sky sights that airs on weekday evenings just before 9 p.m. on WFW Frostburg State's radio station transmits at 91.9 FM in western Garrett County and at 96.3 FM in the Oakland area. Doyle's e-mail address is rdoyle@frostburg.edu.

COUNTRY KIDS
by Amanda Bowers

The monthly meeting of the Country Kids 4-H Club followed the farm tours on July 21. Erick DeWitt led the pledges. Bret DeWitt reported on the sandcastles trip, and Sarah Pysell gave a report on the club's annual camping trip. Members were reminded of the sewing class, which took place Monday afternoon at the Extension office.

The Garrett County Fair cleanup will get under way at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 8. This year's Garrett County Fair is set for Aug. 12 - 18. The Cow Patty Bingo will be held Friday, Aug. 17, in the Show Ring. The Country Kids 4-H Club has slated a picnic for 4 p.m. that day in the camper area by the sheep barn. Participants are asked to bring a covered dish.

Members should take note that the awards ceremony is set for 3 p.m. at the stage area, rather than 4 p.m. Every 4-H member is asked to consider volunteering for an hour at the corn roasting booth. Those interested may call the Extension office at 301-334-6960 for further information or to sign up for the booth.

TV PIPELINE

Kirsten Storms was never on Fifteen

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Kirsten Storms

Q: Is the actress who plays Belle on Days of Our Lives the same girl who played Ashley Frasier on the old Nickelodeon series Fifteen? –Olivia Sterner, Frackville, Pa.

A: No, Kirsten Storms, who has played Belle since 1999, was never on Fifteen. She has starred in the TV movies Johnny Tsunami, Zenon: Girl of the 21st Century and Zenon: The Zequel. Ashley was played by Laura Harris.

Q: In the "Joe the Bartender" sketches from The Jackie Gleason Show, what was the name of the song he would always sing as the sketch was closing? –Barb Collins, Columbus, Ohio.

A: "My Gal Sal" by Paul Dresser.

Q: Thanks for identifying Dame Judi Dench's late husband, Michael Williams, by name, but I cannot place him. Did he ever do anything we might remember over here? –E.P. Free, San Leandro, Calif.

A: Williams, who died of lung cancer in January, was not especially well-known in this country, but you can catch him on video as Father Daley in NBC's fantasy movie The Magical Legend of the Leprechauns and as the British consul in Tea With Mussolini, in which Dench had a starring role.

If you want to see the couple starring together, I recommend the wistful 1981 romantic comedy series A Fine Romance. Nineteen episodes of this low-key charmer are available online via Amazon.com or from Critics Choice Video at ccvideo.com.

Q: I caught a rerun of The Facts of Life and wondered if the actress who played Pippa McKenna during the last season is country singer Sherrie Austin. –Deana Rees, Dawson, Ill.

A: Good catch, Deana! In 1987-88, when the Aussie-born singer played Pippa, she did so under her real name, Sherrie Krenn.

Q: Whatever happened to Terence Knox from Tour of Duty? I thought he was a very good actor. –E.G. Paul, Green Bay, Wis.

A: Knox, now 54, has continued to work steadily in TV, films and the new acting field of video games. Since his Tour ended back in 1990, the actor has starred in two TV series, The Road Home and Under One Roof, as well as such high-profile TV movies as The Invaders and A Mother's Right: The Elizabeth Morgan Story. On July 1, he did a hilarious cameo as an aging porn star in the critically acclaimed HBO series Six Feet Under.

Q: Why did they take off The Job? –Suzanne Van Sickle, Port St. Lucie, Fla.

A: What you saw last spring was a trial run for the Denis Leary show, which returns to ABC this fall.

GCC Foundation Notes Community Support For College Scholarships

The Garrett Community College Foundation held its annual meeting recently. The 501C-3 non-profit organization noted the donations received over the past year, which the Foundation used to award $70,000 in competitive merit and need scholarships to 86 individuals pursuing higher education at GCC for the 2001-02 academic year.

"The Garrett Community College Foundation received a number of generous donations during the past year," according to GCCF advancement officer Bretta Reinhard, noting that the Foundation received significant financial support for the Innovative Partnerships in Technology Program. The college has established a technology endowment fund, with all contributions earmarked for the program.

"The Carl DelSignore Foundation has been a strong supporter of this important program," Reinhard said. "In addition, First United Bank and Trust, M&T Bank, Mettiki Coal, and Farmers and Merchants Bank and Trust donated to the Innovative Partnerships in Technology Program." All donations were matched by the state of Maryland.

"The Garrett Community College Foundation is very grateful for this important financial support for technology," remarked GCCF president Ann M. Smith.

The Carl DelSignore Foundation also made an unrestricted donation to the foundation that can be utilized for any purpose, as voted by the GCCF board of directors.

The Dorothy Brock Leighton Scholarship was endowed during the year by Dr. Herbert H. Leighton and his children, as well as by Barbara and Eugene Flinn. Those donations were matched by the state of Maryland under the Private Donation Incentive Program.

GCCF OFFICERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING — The Garrett Community College Foundation held its annual meeting recently. The agenda included recognition of the support of individuals, businesses, and organizations for persons pursuing higher education at GCC. The foundation awarded competitive merit and need scholarships totaling $70,000 to 86 students for the coming academic year. Several of the GCCF's officers and supporters on hand for the meeting are shown above. In the front row, from the left, are GCCF board member Donna Sites, scholarship committee chairperson Virginia Clutter, president Ann Smith, and board member Annette Chapman. In the back row are college dean of administration Michael Kilgus, GCCF treasurer and finance committee chairperson Philip Rodeheaver, board members Walter Schoenian and Charles "Bus" Bender (who is appointed by the GCC board of trustees), and college president Dr. Stephen Herman. Not shown are GCCF vice president William Weisegerber Jr., secretary Phyllis Vitez, First United Bank and Trust representative Carissa Rodeheaver, board members Colleen Nordeck and Dr. William Yant, outgoing treasurer and finance committee chairperson Jeffrey McCauley and outgoing board member James Cornelius. "We sincerely appreciate the service of these community members on our board of directors, each of whom serve in a volunteer capacity," said Smith. "I want to commend every member of the GCCF board of directors and thank everyone for the time and effort devoted to this organization. GCC is an important component of our community. Their support of higher education is exceptional."

Goad Honored By Achievement Acad.

The U.S. Achievement Academy recently announced that Andrew Goad, Oakland, has been named a national award winner in the category of mathematics. The Southern Middle School student was nominated for the honor by his math teacher, Donna Durst.

Award winners are selected upon the recommendation of a teacher, coach, or other school official, and on a variety of criteria, including academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, motivation to learn, citizenship, and attitude. Andrew's biography will appear in the academy's yearbook.

Andrew is the son of Pam Goad, Oakland, and Richard Goad, Washington, D.C.

Significant scholarship support was donated by Daniel Edward Offutt III, a native of Garrett County who now resides in Connecticut. Offutt was the lead contributor of annual scholarships for students at GCC for the 2001-2002 academic year.

Additional support was received from the estate of Amy Mildred Sharpless, who had bequeathed funds to support GCC scholarships. The estate of Louise Stanton bequeathed funds for the endowed scholarship which memorializes her husband, Aza Stanton, who was an artist noted across the tri-state area.

Ann Dilgard made a significant charitable contribution to the principal of the endowed scholarship she had established a number of years ago.

Bill and Sharon Roszell initiated an annual scholarship in memory of their late son, Jeffrey Kirk Roszell.

First United Bank and Trust managed the primary trust account of the GCCF over the past year, and Rodeheaver and Associates will audit the foundation for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

Persons interested in further information on the GCC Foundation, or in making a donation toward an existing scholarship or in funding a new one, may contact Reinhard at 301-387-3100.

Janet Tichnell Retires After 30-Plus Years

Janet E. Tichnell, Gorman Road, a claims specialist at the Garrett County Unemployment Office for the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation, recently announced her retirement after over 31 years of employment. She was honored with a reception given by her co-workers, at which she received several awards.

Tichnell started with the agency in April of 1970 as an office assistant in job service and unemployment. "That was at a time when people came to the unemployment office every week to pick up their checks and complete their information for their next check," she said. "Now no one comes to the office because everything is done by telephone."

Tichnell said that she has seen many programs "come and go" with the state, and she worked under four office managers: Charles "Chick" Briner, Mary Browning, Gladys Anderson, and Heidi Kern.

She said that the departments also went through a number of name changes during her tenure, including: Department of Social Security Administration, Employment Security; Department of Employment and Training; Department of Economic Employment Development; and Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation.

"I have also seen many local businesses come and go," she said, "and I've met many different types of people, which has been very rewarding. The country is moving at such a fast pace, it makes a person wonder what our children and grandchildren will be doing in years to come."

Among the recognition awards she has received since announcing her retirement are a plaque of appreciation from her co-workers; a certificate of retirement from John P. O'Conner, Maryland secretary of labor, licensing, and regulation; and a governor's citation from Governor Parris Glendening. The governor's citation stated in part: "In recognition of your years of outstanding service as a valued and respected state employee... in honor of the dedication, expertise, and professionalism you have demonstrated throughout your distinguished career with the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation; and as an expression of our admiration, gratitude, and sincere best wishes on the occasion of your retirement."

Tichnell resides on a beef farm near Gorman with her husband Larry, and they are the parents of three children: Michael and Randall, both of the Oakland area; and Julie Heideman, Nezperce, Idaho. They also have five grandchildren.

As for her retirement plans, Tichnell said she is "enjoying spending more time with my grandchildren, doing my gardening, sewing, and working with various volunteer groups such as the softball, bowling, and 4-H programs, as well as my church."

Correction Noted

Last week's coverage of a Sunday, July 22, motor vehicle accident along Interstate 68 at the Chestnut Ridge Road entrance ramp incorrectly reported the circumstances of the rear-end collision of the two westbound vehicles involved.

The information supplied by the Maryland State Police, McHenry barrack, correctly stated that the lead vehicle, a 1997 Chevrolet Cavalier operated by Linda Upole of Grantsville, was struck from behind by a 1997 Chevrolet Blazer operated by Eric Sowers of Frostburg. The news report inadvertently transposed the vehicle positions, and that error is regretted.

HiWay Assembly Sets Homecoming

The HiWay Assembly of God has set its annual homecoming for Sunday, Aug. 5, beginning with a noon dinner. A special service slated for 1:30 p.m. will feature gospel and patriotic singers/songwriters Dave and Kay Nove. The homecoming is open to the public.

The church is located north of Kitzmiller along Kitzmiller Road. For information persons may call Rev. G.K. Hixon at 301-387-9417.

Homeowners Are Reminded Of Tax Credit Program

The Maryland Department of Assessments and Taxation has issued a reminder to homeowners that application forms are available for the Homeowners' Property Tax Credit Program, which grants a property tax credit on a landowner's principal residence based upon a comparison of the homeowner's family income and the actual property tax bill. The program, which is sometimes called "circuit breaker," is available to homeowners of all ages and not just for the elderly or the disabled.

Last year, a total of 62,000 homeowners in all areas of the state received credits totaling $47 million. The average amount of credit received by recipients toward payment of their property tax bills was $761. In Garrett County, 635 homeowners received an average credit of $429.71.

For those who are unfamiliar with the program, it grants a credit toward property taxes whenever those taxes exceed a fixed percentage of one's income. Simply stated, it sets a limit on the amount of real property taxes that a homeowner must pay based upon a sliding scale formula in comparison to a person's gross family income. If a person is paying more in property taxes than the limit established in the law for his or her income level, then that person is entitled to apply for a credit based upon the amount of eligible taxes above the limit.

For further information or to have an application form mailed, persons may call the Tax Credits office toll free at 1-800-944-7403. The application form contains a chart showing the specific "tax limit" for each income level so that a homeowner can determine whether it would be worthwhile to apply.

The sewing machine is an 18th-century idea that ranks as one of the major inventions in history. There were many men whose companies made sewing machines in the 1850s, including Elias Howe, Isaac Singer and Allen Wilson. Collectors want any unusual sewing machines made in past years.

Shaw & Clark was a company working in Biddeford, Maine, in the 1860s. The firm made seven different styles of machines. Before the company moved to Chicopee Falls, Mass., in 1867, it had manufactured about 30,000 hand-operated machines. The earlier machines seem to have the lowest model numbers. The company either changed its name or went out of business. Any machine by Shaw & Clark in good condition will sell for thousands of dollars.

Q. More than 50 years ago, I found a dark-amber-colored glass flask under the floorboards of a tack room that was once part of a Wells Fargo Stage Co. hotel in a California ghost town. The bottle appears to be hand-blown, and it has horizontal ribs. The embossed label on the front includes a bear walking on all fours surrounded by the words "California Fire Extinguisher." I wonder if the bottle is of value.

A. You found a glass fire grenade that dates from the last half of the 19th century. Glass fire grenades were invented in the 1860s. They were hand-sized fire extinguishers designed to shatter when thrown at a fire. When the salt solution that was inside spilled onto the flames, it generated a cloud of gas that doused the fire. Fire grenades were meant to break when they were thrown, so there is not an abundant supply today. Your California Fire Extinguisher is a famous one. It is worth more than $750.

Including Pets in Special Events

Q. I'm getting married in early October. My fiance and I would like to include our two Yorkies, Jack and Mia, in the ceremony. Do wedding rules or etiquette prevent this? My mother says so.

A. As long as the wedding facility allows pets, and your dogs are sufficiently trained and socialized, I don't see why you can't include them.

Many couples include their beloved pets as part of this special day. Often, they sit next to their owners as the vows are said. And I've seen quite a few wedding photographs in which dogs or cats were featured. Some owners even dress their pets in miniature gowns or tuxes!

If you'd like to make your Yorkies part of the ceremony, immediately call the preacher and the owners of the wedding location (and reception area, if needed), and tell them of your plans. Most churches, and many wedding chapels, don't allow pets inside. The preacher may also be nervous about including pets, so you will need to reassure him. Arrange to have him meet your dogs well before the ceremony.

Keep in mind that Yorkies can be very excitable, especially when lots of company is around. Spend these last months reinforcing their basic behavior skills, like walking, sitting and staying. Assign a helper — an older boy or girl, perhaps — to be responsible for the dogs; they will need a bathroom break right before the ceremony, and they will need lots of attention during the very exciting reception, when you and your new husband will be busy greeting guests. And keep them leashed at all times.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• In early times, it was not unheard of for many, especially Romans and Jews, to engage in handfasting, a sort of trial marriage. Sir Walter Scott described it in one of his novels: "We bordermen ... take our wives for a year and a day; that space gone by, each may choose another mate, or, at their pleasure, [they] may call a priest to marry them for life."

• Another interesting development in romantic relationships was "bundling." In this practice, intended newlyweds would share a bed before the wedding took place. Each one would be swaddled in blankets, and, often, the blankets would be stitched shut to form a "bundling bag." To further safeguard the couple, a board would sometimes be placed between the two.

• The first singing telegram was delivered in 1933.

• In old New England, an accepted method of getting rid of rats was writing out an eviction notice and placing it into a wall. One such note read, "Messrs. Rats & Co., ... I wish to inform you that you will be disturbed during the winter months as I expect to work through all parts of the house, shall take down ceilings, take up floors, and clean out every substance that would make you comfortable ... I shall remove every eatable substance, so you had better take up your abode elsewhere." Then the writer suggested that the rats move to a neighbor's farm.

• A rhino's nasal cavities occupy more space than its brain.

• The French writer Francois Rabelais left this as his last will and testament: "I have nothing. I owe much. The rest I leave to the poor."

Cancer Society, MLP Church Set Support Program

The first local "Reach to Recovery" program, a one-to-one volunteer support group that links women facing or living with breast cancer with other survivors of the disease, is being formed by the Oak Park Church of the Brethren and the American Cancer Society. Breast cancer survivors of at least one year are sought to participate in volunteer training provided by the Cancer Society in order to provide support to other survivors.

"Reach to Recovery is designed to help a breast cancer patient meet the emotional, physical, and cosmetic needs related to her diagnosis and treatment," a spokesperson said. "The program enables one woman to reach out to another to share experiences and give support in a time of need. It also provides information and support for the loved ones of breast cancer patients."

The local Reach to Recovery program will be hosted by the Oak Park Church of the Brethren; until now, women with breast cancer in Garrett County have had to rely on resources in Allegany County. The local program will begin offering support to Garrett County breast cancer survivors as soon as two volunteers are chosen and have completed their training.

Persons interested in participating or volunteering may call Bonita Jackson of the ACS at 1-800-287-2317, ext. 17, or Mary Loum Buckley at 301-334-2656.

NEW SHERIFF'S DEPUTIES SWORN IN — Garrett County circuit court clerk Dave Martin is shown swearing in new sheriff's deputies Butch Zimmerman, center, and Erik Geroski. A recent graduate of the Hagerstown Police Academy, Geroski earned the Top Gun Award for the highest pistol marksmanship scores of his class. He resides near Oakland with his wife Elaine and their daughters Vivian and Kristen. Garrett Habitat For Humanity Seeks Families

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity (HFH) is seeking families interested in owning their own home. Families in need of Habitat housing may be dealing with various issues such as an existing house or mobile home that is beyond repair, inadequate living space, and more than two children sharing a bedroom, according to a spokesperson.

"Habitat can help the dream of home ownership become a reality for families in Garrett County," said Cosette Harman, chairperson of the local HFH chapter's Family Selection Committee. "When a family is not able to qualify for financing from a traditional lending institution, Habitat can help by offering affordable, no-interest loans."

HFH is not a "handout" but rather a "hand-up," according to Harman, who emphasized that the organization does not provide free housing, a common misperception about the program. "Families must work for their house like anyone else, and applicants must earn a steady income ranging between $1,000 and $1,500 monthly, and meet established guidelines," she stated.

In order to qualify for HFH housing, applicants must meet the following guidelines:

- live or work in Garrett County;
- currently live in substandard housing conditions;
- be able to pay a mortgage payment, taxes, insurance, and all utilities, without going over one-third of the monthly take-home income; and
- be willing to complete "sweat equity" hours on completion of the home and other various HFH projects.

"Garrett County Habitat for Humanity has a lot to offer families if they meet the qualifications," Harman remarked. "It is a wonderful opportunity for families to help themselves purchase and build a comfortable home while helping others do the same. It is a chance for families to meet new friends, learn new skills, and help improve the community in which they live through their efforts to help other Habitat families; in addition, emotional and family support is provided from Habitat and the church community."

Persons interested in further information on HFH services, or in referring a family that may be eligible for the program, may contact Garrett County Habitat for Humanity at 301-334-9431, ext. 113, to obtain an application or to begin the selection process.

ECUMENICAL VBS DONATES TO SANTA — Four churches joined forces again this summer for the annual ecumenical vacation Bible school in Oakland, held at St. Paul's United Methodist Church. More than 75 children, mostly from St. Paul's, St. Mark's Lutheran, St. Peter's Catholic, and St. Matthew's Episcopal churches, attended the weeklong event. They were told about Lou Stouffer, a special man from Terra Alta, W.Va., who works all year, along with his wife Lola, to collect toys and clothing. Then during the Christmas season, he delivers the goods to hundreds of families in need. The children of the VBS participated in a "gently used" toy drive for Lou, and presented him with the bags of goods on the last day of the VBS. The money collected during the week was also designated for Lou to help him with his annual endeavor. Representatives from each class are pictured above with Lou, who is in the back. In the front row, left to right, are Ryan Wilburn, Tess Watson, and Leslie Green. In the second row, same order, are Amberly Lewis, Bobbie Watson, Ellie Lauver, Brittney Scheffel, Mike McConnell, and Aaron Garner.

MARBLES TOURNEY WINNERS NAMED

Winners of the Preston County Marbles Tournament participated in a state contest held July 8-10 at Tamarack, near Beckley. They were: Robin Martin, Sophia Fajardo, and Kristin Plum, wining first to third, respectively, and Kevin Eisentrout, Chris Taylor, and John Spiker, again placing in order.

On Monday, July 8, marble play began at 8 a.m. and continued through the day, with a short lunch break. Both boys and girls played two rounds on Monday and Tuesday, and thus the field of 24 girls and 21 boys was eliminated to eight of each, who would play in the semi-final rounds. There, each girl or boy played all of the others in four games.

Results culminated with a three-way tie for first place among the girls: Robin Martin, Morgan Oiler, and Alisa Fleming each had 18 wins and 10 losses. After playing each other, Alisa placed first, Morgan was runner-up, and Robin placed third. Kevin Eisentrout also placed at third in the boys' tournament.

NAMED "SAWMILL OF THE YEAR" — The Horse Shoe Run sawmill of the Coastal Lumber Company has been recognized as the 2001 Outstanding Large Sawmill of the Year by the West Virginia Forestry Association. The annual award recognizes outstanding sawmill safety practices, environmental awareness, production, and management skills. One of 10 Coastal Lumber facilities in the state, the Preston County sawmill produces approximately 7 million board feet of lumber per year, along with the byproducts of woodchips, which are sold for making paper, bark for mulch, and sawdust for charcoal. The sawmill's employees pictured in the front row, from the left, are Chris Conrad, forester Steve Hinton, office manager Sandy Myers, Jeff Myers, mill manager Larry Roth, Deryle Nelson, Joey Slaubaugh, Gary Shaffer, and Travis Strawser. In the back row are Jason Michael, Carl Ratliff, John DelSignore, Kevin Shahan, Donald Calcamp, Bob Wotring, Allen Mullenax, Gary Judy, Ted Evans, and assistant manager Steve Evans. Not available for the photo were Vernon Harsh, Hoy Eye, and Diane Evans.

Reckart's Mill Day Slated In Cranesville

The fourth annual Reckart's Mill Day will take place on Sept. 1 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the mill in Cranesville. Guests will be invited to tour the 1865 mill during the event, which will also feature music by J.C. and the Boys, homemade desserts, crafts, door prizes, a 50-50 drawing, and a silent auction.

The Friends of Reckart's Mill is sponsoring the event. The purpose of the organization is to preserve, restore, and educate the public about the history of Reckart's Mill, which had a significant economic and social impact on the community. All donated funds will go to FORM (Friends of Reckart's Mill Foundation) for restoration projects.

Funds raised in previous Reckart's Mill Day events have allowed FORM to refurbish the waterwheel and replace the metal on the east exterior wall adjacent to the waterwheel with board and batten, as originally built. The members have also replaced the roof and repaired the foundation.

Henry Albright built the mill in 1865. The three-story post-and-beam mill spans the creek. Powered by a 20-foot Fritz waterwheel, power is transferred to an elaborate belt and pulley system which runs the mill. Four sets of French millstones are housed in the mill, and most of the mill equipment is the original.

For more information, persons may call Terrie Hardesty at 304-789-2225 or 1-888-478-2324.

SYETP Youth Hard At Work Across County

The annual Summer Youth Employment and Training Program (SYETP) has been providing supervised work experiences for 66 participants at 27 sites throughout the summer. The SYETP began on June 25 and concludes on August 10.

The SYETP was developed by the Western Maryland Consortium with Work Force Investment Act funds. Additional funds from the Garrett County Department of Social Services has provided employment for 25 percent of the participants. The program is directed by Garrett County supervisor M. Sue Shockey of the Western Maryland Consortium, along with program coordinator Elmer Redinger, assistant coordinator Robin Shaffer, and field advisor Ali Evans.

Thirty-nine of the enrollees are taking part in the regular work experience component of the program, which places participants at one location for the summer, and the 27 others were assigned to three work crews that have been completing projects at sites around the county.

The three work crews have undertaken projects at the following 13 different job sites around the county: the Western Maryland 4-H Center, New Germany and Herrington Manor state parks, Spruce Forest, Hickory, Northern Middle and High schools, Southern High, the Garrett County Fairgrounds, Broadford Park, the town of Loch Lynn, Potomac State Forest, and the Garrett County Community Action Committee building. Providing supervision has been Dave Yoder, Northern Roving Crew; Mark Rodeheaver, Southern Roving Crew; and Ryan Wolf, Deep Creek Lake State Park Crew.

Fifteen enrollees are participating in the Maryland Forward Program, which places them with private sector employees. After completing the program, these participants are eligible for continued or future employment. This segment of the SYETP is directed by Harry Biggs.

The SYETP has received support from several local businesses. U.S. Cellular sales manager Rod Barker arranged for the donation of six cell phones, which were distributed to each crew chief, the program coordinator, and the field advisor. The cell phones are being used extensively for emergency situations, coordination efforts, and general contact from the field.

Smiley's Fun Zone manager Joe Refosco donated pizzas. This year, for the first time, the program will be able to include all work participants from every site in the county in an incentive pizza picnic.

"The Summer Youth Employment and Training Program provides a summer work experience with a financial reward," Redinger said. "Enrollees are required to attend classes to improve their math and reading skills, or classes to enhance their work readiness. Hopefully, the program will help our young people gain valuable experience that will enable them to take their place as a productive citizen in our community."

SYETP SPRUCES UP — The annual Summer Youth Employment and Training Program (SYETP) has been in full swing since late June, and a number of sites around the county have benefited from the hard work of SYETP participants. Just one example is shown here, as part the Southern Roving Crew, directed of Mark Rodeheaver, puts new coats of paint on the picnic tables at Broadford Park. Crew member Marie Workman, left, wields her brush with a flourish, along with Jasmine Park, Sonia Guthrie, and Margaret White. Sixty-six youth have been participating in the program, and a number of those young people could be offered jobs beyond the summer by their SYETP participating employers.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Maryland Joins Rally For Reg. Dairy Compacts

Maryland Dairy Industry Association (MDIA) representatives were on Capitol Hill in mid-July for a rally supporting regional dairy compact legislation. The July 19th event held in the U.S. Capitol was organized to promote a comprehensive legislative strategy for Congressional passage of a bill authorizing interstate dairy compacts. Currently, only the six New England states of Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine are permitted by law to operate an interstate dairy compact. If Congress approves, Maryland would join Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, and New York to expand the Northeast region.

Regional dairy compacts would permit producers, processors, handlers, and consumer representatives to meet jointly to establish acceptable producer prices for milk and dairy products that would maintain a viable dairy farm industry. Proponents of the legislation argue that such a joint compact arrangement would result in fewer "peaks and valleys" in retail milk prices, and a fairer price to dairy producers.

"Obtaining additional co-sponsors for the compact bills in the House and Senate will be crucial in the weeks ahead," said Bob Gray, executive director of the States Ratification Committee, the rally's sponsor. Gray spoke before an audience that included MDIA, National Milk Producers Federation, the National Grange, and other producer organizations. Two supportive Members of Congress — Sen. Arlen Specter (R-Pa.) and Rep. Don Sherwood (R-Pa.) — also attended and provided remarks.

Sen. Specter said compacts are necessary for alleviating the financial hurdles that dairy producers face from market price fluctuations. "In 1998, Class III prices were pretty good," he added. "That was followed by a drought period in 1999 and early 2000. Now market prices seem to be on the upswing again."

Specter said compacts — rather than controlling markets — only become effective when milk prices fall below a specified level, thereby stabilizing production costs. Specter, currently serving his fourth term, co-sponsors the Senate's dairy compact bill (S-1157) with Sen. Mary Landrieu (D-La.).

Rep. Sherwood, whose district includes dairy producers in northeastern Pennsylvania, said compact supporters in the House must resist stiff opposition from the Midwest. "Right now, I believe we will need some firm commitments from the House leadership in order to get the Dairy Compact Bill (HR-1827) up for a vote," said the second-term Congressman. "Teamwork is the key. Getting support from at least a few members in each state will show the broad range of support that compacts have across the nation."

Responding to a question from MDIA about the departure of House compact sponsor Asa Hutchinson (R-Ark.), who is slated to head the Drug Enforcement Administration, Sherwood said that he is among four or five other House members who will probably share sponsorship roles.

In closing remarks, Gray urged producers to impress upon their representatives the economic benefits that dairy compacts provide for sustaining family farms and local communities. He also cited recent studies showing that the compact program in the Northeast — in effect since 1998 — continues to operate at no net cost to the federal treasury.

"MDIA's presence at this event was important for showing our continued support for dairy compacts," said MDIA executive director Paul Weller. "Dairy producers in the Mid-Atlantic and throughout the nation know all too well that relying on one or two regions for dairy production only increases milk prices for consumers. Compacts are good business policy, not only for stabilizing production costs, but also for creating additional incentives to keep family farms up and running."

For more information about this event, or upcoming MDIA activities, persons may contact Paul Weller or Jonathan Moore with MDIA's Executive Office in Washington, D.C., at 202-293-0476.

Local Students Awarded Degrees By Bowie State

Two area residents recently participated in Bowie State University's Western Maryland Center commencement exercises in Garrett County.

Zanea Mullenax, Swanton, and Reba Denise Gerard, Oakland, were each awarded a bachelor of science degree in technology, with a concentration in business.

A welcome, opening remarks, and the awarding of degrees were by Diane Maloney-Krichmar, assistant dean of graduate studies and continuing education, Bowie State University. Candidates were presented by Bobbi H. Dubins, BSU Western Maryland Center coordinator.

The graduates are the first of Bowie State University's Western Maryland Center in Garrett County, which offers a bachelor of science degree through evening study.

Reflective of the partnership between BSU and Garrett Community College, BSU's commencement was held in conjunction with GCC's spring 2001 commencement exercises on May 19 at the GCC campus.

The new program is made possible through a partnership between BSU, GCC, and the Maryland National Guard. A primary goal of the program is to develop students into professionals who are knowledgeable in the theories, principals, and practices of administration, and who can apply their skills in a variety of organizational settings.

For more information about the Bowie State University program offered in western Maryland, persons may contact Bobbi Dubins, coordinator, at 301-784-2008. The program is also offered in Allegany County.

FIRST TWO GRADUATES OF NEW PROGRAM — Two local students received college diplomas from Bowie State University's Western Maryland Center in commencement exercises, held in conjunction with Garrett Community College's spring graduation ceremony. Reba Denise Gerard (left), Oakland, and Zanea Mullenax, Swanton, are the first two students to earn degrees through a new evening-study bachelor's program. Each were awarded a bachelor of science degree in technology, with a concentration in business. See story.

Beitzel Named To Who's Who Second Time

Randy C. Beitzel, who will begin his senior year at Northern High School, was recently notified for the second consecutive year of his selection to Who's Who Among High School Students 2000-2001.

Only 5% of the nation's high school students earn Who's Who recognition. However, 1/2 of 1% of all high school students are honored in consecutive years.

Beitzel is a member of Northern High's VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) and traveled last year with the club to Baltimore for state competition where he served as a delegate. This year he hopes to compete in auto mechanics.

He has been noted for his accomplishments in the auto mechanics courses at Northern and plans to attend Allegany College of Maryland to further his auto mechanics education.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Rodney and Marci Glotfelty and, of course, all four of their kids are just completing a week's vacation on Chincoteague Island, which is a better place than many more-urban places like Ocean City. It is more like a small town in the tidelands of Maryland and Virginia, not to mention the big-time attraction of the wild ponies of nearby Assateague Island. The Glotfeltys may have hit the big festival of the Pony Penning, when the Chincoteague Fire Department rounds up the wild ponies and then auctions off some of them.

Most kids are familar with the outstanding book by Margaret Henry, Misty of Chincoteague. It was my first full-length chapter book that I read and it inspired me to name my first pony (what else?) Misty. She was a chestnut and white pinto like the famous Misty was. Athough the famous Misty, like mine, has already long gone to Pony Heaven, you still can visit the Bebe's Ranch, which was the setting of the book and where you can see the stuffed Misty.

But I still regret that I never saw the ponies swim across the channel between Assateague and Chincoteague. The annual auction is essential, both for fundraising for the fire department and to thin the growing population of ponies on Assateague, although they lived there since the Spanish Explorer days, which I believe was the 16th century. They are not native species, and they compete with the native deer and contribute to the serious erosion problem that Assateague is suffering.

Patty Diehlman's sister-in-law actually had one of the ponies from Assateague, and she only recently buried it at the age of over 30. She even dug the hole to bury it by hand, all by herself. I have not yet met her, but I am looking forward to when she comes again to her lake house, especially since she grew up in Woodbine in Howard County where my Aunt Dot Glotfelty Quaintance lived for many years.

Speaking of Aunt Dot, I think we expect her to arrive in Bittinger the second weekend of August for her class reunion, and also to check in with her brother, Dale Glotfelty, who is currently in Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown for his second round of chemotherapy. So far he seems to tolerate the treatments better this time as Carol Bass and my mother were over to visit him on Saturday. They said that he seemed in better spirits and smiled more. He probably can look forward to a visit this Thursday from his other sister Helen since she is scheduled to collect a couple grandnieces for the traditional 4th grade trip to St. Mary's City and other highlighted places in Maryland state history. This time it is a turn for my Meredith and her cousin, Emma Bass. Most years she also drags along her son Mike to help with the driving and keep up with the kids.

A real news items from Bittinger is that Kim Powell held her annual garage sale, with other things contributed by Sally Poholsky and Cindy Stanton. I enjoyed my visit to it, especially since Kim happened to have a dead luna moth, which is something I really covet this summer for my nature dolls, and it did make into a real beauty. I wish I knew what happened to my big great butterfly and moth collection that I did when I was about my girls' ages. I know I have some very fancy moths in it.

I have been playing phone tag with Sally Poholsky. I know one item she may have, as I saw a large baseball game on Friday afternoon at their home. It looked like most of the Bittinger boys of the summer ball teams were there playing. I am sure Sally will have a report a little later in my news.

I know for sure that Greg Whittemore was not there, as he is much older than the mainly Little League age boys, and he is still out west in Las Vegas following the funeral of his grandmother, Kitty King. The Whittemore family spent a week at Lake Tahoe, and I heard Lesa is supposed to come home this week.

The Pittsnogles just finished a week's vacation. Pastor Pat was back in her pulpit last Sunday.

I was so blown away by some beautiful white lilies in Bill and Thelma Emory's garden that I pleaded with Thelma to give me a couple of them. Of course, she was delighted to oblige. After talking to Thelma, I learned something I never knew before. I wondered why they did not attend Emmanuel Lutheran just down the road from their house. I found out that they attend the Methodist Church in Friendsville, where Thelma grew up. I didn't even know that she was a Frazee. You can always find out new things about your neighbors whom you have known most of your life.

I can remember Bill's mother Martha, who lived across the road from the house that Bill and Thelma now live in. I am not sure whether I went there with my grandmother, Emma Glotfelty, or my Buckle grandparents, Charlie and Linnie. I can still remember the inside of the house very clearly, even before my memory was refreshed when my friends Laurie and Tom Bulka and their family lived there for several years before they moved downstate to Columbia. Thelma certainly misses the Bulka kids and sometimes borrows my girls.

I am sad to report that Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty, Scotty Bass, and Tyler Southerly played their last Little League game when they played on Central Garrett's All-Star Team in Salisbury last Wednesday night and lost after having two big wins.

Weekend guests of the Poholskys were Chris and Judy Mercer and Kristen of South Charleston, W.Va. Judy attended her 30-year class reunion from Southern at the Will O' the Wisp on Saturday night.

Torrey Poholsky celebrated his 15th birthday with a front-yard baseball game including the Glotfelty, Bass, and Southerly boys.

The Doerr Construction Hot Stove team remains undefeated at 20 games and went for the championship on Tuesday and Wednesday nights at Hammer Complex in Cresaptown. As noted in the Cumberland paper, Torrey Poholsky is an outstanding pitcher and is one of many Northern High School boys who play with the team.

GRADUATES AT TOP OF CLASS - Jesse Black, a former resident of Oakland, was recently graduated from the Motorcycle Mechanics Institute in Phoenix, Ariz., with the highest grade point average in the class. The institute is an accredited school that offers a year-round training program. Black, 21, started his training at the Orlando campus of the school in March 2000, from which he graduated in November as a motorcycle technician with the top grade in his class (96.1%). He then transferred to the Phoenix campus to pursue a specialized degree in Honda motorcycle technology, a three-month course consisting of engine and transmission rebuild and performance; wheel, tire, and suspension technology; advanced electrical troubleshooting and diagnostics; and correct tune-up and maintenance procedures for Honda motorcycles, ATVs, scooters, generators, and power equipment. Black completed that course with a GPA of 99.2%, again, best in the class, and received the Top Tech Award from the American Honda Motor Corporation. He also received a certificate for perfect attendance, his Dynojet operator's license, and, upon a successful three-month internship at a Honda dealership, his Honda pro technicians license. He currently works for Monarch Honda Harley-Davidson in Orem, Utah. Black has been involved in competitive motocross racing for the past eight years. He is a son of Hazel and Larry Black, Oakland. He is pictured above, second from left, with (from left) Lou Rizzati, Jeff Anderson, and Mike Ross, instructors at the Motorcycle Mechanics Institute.

The red, hard-cover volume contains a name index that runs more than 125 pages and contains well over 2,000 names, according to a spokesperson. Those who would like to purchase the book may place an order by writing to Merilyn B. Fike Morrow, 5215 Casa Grande Road, Temple, Pa. 19560, or by calling her at 610-929-5426.

Earns USAA Recognition

Brandon Marks, a student who recently completed the eighth grade at Southern Middle School, has been recognized by the United States Achievement Academy for his academic performance in mathematics. Marks was nominated for USAA recognition by math teacher Donna Durst.

Marks will enter Southern High School this coming school year. He is the son of Ken and Leeanna Marks of Kitzmiller.

Student Named To Who's Who

Eli Green, a junior at Southern Garrett High School, has been selected for inclusion in Who's Who Among American High School Students, 2000-2001.

Green is a member of the Southern FFA and the Red House 4-H, for which he has held several offices. He is also a member of Fairview Church of the Brethren's senior youth group.

His hobbies are hunting, four-wheeling, and fishing. He is the son of Ron and Tina Green.

Local Students Taking Part In Forestry Week

Three Garrett County students are among the participants in this year's Forestry and Natural Resources Careers Week, according to the Garrett County Forestry Board. The three, each from Northern High School, are Derek Buckel of Grantsville, Vicki Schlosnagle of Accident, and Will Gallagher of Friendsville.

The Careers Week workshop, which got under way Monday at Hickory Environmental Center and concludes tomorrow, Friday, Aug. 3, is designed to acquaint high school students from across Maryland with forestry and natural resources management career opportunities. A variety of lectures, field trips, and discussions provide participants with a hands-on introduction to the fields of forestry, wildlife biology, fisheries, recreation, and the physical sciences.

The workshop is sponsored by the Maryland Association of Forest Conservancy district boards in cooperation with the Department of Natural Resources Forest, Wildlife, and Heritage Service.

Information Tech Coordinator Hired By Commissioners

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners announced today that Frank Shap has been selected to serve as the county's first information technology coordinator. The position was created at the suggestion of an information technology task force, which was formed by the county commissioners to provide advice on how to promote growth in information technology-based businesses in the county. Shap will assume his new duties on Sept. 3, according to the commissioners.

Shap's duties will include coordinating information technology infrastructure initiatives, formulating and recommending technology-related policy, assessing public and private sector technology needs, representing the county in discussions with telecommunication service providers, identifying and applying for funding support for technology initiatives, working with the business community and educational opportunities to develop the county's technology skill base, and developing marketing plans to promote technology business growth. Shap will report through the Garrett County Department of Economic Development.

Shap holds a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from the University of Maryland, a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Johns Hopkins University, and a master of business administration degree in marketing and

A MAIZE MAZE - A corn maze, complete with the "Got Milk" logo and the silhouette of a Holstein dairy cow right in the center, will be open for business this Friday, Aug. 10, at Cove Run Farms near Accident, operated by the Bob and Alice Bender family. The 4.1-acre maze contains over one mile of paths for guests who may spend hours there trying to find the exit. The udder area of the cow serves as an "oasis," or rest spot, also visible in the above photo, complete with park benches and potted flowers. (See close-up photo of this area inside.) A visit to the maze will also include observing the operation of the Benders' dairy farm. This photo was taken by staff photographer John McEwen, who was lifted airward courtesy of local pilot Ken Miller. See story for full details of Garrett County's newest attraction.

Mikulski Confirms Library Money Via Conference Call

U.S. Senator Barbara Mikulski hosted a conference telephone call to Garrett County yesterday to announce that the $300,000 she has sought to benefit the Ruth Enlow Library has been nearly secured. The money is included in an FY 2002 Veterans, Housing, and Independent Agencies (VA-HUD) appropriations bill that has passed the U.S. Senate. There are two more steps — the House approval and then the signature of President George W. Bush — before the money will actually be in hand. The senator said that would be sometime after Nov. 1.

"You gave me an excellent briefing on the situation, and that has helped me move forward. I am

Fire Damages Heavy In Finzel Area Residence

A one-story wood frame house located in Allegany County just outside the border of Garrett County near Finzel sustained an estimated $40,000 in damages Wednesday from a fire, the cause of which is still under investigation by officials from the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office.

Volunteer firefighters from Eastern Garrett, Frostburg, Shaft, Grantsville, Clarysville, and Salisbury VFDs were summoned at 1:57 p.m. to respond to the residence of James and Dawn Ringstaker, located at 337 Tower Road after Mrs. Ringstaker returned home and discovered a fire in the kitchen of the dwelling. Upon arrival of the first fire units, heavy smoke was coming from the structure.

Some 25 firefighters contained the fire in about 30 minutes. Most of the fire damage was limited to the kitchen, dining room, and adjacent living room; however, heat, smoke, and water damage was extensive throughout the house, which is owned by James and Sue Raley.

Cove Run Farms Corn Maze To Welcome First Guests Friday

A brand new attraction for both tourists and local residents will open in Garrett County tomorrow, as Bob and Alice Bender, owners of Cove Run Farms, have completed work on the county's one and only corn maze and will welcome their first guests this Friday, Aug. 10. The maze covers over four acres and includes nearly 1¼ miles of paths, many of which dead end, forcing the walker to turn around and try another route.

High-tech methods were used to create the maze, as students at Garrett Community College employed the global positioning satellite, or GPS, system to design the routes. The GPS uses a network of satellites and a special hand-held monitor to precisely pinpoint places on the ground. Derrick Bender, son of Bob and Alice, and fellow GCC student April Enlow used the GPS to design the maze and indicate where the paths were to be cut.

The maze includes not only the many trails, but also a cut-out silhouette of the "Got Milk" logo and of that of a dairy cow. The udder area of the cow serves as an "oasis," complete with park benches and blooming flowers. Only from the air can these images be delineated. (See above photo.)

Visitors to the maze will be given assistance in their endeavors to find the exit in the form of multiple-choice questions, the correct answers of which will lead them to "freedom." The questions can be selected from four different themes: Agriculture, Garrett County Trivia, Biblical/Scriptural, and Scouting.

Workers will supervise the maze from "lifeguard stations," and visitors will wear numbered "cattle tags" on chains, provided at the starting point and collected at the exit so all who enter can ultimately be accounted for.

Flashlights will be provided to guests on Friday and Saturday evenings through October 27 to provide an "after-dark adventure" in the maze, and there are tentative plans to have a "haunted" walk through the maze on Halloween.

Located beside the maze is a petting zoo of farm animals, and there will be a full pumpkin patch later in the fall. A covered picnic area, running water, and rest room facilities are also provided. A variety of souvenirs and numerous prepackaged dairy snacks will be available for purchase.

Agencies Request Funding From GC United Way

The Community Response Committee of the United Way of Garrett County (UWGC) recently met with 11 agencies requesting funds from the United Way for 2002. Discussions focused on the ways the agencies used United Way funding last year and the programs for which funding is requested for next year.

A Big Brother/Big Sister match with a child needing a role model can develop a life-long relationship, according to JoAnn Fletcher, Garrett County coordinator. Last year the agency began a "lunch buddy" program in which adult mentors visit students at school. The pro-

County Officials Try To Convince Perrier To Stay

The Garrett County commissioners met with Rob Fisher, director of operations for the Perrier Group of America, last week to discuss the closure of the company's Deer Park Water operation in Garrett County. The purpose of the meeting was to determine if there was anything the county and/or state can do to persuade Perrier to reconsider its decision.

Others attending the meeting were Delegate George Edwards, Senator John Hafer, Tim Magrath (representing Senator Paul Sarbanes), and Donald Dawson, mayor of Deer Park.

The commissioners questioned Fisher about Perrier's decision to close the Deer Park Plant and asked him to explain the company's decision-making process. Fisher said Perrier's rational for the decision had to do with anticipated changes in FDA regulations governing bottling of water, which will dictate changes in the treatment process. These changes will in turn require a large capital investment in equipment. Perrier estimated that it would cost $3,800,000 to upgrade the Deer Park Water facility. Therefore, company officials concluded that it would be more cost effective to upgrade treatment facilities at the Allentown, Pa., plant, which utilizes six different springs in the Lehigh Valley area and has 7 to 8 times the production capacity of the Deer Park facility. Built in 1995, the Allentown facility is about 500,000 square feet in size. The Deer Park facility is about 14,000 square feet.

During the discussion, Fisher told the commissioners that Perrier would "mothball" the Deer Park facility, keeping the equipment intact in case the facility is needed at some point in the future. He also stated that Perrier has not ruled out reactivating the facility at some point in the future if/when a case can be made to do so. Perrier will continue to sell water from the Deer Park Boiling Spring to Tyler Mountain. The water will be transported to Tyler Mountain's Pittsburgh facility by truck and will be bottled at the Tyler Mountain plant in Pittsburgh.

Taylor-Rogers Resigns Abruptly From DNR Post; Fox Appointed

State environmental leaders and Department of Natural Resources officials were reportedly stunned this week by the abrupt resignation of DNR Secretary Sarah Taylor-Rogers, who left her post on Wednesday. Governor Parris Glendening has already appointed her successor, J. Charles Fox, who will take over on Sept. 5. Deputy Secretary Stanley K. Arthur is to serve as the interim secretary.

Taylor-Rogers was appointed as secretary two years ago after Glendening abruptly fired John R. Griffin. While a press release from the governor's office indicates no reason for the Taylor-Rogers exit, other sources across the state are postulating that she was forced out of office. However, her spokesperson, Michael Morrill, was quoted this morning as saying that she "chose to resign." He would not comment on if she had been forced to leave.

Taylor-Rogers was in Garrett County last week to meet with Delegate George Edwards, Senator John Hafer, the county commissioners, and other county officials. During the course of the meeting, she promised the DNR's support of the adventure sports initiative in the form of over $2 million in Program Open Space funding. She also appeared to be sympathetic to the growing anxiety over black bears and told the officials that the concerns voiced were "not falling on deaf ears." Local leaders are hopeful that Fox will stay the course on these issues.

Delegate Edwards said in an interview this morning that he was surprised by yesterday's events. "She's been in the department for a while, before she was secretary. I really am surprised that she's out," Edwards said. "We got along well, for the most part. She seemed to understood our concerns out here in Garrett County, which are different from those of the rest of the state. Hopefully the new secretary will be able to look at things from all sides, too."

Fox was hailed by Glendening as a "nationally recognized authority" in resource management. "First as assistant administrator at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, then as senior policy advisor for the Chesapeake Bay Foundation [his present position], Mr. Fox has achieved national prominence for his innovative and successful work to protect and preserve Maryland's and the nation's natural resources," Glendening said. "He will lead an aggressive effort to preserve our remaining green infrastructure, and

Garrett Co. Staff Leaders Provide Monthly Reports

The Garrett County commissioners hosted the regular monthly meeting of county staff leaders last week, hearing reports from about 16 departments and agencies. Updates were given on items including damages from the July 26 flooding, preparations for the Garrett County Agriculture Fair and the building proposed for the fairgrounds, a ClosetMaid report, Maryland's Children's Health Insurance Program (MCHIP) eligibility, and other issues. They also learned that the Jennings Head Start will not be reopened this fall.

As was reported in last week's issue of The Republican, two county roads and two bridges sustained damage as a result of flooding that occurred on Thursday, July 26. Fred Polce, roads superintendent, reported that repairs on White Church Steyer and Steyer-Gorman roads were quickly handled by the crews, as was damage to the Cherry Creek bridge on Underwood Road. The Gorman Street Bridge was more severely damaged, and further repairs have taken place in that area.

Ron Petrella, administrator of the Sanitary District, reported that the water plant in Gorman was slightly damaged during the flood, but was repaired quickly as well. In other district news, Petrella noted that the sanitary district boundary map for the new Keyser's Ridge water system is being completed, and that the McHenry water tank project is progressing.

After reporting on the emergency response to the flooding (as reported last week), Brad Frantz, director of the Garrett County Emergency Management Office, reported that he is working with representatives from Allegany County and three surrounding West Virginia counties to create a "code red alerting system"

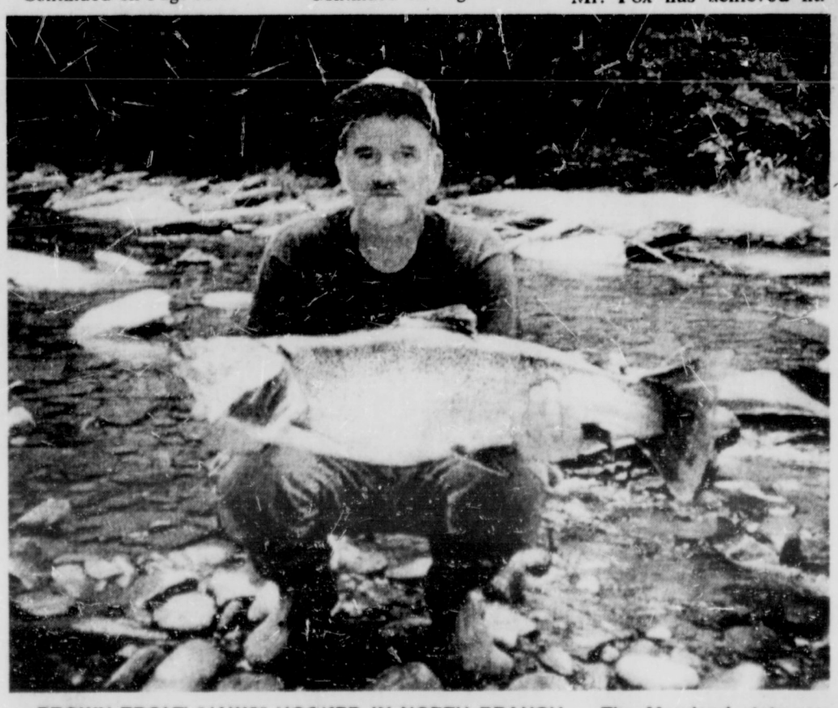
SHS Teacher Acquitted Of Sex Charge

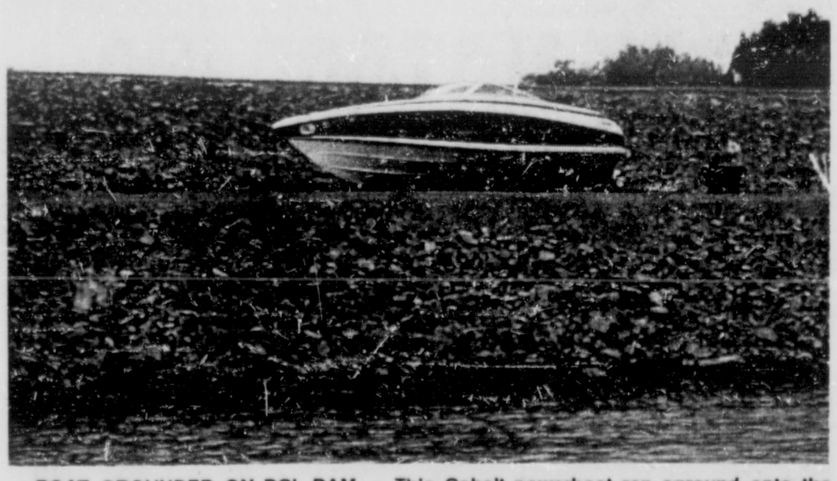
Charles James Harkins Jr. was acquitted of sexual misconduct allegations during a Garrett County District Court hearing Monday, with visiting judge Thomas A. Lohm presiding. Lohm handed down a not-guilty verdict on a charge of perverted practice, while the Garrett County state's attorney's office declined to prosecute on a charge of permitting a sexual display in his home to be viewed by a minor.

Harkins was a faculty member at Southern High School at the time of his Oct. 16 arrest by the Garrett Bureau of Investigation for the alleged incident, which was believed to have involved inappropriate contact between him and a minor student at his residence the previous June. At the time the charges were filed, Harkins was removed from classroom duties. He remains a Board of Education employee.

"I feel that Judge Lohm made a well-considered and fair ruling based on the evidence presented to him," state's attorney Lisa Thayer Welch said afterward. Cumberland attorney Michael Cohen represented the defendant.



BROWN TROUT "JAWS" HOOKED IN NORTH BRANCH — The Maryland state record for largest brown trout was shattered by almost five pounds early Friday morning when Gary Kuhn of Elk Garden, W.Va., caught this 18-pound 3-ounce brown trout, 33 inches long with a 19-inch girth. The fish was hooked in the School House Hole just downstream from Barnum, near the West Virginia riverbank, but the waters of the North Branch are considered Maryland territory. The monster attacked Kuhn's No. 9 Rapala lure at dawn, and bright sunshine was already reflecting off the waters of the North Branch of the Potomac River when the battle between man and fish ended nearly an hour later. The handle of the net bent when Kuhn's fishing partner, fellow Elk Garden resident Mike Davis, tried to lift the quarry out of the water, then the pair had to go in search of a set of scales big enough to weigh the leviathan. The catch was finally weighed at B.J.'s Convenience Store along the Savage River, where Maryland Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologist Ken Pavol verified the new state record. "It had a deep body and a very aggressive-looking jaw on him," Pavol said. "It looked impressive — almost scary." The 53-year-old Kuhn, a lifelong area angler, will have to make wall space when he hangs the mount in his home. "They say every day you fish adds a day to your life," he said. "I'm going to live to be old." Photo by Ken Pavol.



BOAT GROUNDED ON DCL DAM — This Cobalt powerboat ran aground onto the Deep Creek Lake dam sometime between 1:30 and 2:30 a.m. Friday morning, according to the Maryland Natural Resources Police. The boat's operator, Matthew Dale Upperman, 26, Centreville, Va., reportedly told investigators that visibility was severely limited by fog at the time he struck the earthen dam while traveling at approximately 35-40 miles per hour. Neither Upperman nor his two passengers, Brian Wills and Steven Cogley, both of Westchester, Pa., were injured in the mishap, which totaled the 1993, 21-foot vessel, a $20,000 loss. NRP officer Jeffrey Sizemore charged Upperman with negligent operation of a powerboat. Photos by Charles Frederick.

Oakland Police Seek Leads In Church Burglary

A Tuesday night burglary of the business office of St. Mark's Lutheran Church is under investigation by the Oakland City Police Department, which is requesting the public's assistance in identifying possible leads. Several churches in Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park have been burglarized over recent weeks.

Sometime during the night someone entered the front door of St. Mark's Church, located at 6 South Second Street. OCPD Chief John Sines said that it appeared the suspect(s) either slipped the lock bolt mechanism with a credit card or may have known the numerical sequence that releases the keypad lock at the door. The window to the interior door to the business office was smashed and the office was ransacked. Taken was a green First United Bank money bag that contained $30-50.

Persons with information concerning this incident are asked to call the Oakland Police at 301-334-2100, or the Garrett Bureau of Investigation at 301-334-1909.

DCL LIONS AGAIN SPONSOR BLIND CAMPERS — For the third year in a row, the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club has sponsored campers from the Maryland School for the Blind at the Deep Creek Lake State Park, and water skiing was just one of the many activities enjoyed by the campers. Other activities during the week included a tour of the Discovery Center, fishing, boat riding and various other water sports. Tom Wenzel, lead mechanic at Patterson Boat Company, coordinated the event, and the company provided three boats for the campers. Other employees who donated their time were Adam Pratt, Corey Delaney, Jake Williams, Brad Dugan, Steven Skipper and Charlie Frederick. Lucas Pratt also assisted, taking many of the photos. Elizabeth Duling provided Wave Runner rides, and George Clayton, Silver Tree Marine, provided the use of a boom. Lions club member Dave Wheeler provided a pontoon for fishing, and supplies were donated by Johnny's Bait House. Lions club member Ed King provided the speed boat rides. Firewood for cooking was provided by Dave Butts and Smiley's Pizzeria supplied the campers with Go Karts, pizza and Putt-Putt golf. Persons interested in helping with future events should contact Tom Wenzel. Shown above, from left, are Jake Williams of Patterson Boat Company and Joe Silverman of the visiting school. Fellow student Richard Kaufman is pictured below skimming across the water. Photos by Charlie Frederick.

Oakland Man Charged After Wed. Accident

An Oakland man faces a traffic charge after a two-vehicle accident yesterday morning along Oakland Sang Run Road. The other driver and her passenger sustained minor injuries in the 9:35 a.m. mishap, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Stephen R. Edwards, 18, was traveling southbound when his 1994 Dodge truck rear-ended a 2000 Plymouth van operated by Geraldine Nasser, 53, Westernport, near Sangamore Drive. Nasser and her passenger, Delores Draper, 58, Oakland, were transported by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where they were both treated and released. Edwards was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

A two-car collision at 4:23 p.m. Monday resulted in two minor injuries to two drivers, one of whom was charged by sheriff's deputies.

Daniel Orendorf, 33, Mtn. Lake Park, was attempting to make a U-turn on Garrett Highway just south of Spring Glade Road when his 1989 Ford Ranger reportedly pulled into the path of a 1997 Pontiac Bonneville operated by Brenda Maffett, 36, Oakland. Both drivers were transported by SGCRS to Garrett Memorial, where they were treated and released. Orendorf was charged with negligent driving.

Three vehicles were involved in a Thursday, Aug. 2, mishap along Maryland Highway near Bloomington Hill Road that injured a Swanton woman and resulted in a charge for an Oakland man.

Shortly after 3 p.m. a 1993 Ford Tempo operated by Keith Wayne Bennett, 18, Oakland, allegedly rear-ended a 1989 Oldsmobile sedan operated by Robert Newton Stabler, 62, Brookeville on the eastbound highway near Bloomington Hill Road. Stabler lost control of his vehicle, which traveled across the center line and into the path of an oncoming 1997 Dodge sedan operated by Mildred Lee Bever, 72, Swanton, knocking her car into a ditch.

One of Bever's passengers, Betty Ellen Bever, 42, was transported by the Tri-Towns Emergency Service to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released. Bennett received a citation on an unspecified charge.

Underage Party Results In Drug Arrests By GCSO

Garrett County sheriff's deputies checking on a report of an underage drinking party in Loch Lynn arrested five adults and one juvenile on drug charges late Tuesday night.

Shortly after 11:15 p.m. deputies responded to the party at 501 Pleasant View Lane, where they found a group of underage drinkers, and subsequent searches both on the scene and at the Garrett County Detention Center revealed that several persons were carrying suspected marijuana. A 17-year-old juvenile was charged with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, while five adults were charged with possession of marijuana.

The juvenile was later released to the custody of his parents. Three of the adults — Patrick Dale Schrock, 20, and Justin Lee Edge, 19, both of Oakland, and Daniel James Smith, 18, Mtn. Lake Park -- were released when each posted a $500 bond. Brandon Tate Sanchez, 18, McHenry, and Charles Lee Bullis, 18, Snow Hill, were released on their own recognizance.

In other sheriff's office news, an Oakland man was arrested on drug charges early Tuesday morning after he called to request a deputy come to his Hutton Road residence. Zendil Allen Bittinger, 41, turned over a cigarette pack to the deputy and reportedly told him he had been smoking what was inside. The back contained suspected marijuana and a smoking device. Bittinger was charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia and was later released from jail on his own recognizance.

DWI/DUI ARRESTS

Several persons were arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated or driving under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol this week. They are: James Edward Soult, 33, Mtn. Lake Park; Dwight Howard Clary, 23, Oakland; James Robert Freeman, 35, Keyser, W.Va.; Barry Lynn Anderson, 46, Terra Alta, W.Va.; John Reynolds Cranwell, 60, Charlottesville, Va.; Cynthia Long Wann, 44, Wexford, Pa.; and William Clay Stevenson, 44, Youngwood, Pa.

Aurora Man Is Cited For DWI, Resisting Arrest

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office placed an Aurora, W.Va., man under arrest on the evening of Aug. 3, charging him with driving while intoxicated and other crimes.

Walter E. Sharpless, 75, was operating his vehicle on Crellin-Underwood Road and was stopped by a sheriff's officer for a traffic violation. After failing field sobriety tests, deputies attempted to arrest the defendant. He allegedly resisted and fought the officers. The deputies, assisted by a citizen, were able to restrain Sharpless and place him under arrest.

In addition to DWI and other traffic violations, the defendant was charged with resisting arrest and second degree assault on a police officer. He was released from custody after posting a $1,000 bond, according to the police report.

Local "Santa" Needs Items For School Children

Although Lou Stouffer, Terra Alta, W.Va., better known in this area as "the real Santa Claus," makes most of his deliveries of toys and gifts during the Christmas season, he is often called upon for assistance at other times of the year, including the "back-to-school season."

"A lot of people think that we need gifts just at Christmas time," said 79-year-old Stouffer, "but I get calls all the time from people who are experiencing hard times for one reason or another, and need some help. Right now, just before school starts, we usually get calls from parents needing clothing for their kids."

Persons who have good used (or new) clothing items for children of all ages that they would like to donate to Stouffer's cause are asked to bring them to St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland. The church is located along Center Street, and during weekdays the door/office is open.

Stouffer will also try to pick up items from persons who cannot bring them to the church. He also accepts monetary donations to help with gasoline expenses. He may be contacted by telephone at 304-789-6743.

Persons who bring clothing or any other gift items to the church are asked to place them in boxes or bags that are not too heavy, especially if they are books or other heavy items. "I'm getting a little older, and I can't pick up the heavy bags and boxes like I used to," he said.

Stouffer has been playing the role of Santa for over two decades, having delivered gifts to thousands of families in need in Preston and Garrett counties.

FINDING ONE'S WAY through a corn maze might require an occasional rest, and a special place for that is provided in the new maze at the Bob and Alice Bender dairy farm in the Cove, which will open to visitors this Friday, Aug. 10. The "oasis" is equipped with park benches and adorned with blooming potted plants, which were not yet blooming when this photo was taken during a recent "pre-tour" of invited guests. Among those pictured are Oakland mayor Asa McCain, far right; Patty Manown Mash of the Department of Natural Resources, center; Alice Bender, second from right; and Brenda McDonnell, far right. tradition of educating the public about agricultural production, through 4-H clubs, the Agriculture Management Program at Garrett Community College, and the public school system. Cove Run Farms is also an operating dairy farm with some of the top purebred Holstein cattle in the area.

"We certainly want people to have fun in our maze," stated Alice Bender, "but we also want them to have an opportunity to see a working dairy farm, and then go home with a better understanding of all that is involved in the production of food and dairy products."

Group discounts will be offered for parties of 15 or more, and curriculum connections will be made for school groups, using the Maryland State Learning Outcomes and programs of study in science, social studies, and technology.

Cove Run Farms is but one stop on the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce's new "agri-tourism" effort, which provides information and tours of a number of local farms that produce everything from milk to mushrooms to rabbits to wine to ginseng. The project is a combined effort of the chamber and the Barns, Farms, and Rural Heritage program.

"We had a lot of help from a number of people," Mrs. Bender said, including Willie Lantz, ag management instructor at GCC; Paige Dopson of the Extension Service and Barns, Farms, and Rural Heritage program; personnel from the chamber of commerce; and Steve Stallings.

The corn maze will be open on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 4 to 8 p.m., Fridays from noon to 10 p.m., Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., and at other times by appointment. After Labor Day, it will be open on Fridays and Saturdays only. Persons desiring more information may check the farm's website at www.coverunfarms.com/hours.htm, or telephone 301-746-8161.

Oakland Bricks' Installation To Commence Soon

The engraved bricks for the commemorative sidewalk in Oakland have arrived, and the installation project is expected to begin within the next few weeks, according to information from the town hall. Several people have been calling the town hall to ask about the project, and a press release was issued this week to update the public.

The bricks were ordered in April, with an expected delivery time of about 10 weeks. The arrival of the shipment came later than that, and several of the bricks were broken, according to the report. The order was resubmitted, the bricks were made and sent, and again several were broken. The third shipment recently arrived intact.

Officials expect the contractor to begin work on the sidewalk in the next few weeks, and the project will be completed shortly, the report states.

The town hall staff expressed apologies for any inconvenience caused by the delays, and also thanked all who participated in the fund-raising project.

Farm Vandalism Leads To Two Arrests By MSP

Maryland State Police troopers arrested two suspects this week in connection with a July 29 incident during which buildings located at a vacant farm near Grantsville were vandalized.

Garrett K. Barclay, 20, Grantsville, and Joshua F. Gilpin, 19, Bittinger, both face charges of malicious destruction of property. The pair were taken into custody on arrest warrants stemming from an investigation of the incident, which took place at a vacant farm located along River Road. Damage was noted to several buildings on the property. Neither Barclay nor Gilpin were transported to the jail, and the condition of their release were not available from the MSP.

IMPROVE YOUR GAME!

You're taking care of yourself by eating healthier and exercising more — maybe it's time to sleep healthier.

Improper support from an unconforming or worn mattress reduces performance on and off the green. Your sleep set could be robbing you of valuable quality sleep.

Fragmented sleep can be caused by improper spinal support or a high pressure mattress. A too firm set pushes the hips and torso upward, compacting the discs and vertebrae, which can cause lower back pain you feel during the day.

Kingsdown provides a low-pressure mattress and box spring sleep system that conforms to your body, meeting your contours where needed the most, to give you healthy sleep. Healthy sleep helps you recharge your body for next day energy, improved motor skill coordination and sharper responses.

Improve your game with one of these Kingsdown sleep systems.

What's Going On?...

We were rather stunned when we arrived at work this morning and learned that Sarah Taylor-Rogers, secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, abruptly resigned from that position Wednesday afternoon. She was a visitor to Garrett County just last week, and while here gave not one hint that she was planning to resign.

There was a reason that she gave no hint, as reliable sources told us just before presstime that she did not voluntarily resign, but was evidently canned by the Glendening administration. In fact, the political grapevine indicates there have been a number of other sudden "resignations" of DNR administrative personnel just in the past few weeks. Just what, Governor Glendening, is going on?

From all indications, Taylor-Rogers could be considered a friend of Garrett County. She was in Grantsville last week to announce her endorsement for the $2 million being allocated by the state for the Adventure Sports project in McHenry. She was also sympathetic to the growing concerns about black bears in Garrett County, and was in the process of forming a bear advisory task force, consisting of a number of Western Maryland residents, to examine this.

We are somewhat concerned about Taylor-Rogers' replacement, Charles Fox. We know little about him, and are certainly willing to give him a chance. But his previous or current positions include: assistant administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, a policy adviser for the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, and legal counsel for Friends of the Earth, an international federation of environmental organizations. We may be a bit paranoid, but fairly or unfairly, we sense at least a tinge of environmental fanaticism.

We residents of Garrett County, who are fortunate to live in some of God's finest, cleanest country, are all for protection of our environment. It is our "golden goose." But we are also in favor of careful, responsible, regulated development that is desperately needed to bolster our economy. An environmental fanatic could bring such things to a halt, or at least sidetrack them for many years. Progress on the Adventure Sports project, for example, has been moving along nicely, and we sincerely hope that Secretary Fox does not somehow derail it.

Just what is going on, Governor Glendening?

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, Mountain Pride Cooperative, and all the participants in the Farms, Barns, & Rural Heritage project, I thank you for the very positive and supportive words of the editorial in the August 2 issue of The Republican.

All of us who worked to develop this agriculture tourism venture hope that it will provide entertainment and understanding of our farming heritage as it is practiced today. Agriculture is truly alive and well in Garrett County, thanks to those dedicated to carrying on the hard work of putting fresh, wholesome foods on our tables.

To the Editor:

The ReNEW Grantsville's Library Committee would like to thank Senator Barbara Mikulski and Senator Paul Sarbanes for their leadership in working to fund $300,000 to help with the construction of the Grantsville Library building. The Senate Appropriations Committee has approved the $84 billion Veteran's Affairs Housing, and Independent Agencies bill, which has $300,000 earmarked for the construction of the Grantsville Library. As Senator Mikulski and Senator Sarbanes have already stated and shown that they are working to see this bill passed, it is also up to Congressman Roscoe Bartlett and the rest of the House of Representatives to see that this bill is approved.

The Grantsville community needs written and oral support to Congressman Bartlett and other representatives in the state of Maryland in order to bridge the funding gap. Currently, the residents and businesses of the Grantsville area have raised over $110,000 from donations, pledges, and fund-raisers. We now need the county, state, and federal government to "step up to the plate" and allocate monies for the Grantsville Library Building Fund.

We look forward to good news on August 20 and in the coming months.

Thank you,
Sheila Miller

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to statements made by Sarah Taylor-Rogers at the meeting held at Penn Alps. I am the one on New Germany Road who has been pestered by a large bear. He has been around here for at least five years.

Sarah says to take my bird feeder in. Now I would like for her to come and demonstrate just how she would do it, then I might try. You see, my feeder is like a log cabin mounted on a 5 or 6 inch square pole in the ground nailed to a sturdy base. I can't lift it when the bear tears it down. He damages it every time.

I stood on the porch one night at 11 p.m. and he came down the driveway within eight or so yards in front of me. I ran inside and all I could do was watch him tear the feeder down. I will be 89 years of age within the month and can't do much other than feed and enjoy the birds. I'm to give that up to a destructive bear which is of no use to anyone?

More power to the people who resort to their own way of getting rid of them. I'm pretty sure Sarah Taylor-Rogers would change her mind if she were visited two or three times a week at her door by bears doing damage. I'm thinking people down east like to come to Garrett and Allegany counties to spend time, and they may enjoy the bears and even feed them, but they can then leave and we have to put up with them.

So, I have expressed my opinion, and Sarah, I extend an invitation to you to show me how I'm to get the feeder down and inside.

A concerned citizen
Cleda Baker

P.S. He was back again last night (Aug. 3).

To the Editor:

Three weeks ago, there were two a letters to the editor from Art and Dora Hanline and their daughter concerning Oakland Little League. These letters stated that Oakland Little League was going to eliminate two teams from the major league division, reducing the number of teams to eight. While we appreciate Mr. Hanline's concern for the children of the community, he was misinformed by someone, to say the least. Had Mr. Hanline contacted a member of the board of directors of Oakland Little League, he would have learned that the board has never voted to eliminate any teams.

The information received by Mr. Hanline was the subject of a coaches' meeting that was held to select all-stars to participate in tournament play. The comments made at this meeting were the opinions of some of the coaches who believed the elimination of one or two teams would make the league stronger. As of this date, there has been limited discussion by the board of directors concerning this issue. Should someone decide to ask the board to look further at eliminating any teams, there would be discussion by the board after hearing pros and cons from all persons concerned. Only after such a meeting would a decision be made concerning this or any other matter.

The board would like to assure all parents, players, and spectators that no child will be turned away from Little League without just cause. The board would also like to stress that if there should arise a need to reduce teams in any division without a reduction of players on our rosters, teams would be added in another division to accommodate all players, based on safety concerns and their level of skill.

We hope that in the future, anyone with a concern about Oakland Little League policy will approach the board of directors before airing an issue based on rumor.

Sincerely,
Oakland Little League
Board of Directors

This year we received grants from the Maryland State Arts Council, Garrett County Arts Council, and Maryland Main Street Program.

Our corporate sponsors included: Highland Engineering, Devlin Inc., Book Mark'et, Railey Realty, F&M Bank, Oakland Rotary, Oakland Elks, Rob Michael/State Farm, and the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club.

Of course, the overall sponsor is the Greater Oakland Business Association and the town of Oakland.

We got loads of support from Pat Sullivan and Scott Paxton from WQZK, Net Rock 94, The Republican and David Foster, and Cumberland Times-News and Jo Donaldson.

INVASIONS AND TAPESTRIES

After three days of seeing the sights of Paris, my son Nick and I headed for Normandy. We took the train to Rouen, where we rented a car and drove to Bayeux.

There are lots of reasons to appreciate Bayeux, but the most immediate connection for Americans are the nearby D-Day beaches and the many museums related to the invasion of Normandy on June 6, 1944.

We began our exploration at the nearby, and much larger, city of Caen, where there is a splendid Memorial Museum which depicts the events of D-Day, as well as the larger picture of European relations during the 20th century.

The centerpiece of the visit consists of three different films, shown silently and taken, largely, from actual footage filmed on D-Day and the weeks following. What emerged for me from those films was how much the French hated the Germans. They preferred to have their cities leveled and free than to having them standing and occupied by the Germans.

After the Allies took Caen from the Germans, two-thirds of the citizens were homeless. From the photographs we saw, it is difficult to imagine where the other third lived. Caen was a continuous wasteland of rubble.

We visited some of the beaches. If I were to visit Normandy again, I would allow an entire day for visiting the beaches. The countryside is so beautiful. To drive through the farms and country villages which run down to the sea is a pleasure by itself. Then one wants to walk the cliffs and beaches, just to soak up the atmosphere of those places.

On seeing the craters made by the shells launched from Allied naval vessels, one realizes that, for all the terrible struggle that D-Day meant for the Allies, it was no picnic for the Germans. They demonstrated their share of bravery that day, too.

Most moving of all was our visit to the American cemetery above Omaha Beach. Thousands of marble crosses and stars of David mark the graves of our dead heroes. In their silent witness one can imagine their battle cry of that immortal day. The markers which touched me most poignantly were those on which are inscribed these words: "A comrade in arms whose name is known only to God."

What makes the Allied invasion of Normandy a great historical fascination is the symmetry it provides to the second millennium. It was an invasion launched from England to conquer Normandy, and, ultimately, Europe. Almost 900 years earlier, in 1066, the Normans launched an invasion from Normandy to conquer England. Both invasions were successful. Both shaped the destiny of nations and of the world.

Bayeux is a central point for the Norman invasion of England, as well as the Allied invasion of Normandy. The half-brother of William the Conqueror (of 1066) was Odo, Bishop of Bayeux. Odo was one of the fighting bishops of the Middle Ages. He sailed and rode with his brother in the conquest of England, and wanted an appropriate souvenir.

Odo commissioned a fabulous tapestry about half a yard wide and about 270 feet long. He intended the tapestry to be hung around the interior of his cathedral on high feast days so that all could see the events depicted which contributed to his brother's great victory.

There is a museum in Bayeux which now houses the tapestry. It is a stunning work of art. The embroidery is on white linen, which makes the whole of it more appealing to the eye than the usual tapestry, which is often too busy to be looked at for long. The characters and their doings stand out clearly, drawn as they are in variously colored threads.

There are two invasions and two tapestries, too. The D-Day invasion has its own tapestry in the form of the film The Longest Day. That is a celluloid tapestry, in which hundreds of different events are depicted, but which the viewer must put together in order to conceive the total picture of what happened on that day.

In 900 years the technologies of war had changed, so had the technologies of tapestry. The original celluloid of the film will dissolve, perhaps has already dissolved, but the images have been transferred to other media. The original Bayeux tapestry of the Norman invasion of England is still nearly perfectly intact. For several centuries, though, the images it bears would have been lost if the tapestry had been lost. Today that tapestry too has been reproduced in the form of other tapestries and onto reproductions as varied as postcards and silk scarves.

There were, then, those two invasions, and there are the two tapestries which cultures 900 years apart rendered for posterity.

THE COUNT IS ON

by Mary Sincell McEwen

School will be on again in just 18 days. In some ways, I'll be ready. The boys stay home in the summer with a babysitter during the three days I work here at the paper. When we come home for lunch on those days, I am barraged with detailed meal requests, long-winded tattling, and general noise. During school, you see, my husband and I have calm, solitary lunch hours. Not so when the darling three stooges are home. And these boys, now 9, 6, and 5, are really into hurting each other. They like to hit, scratch, push, kick, and twist. They do this both when they are getting along and when they're fighting. The physical, hands-on, rolling about behavior seems to be the way they are content to lead their lives. It makes me wince a lot. And yell a bit. Sometimes I just disappear into my bedroom or into the computer. My ignoring technique is getting better all the time.

But school starting again always makes me a little sad. I want to savor these last few weeks of the boys' freedom, and really our freedom, too. Bedtime is lax, clothing is optional (to a point), and those Velcro-clasp sandals are so handy. They help keep those piles of white socks at bay for a few months. The neighborhood in which we live has suddenly come alive with lots of kids, and they tend to gather on our back deck to plan out the evenings' games, like TV tag (yes, they still play that) or war, which is a really loud, screaming kind of game that involves simulated gun blasts. John and I are pacifistic people to have such war-mongering children, but we can both recall playing a similar game in our youth. I was generally relegated to "nurse" by my brothers, though. I didn't see much action. They always sent me on reconnaissance missions to the kitchen to bring them ice water, which made me feel important at first, until I caught on. Dumb brothers.

The kids sometimes leap around our adjoining yards to catch lightning bugs and incarcerate them in a Mason jar for a few hours. (I usually sneak out later to spring them.) They run and scream and laugh until it's too dark to see, at about 9:15 or so, and then they drag in and assert that they are not tired, it's summer, can they watch TV? Because it's summer and they rarely have to get up early, we often let them relax in front of the idiot box for a little while, just to come down from strenuous warfare and bug arrests. Their feet are always grass-stained and dirty, and with the temperatures these days, their hair gets wildly curly and damp. But the suggestion of baths is always met with great cries of anguish. Why do little boys hate to bathe? What is so horrible about getting washed off? You'd think we were asking them to roll around in olive oil or something. "But we went swimming!" they wail, if they've been to my parents' pool that day. "We're clean!" whines the crusty trio. Sometimes, — say, if we can tell their mugs apart — we give in. But when they are so gross we don't want to hug them goodnight, well, there has to be some soap and water action. And there's hardly anything sweeter than three clean boys in night shirts, their hair and skin smelling like soap and their eyes heavy with sleepiness. Wow, they're cute when they doze off. And they're really quiet, too. Yay.

No, I don't want summer to go yet. It's a little hot this week, but we always have a week or two when we really sweat here in the mountains. But hey, just like snowstorms, it gives us something to talk about. It will soon pass and we'll be back to our friendly 75-degree days and 60-degree nights. The lilies and glads are at full tilt now, and the grasses are lush and tall. Apples and peaches are ripening, and the corn is just about ready to pick. Soon we can rush to local farms, buy corn on the day it was picked, throw it in boiling water for about eight minutes, and then have a treat that makes us all corn snobs for the rest of the year. Put that alongside fresh tomato and cucumber slices, green beans, and new beets — well, you just can't beat fresh produce, especially the stuff grown around here.

Then there's swimming. Boy, do I hate to say goodbye to that. My parents built a pool when I was just 3. So all my life, summer has meant water play. I tell my boys how I would wake up in the morning and just put on my bathing suit, and how I would swim underwater all the time and pretend I was a dolphin. (I decided early in my life that if there is such a thing as reincarnation, I will have to come back as a dolphin. They seem to have such fun, and they're smart enough to know it.) Now I swim at Mom and Dad's with the boys. I like to steep in memories of the early days, and my recollections are always aided by the faint scent of chlorine and tiny sizzling sound that rises when water hits the hot cement. I love to be immersed, hanging upside-down in the deep end and letting my hair float all around me. Such cool, still solitude. When I was small, I wished so hard to be able to breathe under there. That would have been perfect.

I love summer, especially here in Garrett County. But the fair is coming, so the season is winding down. Soon we will bustle all three kids to school for the first time, and I will revel in the quiet. But I will miss the boy-noise, and I will miss the water. I'm glad there are more than two weeks to go before life shifts again. In these two weeks I hope we bask in the sun, loll in the water, and etch new memories of summer bliss.

Driver Blacks Out; Hits Two Cars, Property

A Mountain Lake Park man reportedly blacked out while driving his 1998 GMC Safari on the morning of Aug. 5, according to a report from the Oakland City Police Department. Ronald Howard Gaskill, 67, was driving southbound on Fourth Street in Oakland at the time of the black-out and his car traveled across Oak Street, sideswiped two vehicles, and then came to rest against a house.

Assisting the Oakland police at the scene were the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, and the Columbia Gas Company.

Gaskill was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and then on Tuesday was taken to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where he was listed in stable condition this morning.

The vehicles hit by Gaskill were owned by James Feaster Jr. and Douglas Riley Jr., and the property involved in the mishap was that of Joseph Myers. No charges were filed in the incident.

Traffic Stop Results In Drug Arrests

Two Douglas, Wyo., residents were arrested by Maryland State Police troopers on drug charges after their vehicle was stopped along Interstate 68 at Friendsville Sunday morning.

Jon E. Werczynski, 28, and Brandy N. Baker, 25, were stopped shortly before 10 a.m. for not displaying tags on their Chevrolet van. Werczynski could not produce a driver's license, and a computer check revealed that it had been suspended. An ensuing search uncovered suspected marijuana and drug paraphernalia on both his person and in the van, and several bottles containing an unknown substance were also located in the vehicle.

Werczynski and Baker were both charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. Werczynski was released from the Garrett County Detention Center on a $15,000 bond, and Baker was released on a $5,000 bond.

In other state police news, a Howard County man was arrested on July 29 after a traffic stop on Garrett Highway near Northern High School.

Jamie Escobar, 22, Columbia, was stopped for a traffic violation shortly after 3 p.m., and the trooper observed what initially appeared to be several suspected marijuana seeds lying on his vehicle's back dash. Escobar consented to a vehicle search, and although no evidence of marijuana was located, a butterfly knife and a pair of brass knuckles were found. Escobar was charged with possession of concealed deadly weapons, and later released on a $500 bond.

An Oakland man was arrested on July 28 after he was found allegedly tampering with a Garrett County Roads Department grader parked at Sang Run and Bishoff roads near McHenry.

James Lamar Smith, 23, was apprehended a short distance from the scene immediately following the 11:08 p.m. incident. He is accused of tampering with a 1993 John Deere heavy equipment grader by turning on the lights, attempting to start the engine, turning on the county roads two-way radio, ripping out the microphone, and emptying a fire extinguisher.

Smith faces charges of tampering with a motor vehicle, malicious destruction of property, and disorderly conduct. He was released from jail on a $1,000 bond.

A July 28 domestic altercation at a Grantsville residence resulted in the arrest of Marty Lee Ritchie, 23, Lonaconing, on a charge of second degree assault. Ritchie allegedly struck his girlfriend at the Grantsville location, and was apprehended a short time later at a Green Lantern Road residence in the Lonaconing area. Ritchie was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

A West Virginia man was arrested on July 27 and charged with drug offenses after a traffic stop along I-68 at the Casselman River.

Ralph W. Willett, 28, Point Pleasant, was stopped for speeding, and it was learned that his driver's license was suspended. A vehicle search uncovered a bag of alleged marijuana, a smoking pipe, and a set of hand-held scales. Willett, who faces charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, and driving while suspended, was released on a $500 bond.

Two Friendsville men were arrested on July 27 after suspected drugs were found in their truck.

Christopher Williams, 32, was stopped for a seatbelt violation while traveling on Maple Street in Friendsville at 4 p.m. He reportedly told the trooper that he had consumed a bottle of beer, and was asked to exit the vehicle for field sobriety tests.

(not to be confused, Frantz said, with last week's computer virus) for Savage River flooding.

"Basically this will be a 'reverse 911' system," Frantz said, explaining that when a disaster is imminent, the emergency personnel will be able to contact people by phone to alert them and offer direction. Frantz reported that he also recently attended a seminar on public school disaster prevention/planning.

Duane Yoder, director of Garrett County Community Action Inc., reported that the Jennings Head Start school will remained closed for the time being. Last year, air quality concerns, evidenced by some ill teachers and students, led to the closing of the school. Yoder said that until his staff is completely confident that the air quality is safe, the school will remain closed. Students who would normally attend Head Start at this location will be transferred to Grantsville (nine-month program) or Accident (12-month program).

Yoder said a transit service survey is being taken to examine the need for regular routes for the Community Action buses. This survey will conclude at the end of August, and a report will be compiled on the findings.

The proposed multi-use exhibit hall for the Garrett County Fairgrounds is closer to reality, Yoder said. He reported that the design work for the 30,000-square-foot building is continuing, and that the preliminary plans are to begin a fund-raising campaign this fall, shortly after the close of the 2001 fair. The construction, if all falls into place, will begin after the close of the 2002 fair.

Trish Yoder, director of Mountain Top Mental Health Associates (the county's core services agency), reported that a grant for a school-based violence prevention program has been received. Four individuals will be hired to work with the schools in violence prevention. The children's psychiatric program, which is to be coordinated by a Washington County mental health organization headed up by Mark Lannon, will begin in the fall, in conjunction with the Garrett County Public School System.

Meg Ellis of the county's economic development office reported that the lease purchase agreement is nearly completed with ClosetMaid, the company that has announced it will build a facility in Grantsville and hire approximately 700 people. "We are very close on the closing," Ellis said.

Bob Stephens of the Garrett County Health Department reported that about 3,300 women and children are enrolled in the MCHIP program, and that a new development in the eligibility requirements should be noted by Garrett County citizens, especially those with no medical insurance coverage for their children. The requirements now make a person who earns up to 200% of the poverty level eligible to receive coverage. This means that a family of four can earn up to $52,950 and still be eligible. Those in the range of 100% to 200% of the poverty level may have to pay a very small premium, Stephens said.

"Anyone with questions about this should definitely contact us," Stephens said. The coverage offered in the plan is extensive, he said.

Stephens also reported on the health department's outreach division, which hosted a number of health-related displays throughout the county in July, and also conducted a 3-day camp for 102 children. He reported that the mental health division of the health department will finish the year "in the black" for the first time in several years.

The health department will have booths at the county fair again this year, focused on cancer prevention and the benefit of reading aloud to children. Volunteer readers are welcome to help out, he said.

A representative of the Extension Office reported that preparations for the county fair are in full swing. She also noted that the 4-H camps this summer were filled to capacity and were successful.

Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools, reported that the gym renovation at Northern High School is under way, and that the school's football field has been re-sodded. The gym floor at Southern Middle School is being refurbished, and roofing projects have taken place at a number of county schools this summer. The preliminary design work for the new planetarium is being completed. It will be located at the Hickory Center near Northern high.

According to a spokesperson for the home, the chapel groundbreaking will serve as a kick-off for a capital fund-raising campaign to benefit the project. The vision for a campus chapel had its seed in the spiritual education classes taught by the Rev. Angela Cosner, the campus chaplain. Several of the children and youth expressed a desire to have an on-campus chapel available for prayer and contemplation. "They offered their thoughts and ideas on what the chapel should look like, how it should be furnished, and so on," stated the spokesperson. "The children had a vision, and their vision is becoming a reality!"

The ceremony will be conducted by Rev. Angela Cosner, and will be attended by Burlington's president/CEO, Gary K. Wilson, members of the board of trustees, and the BUMFS auxiliary, United Methodist pastors, Burlington Family Services' staff members, the campus residents, and other Burlington friends. The Burlington Family Services maintenance team will construct the building.

very much on your side. I only wish it could be more," the senator told the group of library representatives, Commissioner Fred Holliday, and reporters, all included in the call. "It's great to give help to people who self-help," she said, referring to the reNEW library fund-raising committee, which has raised about $160,000, with the help of the town. Gary Ruddell, chairperson of reNEW, was among those in the conference call.

"This is great news," Ruddell told the senator. "We've been working very hard to raise funds, but in such a small area, it will take years to get the money we need. This is a great help." The total amount needed is nearly $800,000, Ruddell said.

Mikulski noted that a similar request in the U.S. House, made by Representative Roscoe Bartlett, did not pass. But she assured the group that she will continue on her own to secure the funds.

"It means a great deal to me to see this through," she said. "This new library can be a one-stop shop for lifelong learning, and, with its Internet availability, a great help in bridging the digital divide."

AIRWAY EMERGENCIES can be handled more quickly and effectively at Garrett County Memorial Hospital thanks to the creation of a state-of-the-art airway kit designed by Jeff Hinebaugh, R.N. and emergency room nurse supervisor. The mobile kit includes seven different types of airway adjuncts, all at the fingertips of the treating physician. Hinebaugh and emergency room physician Kimberly Treat are pictured above with the new kit. According to Dr. Treat, ensuring an open airway in a patient can be challenging, especially in trauma cases when the anatomy of the face and airway are disrupted, and bleeding causes airflow obstruction and obscures airway landmarks. "By having these different adjuncts readily available, we can handle almost any airway emergency," she said. "I am pleased and proud that GCMH now has this enhanced kit available to our patients."

Request Funding

gram reduces student absenteeism and increases interest in school, she said.

Linda Spassil and Larry Gnegy of the Dove Center reported serving 354 people last year. They want to expand their domestic violence program to include supervised visitations, an abusers intervention program, working in the school system, and date rape prevention and awareness.

"Garrett County residents are making a choice between eating and taking prescribed medications," Pam Nelson, Garrett Community Action Committee, told members of the Community Response Committee. She asked for funding to initiate a medications assistance program. The committee agreed to begin a program in Garrett County to assist people who cannot afford their prescription medications.

Marcene Huebner and Elizabeth Johnson asked the committee for funding to make the arts accessible to people who cannot afford performances of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. They sought funding from UWGC to provide transportation and to offset ticket costs for such persons. They also believe that exposing the arts to the county's youth will result in long-lasting benefits.

"When children are in crises, they may need a short-term shelter that provides safe, nurturing, and highly structured temporary placement. Or children may need more intensive educational experiences than they receive in a classroom of 30 pupils in the public schools. They receive these services at the Maryland Salem Children's Trust," explained Louise Richards, executive director. "The children are transported by People Movers."

Mountain Glade Adult Day Services is a respite for people caring for loved ones. The elderly who need medical monitoring benefit from the expertise of Joanne Harsh and the other nurses who are on the staff. United Way of Garrett County funding makes these services available to people who do not have adequate financial means.

Affordable, compassionate counseling is available to individuals in Garrett County through Western Maryland Catholic Charities. This nondenominational charity helps in cases of divorce, domestic violence, depression, life-threatening trauma relationships, and any other form of mental illness, according to Peg Whyte, senior program administrator.

Cathy Roman, Western Maryland Make-A-Wish Foundation, explained that the organization grants wishes to children under age 18 who have life-threatening illnesses. She receives referrals from doctors, social workers, families, hospitals, and treatment centers, she said.

UWGC financially supports all of these programs as well as the work of the Garrett County office of the Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross, Boy Scouts of America — Potomac Council, and Burlington United Methodist Family Services.

The response committee is chaired by Tom Myers, Mountaineer Log & Siding, who emphasized that UWGC funds specific projects. When agencies again request funding in the spring of 2002, they will be required to report their accomplishments via programs financed by UWGC, he reported.

Serving with Myers on the response committee were Don Battista, Linda Beatty, Helen Carroll, Jeannette Fitzwater, Rodney Glotfelty, Ernest Gregg, Robert Huebner, Julie Kelley, Shellie Knotts, Linda Moe, Ken Perrin, Bob Stephens, Eric Whytsell, and Ken Witte.

According to Fitzwater, campaign committee chairman for the UWGC, "the next step is to form a campaign committee and raise the $85,866 needed in Garrett County to fund the approved requests for agencies in 2002. Our major thrust will be to encourage employers to give their employees the opportunity to contribute to UWGC through payroll deduction," she concluded. Joining Fitzwater in this effort is Fran Wishnick, who has joined the executive committee of UWGC and will serve as vice chair of the campaign committee.

Information about volunteering for or contributing to UWGC may be obtained by calling 301-359-9697 or by writing to United Way of Garrett County, P.O. Box 394, Oakland, MD 21550.

IT'S ALL DOWNHILL FROM HERE (LITERALLY) — A Journey of Hope team of bicyclists and crew members passed through Garrett County yesterday en route from San Francisco to Washington, D.C., to raise funds and awareness on behalf of people with disabilities. A total of 28 Journey of Hope riders left California on June 10 for the 3,900 mile, 63-day bicycle trek from the Golden Gate Bridge to the U.S. Capitol building, averaging 70 miles a day and visiting over 100 cities along the way. "We're pedaling in the hot sun and across deserts and mountains because we want to make a difference in the lives of others," a team spokesperson said. At each stop, the team advocates for persons with disabilities and distributes educational information. The Journey of Hope is organized by the non-profit Push America, the national outreach project of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity. The group is shown as it passed through Grantsville yesterday.

To the Editor:

Thank goodness for Garrett County's Humane Society! Being part of this nationwide organization allows people like me to adopt animals out of our "home" area. There is an abundance of people coming into Garrett County from all over who can visit the animal shelter, fall in love with an available dog or cat needing a loving family, and apply to take it home!

And, thank God for the volunteers who give their time and their hearts for the welfare of many dogs and cats. Kip is one such lucky dog...he's a very noble-looking, young male about 1 year old; thanks to the Humane Society, he has been neutered and given all shots. Kip was left behind at the animal shelter and was there for some time before he became a "member" of the Humane Society.

Unfortunately, Kip has not yet been adopted and has been boarded for what must seem like forever to him. He is safe, he has shelter, he has food...he is visited by his Humane Society volunteer as often as possible and taken outside for a walk and some playtime. He is housebroken. I thank God for the fact that he has been spared from euthanasia, and I thank the veterinarian who was willing to board him. But Kip needs to be in a home and not "contained" as he is now. It is probable that he is in the kennel in the basement for 20 hours out of 24. The nights must be non-ending for him after all this time.

On July 29, I attended a class with a good friend and showed her Kip's picture. She fell in love with him, too. She has a 9-year-old daughter who has been wanting a playmate for her dog Angel. Ariana Maria loves all animals, and has been riding horses since she was 5 years old.

Adoption papers were filled out and given to the Humane Society volunteer.

We were sent home to await a home inspection, etc. We were told Kip would be taken to a foster home that day and would not be staying where he was being boarded. It was very sad to leave Kip, but Ana understood the reasons why. We were told that someone would visit Cathy's home before the weekend and the Humane Society volunteer offered to drive Kip to Sideling Mountain to meet us, and we would transport Kip from there.

Cathy and Kip's volunteer spoke on the phone on Aug. 3. The adoption was "canceled." There was no one to do the home inspection and there were questions about Cathy and Ana's dog Angel having been spayed. Ariana was sobbing while Cathy spoke to me on the phone. Cathy had once again been told that Kip was with a "friend," had a yard to play in, and was not where we had met him. A phone call confirmed that, indeed, Kip was still being boarded, that he was not elsewhere, not with a "friend," and not in a yard to play in. So Kip remains there, as of this writing, and a loving little girl and her mom with a 3-acre fenced yard and an empty transport kennel cry for him. Cathy's worst fear is that Kip will die from sadness, thinking that he wasn't wanted, or that he will be destroyed. I spoke with Gary Mullich from the Garrett County commissioners' office and he assured me that Kip will not be destroyed by the county; I conveyed this information immediately to my friend and her family.

Ariana Maria's present dog Angel is 4 years old, has never been in estrus (heat), and has never had a litter. It was Cathy's understanding that her dog was spayed before she adopted it to make her more adoptable because she was part of a litter that was "undesirable." Cathy drove to Pennsylvania to rescue both Angel and her brother; they have had them be part of their family for over four years.

And no, Cathy's vet did not do the spaying surgery, as was told to the Humane Society volunteer in charge of Kip. I could not sit back and let this happen. My friend, her husband and daughter, and this gallant dog are all suffering needlessly. Kip needs a loving home. Ana and her family need Kip.

Perhaps there could be a way for a family to adopt a dog or cat in a less insulting fashion. The Petsmarts in our area have animal adoptions on Saturdays from the SPCA, the Humane Societies of different counties, and the animal shelters. I have two cats that I adopted this way just by going in to buy supplies for the cat I already had.

It works like this: You go in, you fill out an adoption contract; the contract is reviewed and discussed; if you can fulfill the requirements, you leave with the animal. That's it. No home "inspection"...the very word can be humiliating. Cathy agreed to it because she had nothing to fear, as did I.

God knows that all living creatures deserve people who love them and good places to live their lives, but are we taking it a bit too far? Can't we rely on our own human intuition a bit more when it comes to placing these wonderful animals? If there is a solid question about a potential home, can't we consider advising the potential adopting family that we would appreciate an opportunity to visit the dog or cat in the near future to see how everything is working out for everyone? May I suggest that when someone comes from hours away to give a home to a dog or cat that they've seen and heard about, can't there be some trust to allow that animal to go "home"? Chances are that someone who has driven hours and gone to the expense of overnight accommodations to meet with a cat or dog is serious about the adoption, and that the last thing they would want is to harm the animal in any way, or not provide it with a safe home.

I, for one, will never forget the sadness in Kip's eyes when he was shown an open door that was then closed, and then returned to his pen in a basement for the remainder of that day and is still there as I write to you. Let's concentrate instead on the issues brought forth so well by the letter in last week's Republican editorial section sent in by the very caring Bernadine Friend! Isn't is a form of abuse to keep an animal from a loving home? Keeping a dog confined for 23 days aside from an hour or two is certainly a form of abuse. I must wonder at the "humane-ness" of this action. No one knows Kip is there! How will he ever be adopted? Let's not think that he may have been "better off" in some way not to have been picked up by the loving people who dedicate their lives to the Garrett County Animal Shelter and the Garrett County Humane Society.

will be a dynamic and critical member of our Smart Growth team."

The new secretary said he is "honored and delighted" with the appointment. "Maryland is renowned as a national leader in better land use and natural resource management issues," Fox said. "I am very excited to help build on Maryland's progress and to keep working to protect and preserve the magnificent natural heritage of the state."

Prior to his Chesapeake Bay Foundation position, Fox worked for the EPA as the assistant administrator for water. Nominated by former President Bill Clinton, he was responsible for implementing the Clean Water Act and Safe Drinking Water Act. He represented the administration before the U.S. Congress, and directed all functions of the office, including budget, personnel, communications, and policy.

He served as an assistant secretary of the Maryland Department of the Environment, and, prior to that, as the campaign director for American Rivers, a nonprofit organization dedicated to protecting and restoring rivers nationwide. He also served as the director of legislative affairs for the Friends of the Earth, an international federation of environmental organizations. Fox has also served as chairman of the board for the Maryland League of Conservation Voters and is still on the board of directors.

In regard to the exiting secretary, Giendening said she has served Maryland and its natural resources well. "From our state parks and forests to our coastal bays, she has helped ensure that future generations of Marylanders will be able to experience and appreciate our natural heritage," the governor said. "I thank her for her dedicated public service."

Castillo, Peterson Top Winners In 80th Western Md. Tourney

Participants and spectators of the 80th annual Western Maryland Tennis Championships, held this past week at the Mountain Lake Park Tennis Club clay courts, enjoyed excellent weather conditions all four days of the tourney, allowing all of the final matches to be completed at the local courts for the first time in three years. The event is the oldest red clay tournament sanctioned by the United States Tennis Association in the United States.

According to tournament referee Dave DeGrafft, the championships attracted 125 participants from six states, including Hawaii, as well as a player from Germany, Peter Eck.

Among the new faces in the tournament this year was that of Rebecca Peterson of Owings Mills, who unseated four-time women's single champion Sarah Tritt of New Tripoli, Pa., formerly of Garrett County. Tritt won the first set, 6-4, but Peterson took the next two and the title, 6-0, 6-2.

"There were some very strong players in the women's division," DeGrafft said.

Defending men's singles champion Roberto Castillo of Olney prevailed in a strong men's open division, as he stopped Harris Rosenblatt of Bethesda in the title match, 6-4, 6-3.

Winning the men's 35 singles final was William Moldoch of Annapolis, who rolled to a 6-2, 6-0 victory over Rick Satterlee of Timonium.

Ken Howard of Bethesda took the crown in the men's 45 singles division by defeating Terry Deremer of Morgantown, W.Va., in the championship match, 6-3, 6-0.

The winner of the men's 55 singles trophy was William Sowers of Hagerstown, who edged two-time champion Arlie Eddins of Honolulu, Hawaii, 6-7 (2), 6-4, 6-4. The gruelling match lasted 3½ hours, and Sowers had played a 4-hour semifinal match the previous day.

Ray Santamaria, Cockeysville, won the men's 65 singles division after a long, three-set match with William Fraser, Silver Spring, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2.

Doyle Royal, the oldest and longest active participant in the tournament, and a previous winner of many titles, was defeated in the men's 75 singles final by Ed Kilgore, Hampton, Va., 6-2, 6-1.

The team of Jill Campbell, Richmond, Va., and women's singles champion Rebecca Peterson won the women's doubles title by stopping the team of Alva Harsh, Hagerstown, and Patty Smith, Waynesboro, Pa.

Prevailing in a strong men's open doubles field was the team of Gene Cutter, Frostburg, and Chris Stambaugh, Frederick, which topped the duo of Dexter McBride, Gaithersburg, and Harris Rosenblatt, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1.

Fred McNair IV and Ned Scherer, both of McLean, Va., coasted to victory in the men's 35 doubles by blanking the team of Alan Rishez, Uniontown, Pa., and Robert Zoppetti, California, Pa., 6-0, 6-0.

In the men's 55 doubles finals, Arlie Eddins and Jay Franklin, both of McLean, Va., captured the title by defeating Jack Fraser, Clarksburg, W.Va., and Kent Parker, Morgantown, W.Va., 6-2, 6-4.

Ken Howard and Harvey Ratner, Silver Spring, were declared the winners in the men's 45 doubles when their opponents were unable to appear for their match.

Injuries also kept Charles Atherton, Del Ray Beach, Fla., out of his men's 65 doubles final with his partner Andy Thomas, Bethesda. The other finalists, Jim Cummings, Towson, and tournament referee DeGrafft, Mtn. Lake Park, were thus declared the winners.

The men's 70 doubles title went to Elton Suter, Baltimore, and Kile Williams, Cockeysville, who defeated the team of tournament veterans Earle Brown, Potomac, and Murdaugh Madden, Washington, D.C., 6-3, 6-1.

The husband and wife team of Jill and Matt Campbell, Richmond, defeated Sarah Tritt and Sean O'Neil, Jefferson, by scores of 6-4 and 6-2 to win the mixed doubles championship.

In addition to DeGrafft, other members of the tournament committee included: William Tritt, tournament director; Kathie Smith, tournament secretary; and Nan Gangler, Kathleen Gibbs, and Kathy Johnson, assistant secretaries. The committee members expressed appreciation to Simon Pearce Glass Company and the Pepsi-Cola Company for donations, to Stewart Funerai Home for providing tents, and to BumBle Q's Restaurant for having food available at the courts during the tournament.

DeGrafft also noted that spectator comfort at the tournament was enhanced by the refurbished grandstands, made possible by a "generous gift" by Jerry Stonham.

"The continuing success of this tournament is made possible through the hard work of so many volunteers, including Jay Clark, Dana DeGrafft, Mimi DeGrafft, Robin Eastman, Dottie Frame, and Mariene Gibbs, as well as the through the support of the mayor and town council of Mtn. Lake Park," DeGrafft said.

Oaks Down Rosemont, Take #1 Fairmont To Full Series

The Oakland Oaks played some gut-check baseball this past weekend in the opening rounds of the Pen-Mar League's playoff tournament in Fairmont, W.Va. With only nine players in uniform, the Oaks downed Rosemont, 8-4, in Saturday's opening round, earning best-of-three series against the top-seeded Fairmont hosts. Fairmont took the first game Saturday evening 11-0, but Oakland rebounded the next day to pull off a 4-2 upset and take the series to the wire. The Oaks were defeated by a narrow 4-1 margin.

"Our guys can hold their heads high," said substitute coach Terry Helbig, summoned to the dugout along with Ed Wildesen and John Helmick when the Oaks' regular coaching staff was forced to miss the weekend because of other commitments.

"We played two straight days of doubleheaders in 90-plus degree heat, with only nine players on the roster, and came close to knocking off the league's top team. We just ran out of gas at the end; if we had the flexibility to make substitutions and rest some of our players, we could have beaten Fairmont, which was loaded with quality college players. We're very proud of the way our guys performed."

The Oaks wasted no time in getting on the board against Rosemont Saturday, scoring once in the first inning, three times in the second, and once in the third to take an early 5-0 lead. Rosemont scored once in the fourth, but Oakland answered with a run in the sixth to make it 6-1. Rosemont threatened by scoring three runs in the eighth, but the Oaks pocketed the four-run win with a two-run ninth inning.

Oakland's batters hammered the Rosemont pitching staff for 11 hits in the win, with Jarrett Townsend's double and two singles leading the way. Mickey Chapman drove home three runs on a two-run single and a fielder's choice grounder, Justin DiSimone whacked a run-scoring single and drew a bases-loaded walk, and Joey DiSimone and Mike Shahan each belted a double.

Christian Warfield, Justin DiSimone (8) and Mik Bowman; Nick Matheny, Jeff Pethel (3) and Josh Haggerty.

Christian Warfield hurled the first 7-1/3 innings, allowing just one run and recording three strikeouts before being relieved in the eighth as Rosemont mounted a minor threat to Oakland's lead. Reliever Justin DiSimone squelched the fire in the eighth and held Rosemont scoreless in the ninth. Warfield and DiSimone gave up only six hits between them.

Neither full details nor box scores from the Oakland-Fairmont series were available, but the Oaks' opening 11-0 loss featured a game-winning pitching performance by Fairmont's Chris Clyde, while Oakland's Justin DiSimone was tagged with the loss.

Coming off an 11-run loss, it would have been easy for the overmatched Oaks to mentally throw in the towel during the long bus ride to Fairmont the next morning. Oakland threw down the gauntlet, however, and took a two-run upset win over the 23-1 Fairmont powerhouse. Jay Bruckey earned the win on the mound with a superb performance, and he was aided by Dan Kochenderfer's double and single for one RBI, and Warfield's clutch two-run single in the eighth inning that proved to be the game-winning hit.

The baseball marathon and heat caught up to the Oaks in Sunday's second game, which they lost by just three runs. Todd Bell picked up Fairmont's pitching win, while Josh Fitzwater was handed the loss despite giving a valiant effort. Warfield stroked two singles and Kochenderfer ripped an RBI single for Oakland's lone score.

This weekend's Pen-Mar League championship will be decided in a best-of-three series between Fairmont and 22-4 Tri-State. The series opens Saturday at Allegany College of Maryland with a 1 p.m. nine-inning game, then the squads move to Fairmont the following day for a 1 p.m. doubleheader (if needed).

TOP LITTLE LEAGUE PIZZA PEDDLERS — The Oakland Little League's annual pizza sales campaign proved to be a huge success, thanks in part to these energetic youngsters who earned recognition for making the most sales. Top individual seller for the second straight year was J.T. Collins of the Surgical Group T-ball team, shown at the left accepting a $100 check from fund-raising campaign chairperson Jackie Stuck. Collins sold 60 pizza kits to raise $1,024. Highest team sales honors went to the Surgical Group T-ball team, shown above which raised $1,920, and whose players were treated to an ice cream sundae party for their accomplishment. In Row 1 are Chase Sisler, Juilanna Sharpless, Steve Collins, Alex Miske, Austin Forrester, and Garrett Hoffman. Row 2: Noel Custer, J.T. Collins, Cole Sanders, Nicole Harman, Chase Garner, and Jeremy Rice. Row 3: coaches Joe Harman and Tim Sisler, manager Curt Miske, and parent John Sharpless.

Crellin United Brethren Wins League Crown

Crellin United Brethren, which finished tied for third in the regular-season standings, captured the league championship in the Garrett County Area Christian Men's Softball League by winning the post-season tournament. Crellin United Methodist, which was the top seed in the event with a 19-3 regular-season mark, placed second in the tourney, while Mt. View Mennonite finished third and Gortner Union placed fourth.

Mt. View was second in the regular-season standings with a 17-5 mark, while Gortner Union was tied with Crellin UB for third place, each with 16-6 records.

The league will hold its annual home run derby this Saturday, Aug. 11, on the Crellin field, beginning at 4 p.m. Proceeds from the event, held in memory of Jeff Roszell, benefit the Epilepsy Foundation. Roszell, who was killed in a motor vehicle accident several years ago, had epilepsy. His father, Will Roszell, was a member of the league for many years.

Following the home run derby there will be a league all-star game, as well as the awarding of the 2001 sportsmanship trophy.

Persons desiring more information about the Epilepsy Foundation may telephone Will Roszell at Garrett Automotive, 301-387-6148.

Sailboat Racing

On Deep Creek Lake

by Ted Rissell

Saturday was a good sailing day. Bruce Spinnenweber was scheduled to be the race commander. However, his brother Keith was injured several weeks ago when his Laser sailboat was run over by a motor boat — while Keith was sailing. He suffered a broken left hand and ankle. If he had been sitting a little further aft, he could have been killed. Keith won't be sailing any more this summer. Not only was his boat literally cut in half, but it takes two hands to sail. Keith offered his services as race committee so his brother Bruce could sail. Keith postponed the start for 30 minutes, waiting for the wind to fill in and set a very nice windward leeward course, taking good advantage of the available wind.

In the first race Saturday, Eric Silverman won the Laser A Fleet, followed by Bruce Spinnenweber and Peter Frey. The Laser B Fleet took advantage of a good sailing day. Brian Spinnenweber was first and Lucy Kammer, second.

The Flying Scot A Fleet was won by John Meredith with his niece, Ashley Dodd, as crew. Jane and Dave Mahan were second, and Don and Barbara Griffin were third. The Flying Scot B Fleet was won by Meredith Dodd with her cousin, Brian Benhart, while Lee and Joan Coraor placed second, and Sally Ericsson with husband Tom Garwin were third.

In the Flying Scot C (Masters) Fleet, Ed Peters with Jim Sherrard as crew won the start. They then covered the second-place boat to keep first place. In sailing, the term cover means that you always stay between your nearest competitor and the next mark. That way both boats will be sailing in the same wind and it is very hard for the trailing boat to gain advantage. Ted Rissell and Bob Hacker were second, and Barbara Elster and Eileen Smith were third.

In the second race, the Laser results were the same as the first race. First and second place were the same in the A Fleet Scots, but Mo and Vicky Wiley moved up to third. Likewise in the B Fleet Scots, the first two places were the same, but Karl Rath moved up to third. The C Fleet, or Masters Division, sails only one race on Saturday.

Sunday was a very pretty day. The wind filled in from the northeast, an unusual direction, but soon became light and spotty. We noted a DNR police boat watching the races and taking pictures.

The Laser results were the same as on Saturday. In the Scot A Fleet, Don and Barbara Griffin were first, Charles and Sarah Buffington, second, and Jane and Dave Mahan, third. In the B Fleet, Meredith Dodd and her sister Ashley were first, Jennifer Williams and husband, Bill Jacob, were second, and Gary Schubert and wife, Alice Rosanski, were third.

In the C Fleet, Ed Peters and Jim Sherrard made it two in a row, holding off Barbara Elster and Eileen Smith. Phil Hanna and Bob Verkouteren were third.

Many of the sailors placing in the races are instructors at the Deep Creek Sailing School. Ed Peters, Gary Schubert, Meredith Dodd, and Eric Silverman are all teaching at the school this week. There were 14 youngsters out sailing Monday in Optimist Prams and Lasers with a short rig. Last week the school had 17 adult beginners. Two of them had such a good time that they ordered new Flying Scot sailboats.

Next week is the Ladies Regatta for Flying Scots. The gals will have the helm. The event was organized several years ago by Gerri Meehan, and is gaining in popularity. The Lasers will also have a regatta. Most of the men will follow the races in power boats. Some of them have been known to place wagers on the outcome, although the ladies all agree that this is in very poor taste.

Archery Tourney Results Noted

The Bethlehem Bow Hunters and Potomac-Garrett State Forest sponsored the first Bethlehem Bow Hunters State Camp Shoot recently at the State Forest Archery Range, located along Potomac Camp Road. The 3-D archery tournament was instituted as an appreciation for archers who had taken part in the first summer 3-D Archery League. Archers had to qualify for the tournament by shooting a minimum of 10 rounds during the 16-week league season, and trophies were awarded to the top competitors in both the tournament and the league season.

Top tournament rankings and scores were as follows. Men's Open Division: Kevin Evans, 263; Richard Helmick, 251; and Roger Helmick, 249. Women's Open: Connie Vogel, 263. Hunter Class: Phil Schoolcraft, 281; Jerry Vogel, 266; and Dusty Knapp, 239. Youth Class: Todd Simmons 191.

Top shooter trophies for highest league scores were as follows. Men's Open: Kevin Evans, 2,859 with 67 bullseyes. Women's Open: Connie Vogel, 2,333 with 10 bullseyes. Hunter Class: Jerry Vogel, 2,803 with 32 bullseyes. Youth Class: Todd Simmons, 1,987 with 26 bullseyes.

Area Speedway Review

ROARING KNOB
by Donna Butier

Jeff Ferguson, the "Brownfield Bullet," took home victory number 6 in the Ken Nicholson and Sons Late Model division on Saturday night.

Polesitter Tim Reed led the field to the green. A lap-1 caution due to a four-car pile up in turn 1 sent Reed pitside, along with Ron Reese, who experienced unrelated difficulties.

On the restart, Gary Tonkery took the helm and showed the way for 15 circuits. Plenty of good clean action saw a number of drivers heading forward. D.J. Cline, from seventh on the grid, sat in second by lap 6. Eleventh starter Jim Kutas was in third as they completed the 12th go-round. But the night would belong to Ferguson.

Because of winning three consecutive features, Ferguson was required to start at the tail. Ferguson's driving talents were severely tested, but he was up to the challenge, as he sliced through the field, moving past Cline for second on the 10th lap. Then, on lap 16, he rode tight on the inside of turns 3 and 4, nosing by Tonkery to take the point, which he would not relinquish. Tonkery, Kutas, and Cline followed, with young Billy Eash turning in a fine fifth-place run. Mel Minnick, Dave Yowler, Jesse Guseman, Bob Neratka, and Dwane Shultz completed the top 10. There were only two cautions in the well-run event.

Donnie Witt of Mt. Savage took his first at the Knob in the Caney Valley Sport and Marine AMRA Modified division. Dana McIntyre claimed the runner-up spot, followed by Quint Milburn and Mark Baylor. The event saw one yellow.

The VitaLink/Q-COL Classic Lite event had multiple feature winners John Cogar and Mike Hay battling for the point over the entire distance. When the smoke cleared, Cogar, of Fairmont, W.Va., was the victor, followed by Hay, Bob Bolin, Lynn Knepper, and John Mark Spencer. There were three cautions in the event.

Yellow fever kept the Country Charm Hot Stocks tight, but the "Flying Bodyman," Marty Anker, wired the field. Farmington's Anker kept Denny Bennett at bay for most of the event and fought off a furious late race charge by John Redshaw en route to his first career victory at the mountaintop oval. Redshaw would finish second, followed by Joe Thomas, Jim Bendishaw Sr., and Curt Hager. Six cautions marred the event.

Markleysburg's Floyd Carey broke Danny Leonard's grip on victory lane in the Fort Necessity Garage 4-Cylinder Stock division. Carey was followed to the stripe by Dane Burnworth, Martin Spade Jr., Danny Leonard, and Bob Miller. There were four cautions.

Roaring Knob Raceway Park will be back in action this Saturday, Aug. 11. In addition to regular Mountain Thunder Racing, the Fort Necessity Garage 4-Bangers will be on the card for the duration of the season. Appalachian Timber Products will hold a race car art show for the youngsters. The August 10 4-cylinder show has been canceled.

Roaring Knob Raceway Park is located two miles west of the Youghiogheny Lake, just off Route 40 along Fearer Road. For more information, persons may call the raceway office at 724-329-0306 or 724-329-8196, or visit www.roaringknob.com on the Web.

INTERSTATE 79
by Cheryl Baker-Stasiak

It was an exciting evening of racing at the Interstate 79 Speedway Friday evening. Butch McGill, M.T. Hall, Ron Parrish, Jim Bendishaw, and Jeff Pennington picked up checkered flags.

The second leg of the West Virginia State Championship Series sponsored by Clinical and Pharmacologic Research was picked up by Butch McGill, who was the fast qualifier with a time of 14.955. McGill started from the fourth position and took the lead on lap 8. Chuck Harper and Nolan Dalton led the field to the green. Harper took the lead at the drop of the green and held on until lap 5, when he got high in the loose dirt in turn four and McGill got by. Dalton led on the next go-around, then McGill got by for the final time on lap 8. Dalton was second and Paul Wilmoth came on to finish third after fading early. Gary Dalton, Chuck Harper, Robbie Scott, Ed Reed, Scott Miles, Doug Horton, and Frank Buzzo rounded out the top 10. Buzzo was the Timberwolf Hard Charger

FLAG DEDICATED AT CUPPETT & WEEKS — A ceremony was held last week at the Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home in Oakland to dedicate a new American flag. A host of military veterans were on hand for the event. Carl Rebele, a veteran of the Korean War, led the Pledge of Allegiance, and Ward Ashby, a WWII vet, spoke about the flag and read a poem. Rev. John Grant played "Amazing Grace" on the bagpipes, and Ashby provided the benediction. The flag now flies near the entrance of the facility.

Courtney Keeys Awarded Child Care Credential

Courtney Keeys of the Garrett County Community Action Committee has been awarded a Child Development Associate (CDA) Credential in recognition of outstanding work with young children. The credential was awarded by the Council for Professional Recognition in Washington, D.C., which represents the early childhood profession.

Keeys is a teacher with the GCCAC Early Head Start Program in Oakland. Early Head Start is a child and family development program serving children 3 weeks to 36 months of age, and pregnant women.

CDA is the only major national effort to improve child care by evaluating and recognizing the skills of individuals providing care. The first credential was awarded 25 years ago, and now 46 states plus the District of Columbia include CDA in their child care licensing regulations.

As part of the CDA assessment process, every candidate for the CDA credential is observed working with young children or families by an early childhood professional. In addition, the candidate must demonstrate the ability to work with families to develop children's physical and intellectual capabilities in a safe and healthy learning environment.

Child care staff and parents wanting information on CDA should write to the Council for Professional Recognition at 2460 16th Street, Washington, D.C. 20009-3575, or call 202-265-9090 or 1-800-424-4310.

For more information about the GCCAC Early Head Start Program, persons may contact the office at 301-533-0270.

average about 200 gallons of water per minute. About 1/2 of this capacity will be committed to Tyler Mountain.

Fisher said that Perrier intends to share the revenue generated from the sale of Deer Park Water to Tyler Mountain with the local community. The commissioners suggested that these proceeds be shared with the town of Deer Park and its residents to help cover the expenses associated with the upgrade of the town's water system.

Fisher agreed to the commissioners' request to allow the sanitary district to use the excess capacity at the Deer Park Boiling Spring well to supplement Deer Park's water system. Fisher said that Perrier would agree to this request with the understanding that the company would retain the right to reactivate the facility for commercial use.

The commissioners thanked Fisher for the manner in which Perrier treated the former Deer Park Water employees.

"While no one is happy with the decision to close the facility, everyone appreciates the consideration that Perrier has shown for the workforce," a commissioner spokesperson said. The water company has reportedly provided severance packages, offered employees jobs at other Perrier facilities, and provided several weeks' advance notice.

finance from Loyola College, Baltimore. He most recently worked for Honeywell Technology Solutions Inc. as a senior manager for business development and program manager. At Honeywell, Shap was responsible for strategic planning and business development.

He previously worked for Apple Computer, Digital Equipment Corporation, and Westinghouse Electric Corporation. Shap is a graduate of the Howard County Leadership Program and served as a member of the planning committee for the Howard County High Technology Network. He and his wife Barbara reside in the Deep Creek Lake area.

The commissioners said the importance of technology in today's business world led to the creation of the position. A press release concerning the hire of Shap relayed the following: "Technology allows businesses to improve productivity and to be competitive in an increasingly competitive climate. Technology-based jobs provide good pay and benefits and are environmentally friendly. Improvements in the county's technology infrastructure and skill base will encourage business growth, and provide an opportunity for the area's residents to realize an improved standard of living while maintaining residence in the county."

by advancing eight spots.

Semi-Late division point leader M.T. Hall extended his point lead by picking up feature win number six. Hall dominated the field from the drop of the green to the drop of the checker. L.C. Powers was second, Eugene Towson was third, and Jeff Kesling and Steve Wilmoth rounded out the top five.

Fairmont's Ron Parrish made it two in a row by picking up the AMRA Modifieds feature. Parrish was challenged by the Defibaugh brothers, but was able to hold them off. Deck Defibaugh finished second, while Dave Defibaugh was third. Shawn Davis was fourth and Rick Smith came in fifth; however, Smith failed to report for post-race inspection and was relegated to last, and Doug Thompson moved up to fifth. Louie Krushansky, Ray Perkins, Renee Dean, Kenny Rogers, and Vic Vandergrift rounded out the top 10.

Jim Bendishaw broke Jim Byers' winning streak in the Pure Stock division. Bendishaw started from the third starting spot and led the entire event. Byers did manage a second spot finish. Joe Loudin, Chad Green, and Dusty Hamrick rounded out the top five.

In the Four-Cylinder division Jeff Pennington visited the winners' circle for the first time in the 2001 season. Kevin Pifer finished second, Wyatt Pifer third, Dave Summers fourth, and Skip Raupach fifth.

Susan Carter Weds Darren Lambert

Susan M. Carter, daughter of William T. Carter of Virginia Beach, Va., and the late Carol E. Carter, and Darren G. Lambert, son of Ellsworth G. and Peggy Lambert of Oakland, were united in marriage recently at the Chapel by the Sea in Dam Neck, Va., with the Rev. Tagore Jenkins officiating.

The organist was Deborah Moran, who accompanied Michelle Littman as she sang several wedding selections. The groom's mother also sang "The Rose" while accompanying herself on the piano. The father of the groom served as best man, and Pamela Stone, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, and a bouquet of flowers was placed in the chapel in memory of the bride's mother. The couple presented the groom's mother with a bouquet of carnations.

The bridesmaids were Tammy Edwards, friend of the bride and groom, Christy Jones and Ashley Stone, the bride's nieces, and Diane Geoghegan, aunt of the bride. Groomsmen were B.J. and Ryan King, sons of the bride, and Michael Stone, the brother-in-law of the bride. Serving as ring bearer was Colin King, the bride's son. The flower girls were Brittney and Taylor Jones, twin nieces of the bride. All are from Virginia Beach. Felicia Marple of Kingwood, W.Va., registered the guests.

A sit-down dinner reception was held at the Doubletree Inn in Virginia Beach. The disc jockey was Gary Barnes of Chesapeake, Va. During the reception the groom performed "I Cross My Heart" for the bride.

The couple honeymooned in the Virgin Islands of St. Thomas and St. John. The bride was honored at a bridal shower given by her sister, Pamela Stone. The rehearsal dinner was held at Founders Inn, Virginia Beach.

The bride is a graduate of Kempsville High School, Virginia Beach. The groom is a graduate of Southern High School, Oakland, and is a 12-year veteran of the U.S. Navy, stationed out of Norfolk, Va. He is the grandson of the late Russell and Edna Lambert, of Frances D. Otto, Swanton, and the late Fred Otto, and the great-grandson of Mary E. Paugh, a 92-year-old resident of Dennett Road Manor nursing home in Oakland, and the late Clarence Paugh.

The couple reside in Virginia Beach.

ORIGINAL SIN

Rated R - Running Time: 1:56 - Released 8/3/01

Antonio Banderas and Angelina Jolie would seem a perfect combination when it comes to sheer drawing power, since both are currently hot Hollywood commodities. Jolie's recent turn as superheroine Lara Croft in Tomb Raider is still unspooling in theaters as we speak, and both are well-known for being easy on the eyes, but their pairing in Michael Cristofer's period crime thriller Original Sin leaves something to be desired. While the couple look terrific in 19th-century costumes and share a sizzling sex scene (they are out of costume for that one), they lack the romantic spark to make the story believable and their characters are not likeable enough for us to make the necessary emotional investment.

Banderas plays Luis Vargas, a wealthy Cuban coffee baron whose thriving Santiago plantation has brought him everything except that which he desires most: a wife. (Apparently he couldn't find any local girls willing to marry a rich, love-starved plantation owner who looks like Antonio Banderas.) Placing an ad in U.S. newspapers, he finally succeeds in attracting a mate, but the frumpy spinster from Delaware he expects (after exchanging letters and pictures) turns out to be Angelina Jolie, who presumably couldn't find any men willing to marry a beautiful, long-haired knockout with full, luxurious lips and fabulous hooters. The couple are instantly married and begin an idyllic lifestyle together at his Havana estate, but a slight fissure in their wedded bliss occurs when she empties his bank account and disappears. Not only that, she may have killed his canary.

You see, as it turns out, she is really actress and con woman Bonnie Castle, whose lover and lifelong actor friend Billy (Thomas Jane) not only has complete emotional and psychological control over her but is getting great notices as Satan in the local theatre production. Together, the two enact a plan to take Luis for all he's worth, but Bonnie's growing affection for the lovable lug and his immense gullibility begins to get in the way.

The film is based on the novel Waltz Into Darkness by the famous late thriller-meister Cornell Woolrich (a.k.a. William Irish); it is adapted for the screen by director Cristofer. While the story itself could be quite intriguing, Cristofer has great difficulty translating it into believable dialogue and in generating any real tension among his good-looking but emotionally stunted cast. Jolie and Banderas never seem to really like each other, or in fact even look at each other, although she is supposed to be steadily falling for him as the action progresses. There is enough technique between them to render some adequate exchanges, but too much has been left to rest on their shoulders. Meanwhile, alongside them, Jane just looks like a hack with a fake moustache. On the technical side, the film is visually pretty, with rich period accoutrements and Hispanic atmosphere. But if you're looking for an intelligent thriller, you may be disappointed. ★★★½

RUSH HOUR 2

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:30 - Released 8/3/01

Director Brett Ratner obviously knows a good thing when he sees it. The success of 1998's buddy cop comedy Rush Hour, his breakthrough as a director, left little question as to whether there would be sequels. The only question is, how many? Answer: however many the market will bear.

Ratner's Rush Hour 2 reunites Chinese kung fu superstar Jackie Chan and Eddie Murphy-school funnyman Chris Tucker for another action-filled romp, this time split between the streets of Hong Kong and those of L.A. It begins in the Asian metropolis, where LAPD detective James Carter (Tucker) is visiting his old pal, Detective Inspector Lee (Chan) while on vacation there. Unfortunately, Inspector Lee is not on vacation, and when the American embassy is bombed and two agents are killed, Lee is forced to get back to work. Since the agents were Americans, Carter also has an interest in the case, and soon the two are working together again, kicking and punching their way through several groups of Chinese thugs in order to get information. When their quarry, crime lord Ricky Tan (John Lone) makes his getaway to the states, the intrepid Chinese inspector and his wisecracking counterpart follow, tailing Tan to L.A. and finally cornering him at a Las Vegas casino owned by influential American Steven Reign (a strangely out-of-place Alan King), who seems to be in on the deal. Also present are Ricky's high-kicking female accomplice Hu Li (Ziyi Zhang, Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon) and Latina femme fatale Isabella Molina (Roselyn Sanchez), who may or may not be working for Reign.

I daresay this film is more enjoyable than its predecessor, which seemed like recycled material at best, since Chan and Tucker are more relaxed together and an aura of friendship clearly exists between them. They seem to be moving into their own realm now rather than riding on the coattails of other comic police duos. The screenplay for this film is by Jeff Nathanson, who has capitalized on the odd couple scenario, but director Ratner has wisely chosen not to stay rigidly bound to the text, allowing Chan and Tucker to ad-lib much of the comedy. Meanwhile, the kung fu is, of course, amazing, especially considering that unlike many recent martial arts filmmakers, Chan does not use any special effects to enhance the look of his combat, and in fact does all his own stunts. Fans of the martial arts will enjoy battles in several locations, including a massage parlor, a luxury yacht, a casino, and atop some precarious-looking bamboo scaffolding. Chan's athletic and gymnastic ability is, as usual, quite impressive, cleverly using furniture and other nearby objects to aid in his well-choreographed fighting. This is made all the more evident when one sees the traditional closing credit outtakes, wherein he occasionally misses his mark and falls on his face or some other body part. In one such blooper, he has a spectacularly painful-looking fall, and when asked by an offscreen voice if he's okay, Chan quips, "Jackie's always okay!"

One thing of interest to Chan's female fans may be the nude scene, a first for the Hong Kong superstar, where he is forced to run through traffic holding a newspaper over himself. In a talk show interview, Chan said this was his most embarrassing moment, especially when a young girl approached him between shots and asked for an autograph (while his hands were clearly otherwise engaged). But regardless of whether you're interested in seeing Chan's fists in action, his buns exposed, or his interaction with his American friend, if you're a fan, you'll probably be impressed. ★★★★

THE PRINCESS DIARIES

Rated G - Running Time: 1:55 - Released 8/3/01

Although the Walt Disney company has not been exactly batting a thousand in their live-action department in the last few years, The Princess Diaries, directed by romantic comedy veteran Garry Marshall, is certainly a step in the right direction. Far from a showcase of thespianism, the film offers a simple, sweet, idealistic plot line and a few fun little diversions, with adequate work by Anne Hathaway and several other teen actors and a thoroughly dignified performance by family-film icon Julie Andrews. Its story, adapted by Gina Wendkos from the novel by Meg Cabot, represents what Disney executives probably assume is every young girl's dream: to become a princess. Aaack. Excuse me.

Hathaway plays consummate teen geek and outcast Mia Thermopolis, whose puke-inducing fear of public speaking makes us wonder why she enrolled in debating class at San Francisco's Anthony Grove High School. Adorned with a mop of frizzy hair and thick, black glasses over inhumanly huge brown eyebrows, she makes her way through life by being "invisible" to everyone except her best friend, environmental activist and fellow geek Lilly (Heather Matarazzo) and Lilly's rock musician/auto mechanic brother Michael (Robert Schwartzman). Mia's quiet life changes, however, when she is told by her divorced artist mother Helen (Caroline Goodall) that she is indeed royalty. In a bizarre and altogether unlikely scenario, Mia's now deceased father was actually the prince of a tiny country between Spain and France.

No, geography buffs, it's not Andorra; Mia's newly discovered home is the fictional country of Genovia, and it is apparently an English-speaking monarchy quite similar to-- well, England. Except it's famous for pears. Genovia's queen, Clarisse Renaldi (Andrews), Mia's long-lost grandmother, who conspired with her late son and his ex-wife for 15 years to keep Mia in the dark about her heritage, suddenly appears and informs them that an unfortunate turn of events has rendered Mia the heiress apparent of the Genovian crown. Now, with only a few weeks until the nation's Independence Day ball, Mia must be transformed into a proper princess so that she may appear at the function to accept her family duty. The trouble is, Mia doesn't want to be a queen.

This is, of course, the same kind of Pygmalion story which launched Andrews herself to fame as Eliza Doolittle in the Broadway production of My Fair Lady all those years ago. In this version, Andrews takes on the mentor role, teaching Mia the finer points of walking, talking, eating, and dancing like a princess. We've seen it all before, most recently in last December's Sandra Bullock vehicle Miss Congeniality, including the gasp-inducing makeover scene, the comical ineptness turned to refined grace, and the dropping jaws of all nearby males when the transformation is complete.

But despite the hackneyed quality of the pretext, nice performances save this film from itself. Hathaway is adequately full of energy, if not technique, and Andrews radiates the kind of dignified confidence required of her character and expected of herself. Also on hand is the always reliable Hector Elizondo, a regular Marshall standby, who gives a respectably understated performance as the queen's driver and security guard, Joe. With class that equals that of Andrews herself, Elizondo gives the film a needed sense of dignity, and his scenes with Andrews are some of the most engaging. Overall, this film is perfect for little girls and at least adequately palatable for their parents. ★★★

Mettiki Coal Receives Safety Excellence Honor

Mettiki Coal LLC was recently awarded the "Directors' Award for Safety Excellence" by the Alliance Resource Management GP LLC's board of directors. Mettiki's workforce was honored by this award as the Alliance underground coal mine achieving the highest degree of safety excellence through the first half of 2001.

Mettiki set a new company record of 247 consecutive days without a single lost-time accident. This eclipsed the prior record of 155 consecutive days worked without a lost-time accident.

George Tichnell, vice president of operations at Mettiki, gave full credit to Mettiki's workforce, whom he rates as "the best in the business," for winning the award. Tichnell went on to say, "Our employees faced unbelievable geologic challenges during this period. They fought their way through it all and kept safety as their number one priority, by taking care of themselves and each other."

The Directors' Award for Safety Excellence was presented to the Mettiki workforce during a recent visit to the Mettiki Coal operation by the Alliance Resource Management GP LLC board of directors. John P. Neafsey, chairman of the board, said, "This is a remarkable accomplishment by every single one of the 236 employees at Mettiki, considering that this workforce averages about 50,000 man hours worked every month, and works in some of the toughest deep coal mining conditions found anywhere in this country."

The Mettiki mine, located in southern Garrett County, is the largest coal producer in the state of Maryland, mining about 3 million clean tons per year. Mettiki has been mining in the Upper Freeport coal seam since 1977. It is an underground mining complex that utilizes a longwall miner for the majority of the coal extraction, as well as continuous mining units for longwall panel development. The preparation plant has a throughput capacity of 1,350 tons of raw coal per hour. The primary customer for coal produced at Mettiki is Virginia Electric and Power Company's Mt. Storm power station in West Virginia.

Alliance Resource Management GP LLC, is the managing general partner of Alliance Resource Partners LP, which is a diversified producer and marketer of coal, producing nearly 14 million tons annually, with mining complexes and/or coal reserves in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, and West Virginia. Alliance has approximately 1,530 employees, which includes its corporate headquarters located in Tulsa, Okla., and Operations and Planning office in Lexington, Ky. Alliance Resource Partners LP is the coal industry's only publicly traded master limited partnership whose common units are traded under the ticker symbol ARLP on the NASDAQ National Market.

"Jail N' Bail" At The Fair To Support Hospice

Hospice of Garrett County Inc. will have its annual "Jail N' Bail" at the Garrett County Fair, beginning Monday, Aug. 13. Twenty-nine locally well-known "prisoners" will be "jailed" throughout the week from 6 to 9 p.m. They will be accepting donations for Hospice to ensure their releases.

The "prisoners" are: George "Lucky" Edwards, Edna "The Mop" Sanders, John "Dog Face" Braskey, Ed "Rooster" King, Tammy "Killer Kenner" Kenner, Bridgett "Baby Doll 2" Imhoff, Sheila "Baby Doll 1" O'Neil, Angie "Skipper the Ripper" Skipper, Ron "Maytag" Friend, Rita "Smiley" Watson, Mark "The Pinched Preacher" Hickman, Colleen "Dimples" Mouyard, Jennifer "Penitentiary Paugh" Paugh, Cathy "Outlaw O'Neil" O'Neil, Tina "Criminal Cosner" Cosner, Chrissy "Evil Ervin" Ervin, Ann "Annie Oakley" Collins, Dave "The Professor" Beard, Jimmy "The Flirt" Stewart, Everett "Tractor Doc" DeBerry, Cheryl "Snow White" Miller, Charee "Doc" Reckner, Tracy "Bashful" Savage, Jennifer "Sneezy" Knauff, Ciara "Happy" Fitzwater, Elonda "Sleepy" Wright, Mary "Grumpy" Glotfelty, and Elizabeth "The Wicked Queen" Dooling. Clown Freda "Ssenippah" Quintero will be painting faces for a donation to Hospice on Wednesday and Friday nights.

"Your donation for their release will help Hospice expand services and continue to serve the terminally ill patients and their families in Garrett County," stated Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice of Garrett County. Hospice provides care for terminally ill patients, such as home health care, medications, medical equipment, medical supplies, and hospital and nursing home care.

"We greatly appreciate your donations of bail money to help provide our services, purchase clinical supplies, and medications for our patients," added Butscher.

"Deputies" for the week will be Sheryl MacLane, Betty Trickett, Denise Gerard, Monaca Hedrick, Scott Hedrick, Brenda Butscher, Leota Stover, Nancy Green, Angie Glotfelty, and Linda Arata.

Health Officials To Offer Free Skin Analysis

The Garrett County Health Department will be offering free skin analysis at the Garrett County Fair, using the American Cancer Society's Derma Scan machine, which is an awareness tool used to assess skin for damage caused by the sun. Information will also be available on how people can protect themselves from the sun and further skin damage.

The Derma Scan is not a diagnostic machine and will not show skin cancer, according to a health department spokesperson. It will show areas, mostly on the face, neck, and hands, of skin damage that has already occurred so the person may be watchful of these areas.

Skin cancer is the most common and rapidly increasing cancer in Maryland, but it can be prevented through the adoption of sun safe behaviors, which include: staying out of direct sunlight between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.; seeking shade when playing or working outdoors; wearing protective gear such as sunglasses, long-sleeved shirts, and wide-brimmed hats; avoiding tanning booths; and applying sunblock with SPF 15 or higher.

"Many people protect themselves while at the beach or pool, but need to remember that sunburns can also happen while playing outdoors, taking a walk, building a snowman, skiing, or sledding," the spokesperson said.

Persons may call the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-8111 or 301-895-3111 for more information.

DRUG TOLERANCE WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

The word tolerance when applied to drugs is not particularly a good thing. For it can mean that over a period of time our body has become adjusted to a medicine and the drug will no longer achieve the desired affect it once did.

This tolerance effect can apply to many types of common use drug products-laxatives, cough preparations, skin treatment creams and ointments. With prescription medicines the tolerance effect can be even more serious. We will always caution you when such a possibility exists.

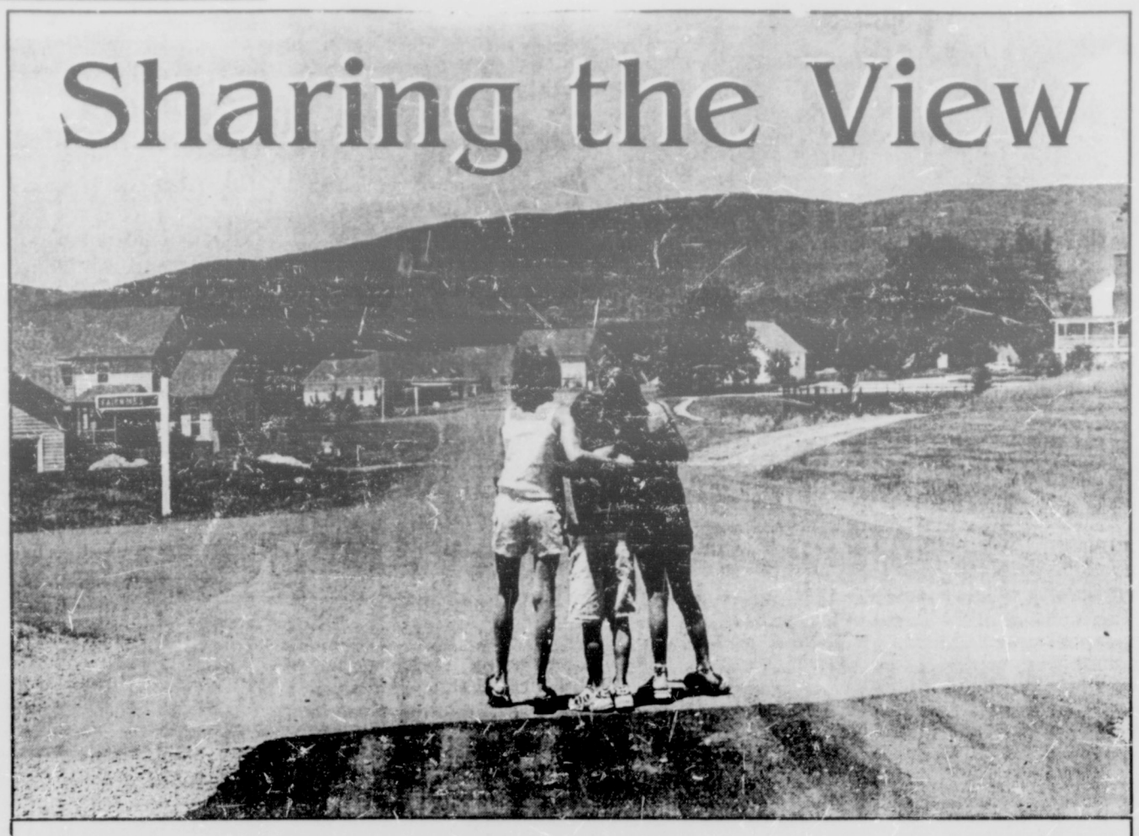
Sharing the View



"Wow, do you see that?", exclaimed Anne. "No", answered Jake, "but look what I see, way over there!" "That's nothing", said Jane, "look here!"

As these youngsters stand in the road, sharing the same view, they also see it differently, each trying to direct the other to a separate focus. As our children attend religious training and worship each week, perhaps they need focus and direction concerning what they have been taught. What is their understanding...or misunderstanding?

An opportunity to discuss spiritual questions is also found at regular family devotions, for the answers to the questions our children have now will later give direction to their future. In Deut. 11:18-19, God directs, "Fix these words of mine in your hearts and minds...teach them to your children, talking about them when you sit at home and when you walk along the road..."

Is your family sharing the spiritual view? Begin today.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

GOOD NEWS AND BAD NEWS

August 12, 2001

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 7, 2 Kings 16, 2 Chronicles 28
Devotional Read:
Psalms 33:4-12

This passage from Isaiah needs a cast of characters and some textual notes. Remember, that on the death of King Solomon, the nation of Saul, David and Solomon broke into two, Israel, the larger kingdom in the north, and Judah, the smaller kingdom in the south. In the times described in Isaiah 7, 2 Kings 16 and 2 Chronicles 28, Ahaz (not to be confused with Ahab) is King of Judah and Remaliah is king of Israel. Ahaz is the grandson of King Uzziah who reigned in Judah at the time when Isaiah received his prophetic call (Is. 6). The ruling house of Judah is called 'the House of David' and 'Ephraim' is a name that is sometimes used for Israel.

Now that we have that sorted, let's see what is happening. Israel, under the leadership of Pekah, son of King Remaliah, and Syria, under the leadership of Syrian King Rezin, have attacked Jerusalem, the capital of Judah and have been repulsed. We must assume that the leaders of Judah did not at first realize that the Israelites (Ephraim) were in league with the powerful Syrians, for, when that has become common knowledge, even though Judah has successfully repulsed their attack, both King Ahaz and his people are paralyzed with fear!

That's amazing, isn't it: after they were successful in defending themselves, then they became afraid. But it happens sometimes, like Peter obeying Christ's commands to walk on the waters of the Sea of Galilee but, when he looks down and realizes what he is doing, then he becomes afraid and begins to sink! I have also read historical accounts in which, while in battle, soldiers seemed to perform without fear, but, when it was all over, suddenly fell apart. In a somewhat less dramatic manner we know there are times in our lives when, after God has demonstrated his love for us, we are strangely susceptible to fear.

Do Not Fear

So God sends the Prophet Isaiah to King Ahaz to reassure him that God will not let Rezin and Pekah and the allied armies of Syria and Israel prevail ot Judah. "Take heed, be quiet, do not fear, and do not let your heart be faint because of these two smouldering stumps of firebrands. It shall not stand, and it shall not come to pass" (7:7). You can't get a much better guarantee from the Lord: what you fear will absolutely not happen. I know that, if I were facing some tragedy in my life and I got a message from God, saying "...it shall not come to pass," I would definitely believe it—no matter how fearful I might be.

King Ahaz, however, cannot bring himself to believe it, so Isaiah says to him, "Ask a sign of the Lord your God; let it be deep as Sheol or high as heaven"—in other words: don't hesitate to ask for something tremendous. "But Ahaz said, 'I will not ask, and I will not put the Lord to the test'" (7:10,11). The first time I read these words of Ahaz, I though to myself, he said the right thing; we're not supposed to put God to the test, to insist that he jump through hoops for us. Isn't that what Jesus told "the tempter"? "...it is written, 'you shall not tempt the Lord your God'" (Mt. 4:7). It sounds as if Ahaz is responding with orthodox theology.

Ahaz, however, although he replied to the challenge with sound theology, was probably just using it as an excuse to refrain from trusting the Lord. When we read more of Ahaz, as scholar R. B. Y. Scott puts it, we realize "his idolatry, fearfulness, unbelief and disobedience to the divine word." His fine-sounding reason was simply a cover for his lack of faith and trust. This is why, then, Isaiah responds so vehemently, "Is it too little for you to weary men, that you weary my God also?" (7:13). Ahaz exhausts the patience of both God and men with his insipid faith.

Take My Word For It

That's when Isaiah delivers both the good news and the bad news of God. The Good News: since Ahaz will not designate a sign, God will give him a very simple one—a young woman bearing a son and calling him Immanuel, a name that means "God with us." This is the promise of the Lord, that he will be with Judah despite the disbelief of the king and some of his subjects. Both Syria and Israel will suffer, "For before the child knows how to refuse the evil and choose the good, the land before who the kings you are in dread will be deserted. Terrible consequences will fall upon these two evil rulers.

Now, the bad news: because Ahaz was so disbelieving, grave consequences will be suffered by Judah also. "In that day every place where there used to be a thousand vines, worth a thousand shekels of silver, will become briars and thorns" (7:23). Faithlessness has its consequences, in the lives of nations and in our lives as well.

Sunnyside Homemakers Look Back On 50 Years Of Changes, Constants

by Grace White
Charter Member

The Sunnyside Homemakers Club was organized in May 1951 at the home of Mrs. W. E. Spoerlein. Ethel Grove, Extension agent, and Mrs. W.W. DeWitt, county president of Homemakers, helped with the organization of the club. The club's first officers were Alice Spoerlein, president; Mildred Snively, vice president; Claudia Hamilton, secretary; and Zelda Snyder, treasurer.

The 20 charter members of the Sunnyside Homemakers Club were Mrs. W. E. Spoerlein, Mrs. Dewey Gnegy, Mrs. Ernest Spoerlein, Mrs. Ray Ridder, Mrs. Harvey Swartzentruber, Mrs. Cecil Snyder, Mrs. D. L. Swartzentruber, Mrs. Albert Snyder, Miss Harriett Swartzentruber, Mrs. Wayne Hamilton, Mrs. Harold E. White, Mrs. Arlie Fike, Mrs. Kenneth Biser, Mrs. Frank Snively, Miss Ruth Lichty, Mrs. Lee Martin, Mrs. Earle Spoerlein, Mrs. Ross Crowe, Miss Eleanor Schlossnagle, and Mrs. Herbert Selders. At the time the club was started, we were very formal and always used our husband's name.

There are two charter members who have been active in the club all 50 years, Opal Crowe and Grace White. Both of these members held offices in the Sunnyside Club and Garrett County Council of Homemakers Clubs. Grace served as county president in 1961 and 1962, when there were 17 clubs in the county. Opal was made an honorary member three years ago due to her poor health.

When our club started 50 years ago, few women worked away from home. The homemaker had a full-time job at home. We made clothing for the whole family, raised a garden, canned the vegetables — no freezer then, no automatic washer or dryer, and no microwave. We did our own wallpaper hanging and painting, and most of us had a sponge — painted kitchen floor because paint was much cheaper than floor covering. Most of us had wood and coal stoves to cook and heat our homes with.

THE SUNNYSIDE HOMEMAKERS CLUB continues to stress the basic values it was founded upon a half-century ago. The current membership is shown here, as seated from the left are Elsie Harsh, charter member Grace White, Margaret Wolfe, and Leona Hardesty. In the second row are Lorene Dodge, Phyllis Knepp, and Delores Truban. In the third row are Bonnie Bennett, Mildred Skipper, Reva Thomas, Alice Ann Ridder, Dorothy Cathell, Mary Harvey, and FCE advisor Imgard Koscielniak.

The first thing our club made was an etched aluminum tray. Everyone made at least one tray, and we all were excited how nice they turned out. Miss Grove started us with classes in "Beginners Sewing" and from there we had classes in every kind of clothing — for babies, children, women, and men. We made suits, coats, dressy dresses with hats to match, and also gloves to wear to our fashion shows and teas. We made curtains, drapes, pillows, aprons, slipcovers for furniture, and even upholstered furniture.

The Sunnyside Club took classes in home nursing, Red Cross, and CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation), and then did volunteer work in the hospital and nursing homes. Some of our club members are employed by those health care facilities now. We made "Sunshine Baskets" for shut-ins, and made bibs, capes, lap robes, and walker bags for nursing homes and hospital patients and shut-ins. Club members donated food and clothing for the needy, made caps for cancer patients, and baby blankets for hospital, pieced quilts for the Red Cross, gave demonstrations on how to prepare food, had Christmas Treat workshops, and did volunteer work in nursing homes, hospital, and in the community.

The Sunnyside Homemakers Club has also done things to help others. Members presented a three-act play, "Sister Susie Swings It," in December 1952 and made $100, which was used to roof the Grange Hall where they held their meetings.

The University of Maryland at College Park sponsored a "Rural Women's Short Course," a week of classes for Homemakers. We had classes on family, home and community every day, all day long. Each morning began with devotions in the chapel, and then the rest of the day was classes. In the evening we gathered for songs and speeches by their professors. On Friday there was a brief summary of the week and refreshments. Four Sunnyside Club members — Alice Ann Ridder, Daisy Beachy, Nellie Swartzentruber and Grace White — attended for four years and graduated. Grace and Nellie continued for another four years, graduating with the eight-year class and earning a University pin.

For fun, the Sunnyside Homemakers had Christmas parties, went on day trips and tours, had picnics and wiener roasts with their families, and Halloween socials at the Grange Hall, which were very successful community social affairs.

Through the 50 years we worked with Extension agents Ethel Grove, Freda Denison, Jane Gibson, and Irmgard Koscielniak. The dedicated service of each of those individuals has been most appreciated by the club.

Today we have 14 club members: Grace White, Delores Truban, Mary Harvey, Opal Crowe, Margaret Wolfe, Bonnie Bennett, Elsie Harsh, Reva Thomas, Leona Hardesty, Alice Ann Ridder, Dorothy Cathell, Lorene Dodge, Phyllis Knepp, and Mildred Skipper.

The Sunnyside Homemakers have been active in their club, County Extension, 4-H clubs, the Garrett County Fair, and their schools, churches, and communities. They have always tried to make their home and their community a better place in which to live.

Garrett County Homemaker's Creed

By Mrs. Jessie Guard McCullough and Mrs. W.W. DeWitt

I believe in my home; in the ever presence of almighty God by the order of season, the goodness of the earth, the delight of crisp, clean air, and of ever changing, always inspiring, beauty of the sky.

I believe my home should be the basis of education, recreation, relaxation and all else that goes to make an enriched and abundant life.

I believe my home is the place where love, loyalty, devotion, and duty should be defined clearly and practiced unceasingly; where a true sense of values is taught.

I believe my home is the place where all should find joy, contentment, and security in unity of the purpose of living and yet be provided the initiative and inspiration to pursue each one's desires and ideals.

I believe that harmony in my home, order in the nation, and peace in the world can be attained through the application of teachings of the man of Galilee.

GCC To Offer Psychology At Grantsville Site

Garrett Community College (GCC) students who enroll in the general psychology course (PSY 101) being taught by Terry Kasecamp, associate professor of psychology, at the Grantsville Outreach Center in the fall will experience a learning environment that emphasizes acquiring knowledge versus earning a degree.

Kasecamp's statement of course objectives which the students will receive at the first class meeting explains the difference and sets forth the educational philosophy behind the course she teaches. "For most students education has come to mean a grade, a piece of paper, and a better job instead of the key to unlocking the door to their own wisdom, their own truth. Earning a degree involves learning information, usually through rote repetition to take an exam and earn a grade. Acquiring knowledge involves deep processing, being actively involved in the learning process, and making information personally relevant so that it can be used for purposes other than earning a grade."

Included on the sheet is a quotation from Khalil Giboran, whose writings Kasecamp follows in her teaching: "No man can reveal to you aught but that which already lies half asleep in the dawning of your knowledge."

Kasecamp, who has taught at GCC for five years, is a graduate of Frostburg State University with a bachelor of science in psychology and sociology and a master of science degree in counseling psychology. She has taught psychology and education courses at the university and at Allegany College of Maryland, plus she is certified as a National Coalition Building Inc. (NCBI) educator/trainer and a Phi Theta Kappa leadership instructor. In addition to attending numerous workshops dealing with adolescent and family problems, she has played a lead role in "Teaching Tolerance," a project of the Southern Poverty Law Center in Montgomery, Ala.

Before she became a college instructor, Kasecamp worked as a therapeutic nursery coordinator at the Allegany County Mental Health Clinic, as drug and alcohol educator at the Meadow Mountain youth facility, and as psychologist associate I-III for the Allegany County Mental Health Clinic. She is a member of the American Association of University Women and the Center for Visionary Leadership in Washington, D.C.

Kasecamp lives in Frostburg with her four children, Amanda, a student at Washington College in Maryland; Michael and Brian, students at Beall High School, and Lauren, a student at Mt. Savage School.

The general psychology course will be given at the Grantsville Outreach Center on Tuesdays from 5 to 8 p.m. Students may now register for it by calling 301-387-3368 for an appointment. Residents of Somerset County in Pennsylvania who enroll in credit courses at the center are eligible for special scholarships and may obtain further information by calling Terry Beachy at the above number.

BBBS/LUNCH BUDDY OUTING AT FUNLAND FUN FOR ALL AGES — One of the recent monthly activities of the Garrett County Branch of Big Brothers Big Sisters was an outing to Funland in McHenry, which had donated a visit to the amusement arcade to the non-profit youth-mentoring agency. Among the many activities the Littles and Bigs shared was miniature golf, as Big Sister Rosana Yoder is pictured playing at left, along with Little Sister Karla, left, and Yoder's Little Sister Brandy. Big Lunch Buddy Tiddie Wheeler, who mentored Keaton at Accident Elementary School this past school year, is shown above waving from the Funland carousel. The Bigs and Littles of the school-based Lunch Buddy program were invited to take part in BBBS's summer activities. Mentors are needed for the Lunch Buddy program, which will be offered at Accident, Dennett Road, and for the first time this fall, Broad Ford elementary schools, and community-wide BBBS program. Persons interested in information on volunteer opportunities may call Garrett County BBBS at 301-334-3591 or 1-800-400-0735.

GCC Offering Garrett County History Course

REV. JOHN GRANT

A six-session course in Garrett County history will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College this fall, according to a college spokesperson. The course will be taught by the Rev. John A. Grant, local historian and editor of the Glades Star for the Garrett County Historical Society.

The class will meet on Tuesdays, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., beginning September 11 and ending October 16, with the first session at the college, and subsequent sessions on field trips to various sites of historical importance. Class members will meet at an agreed upon location and car pool to the areas being studied.

The first class session will be a general overview of the course with a slide presentation focusing on the history of the geological deposits, Indian trails, and settlements in Garrett County. The second session will focus on the early settlers, with a trip to Accident and Friendsville, weather permitting. On this trip students will visit the Drane House, Kaese's Mill, the furnace site of the Youghiogheny Iron Company on Bear Creek, and the Friendsville Museum.

A trip to the Kitzmiller area is planned for the third session, titled "Changing Patterns in Garrett County." The class will stop at the Wilson settlement on the railroad, Vindex, Kitzmiller, and Eagle Rock.

"Colonial History" will be the topic of the fourth session, with a trip planned to Jennings, Little Meadows, and Penn Alps. The fifth session will present "Industrial Garrett County" and a trip to see the Texas Eastern compressor station in Accident, the power house for Deep Creek Lake, a pea vinery shed at Flatwood, and a "draw kiln" lime kiln on Hoyes Run Road.

Should inclement weather force the cancellation of any of the planned trips, Grant will plan a Saturday field trip to include the Fairfax Stone, Kempton Area, Mettiki Mines, Fort Pendleton, and Ryan's Glade.

Students may now register for the course at the Continuing Education office of the college. Tuition will be waived for persons 60 years of age and older. Further information is available by calling 301-387-3069.

Love's Way Food Center In Need Of Truck Driver

Love's Way Food Center, located in Loch Lynn, has an urgent need for a truck driver who makes empty return trips from Exit 6 in New Jersey or from Nashville, Tenn., and who would be willing to bring back loads of food.

The center has been distributing approximately 10,000 pounds of food each week to local churches and organizations within a 25-mile radius of Oakland. The food is given free of charge to the groups, which then distribute it to families in need.

Truck drivers who would be able to help in this situation are asked to call Bill Taylor at 301-387-4700, ext. 285. Any help will be appreciated, Taylor said.

Bible School Set At Bear Creek

The Bear Creek Church of the Brethren will hold its annual Vacation Bible School August 20-22 from 6:30 to 8:45 p.m. each evening. The theme this year is "Children of Light," which is a "unique study on God's word." There will be food, games, prizes, crafts, and an amateur light show with special effects.

The church is located along Brethren Church Road behind Accident Elementary School. For more information, persons may telephone Karen Sizemore at 301-746-8043.

TV PIPELINE

Eric Braeden appeared in Gunsmoke

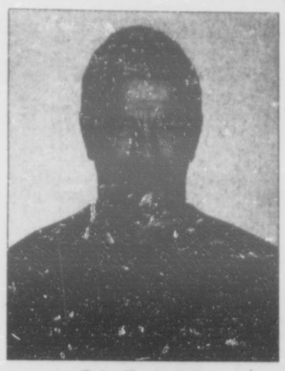
By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate



Eric Braeden

Q: Did Eric Braeden (The Young and the Restless) ever appear on Gunsmoke? –C.H., Nappanee, Ind.

A: Yes, and more than once. Braeden played the title character in a February 1971 episode called "Jaekel," then returned the following fall to play Sinclaire in a three-part episode called "Gold Train: The Bullet." He last appeared as William Talley in a February 1974 episode called "The Iron Blood of Courage."

Q: What is the relationship, if any, between CNN personalities Tucker and Margaret Carlson? –Frances H. Bowles, Raeford, N.C.

A: They're married to each other.

Q: Back in the late '70s or early '80s, my husband and I recall commercials for Alberto VO-5 Hot Oil Treatment that began with a redhead saying, "Hi, I'm Rula Lenska." My husband insists she was a fictional character, but I say she was a foreign actress. Who is right? –Karen Buckland, Ann Arbor, Mich.

A: You are, and thanks for bringing back memories of that hilarious ad campaign, which was built around the premise that women should buy these hair care products because they were used by Rula Lenska. The problem was, very few people in the United States had any idea who she was!

Lenska, now 53, is a familiar face in her native England, however, where she has appeared in movies, onstage and on TV (Doctor Who fans can spot her as a character called Styles in a 1984 episode called "Resurrection of the Daleks"). Here in the States, she remains best known for those Alberto VO-5 TV commercials.

Q: What happened to Kate Brasher on CBS? It wasn't on long. Too clean, I guess. –M. Crabtree, West Plains, Mo.

A: Networks have nothing against "clean" shows that attract an audience. Kate – which I also liked, by the way – drew good reviews and fair but unspectacular audience numbers during its spring tryout, during which all the episodes were aired. When it came down to selecting which shows to order for the fall, CBS passed on the Mary Stuart Masterson series in favor of That's Life, another promising freshman series that has yet to find a large audience.

Q: Several weeks ago, you reported that Gloria Winters (Penny on Sky King) played Babs on the first TV version of The Life of Riley (with Jackie Gleason). But who played Babs in the later, more familiar version with William Bendix? –Bert Carson, Parrotsville, Tenn.

A: In the Bendix version, Babs was played by Lugene Sanders, who previously had played the title role in the 1951-52 sitcom Meet Corliss Archer.

Kett Turton, Tyler Labine and Sara Downing (from left) star as members of a rock band with an unusual second job in Dead Last, a new series premiering Tuesday, Aug. 14, on The WB Network.

The three are about to hit the big time when they come into possession of a magical talisman that gives them the ability to see ghosts. Along with the power comes a mission: to help the walking dead pass peacefully to the other side.

Wayne Pere also stars.

Earns Degree, Accepts French Teacher Position

Kerry M. Graybill, daughter of Thomas and Joanne Graybill of Oakland, received a bachelor of arts degree in French, and teacher certification grades K-12 in Pennsylvania from Moravian College, Bethlehem, Pa. She was awarded the Irving S. Amrhein Prize in Foreign Languages for mastery in French at the recent graduation ceremonies.

Graybill earned dean's list standing for five semesters during her college career, and was inducted into Phi Sigma Iota, the International Foreign Language Honor Society. She participated in the Moravian College Women's Chorus, and was a member of the Twenty-Six Points student ambassador program, as well as the French and Spanish clubs.

The 1997 graduate of Southern High School has accepted a teaching position with the East Stroudsburg Area School District, teaching eighth grade French at the Lehman Intermediate School in Dingman's Ferry, Pa.

Jobless Rates Increase, But More Employed

Both employment and labor force levels in Maryland hit record highs in June. An additional 45,566 Marylanders found jobs, the largest employment increase for the month since 1996. Hiring escalated, as employers continued to fill their summer vacancies, causing employment to rise above the 2.8 million mark.

"The strength of Maryland's economy is demonstrated by the largest number of people recorded holding jobs, as well as in the job market," said John P. O'Connor, secretary of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation. "We are hopeful that these unprecedented statistics indicate a stability that will enable Maryland families to continue in meaningful jobs and careers, distinguishing this state as the best place to live, work, and do business."

Meanwhile, the jobless rate in Garrett County increased from 5.8 percent in May to 6.9 percent in June, but there was a net increase of 404 in the number of persons employed. The June 2000 jobless rate was 7.6 percent.

A surge in the number of job seekers created an expected worker surplus in the state, intensifying job competition and moving the unemployment rate up from 3.6 percent in May to 4.0 percent in June. Nationally, unemployment was also higher in June, advancing by 0.6 percentage points to 4.7 percent. Locally, labor force expansion pushed up unemployment rates in all but three jurisdictions. However, 13 local jurisdictions managed to maintain unemployment rates below the statewide average, with the lowest levels at 2.2 percent in Montgomery County, 2.6 percent in Talbot and Howard counties, and 2.7 percent in Carroll, Charles, and Frederick counties.

Unemployment increases are fairly typical in June. While seasonal hiring picks up, the continuing flow of students and other job seekers into the labor market more often than not exceeds job availability. The current unemployment count — 118,389 — is an increase, but is smaller by nearly 4,200 people, since last June the unemployment rate was 4.3 percent.

During June, hiring activity was reported throughout the private sector. Services and retail trade led the seasonal expansion, with gains in amusements, hotels, business services, restaurants, food stores, and general merchandise stores showing healthy gains. Employment in construction also surged ahead as gains reported in special trades lead the growth.

Northern Travel Class Announces Raffle Winner

Members of the Northern High School Travel Abroad class recently held a raffle of stained glass garden stepping stones in order to help finance their scheduled trip to Spain in March of next year. The winner of the drawing was Barry Frazee of Friendsville.

Other fund-raising efforts by the class include pizza sales, car washes, and yard sales. The next activity will be working in the Deep Creek Lake Volunteer Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary concession stand at the Garrett County Fair on Wednesday and Friday evenings, Aug. 15 and 17, from 5 to 11 p.m.

"I am extremely proud of how hard the kids are working and how much time they are committing to achieve their goal," stated Jean Wilt, Spanish teacher at Northern. "We are also very grateful to the community for the continued support and assistance."

Ten students have been awarded scholarships by the Garrett Community College Foundation that were established in memory of late residents of Garrett County. Two of these, the Dorothy Brock Leighton Memorial Scholarship and the Jeffrey Kirk Roszell Scholarship, are newly established and were awarded for the first time this year, according to GCCF executive director Bretta Reinhard.

Laurel Ellison, wife of Chad Ellison of Accident, has received the Leighton Scholarship designated for students who enter a transfer program. She has also received the Civic Club of Oakland Patience W. Grant Memorial Scholarship. At Midland Trail High School in West Virginia, where she graduated in 1996, she was a cheerleader, a member of the track and basketball teams, president of the Conservation Club, and a member of the Art Club and newspaper staff. Ellison will major in early childhood education at GCC and hopes to become a teacher who is a positive role model for children. Her interests are camping, biking, rafting, climbing, and being a stay-at-home mom with her son Westley and her family.

Jason Lottmann, son of Joseph and Tamarah Lottmann of Mtn. Lake Park, has received the Roszell Scholarship and will enter GCC's Business and Information Technology Internet Specialist program this fall. At Southern High School he was freshman class president, and a member of the freshman and varsity basketball teams, sophomore planning committee, winter percussion stage band, and the concert band, for which he played drums. He also took part in theatre performances. His goal is to do the best possible job for his company. Lottman's interests are drums, music, basketball, weight lifting, and going to the movies. He is a member of the Pleasant View Baptist Church, where he plays drums with the praise team.

Brian Rollman, son of Robert and Nancy Rollman of Mtn. Lake Park, has received the Ronald Hugh Sisler Memorial Scholarship and the Garrett Community College Trustees Scholarship. He is a graduate of Southern High School, where he played soccer and golf and participated in the Pandora's Box theatre group. At GCC he is majoring in secondary education as he pursues his goal of becoming a high school math teacher. Rollman is a member of the theatre club, and in his spare time he enjoys playing the guitar, snowboarding, and riding ATVs. He also participates in Our Town Theatre productions and is a member of the Oak Park Church of the Brethren worship team.

Karen South, wife of Dwight South of Grantsville, has received the Civic Club of Oakland Helen Baumgartner Memorial Scholarship designated for recipients of the General Education Diploma. At GCC she is majoring in Business Administration, where she also serves as a math tutor. Eventually she hopes to study law and become an attorney. At the present time South is homeschooling her three children and enjoying baking, reading, and working out with weights.

Nicole Timmerman, daughter of Roger and Dianna Timmerman of Oakland, has received the Charles L. Briner Memorial Scholarship. She is a graduate of Southern High School, where she was a member of the newspaper and yearbook staffs. At GCC she is majoring in early childhood education and plans to become a Head Start teacher. Her interests include collecting bears.

Matthew Gordon, son of Keith and Cynthia Gordon of Oakland, has received the Charles L. Briner Memorial Scholarship and will enter GCC to study computer and electronic engineering. A recent graduate of Southern High School, he is interested in sports, computers, and electronics.

Marianne Unger, daughter of Ronald and Barbara Unger of Mtn. Lake Park, has received the James H. Nordeck Memorial Scholarship and will enter GCC this fall as an Early College Admission Program (ECAP) student in the Math and Science program. At Southern High School she played volleyball and tennis and was a member of the prom planning committee, the yearbook staff, and the National Honor Society. Her career goal is to be a mathematics professor.

Miriam Sincell, daughter of Ben and Beverly Sincell of Oakland, has received the James H. Nordeck Memorial Scholarship and will enter GCC as an ECAP student this fall to study computer engineering. She plans to become a computer engineer. She is a member of the National Honor Society, the prom planning committee, varsity girls soccer team, varsity track and field team, the pep band, and the Garrett County Honor Band. Sincell enjoys playing the piano, snow skiing, and swimming, and she is a pianist for the Bethel Methodist Church, a member of the Ecumenical Youth Ministry Concert Choir, and a participant in the Arsenal soccer winter and spring leagues.

April Layton, daughter of Donald and Donna Wolfe of Oakland, has received the Oakland Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club Bill Ravenscroft Memorial Scholarship to continue her education at GCC. She is a 1999 graduate of Southern High School, where she was a member of the marching band, the concert band, and the color guard. Her goal is to become a registered nurse and to work in a trauma center. She enjoys playing a flute and collecting porcelain dolls.

Anissa Jamison, daughter of Kenneth and Sandy Jamison of Oakland, has received the Deep Creek Lions Stewart Jackson Memorial Scholarship to attend GCC in the fall. At Southern High School she was on the cross country team, the track and field team, and she served as team manager. She was named to Who's Who Among American High School Students. She is unsure of her career goal at this time, but she is interested in designing clothes and possibly homes.

Antiques

Search your garage and attic. Old fishing-gear prices have sailed out of sight. Reels, rods, lures, tackle and even tackle boxes are being collected.

Fishing reels are separated into groups by age and type. The early-American reels made from about 1800 to 1875 were handmade by reelsmiths. The Golden Age of reels is from 1875 to 1900, when early machine-made reels were produced. Reels made from 1900 to 1930 are part of the "expansion age," when many more manufacturers worked in the United States. And 1930 to the 1950s is the era of technical advances in the use of plastics, new alloys and mechanized manufacturing methods.

Prices are generally highest for the rare, early reels. The reels made before 1875 were usually made of brass or even silver. Later, fine reels were made of nickel, or "German silver." Some early reels were signed by the reelsmiths. Some were inscribed as gifts for special occasions. Later reels were often stamped or marked with decals or stencils.

Reel collectors, like fishermen, know the differences in the type and quality of reels. Most popular today are bait-casting, fly-casting or early spinning reels.

Q. My elaborate, marble-topped center table is made of walnut. Under the table top is a shelf between the four legs. A carved dog sits on the lower shelf. It is attached to the shelf with screws. Is this type of table rare?

A. Your table is typical of the style that was popular in the United States during the early Victorian period, from about 1840 to 1865. Animal and human decorative forms became popular in the 1860s. Your table probably dates from that time. It would sell for about $1,000.

Tip: Don't display pewter on a wooden shelf. Paint and wood give off gases that damage pewter.

Clean Teeth Make A Healthy Pet

Q. My veterinarian told me to brush my cat's teeth regularly. I have never heard of this. Should I follow his advice?

A. Your vet is absolutely right. Pets — dogs and cats especially — benefit from clean teeth, just as humans do. So brushing once per week, good food, and toys and treats that help keep teeth clean are all recommended.

Brushing a cat's teeth can be even less fun than brushing a dog's. Naturally, cats don't respond well to being held in place, poked and prodded. So, here are a few tips to make brushing time a little easier:

• Purchase a toothbrush and toothpaste especially made for cats. These are available at most pet stores, or at your vet's office.

• Secure your cat by placing a towel on your lap and holding him or her gently. Enlist the help of a friend if needed. Let your cat have some movement, so that it can struggle a little, but not so much that it can escape. And be careful not to hurt your pet — if it makes a big fuss, let your cat go. The next time you place it in your lap, give it a treat before starting the brushing process.

• Gently massage the cat's gums with your forefinger. Do this for the first couple of weeks, until your cat is comfortable with the process.

• Replace your finger with the toothbrush. Place a bit of cat-specific toothpaste on the brush (or rub it on your cat's teeth), then brush gently, rotating in small circles. Hold the brush at a 45-degree angle.

• Use vertical strokes to pull plaque from between the teeth.

• Always brush in the same pattern, so your cat knows what to expect.

• End every session with a treat or playtime; your cat will look forward to it.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Most people think of earthquakes in America as affecting the West, but in the early 19th century, a devastating series of earthquakes hit the Mississippi Valley. They were so strong that they made church bells ring in Boston, damaged buildings in Washington, D.C., caused chimneys to fall in Maine and changed the course of the mighty Mississippi River.

• Ever had a "meat biscuit"? Sounds terrible, doesn't it? It's just an archaic name for a bouillon cube.

• China has more pigs than any other country in the world, with the United States in second place. Rounding out the top five are Brazil, Germany and Poland.

• During World War II, Ford made B-24 bombers.

• At one time, it was believed that lying on a feather bed made it harder for a dying person to expire.

• English is a broad and versatile language — there's a word for almost anything you can think of. For example, the dot over the letter "i" is called a "tittle."

• In rural Nepal, houses are often constructed out of cow dung mixed with mud, sand and clay. I wonder if they ever get rid of the smell.

• Detective stories are very popular these days, but they haven't been around as long as you might think. Before Edgar Allan Poe (1809-1849) wrote "The Murders in the Rue Morgue" and "The Mystery of Marie Roget," the genre was unknown in English or American literature.

• Gambling was illegal in 18th-century England, but that doesn't mean it didn't take place. In fact, in many gambling dens of the era there was an employee whose sole job was to swallow the dice if there was a police raid.

TLC SERVICES ADDS ANOTHER LIMO — Rick Thomas, owner of Thomas Limo Carrier Services (TLC Services), is shown above at the right taking possession of the second in his company's expanding fleet of luxurious stretch limousines. Turning over the keys to Thomas is Jon Ziegler of the former Red Carpet Travels. "As TLC Services grows, we'd like to add a third limo of a new model and with more seating capacity," stated Thomas. With a fleet of two stretch limousines, which seat six passengers each, TLC Services offers its chauffeur-driven service for weddings, anniversaries, proms, and all special occasions, plus airport transportation.

"We provide luxury transportation, so our passengers can enjoy their own private chamber equipped with an electrically operated glass privacy divider, skylight, lighter mirrors, radio, tape deck, television, indirect lighting, and climate control, all at the touch of a button," Thomas said. "Each coach is also equipped with a built-in ice chest and glassware is available. There is even an intercom phone system for communication with the chauffeur."

With a demonstrated track record as a successful local entrepreneur, Thomas has owned and operated R.T. Contracting, his own home improvement business, for the past 12 years. Jennings ELCA Women Convene At Zion Church

Women of the ELCA, Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their July-August meeting in the church on August 4.

The study themes were led by Lecta Baker. The topic, "Brothers and Sisters in Faith," was a study of Miriam, Moses, and Aaron, and also Mary, Martha, and Lazarus, which illustrated "God's sustaining power in these courageous, often conflicted, households."

The second topic, "Raising Children," was a study of Javuis and his plea for a dying daughter, and the family of Mary, Joseph, and Jesus, as refugees in flight to Egypt, to the stand of a mother as she faces the death of her son on the cross.

Devotions closed with the hymn "O Christ, The Healer, We Have Come."

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting.

Announcement was made of the synodical women's convention held August 3-4, at the John XXIII Pastoral Center, Charleston, W.Va. Although Zion was not represented by a delegate, a love offering was sent for the convention.

The quarterly offering was sent to the American Bible Society for the Bible-A-Month ministry.

A gift offering was received from Shirley Yommer and Judy Stanton in memory of their mother, Alice Resh, on the anniversary of her death. It was designated that a portion of this offering be used for social ministry within Zion's unit, and an offering be sent to Women of the ELCA — Churchwide Specific Ministries in memory of Mrs. Resh.

Tribute to the memory of Mrs. Janet Knotts was also made through a special offering to Women of the ELCA — Churchwide. Both ladies were memorialized through the specific ministry Witness and Service.

A package of sweaters and an assortment of men's and children's clothing was sent for Lutheran World Relief.

A package containing 25 sweaters, a jacket, and dresses was sent to Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, Box Elder, Mont., for their clothing give-away on the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation.

A birthday offering was received from Shirley Yommer.

Five hand-knit cap and scarf sets and two baby afghans have been received for "Christmas at Rocky Boy."

A washcloth shower for the Lutheran Home at Kane, Pa., is being held and donations should be in by September.

Regents Select GCC Graduate For Scholarship

ADAM COWGILL

Adam Cowgill, former Garrett Community College student, has been awarded one of only two University System of Maryland Kelly Regents Scholarships presented to transfer students from Maryland community colleges in fall 2001, according system chancellor Donald N. Langenberg. Regarded as the most prestigious scholarship awarded in the University System of Maryland, the Regents award was established to allow students of exceptional ability to devote their energy to developing fully their intellectual and creative talents.

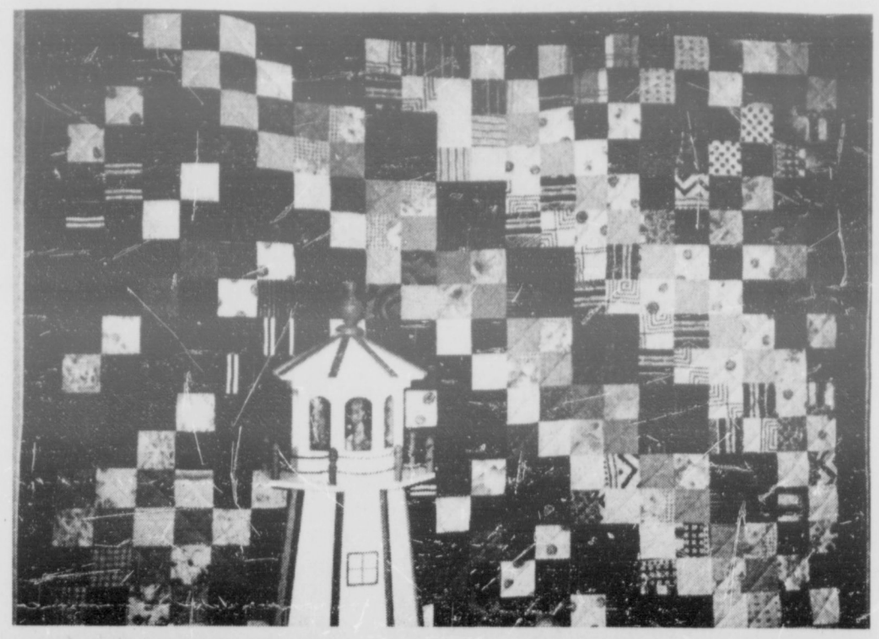
Cowgill maintained a 3.85 grade point average at GCC while simultaneously holding a full-time job, and he was inducted into the Phi Theta Kappa national honor society. He will transfer to Frostburg State University in the fall to pursue a bachelor's degree in business and accounting. His goal is to earn a master's degree in accounting, pass the CPA exam, and then possibly go to law school.

"It is certainly an honor," Cowgill said of receiving the Regents Scholarship." He credits his education at GCC for helping him win the award. "I look at GCC with utmost respect for the administration and faculty. They are very student oriented. GCC is very challenging, not the usual picture we have of a community college. I had to work hard, but I never had a professor who didn't care."

Two of Cowgill's professors at GCC, Pramod Kapoor and Joan Crawford, applauded his selection as Regents Scholar. Kapoor, associate professor of business who taught most of Cowgill's major courses and who had written a letter of recommendation for him, said, "I am very pleased. Adam is an exceptional student, very deserving of this award." Crawford, professor of English who taught him in a literature course, agreed. "Adam demonstrated a rare depth of understanding and insight to the literature we read. He is a very conscientious student who can prioritize his many responsibilities and get the job done, while maintaining his excellent academic record. I feel certain he will succeed in reaching his educational and career goals."

Cowgill is currently employed as assistant manager and coordinator of Railey and Mountain Lake Rentals, where he is responsible for coordinating maintenance activities for 300 vacation rental homes and supervising 35-40 employees. He had previously worked for NuWay Interiors and GMS Mine Repair and Maintenance. His interests are mountain biking, camping, outdoor living, and spending time with his family.

Cowgill's wife Jennifer is also a graduate of GCC and Frostburg State University, where she is currently working toward a master's degree in accounting. The couple reside in Oakland with their two children, Alyssa, a student at Yough Glades Elementary School, and 4-year-old Gavin.



LIGHTHOUSE RAFFLING QUILT — Decorative and functional at the same time, this patchwork quilt is being raffled off by the Garrett County Lighthouse. A project of the Lighthouse's sewing class, the quilt will generate proceeds that will enable the class to purchase materials for upcoming sewing lessons. The quilt will be on display at the Lighthouse offices until the drawing takes place on Oct. 13 during the Autumn Glory Festival. Tickets are available for $1 each at the office, or from any Lighthouse employee or board member. The Lighthouse is located along Rt. 39 just west of downtown Oakland.

Eligible Seniors Urged To Apply For QMB Program

Garrett County's senior citizens are being urged to take advantage of the opportunity to complete an application for the Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB) Program, according to Barbara Briggs, regional coordinator of the QMB Outreach Program.

Briggs explained that those seniors meeting certain guidelines set forth by the program may qualify to have the $50 Medicare premium put back into their Social Security checks. Some seniors may even qualify to have their deductibles and co-payments covered, she said.

The program guidelines apply to persons whose assets (excluding home and car) do not exceed $4,000 for individuals and $6,000 for couples.

According to Briggs, approximately 70,000 to 80,000 Marylanders are eligible for the program.

Persons interested in an appointment to determine their eligibility may call 301-334-9431, ext. 140, or toll-free, 888-877-8403.

Puzzley Run Folk Days To Include New Attractions

The annual Puzzley Run Folk Days celebration is set for this weekend, Friday through Sunday, Aug. 10-12. The event will offer several new attractions this year, according to organizers.

The Dough Boy Puppet Theatre will appear for the first time, and will present puppet and magic shows for the entire family. Naomi and Sarah Nedrow produce and direct the puppet theatre, and performances are set for all three days of the festival.

The slate of music performances opens Friday with a sing-a-long accompanied by a guitarist. Saturday's featured performers will be the Spring Hill Band, which will play old-time music. The Ohiopyle, Pa.,-based group is composed of two couples who play guitar, hammered dulcimer, and other instruments. Later that afternoon there will John Lozier of Harping for Harmony. Lozier has played his handmade harps at previous Puzzley Run Folk Days celebrations. Sunday's focus will be on gospel music as the Mountain Melodies, Gertie Wilburn, Thelma DeWitt, and a trio of hammered dulcimers led by June Hollman will all perform.

There will also be new artisans who will be demonstrating pioneer and modern crafts. Spectators will have the opportunity to grind flour, then sample an item made from those hand-ground flours.

Another new attraction this year will be horse-drawn wagon rides along Bietschehof's woodland hayride trails, which will be provided by Broken Bow Ranch at no cost. BumBle Q's Restaurant will have lunch and dinner specials available that will feature roast pig and corn on the cob.

Puzzley Run Folk Days will take place at Bietschechof Farm, located at 175 Hetrick Road near Grantsville. Admission is $4 for adults, $2 for children 6-12, and children under 6 are admitted at no charge.

Bietschechof is accessible from old Route 40 by persons traveling west from Keyser's Ridge or east from Grantsville. Signs will be posted along the roadway near the summit of Negro Mountain to direct festival goers to the event. For further information persons may call 301-746-7049.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Don't count on the Bittinger Fire Department monthly chicken barbecue this weekend even though it is the second Saturday in August. They forego this weekend for next weekend's big bash, the Bittinger Picnic. It is not as much a big-time reunion at the new location at the fire hall compared to the good old days location in the Brenneman Grove. How many happy memories at that location. A huge herd of distant cousins playing wild horse herd and that old time country band playing on the old grandstand. Of course, we walked on top of the old split rail fence. It is hard to believe no one ever fell off and ended up with a broken arm or something else.

August seems to rush along too fast. For lots of kids Fair week means it's almost time to go back to school. I could never forget that sinking feeling in my stomach that my summer freedom to ride ponies, play in the woods, read anything I want, and watch clouds making moving pictures was almost over.

The first week of August finds my Claire and her upcoming freshman cousin band members, Matthew Bass and Blakely Glotfelty, plus her older cousin Robbie Glotfelty, very busy learning the new Northern High School Marching Band show at Camp Hickory. Believe it or not, it is not just fun and games at that camp. They have at least three marching practices, plus another couple of hours playing their instruments in sections. The first few days of the camp find it hot and humid enough to make marching practice brutal. Caitlin and I attended the Sunday evening family picnic at Camp Hickory. Caitlin was beside herself due to the fact that she will be without Claire for a whole week. They are very close, as sisters should be.

On Saturday when Caitlin slipped down to the barn to help Matthew Bass muck out the pig pens, a sudden thunderstorm brewed close by. The closer the thunder came to our house, the more frantic Claire became when she couldn't find Caity. "I can't find my sister," she cried! If the storm had really hit before Caitlin appeared, I would have had to call for a full scale search party to calm Claire down. They were so sweet and cute as they ate their picnic dinner at the family picnic on Sunday. There were about five goodbye hugs. But they will see plenty of each other next week at the 4-H hog barn at the Fair, and then the following week they will go to Ocean City with their Sussman grandparents. Then maybe they will get to catch their breath before going back to school.

They will be very busy catching up with the Avis girls, Hannah and Gretel, when they return during Fair week from almost a month's visit in New Hampshire with their father. My girls certainly miss their best buddies across the field. The girls' little sister Claire, 4 years old, is ready to join Mere, Hannah, and Emma at Accident Elementary School in prekindergarten. It will be a tough adjustment for little Claire because she is still pretty much glued to the hip of her mother, Patty Diehlman, who will start to drive a school bus. I do not envy her that job at all. Especially not on our steep, snowy hills.

My Meredith and her cousin, Emma Bass, had a wonderful time on the traditional Maryland history trip with Great Aunt Helen Englar and her son Mike. The first stop was Rose Manor in Frederick, which is a top attraction and has a children's museum and a beautiful garden. Also in Frederick they visited the cemetery where Francis Scott Key was buried. The Painted Bridge featured many murals and some with optical illusions. Then on to the big attraction: the first settlement in Maryland, St. Mary's City. My other two girls saw the old ship "The Dove," which brought the earliest settlers. But this year "The Dove" was out of port in a race.

They took a break and spent the night at Aunt Helen's house in Westminster. On the way home they saw the tunnel on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal near Hancock. They also visited the C&O museum there. Helen always takes the grand nieces and nephews prior to their studying Maryland history in school.

Julius and Karmen Carey entertained with a dinner and crab feast Friday evening at their home near Frostburg, honoring their son Anthony, who is returning this week to Evangel College, Springfield, Mo., to complete his studies in the field of education. Many relatives and friends attended the event.

Tonight is the Bittinger 4-H Club meeting. Andrew Hady will have to be in charge of the meeting, as the president, vice-president, and secretary are at band camp. I know they will have some pressing issues that they will have to deal with, which include the plans for the Fair booth and the Fair float. They do not have much time left to finish them. They will also need to put the final touch on their Fair entries. My girls plan to do a few more art pieces and bake a few kinds of cookies. At least they will not have to do the dreaded project that Cindy Stanton and I had to do, which was the hemming of a tea towel. We had to try to keep it clean and to do tiny perfect matching stitches. I don't recall any blue ribbons on those for me.

Unfortunately, "Pappy" Dale will have to stay in the hospital during the Fair. He is responding very well to his treatments, but he still needs to improve his white cell blood coun.. I told him, "I don't know how the Fair can go on without you," since for several years he was the main man (Fair Board president) But he scoffed and said, "There are plenty of people who can handle anything that comes up."

Also questionable is just how much time my mother, Ruth DiPaolo, will be able to spend at the Fair, as she had some heart-related symptoms last week, but her doctor is pretty sure she did not have another heart attack. Still, she will have more testing done. I know one thing: like Uncle Dale she is tough as old boot leather.

It is a real shame that Dale is not home now to see the patch of wild tiger lilies growing behind his small patch of woods in our hayfield. The patch looks just like a big smear of orange, or like a piece of sunset that has fallen down on the ground.

A slight correction about the Rodney Glotfelty family vacation. They missed the Pony Penning Festival by a week or so. Lucky for them, because Chincoteague is very crowded at that time.

I almost forgot one important news items I planned to feature this week. I dropped by a garage sale at the home of Janet Brenneman on Beachy Road. Her husband is Alvin Brenneman, who is a patient at Goodwill Mennonite Home. Alvin was my dad's first cousin. Her son Steve looked up to me very much as a horse expert. One night during a dinner party Lloyd and I were holding, I got a phone call from Janet about a major emergency with Steve's beautiful gray horse, Diablo. He had caught his hoof in his hay rack. When Steve and his big brother tired to saw the bar, he freaked out. Steve told his mother, "Get Joan." Actually it was not me who was the hero of this story, but Lloyd, who used one of his pipe clamps so we could spread the bars enough to get his hoof free.

For several years Steve was a top rodeo rider; in fact, one year he won a world championship title for bronco riding. The reason his mother Janet was holding a garage sale was that she plans to move to a small upstairs apartment in her nephew's house in Grantsville, and Steve and Shannon plan to move back here from upstate New York where Shannon grew up. It is great because she also comes from a horse background, but even better, they are expecting their first baby in November. As much as I love horses, I am even more crazy about little babies.

TAKE PART IN FORESTRY CAREERS WORKSHOP — These Garrett County students participated in the 2001 Forestry and Natural Resources Careers Week workshop, held recently at the Garrett County Board of Education Hickory Environmental Education Center. Vicki Schlosnagle of Accident, left, Will Gallagher of Friendsville, and Derek Buckel of Grantsville were sponsored by the Garrett County Forestry Board, and they were among a group of students from across the state who were provided with a hands-on look at forestry and natural resources management career opportunities. The annual Careers Week workshop is sponsored by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest Service, the Maryland Association of Forestry Boards, the Chesapeake Bay Trust, the Society of American Foresters, and the Association of Forest Industries.

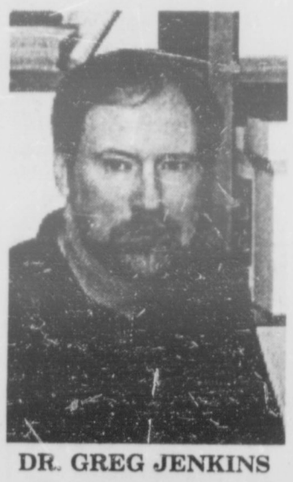
Jenkins Joins GCC Faculty



DR. GREG JENKINS

Dr. Greg Jenkins, who has taught English courses at Garrett Community College as an adjunct instructor for five years, has recently joined the full-time faculty as an associate professor of English, according to director of Arts and Sciences Virginia Broaddus.

Since 1995, Jenkins has also taught English courses as an adjunct instructor at Potomac State College and Frostburg State University. He has been a substitute teacher of history and English classes at various high schools and a graduate assistant/instructor at Penn State University and West Virginia University. He holds a bachelor of science degree in English from Frostburg State University, a master of arts degree from West Virginia University in curriculum communication studies, and a Ph.D. from Penn State University in curriculum; English and film studies.

In addition to his teaching experience, Jenkins has been development coordinator for Region Eight Planning and Development Council in Petersburg, W.Va.; executive communications director of the Shippensburg, Pa., Chamber of Commerce; program planner for Allegany County Economic Development Council in Cumberland; public relations writer for Gino's Restaurant in Baltimore; and technical writer for Commercial Shearing Company in Berkeley Springs, W.Va. He has written and published two books — Night Game, a collection of short fiction, and Stanley Kubrick and the Art of Adaption, his dissertation and rhetorical study of Kubrick's adaptive techniques. He has also published approximately 30 short stories and produced five plays.

Jenkins is the recipient of several writing awards, including the Willow Review Fiction Award in 1997, the Individual Artist Award for Fiction Writing from the Maryland State Arts Council in 1997, third place in Playboy's Annual Fiction Contest in 1992, and two fellowships for play writing from the Theatre Association of Pennsylvania. He has also been named to Who's Who Among American Teachers.

He is also a member of the Modern Language Association, Shakespeare Association of America, Edgar Allen Poe Society of Baltimore, Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, and American MENSA.

Jenkins says that he is looking forward to having increased responsibilities outside the classroom at GCC, but expects his teaching duties to remain about the same as before.

"I'm happy to have been named associate professor of English at GCC," he said. "I'll be teaching a lot of English 101, English 102, and technical writing, but will probably teach less speech than previously.

"I like teaching, and I especially like teaching students who come to the classroom well-prepared and interested in learning. I ask my students to do a certain amount of work, but I also offer them whatever assistance and guidance I can. They should feel free to approach me with questions or problems anytime they need to. I've enjoyed my first five and a half years at GCC, and I hope to be here a good while longer."

Jenkins and his wife Michelle are the parents of two children, Casey and Miranda. The family lives in Luke.

Groundbreaking For Lighthouse Addition Held

Garrett County Lighthouse Inc., with the assistance of First United Bank of Oakland, Federal Home Loan Bank of Atlanta, and BYCO Enterprises Inc., recently hosted a groundbreaking ceremony for a new addition at the Oakland facility.

The addition, scheduled for completion by fall, will increase mental health services to individuals of all ages, according to Wayne Johnson, president of the Lighthouse board. The new space will accommodate a broader range of services, he said, as well as increase space for partnerships with other local providers to include vocational, educational, rehabilitative, and psychiatric services.

The project was selected for an economic development and growth enhancement award, which Johnson said was particularly gratifying since Lighthouse is this year celebrating a decade of service to the local community.

"Garrett County Lighthouse Inc., like our partners in this project, is committed to helping the community," said Bobby Andersen, board vice president. "We want to create additional services that have a long lasting value for individuals with mental illness, thereby making a major impact on the community."

From the time when Garrett County Lighthouse Inc. was established as a private agency in 1992, its service development has been proactive because individuals with mental illness require ongoing access to a full array of services, according to Debbie jo Adams-Noroski, CEO.

"The history at Lighthouse has proven that mental health services combined with appropriate housing, outreach and education, meaningful daily activities, and treatment and support have helped to decrease psychiatric hospitalization," she said. "Our commitment is to individuals with mental illness who want to live as independently as possible, with the help of expanded comprehensive, community-based mental health services."

Adams-Noroski said the addition is "a conduit to remove the barriers to care, an outreach to the community for us to continue to improve mental health care."

LIGHTHOUSE BREAKS GROUND FOR WING — Garrett County Lighthouse Inc., a full service provider of mental health care, has broken ground for a new wing to the present Oakland facility. The addition, scheduled for completion in the fall, will enable Lighthouse to further expand its services. The organization has operated for 10 years, and recently earned high marks in an audit performed by the Maryland Office of Health Care Quality. See stories. Pictured above from left are Robert Hughes, Lighthouse board member; Dirk Yoder, BYCO Enterprises; George Stuck, Lighthouse board secretary; Fred Holliday, county commissioner; Wayne Johnson, president of Lighthouse board; Delegate George C. Edwards; Donna Gregory, vice president of health care services; Steve Richard, Lighthouse board; Norma Schlosnagle, finance director; Denise Liston, Garrett County Memorial Hospital; Debbie Jo Adams-Noroski, Lighthouse CEO; Arthur Naylor, Lighthouse board treasurer; Bobby Andersen, vice president of Lighthouse board; Jonathan Wynn, operations director; and Dave Roth, First United Bank and Trust.

Lighthouse Audit Results In High Marks For Facility

Garrett County Lighthouse Inc. announced this week that an audit conducted on August 1 and 2 by the Maryland Office of Health Care Quality, a division of Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, has been given full approval. Lighthouse is a locally operated provider of mental health services to persons of all ages.

The Office of Health Care Quality recognized the Lighthouse personnel for their work throughout the year. A luncheon followed the exit interview.

"I have never been more proud than I am today of our team," said Debbie Jo Adams-Noroski, CEO. "They remained focused on our mission to serve, regardless of any obstacles."

A wing onto the main Lighthouse building is now under construction. The addition will enable the organization to expand its services.

"Our work for Garrett County is only beginning. It may be our 10th year at helping individuals in the community to succeed but to us there is no limit to what can be accomplished," said Adams-Noroski. "We have attained some uncommon results."

Lighthouse's new Respite Care Service reportedly received high praise from representatives of the state, and the program was granted a full three-year approval. The auditors reported to Lighthouse staff that the records were exemplary. Mike Browning, coordinator of Safe Harbor Crisis and Respite Care Service, was applauded for the success of the program.

"Garrett County Lighthouse Inc. has maintained its standards for excellence over the last 10 years," Adams-Noroski said, who concluded that the staff's motivation to offer service that exceeds state standards is a result of the work performed each day at Lighthouse.

Preston County Farm Service Agency Reports

Eric M. McCartney, County Executive Director
300 Tunnelton St., Kingwood, WV 26537

FARM SERVICE AGENCY SEEKS CANDIDATES

Eric McCartney, county executive director of Preston County's Farm Service Agency, announces that nominating petitions are being accepted through Monday, Oct. 29, for committee elections to be held in Local Administrative Area (LAA) 2 (Kingwood, Valley, and Portland districts).

"We're looking for the broadest possible participation from anyone within the farming community," McCartney said. "There's a lot of skill and experience out there that we haven't tapped into in the past and that we really could use."

The county FSA committee is the most direct link between USDA-FSA programs and the local producers. The county committee system helps shape nationwide programs into programs that work at the local level by making decisions on things like commodity loans and loan deficiency payments, disaster-related programs, and conservation programs, according to McCartney.

"To make the system work, it must represent all of the different parts of local agriculture," McCartney said. "This includes the livestock farmer, producers of specialty crops, truck farmers, new farmers — all people with unique and valuable insights and perspectives to the business. We need their expertise."

Eligible producers may nominate themselves or other eligible producers in the LAA as a candidate. Producers who are nominated must be active farmers and be well qualified to serve on the committee.

An eligible producer is defined as a producer residing in or having farming interests in the LAA in which the election is to be held and he or she is eligible to vote.

Duties of the committee include: (1) administering USDA-FSA farm programs; (2) informing producers of the purposes and provisions of the programs; (3) keeping the state FSA committee informed of local conditions; (4) recommending necessary changes in farm programs; (5) participating in committee meetings; and (6) performing other duties as assigned by the state FSA committee.

Again, nomination forms must be returned to the Farm Service Agency by close of business on Monday, Oct. 29.

The Farm Service Agency encourages participation in this year's election by all under-represented groups in the county.

Producers wishing to obtain a nomination form or further information may telephone FSA at 304-329-1923 or visit the office located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza.

EMERGENCY FARM LOANS AVAILABLE

John B. Rader, West Virginia state executive director for the Farm Service Agency, has announced the eligibility of 32 West Virginia counties for USDA-FSA emergency loans.

"President Bush has designated 20 counties [as] disaster areas because of damages caused by severe storms, flooding, and landslides beginning May 15, 2001," stated Rader. "This designation enables FSA to provide financial assistance to those farm families who suffered severe losses as a result of the storms," he added.

"Public Law 98-258 provides for counties that are contiguous to another county that has been designated as a disaster area to also be eligible for emergency loans," stated Rader. Twelve counties are contiguous to one or more of those designated and are therefore eligible for assistance," Rader explained.

The counties covered are Boone, Lincoln, Raleigh, Clay, Logan, Wayne, Kanawha, Mercer, Wyoming, Cabell, McDowell, Mingo, Roane, Summers, Calhoun, Putnam, Braxton, Fayette, Jackson, Monroe, Nicholas, Mason, Greenbrier, Wirt, Preston, Barbour, Grant, Monongalia, Taylor, Gilmer, Ritchie, and Marion.

To be eligible for an emergency loan, the farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent production loss or physical loss, be able to evidence adequate repayment ability, and be unable to obtain adequate credit from other sources. Loans to one farming operation are limited to $500,000 and are also limited to owners and/or operators of not larger than family-sized farming operations. The final date to file loan applications is February 19, 2002.

"Farmers in the designated counties may apply for emergency loans in the county FSA office which serves the county in which the farmer lives," added Rader.

OTHER LOANS AVAILABLE

The Preston County Farm Service Agency reminds farmers of the availability of Loan Deficiency Payments (LDPs) and Commodity Loans for the 2001 crop year. Effective this crop year, to be eligible for LDPs, farms must be enrolled in a Production Flexibility Contract under the seven-year AMTA Program. A 2001 Crop Acreage Report (FSA-578) must also be on file with FSA for the farm. Late-filed crop reports may be filed with FSA for a nominal fee.

LDPs may be obtained on all production of contract commodities (corn, oats, wheat, and barley) whether they are harvested as grain, silage, cobbage, cracked, rolled, or crimped. Producers harvesting contract commodities as grain are encouraged to request an FSA measurement service. For producers who are harvesting contract commodities by methods other than grain, the County FSA Committee will select three similar farms that harvested the commodity as grain to establish the yield. For producers who harvested the commodity as grain and silage, FSA will measure the grain production and use that yield to determine the silage production.

Producers who sell their contract commodities from the field must file Form CCC-709 with FSA on or before the beginning harvest date. Producers who begin feeding their commodities immediately must file Form CCC-709 with FSA prior to feeding the commodities.

Market rates used in computing LDP payment rates are subject to change daily and are normally available by 8:30 a.m. The maximum payment per "person" for 2001 is $75,000.

Commodity Loans are also available for 2001-grain contract commodities. To be eligible for a loan, the farm must be enrolled in AMTA, have produced a 2001 contract commodity, and not previously received an LDP on the commodity. The producer must have filed a 2001 Crop Acreage Report, have beneficial interest in the commodity, and be following the conservation compliance provisions of the Farm Bill.

For further information, or to file for an LDP or Commodity Loan, Preston County farmers may contact the Farm Service Agency at 304-329-1923 or visit the office located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza.

Every so often we here rumors that our state government is considering a law requiring streams to be fenced off from farm animals. No doubt there are some people who get very upset or disturbed when they hear that cattle should be fenced out of streams and ponds. But on the other hand it is the farmer's responsibility to minimize the pollutants that enter the stream from the farm operation. The best way to stop the "eyes" of government looking over the farmer's shoulder is to have good management practices in place around streams that flow through the farmland.

Are there other alternatives to fencing cattle out of streams? Some of these could include rotational grazing, grassy strips or woody buffers, or alternate water supplies. Wisconsin studies showed that rotational grazing was nearly as good as grassy buffer strips with regard to bank stability and in-stream habitat, and there was less bank erosion than on continually grazed sites. Fish communities responded more positively to bufferstrips. Rotational pastures had less sod cover than bufferstrips. Research involving Drs. Mostaghimi, Vaughan, and E. Collins from Virginia Tech's Department of Biological Engineering concluded that the presence of an off-stream water source for grazing cattle reduced the time that cattle spent in the stream area as well as the time they spent drinking from the stream. When given a choice, cattle were observed to drink from a spring-fed water trough 92% of the time compared to drinking from the stream. Stream bank erosion and the losses of sediment and sediment-bound pollutants, including nitrogen, phosphorus and fecal bacteria, were significantly reduced. However, when available forage within the main grazing area decreased, cattle were forced to seek vegetation within the stream corridor. Yes, there are options, but one of them should not be overgrazed continuous pastures with streams as the only water supply (and ponds shouldn't be either, to avoid potential mastitis problems).

August Gardening Tips

To fry green tomatoes, slice, dip in flour (or flour and cornmeal), sprinkle with salt, and fry in a little butter until tender.

An eggplant is ready to harvest when the fruit is fully colored and has achieved the mature size for the variety. Seed should be white, and the tissue firm. If the seeds are brown and hard, the fruit is past eating quality, so harvest the next fruit sooner.

The heat of summer makes radishes turn very hot and pithy. Try the European radish. It remains sweet and solid, not pithy. Tops are very tall, averaging 12 inches in length.

Stop vine crops from taking over your garden and lawn by pinching off the fuzzy growing tips. This also directs the plant's energy into ripening fruit rather than producing more vines.

Seeds from mature or overmature peppers have higher viability and faster germination than do seeds from unripe peppers. While it is possible to obtain viable seed from peppers harvested while green by allowing them to ripen (several weeks to two months) before removing seeds, it is preferable to collect ripe or overripe peppers when harvesting for seed.

According to researchers at Purdue University, most mature "orange" tomatoes contain more carotene, a pigment that is converted to vitamin A in the liver, than their red counterparts. But the public hasn't caught on yet. In tomato juice taste tests, most people preferred the red product over the orange-red, high carotene blend, though the flavors tested to be identical.

Before storing root crops like carrots and beets, cut off the green tops. The leaves transpire, pulling moisture out of the roots, thus drying them out.

If you are harvesting and must leave your produce outdoors for several hours, provide some shade to keep the fresh foods succulent and reduce the conversion of sugars to starch.

If going on vacation this month, be sure to harvest all your vegetables and then arrange for someone to pick fast-maturing crops, such as squash and okra; otherwise, they will become overmature and stop producing.

Pinch off onion flower buds from the top of the plant to direct all of the plant's energy into the developing bulb instead of seed production.

Harvest winter squash and pumpkins by cutting with 2 or 3 inches of stem; they'll keep better in storage that way than if stemless.

When cantaloupes reach softball size, place them on an inverted coffee can to increase the air circulation and sunlight they receive. Puncture drainage holes on the can top to prevent fruit rot.

An old-time trick for germinating seeds in mid-summer is to plant the seeds, water them well, and then place a board over the row until the sprouts just reach the soil surface. At that time, remove the board. Works good for turnips.

Plant a winter cover crop to enrich your garden soil. Annual rye, red clover, and hairy vetch are good choices.

Pick summer squash and zucchini every day or two to keep the plants producing.

Remove old plants that have stopped producing to eliminate shelters for insects and disease organisms.

Potatoes continue to grow as long as the tops are green. Dig only as many as you need for immediate use. The tubers will keep better in the ground than in a warm, dry home.

Here is a quick-and-easy method for reducing your slug population, especially if you are squeamish about the little devils: Put out squares of cardboard in your garden each night. In the morning, pick them up, and if there are any slugs clinging to the underside, discard the whole square in a trash bag. The number and size of the squares depend on the size of your garden and how heavy the infestation of slugs. No need for the messy and tedious process of hand picking each one.

Water the garden early in the day so the foliage dries before night. Wet foliage at night increases susceptibility to fungus diseases.

Favorable Ethanol Feasibility Study Exciting News To Maryland Farmers

Members of the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board (MGPUB) were pleased with the results of the first phase of an Ethanol Feasibility study that was commissioned earlier this year. The results were released at the Commodity Classic on July 26.

Al Voudrie, president of Voudrie Business Development Inc., along with Dale Monceaux, senior vice president of Katzen International Inc., gave "very positive" findings for the probability of constructing an ethanol plant in Maryland. Their conclusions are based on a 15-million-gallon-per-year ethanol plant, which would run on barley and other small grains, including wheat. The approximate cost for constructing a plant of this size would be $30 million.

"The question we have been asked is...Why barley?" stated Robert Hutchison, a Talbot County grain and vegetable farmer and a member of the committee which is spearheading this study. "Quite simply, barley is a crop more farmers would like to grow if the price were more favorable, especially as it also serves as a great cover crop. Most people are familiar with ethanol plants running on corn, but here in Maryland, we have an established market for all the corn we can grow."

Maryland is known as a corn deficit state. This is due to the fact that all the corn grown is used primarily for the poultry industry. There is no excess requiring export.

Currently, Maryland produces approximately 4 million bushels of barley. A plant of this size would require 7 million bushels to produce 15 million gallons of ethanol. Members of the MGPUB are quite certain Maryland farmers would produce more barley if the market dictated such. If the farmers decided not to expand the amount of barley grown, they could substitute wheat or triticale, or the additional needed bushels of barley could be purchased from neighboring farmers in Delaware and Pennsylvania.

The ethanol produced from this plant would have several market outlets, including its use as an additive in reformulated gasoline. Under the guidelines of the Clean Air Act of 1990, fuel sold in certain polluted areas must be oxygenated to improve the emissions that affect air quality. One of the polluted areas is the Baltimore-Washington corridor. The additive that has been used most along the West and East coasts has been methyl tertiary butyl ether, better known to the public as MTBE. MTBE has been found to pollute ground water and is a possible cancer-causing agent. Many states have started to phase out the use of MTBE because of this, and will be replacing it with ethanol.

Ethanol is a renewable resource made from any starch-based product. It is clean burning and proven safe for the environment. Ethanol has been produced and used in the Midwest for many years. Since the banning of MTBE, many additional ethanol plants, including that of Maryland's, are being studied as to the feasibility of production in their areas.

The second phase of this study is due to be completed at the end of September. At that time members of the MGPUB will decide what the next steps should be in deciding how to proceed with this project.

Hutchison finished by stating: "I think the board is very encouraged by the results at this point. This ethanol plant could prove to be a real opportunity for Maryland farmers, as well as others in the state. We are anxiously awaiting the next phase report!"

Weather Varies Throughout State

Precipitation was scattered last week, leaving northern areas of the state with arid conditions while showers in parts of the Eastern Shore helped crops improve. As a result, Maryland farmers had an average of 6.3 days suitable for field work during the week. Although the dry weather is ideal for activities such as cutting hay, the areas that received little to no rain are reporting stress to crops and slowed growth in hay and pasture grasses due to the lack of moisture.

Row crop conditions declined somewhat since the previous week. Fifty percent of the corn crop is rated in good condition, 17% less than the previous week. The heat is a concern for late planted soybeans, although conditions will be restored if rain is received soon. Soybeans are 60% in good condition, 15% less than the previous week.

Soil moisture levels were reported to have declined significantly in dry areas, but were maintained where showers hit. Consequently topsoil and subsoil moisture levels for the state remain mostly adequate. Topsoil moisture is rated 2% surplus, 64% adequate, 18% short, and 16% very short. Subsoil moisture is 2% surplus, 66% adequate, 22% short, and 10% very short.

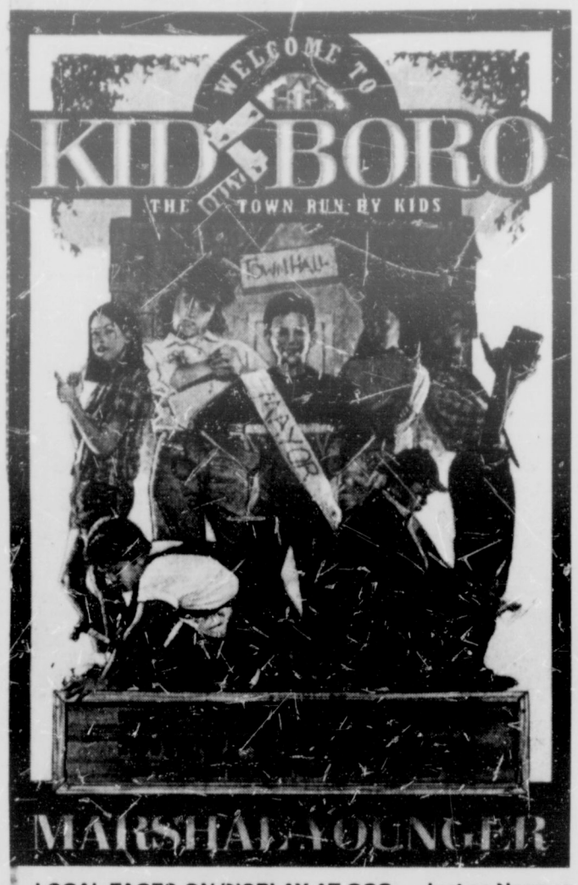
Area "Faces And Places" Set For Display In GCC Exhibit



LOCAL FACES ON DISPLAY AT GCC — Just as Norman Rockwell did in his small New England community, Garrett County artist Laura Stutzman incorporates area residents into her work, which has drawn national attention. Shown above is one example, the cover art for a proposed children's book that features the likenesses of seven local youths. The "Kidsboro" mayor, center, is a portrayal of Adam Moyer, who is flanked by, clockwise from the lower right, town detective Alex Murray, preacher Chuckie Burton, political rival Sarah Anderson, police officer Falon Stutzman, reporter Katie Conroy, and carpenter Zach Harkins. The painting is featured as part of an exhibit at the Art Gallery of Garrett Community College that will open with an artist's reception set for 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 15, and will remain on display through Sept. 15.

An exhibition by local artist Laura Stutzman titled "Faces and Places of Garrett County" will be on display in the Art Gallery of Garrett Community College from Wednesday, Aug. 15, through Sept. 15. An opening reception will take place at the gallery this Wednesday, Aug. 15, from 7 to 9 p.m. The reception is open to the public, and those in attendance will have the opportunity to meet the artist and discuss her work.

A Mtn. Lake Park resident, Stutzman has compiled 25 or more pieces inspired from the character and beauty of either Garrett County landscape or residents. Some of the pieces are commissioned portraits, while others are the product of commercial projects for publishers and advertising agencies where the artist has incorporated local faces or scenes to lend authenticity to her work.

"Familiar faces from all walks of country life are represented in Stutzman's work, from school-age kids to shop owners, and fire and rescue workers to bartenders and short order cooks," commented Ron Skidmore, GCC art professor and gallery director. "There's a teacher and pharmacist, a weight lifter and a runner, a photographer, a real estate agent and, of course, a mom. Some are posing as characters other than themselves in extravagant costumes or in far off lands."

After graduating from Southern High School and the Art Institute of Pittsburgh, Stutzman went on to work in the advertising field in Washington, D.C., for several years with clients such as Simon & Schuster, PBS, the Columbus Chill, USA Today, the U.S. Mint, and IBM.

Stutzman and her husband Mark, who have two children, Falon and Ivan, teach an annual summer art workshop for local and out-of-county students. That program is sponsored by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival and is funded by the Sprenger-Lang Foundation. For more information on the summer art workshop, persons may call GLAF at 301-387-3082.

The GCC gallery exhibition is made possible in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday, and on evenings and weekends during special events. For more information, interested persons may contact the college's art department at 301-387-3024.

James Miltenberger — THE MONONGAHELA TRIO — Dorothy Skidmore — William Skidmore

Monongahela Trio Scheduled To Be Next Performers At Penn Alps

Coming from nearby Morgantown, W.Va., the Monongahela Trio will perform as part of the Music at Penn Alps series this Saturday, Aug. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall in Grantsville. The performance will feature works by Gaubert, Genin, Goossens, del Agiula, Popper, and Martinu.

Taking its name from the river that passes through Morgantown, the trio consists of cellist William Skidmore, flutist Dorothy Skidmore, and pianist James Miltenberger, who have performed together throughout the region for several years. To vary their programs, typically consisting of baroque and contemporary pieces, the ensemble performs solo and duo works, as well as trios.

William Skidmore has taught cello at West Virginia University since 1977 and appears frequently as a soloist and chamber musician, often with the WVU Piano Quartet and the WVU Faculty Chamber Ensemble. For many years, he was also principal cellist with the Ohio Valley Symphony Orchestra. Before coming to WVU, he taught for 10 years at the University of Maryland and was a member of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra. He has appeared often on public television and public radio, and produced programs for WVPB's "Musical Masterpieces," including all of Beethoven's sonatas for piano and cello, as well as sonatas by Shostakovich and Brahms.

While maintaining a home studio flute class, Dorothy Skidmore teaches flute at Fairmont State College. She has performed widely in West Virginia and the surrounding region as a chamber musician and soloist. After earning degrees from the University of Illinois, she studied in Freiburg, Germany, on a Fulbright grant. Before coming to WVU, she taught at the Catholic University of America and Montgomery College near Washington, D.C., where she also appeared at the National Gallery of Art and the Kennedy Center.

James Miltenberger has performed extensively as a

GLAF, OTT To Host Student Piano Recital

The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) and Our Town Theatre (OTT) will sponsor the fifth annual Student Piano Recital on Sunday, Aug. 12, at 3 p.m. The recital will take place at Our Town Theatre in Oakland, and will be free to the public.

The recital will take the form of a "teen musical coffeehouse," an afternoon of sharing musical experiences both by playing and talking about mutual interest in the piano. Jane Avery, artistic director of OTT, will guide the students in their informal discussions.

The pianists are Crystal Yoder and Amanda Yoder, students of Mrs. Ellinor Benedict of Grantsville; Brianna Flannagan, student of Mrs. Nelda McNeil of Oakland; and Claire Collins, Kati Slagle, and Ashley Robinson, students of Mrs. Jane Fox, resident of Accident. The artists, varying in ages from 10 to 18, will perform both classical and popular selections.

All music teachers and students are encouraged to attend the recital and discussion. For more information, persons may contact the GLAF office at 301-387-3082. Office hours are Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Maestro D. Wroe To Lead Deep Creek Symphony

David Wroe will serve as the conductor for the Deep Creek Symphony, which will perform at Garrett Community College on Aug. 22, 24, and 25. Wroe is the music director of the classical music series "Music on the Mountain," and also the coinciding weeklong music camp, "Levine on the Mountain," offered by Levine School of Music of Washington, D.C. The entire week is presented by Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) and is sponsored by the Sprenger-Lang Foundation.

"From the moment I arrived in Garrett County, I have been energized both by the scenic beauty and the enthusiasm of the community to keep GLAF as a shining jewel in the crown of Maryland's cultural community," Wroe said.

A native of Great Britain, Wroe is currently the music director of the Westfield Symphony Orchestra, the resident orchestra of Union County, N.J. In November 2000, he was appointed music director of GLAF's classical music festival, for which he will conduct the new Deep Creek Symphony Orchestra and the Deep Creek Chamber Players.

Wroe is the director of orchestra studies at Montclaire State University, N.J. He completed a contract in 1999 as principal conductor of the City Opera of Heidelberg. He has held positions as assistant conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and music director of the Kansas City Camerata. Guest conducting engagements have included Fresno International Grand Opera, Santa Fe Symphony, Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra, New York City Ballet, and Wayne Chamber Orchestra. International engagements have included L'Orchestre National de Lille (France), Jerusalem Symphony Orchestra, and Symphonie Orchester Voralberg in Austria.

The maestro was a conducting fellow at the Tanglewood Music Center, where in 1992 he received the Seiji Ozawa Fellowship. He was recognized by the United States Congress in 1995 as a recipient of US Sprint's Up and Comers Award for his contributions to the community in Kansas City.

Wroe attended Lancing College, earned a bachelor of music degree from Manchester University (England), and a master of music degree from Northwestern University (Chicago). He was a student of internationally renowned Gustav Meier.

Wroe devotes considerable time to education and outreach, and played a prominent role in the Boston Symphony Orchestra Youth Concerts and the Westfield Symphony Orchestra Caravan Program, which he founded. He teaches and is a regular guest conductor at the New England Conservatory, and served as judge for the Music Assistance Fund, administered by the American Symphony Orchestra League. He has given master classes at Harvard University with the Laboratory Orchestra, and was a conductor at the Tanglewood Music Centre and Boston University Tanglewood Institute.

Levine on the Mountain will begin with the Deep Creek Symphony Family Concert at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 22. Tickets are $3 for all ages. The concert is designed to introduce young audiences to classical music, and will feature 12 year-old violinist Ryu Goto. Special narration will be given by Jane Avery, theater instructor at Southern High School and artistic director of Our Town Theatre.

Maestro Wroe will also conduct the Deep Creek Symphony on Friday and Saturday evenings, August 24 and 25, presenting two entirely different programs (Friday featuring Ryu Goto and Saturday featuring jazz violinist Didier Lockwood). Tickets to these concerts are $17 for adults and $5 for youth 18 years and younger.

For tickets and further information, persons may contact the GLAF office Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at 301-387-3082.

Season sponsors for GLAF are Sprenger-Lang Foundation, Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, and Deep Creek Mountain Resort. The performing arts season is sponsored in part by grants from Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. Complete information regarding the GLAF season can be found by logging on to www.artsandentertainment.org.

Thank You!

I want to thank everyone who made my 90th birthday special. It was truly meaningful to me for family and friends to think of me on my birthday. The many gifts, beautiful cards, and telephone calls touched me deeply and I thank everyone from the bottom of my heart. The Stephen reunion this year was very special to me. It was held on Saturday, July 28, which is my birthday. Being able to spend the day with family made my birthday truly special. Thank you to everyone.
